Easter's Hope Is 'Noble Life'

By United Press International

Christians around the world rejoiced, meditated and paraded Easter Sunday, amid different scenes and different climes but with the same hope; a nobler life for all mankind.

They came once again to those spring-bathed hills of Jerusalem to hail the resurrection of their Saviour almost 2,000 years ago—the most glorious chapter in history's most oft-told tale.

New York's famed Easter Parade was chilled a bit by temperatures in the 20s. The cold knocked out the traditional flower display at Rockefeller Center, killing the display of 750 lilies, 150 yellow tulips and 350 yellow chrysanthemums—the first time in 25 years the show hasn't gone on.

Cold and rain cut into attendance at outdoor services in the Southwest and East but 20,000 persons filled Hollywood Bowl in a clear Easter dawn.

In Rome, Pope John XXIII said mass in St. Peter's Basilica and prayed international leaders would end their discord "in the superior interest of peace in the world."

The pontiff then went outside and gave an Easter blessing to more than 10,000 persons gathered in St. Peter's square.

At the Hollywood Bowl, Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson said the greatest events of history are those which affect the greatest number of persons for the longest periods of time.

"By this standard, no event

Gray Sky Fails to Keep Nixon, 35,000 from Sunrise Services

Florida's famed sun missed Miami's Easter sunrise services and so did many of the usual worshipers as showers marred the first observances of the holy day.

But Vice President Richard Nixon and his family and nearly 35,000 others took a chance on the weather to hear and see the time-honored message of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ preached and portrayed in pageant in God's magnificent chapel of the out-of-doors.

The Nixons were in a standing-room only crowd of 1,300 at the service in Crandon Park on Key Biscayne, where it sprinkled briefly just before activities began but was dry throughout the program.

A later victory by the sun, promised faithfully by the weatherman, encouraged nearly 300,000 worshipers to crowd the churches of the area throughout the day.

The biggest crowd — 25,000 — was at the traditional pageant in the Orange Bowl. The rains of the night and the still threatening clouds at the starting time of 5:25 a.m. caused nearly 10,000 of those worshipers to waver in their decision to attend until they were late in arriving.

It never did rain on the bowl pageant, but a few drops fell just as they were taking Christ down from the cross in the drama and sent most of the viewers scurrying for cover under the overhang of the upper deck. The noise and confusion nearly ruined the effect of the resurrection scene climax.

Yet in many ways the eight-scene production sponsored by the Greater Miami Ministerial Association and the Greater Miami Council of Churches was the most effective in the long history of the event.

Beginning as it did nearly an hour before sunrise, the pageant was made more dramatic by the use of very skillfull lighting which helped keep the action moving and the crowd's attention on the scene in progress.

The stadium lights had just been blacked out to signal the start of the play when suddenly the top of the stage at the west end zone lit up, silhouetting three crosses — the center one red — against the dark sky.

"Above His head were written the words: Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews," came the voice of the Rev. Neil Wyrick, narrator, author and director of the pageant. "The blood ran red from the bite of the mocking crown of thorns. Their shadows silhouetted against the sky, the indifferent, the seekers of thrill, the soldiers with a job to do, Mary his mother with a broken heart, Mary Magdalene with a life now made clean — they all stood and watched the Son of God prepared to die.

"But before this crucifixion could become a reality, it was necessary that His teachings fall on deaf ears and hardened hearts. For three years now — before this infamous deed he had spoken to men and these were His words:

"'I am the living bread which cometh down from heaven, if any man eat of this bread he shall live forever; and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.'

"'I and the Father am one,

Kefauver Sounds Call:

'Consumers Unite, Fight Inflation'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.) said Sunday the "forgotten" American consumer must rise up in protest if the inflation plaguing the U.S. is ever to be halted.

KEFAUVER

He said a cabinet-level Department of Consumers which he proposed recently was the best way for "lonely" consumers to make their voices heard above the "strident clamor" of special interests.

Kefauver, chairman of the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee, said on a television program that the department would bring the voices of unorganized groups to bear on government activities that might tend to hurt the consumer's dollar.

Three California congressmen took differing views on inflation in a broadcast aired in their home state.

Rep. Edgar W. Heistand (R., Calif.), a member of the House Banking Committee, said the main cause of inflation was government spending, especially deficit spending.

Freshman Rep. Gordon A. Kasem (D., Calif.) said inflation was something to be concerned about but was "not anything that should be raised as a perpetual and constant bogey man to justify inactivity when there should be activity."

Rep. Charles M. Teague (R., Calif.) said if the country demanded "rather costly programs" then Congress should "have the courage to raise taxes to put ourselves on a pay as you go basis."

Mexico Arrests 1,500 In Railway Walkout

MEXICO CITY — (UPI) — The Mexican government Sunday arrested 1,500 strikers and their leaders in a lightning swift move to crush a nationwide railway workers walkout called Saturday night when the union's pistol-packing Communist boss was jailed.

Army troops moved in to aid special crews and protect life and property. The trains were kept running, but badly off schedule.

The walkout call to 60,000 employes of the National Railway System was issued Saturday night after railway union officials, who were meeting at the time, learned of the arrest of Demetrio Vallejo, the communist union boss.

Union officials were meeting here to discuss support of striking employes of the Pacific Railway and the Mexico City-Veracruz line who had been dismissed by the nationalized railway management.

A new provisional group of union directors was formed and strikers were told to return to their jobs so that they could participate in new union elections. Some workers began trickling back.

Plane Crash Kills 23

CALCUTTA—(AP)—A DC3 airliner crashed Sunday near Kailakandi in Assam state. The Indian Airlines Corp. said 19 passengers and four crew members were killed.

The plane left Calcutta Sunday morning for Kailakandi and crashed on a tea estate only a few minutes before it was due to reach its destination.

The airlines corporation, India's nationalized domestic air company, said the victims included five infants.

Wants Ban on Aid to Aggressors

Soviet Asks Pact By East and West

Old Stuff, Say U.S. Officials

Proposal Comes One Eve of Meet

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Soviet Union proposed Sunday that the NATO and Warsaw Pact countries sign a nonaggression pact and revise their existing treaties to assure no aid be given an aggressor.

The proposal was contained in a 3,000-word statement carried by the official Soviet news agency Tass in advance of the NATO Council meeting in Washington opening on Tuesday.

It noted that NATO celebrates its 10th anniversary on April 4.

Moscow also asked the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council to endorse long-standing Communist proposals in Europe, including a disengagement of East-West military forces.

The Tass statement declared NATO had proved it was an aggressive pact and not defensive, and had failed of its avowed purpose.

"Not one member of NATO can say it now has more security than it had before the creation of this bloc," the statement said.

(In Washington, U.S. officials said they saw nothing new in the Moscow statement.

(State Department Press Officer Francis W. Tully Jr. said: "There is nothing new in it. They have said these things many times before."

The statement repeated the offer of the Soviet Union to discuss at a summit meeting arms limitation, an end to nuclear tests and withdrawal of military forces from contact areas in Central Europe.

It stressed the danger of nuclear arms concentrations by both East and West.

Also, it said the Soviet Union still believed its proposal to demilitarize West Berlin would be the best means of reducing tension in this area.

It said NATO had spent 500 billion dollars on armaments in the last 10 years, and that only increased East-West tension had resulted.

Moscow also affirmed its willingness to attend a foreign ministers meeting to consider a peace treaty with Germany and the East-West dispute over Berlin. The Western powers have suggested May 11 as the starting date.

The Soviet government statement said a summit meeting would be "most useful," but if the Western powers were not ready for it, a foreign ministers meeting could be convened.

Cubans Look to Him for Better Life

Castro Has Made Blunders, But He Gives People Hope

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Foreign Affairs Writer

HAVANA — Fidel Castro, despite his blunders, has given the Cuban people hope for a better life.

The way things are worsening economically here, this hope may die. Nevertheless, the average Cuban is still optimistic and believes in the bearded revolutionary leader who overthrew Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Businessmen, the large landowners and the wealthy, however, are scared.

To them the communistic or socialistic tendencies of the Castro government can only mean trouble and financial losses.

Many merchants with whom this reporter talked admitted frankly they want to sell their businesses and get out.

Leaders in the big businesses fear the Castro government may nationalize their enterprises. Construction firms are reluctant to put money into any sizable projects.

Even many of the not-so-wealthy middle class are holding on to their cash, not investing, not paying bills. Just keeping the money handy.

I asked one of Castro's key government officials to enumerate the accomplishments and failures of the three-month-old Castro administration. Here is how he listed the former:

CORRECTED many of the inequities through social and economic reforms.

INSTITUTED honesty as an iron-clad policy and requisite in all branches of government, a quality unknown in Cuban governing circles.

GAVE HOPE to all Cubans, except those who played footsie with Batista, for a brighter future.

"That last one is the most important motivating force," the official said. "It results in all Cubans putting their faith in Castro."

The same frank official then listed what he thought were the failures and blunders of Castro. Here they are:

FRIGHTENED capital—property owners, potential investors, businessmen.

CREATED a racial issue by calling for complete social equality on "private" beaches, in private clubs and on every level.

MADE LABOR unions the "dictators," bowing to their every demand.

ORDERED the re-trial of 43 fliers who were acquitted by a revolutionary military court.

INSULTED former Costa Rican President Jose Figueres, a guest of Cuba, by criticizing him for urging that all countries of the Americas work together in the Cold War against Russian communism.

Figueres, a leader in Latin America, had said that he disagrees with U.S. policy toward Latin America, but to call the U.S. an enemy is "foolish."

Castro, following Figueres on the platform during a labor rally, charged that the Costa Rican was being "influenced" by international interests. Castro advocated neutralism for Cuba when he declared:

"Why say in the face of tragedy (the hydrogen bomb threat) that we must choose sides? . . . Why not proclaim our right to live our own lives even if they do kill us?"

Basically, what Castro seems to have in mind for Cuba is a one-class society, with everybody in the middle class. He announced his aim is to "elevate the poor and reduce the wealthy."

Here are some of the laws and programs advocated by Castro. Several have strong Socialist or Communist overtones.

AGRICULTURAL REFORM — Give each man the land he farms. Break up the large farms. Make government-owned tractors available to small farmers. Extensive land reclaiming program in the swamps and salt marshes of Southern Cuba.

URBAN REFORM — Designed to stimulate construction by threatening government confiscation of vacant properties. Castro says owners must build — or else. Plans low-cost housing projects.

RENT LAW — Arbitrarily cut in half all rents which did

Old-Line Politicos Wait on Sidelines

HAVANA—Did Fidel Castro and his men take over the government of Cuba without any real military victory?

Those here who closely watched the revolution develop and finally succeed say this is true. They say this cold military fact has much to do with the current political picture in the country.

Certainly there were the rebel raids from the Sierra Maestro range, and the besieging of Santiago by Castro's men.

GAUDET

But long-time observers here say the collapse of Fulgencio Batista's forces came from corruption, not from any military beating.

At the time of Batista's flight from Cuba Jan. 1, say these observers, there were no less than a dozen groups working to overthrow the government. The big difference was that Castro's men were the ones ready to move in and take over.

Once Castro was the man of the hour, his popularity soared. Now, nobody can beat him.

But there are still oppositionists, many of them trained politicians. They are careful not to make any outward moves — but they will talk privately and they will tell you they will not remain inactive forever.

They say that eventually it will be the old-line politicians—as opposed to Castro's young idealists—who will move in again to take over.

Two of the strongest of the opposition political parties are the Communists and the Autenticos, the party of former President Carlos Prio Socarras.

Manuel Antonio de Varona, head of the Autentico Party, in a recent television interview managed adroitly to praise the Castro regime while making a lot of qualifications.

His most significant statement was that the period of the revolution, and its accompanying business "retraction," will not be over "until the people vote their approval of revolutionary laws in an election."

Cuba's politicians may be sidelined. But they have not abandoned their goals.

Latin Diplomats Hope Nixon Can Dispel Castro's Coolness

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Several Latin American diplomats friendly to the U.S. voiced hope Sunday Vice President Richard M. Nixon will have a heart-to-heart chat with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro during his unofficial visit here April 17.

These diplomats, who did not want to be identified, are disturbed over Castro's growing hostility toward the U.S., especially his recent statement that Cuba would remain neutral in the event of war between the U.S. and Russia.

They believe that a forthright talk between Nixon and the Cuban leader might go a long way toward dispelling differences between the two countries.

Castro is due to come here at the invitation of the American Society of Newspaper Editors to address its annual meeting. The State Department has said publicly that Castro "will assuredly be welcome here."

But many U.S. officials are known to be cool toward the visit. They want Castro's appointments with high officials kept to a minimum.

The Latin American diplomats said it would be a grave mistake for the U.S. government to snub Castro, especially since the U.S. is still under fire for being too friendly with Latin American dictators.

Castro feels that the last two U.S. ambassadors to Cuba under the regime of Fulgencio Batista were overly friendly to the ousted president. He says this is the big obstacle to more friendly relations between the U.S. and Cuba.

According to the Latin American diplomats, this is where Nixon could be most useful.

Nixon was briefed on Castro's "26 of July" movement by Puerto Rican Gov. Luis Munoz Marin during Munoz' visit here last month. Their conversation was given little notice at the time.

Munoz urged greater understanding for the revolutionary spirit in Cuba, even though he was critical of the summary execution of war criminals.

In about these words, Munoz told the vice president: "We cannot allow the overwhelming moral achievement of a whole country rising against despotism to be marred by sporadic incidents resulting from the revolutionary fervor."

Dalai Lama, Left, and Panchen Lama on 1956 Visit to India

. . . now Dalai Lama has been replaced by rival, set up by Red China

No Details On Injury Available

NEW DELHI —(UPI)— The Dalai Lama, god-king of Tibet, was seriously injured in a fall from a hill while fleeing to refuge from the Chinese Communists, according to persistent private reports in New Delhi and the border areas Sunday.

The reports could not be confirmed here. The Reds have sealed off all normal communications between Tibet and the outside world since the anti-Communist revolt flared in the sacred city of Lhasa last week.

Except for Red China's statement that it had smashed the Lhasa revolt and set up a puppet government, all news on the Tibetan situation has been brought out by traders and refugees who made their way to the border.

According to the reports, the Dalai Lama was heading eastward from Lhasa with his guards for a place of safety when he fell and was injured.

There were no other details.

Meanwhile, reports in Gangtok, capital of Sikkim state, said the Tibetan rebels had captured one of the two largest airfields in Tibet.

The exact whereabouts of the Dalai Lama were not known. But diplomatic sources said the Reds had sealed off all possible escape routes leading south to the border and called in a special manhunting staff to track him down.

The Peiping regime Saturday said it had deposed the Dalai Lama and installed a new government of Tibet under the pro-Communist Panchen Lama.

A communique broadcast by Peiping said the Dalai Lama was "under duress by the rebels" — an indirect admission that he had escaped from his winter palace in Lhasa.

Despite the Reds' claim to have "completely smashed" the revolt, reports trickling across the border said the fight was continuing.

Tibetan exile leaders in India pledged a fight to the death to win freedom for the ancient Himalayan kingdom and save the Dalai Lama from Red oppression.

The pledges were made by spokesmen for Tibetans living in India who came here to appeal to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to take up their cause against the Communists.

Raul's a Communist, Catholic Leader Says

RIO DE JANEIRO—(UPI)—Cuban Catholic revolutionary leader Raul Gonzales said Sunday in an interview with the newspaper Jornal do Brazil that Fidel Castro's brother Raul is a Communist.

"Raul Castro and (Ernesto) Che Guevara are Communists," Gonzales was quoted as saying. The Argentine-born Guevara was one of Castro's chief lieutenants in the Cuban revolt.

Gonzales, who came here to discuss organization of the 1961 Pax Romana Latin American Catholic Congress, also labeled Fidel Castro's agrarian reform program "demagogic improvization."

"Old Ironsides," the USS Constitution, the Navy's oldest regularly commissioned ship, was the scene of still another Easter service at Charlestown, Mass.

U.S. Press 'Can Fight Tyranny'

NEW YORK — (UPI) — Five leading figures in the field of mass communications agreed Sunday that radio, television and newspapers are involved in a never-ending drive to keep the public informed of world events.

The leaders, appearing on the CBS television show "The Great Challenge," participated in the first hour of a two-hour nationwide seminar on "Is American Journalism Meeting Its Responsibilities?" produced in cooperation with Sigma Delta Chi, the national journalistic fraternity.

The discussion will be concluded in another hour-long presentation next Sunday.

Panelists included Barbara Ward, former foreign affairs editor of The Economist of London; John Fischer, editor-in-chief of Harper's magazine; Eugene C. Pulliam, president and publisher of newspapers in Indiana and Arizona; J. Russell Wiggins, vice president and executive editor of The Washington Post and Times Herald and Sig Mickelson, general manager of CBS news.

Pulliam said the primary responsibility of the U.S. press is to remain strong, firm and independent. If the nation is going to be saved from Communist tyranny, he said, it will be saved by a free press.

Mickelson said he thought that generally the press had been doing a very good job in supplying information, but that the need for information was growing faster than the public's understanding of events. There is a widening gap, he said, between the need for knowledge and actual knowledge.

Private Schoolmen Protest:

'Public Schools Vital to State'

By PHIL MEYER
Herald Staff Writer

Dade County private schoolmen Sunday called on the state Legislature to keep Florida's public schools open.

"The preservation of a strong public school system in the state of Florida is of paramount importance to the welfare of the state," said a resolution adopted here by the 18-member Southeast Florida Association of Independent Schools.

Harold Malamud, secretary of the Florida Council of Independent Schools, said the resolution also had the approval of his group's 40 members.

Closing of public schools has been suggested by some North Florida legislators as a last resort measure to avoid integration.

The resolution also expressed opposition to "any compulsory state controls" on private schools which might be written into some of the anti-mixing measures now being prepared.

Meanwhile, State Sen. Tom Adams of Orange Park proposed a plan for setting up controls over private schools — but voluntary ones.

It was part of a double-barreled measure to encourage the development of private schools which would:

SET UP an agency to accredit private schools. Its standards would admittedly be lower than those of public schools, but it would require "minimum satisfactory education."

ESTABLISH a 3 million dollar scholarship fund to provide tuition grants of $150 to 10,000 youngsters for two years. The money would be alloted to the 67 counties according to population and should encourage establishment of private schools in counties which don't have them, Adams said.

The bills are designed to pave the way for the Parent Option Plan, expected to be approved by the Legislature. This plan would allow parents of children in integrated schools to send their children to private schools with state financial help.

However, the Parent Option Plan could not take effect immediately because it requires a constitutional amendment. The direct tuition grants, available to anyone, would serve as a stop-gap measure, Adams said.

"And it would mean the schools would be there when the Parent Option Plan goes into effect," he said. "Other states ran into hot water when they waited until the last minute to get private schools set up."

The 3 million dollar scholarship fund would not cost the state anything, Adams said. The money would be taken from the minimum foundation grants of each county whose students use the scholarships to go to private schools. The scholarships would end with the beginning of the Parent Option system, which also depends on state school fund sources.

Adams said the accrediting would be done by a board of four private school men and three laymen. While meeting the board's standards would be voluntary on the part of private schools, only those which did so could take students getting the state tuition money.

Singer Collapses On Met Stage

Miss Milanov, who had been ill with a virus and replaced at the Friday afternoon performance of the concert, had felt well enough earlier to sing Sunday night.

After about an hour of singing, Miss Milanov collapsed as she walked to a chair on stage. Members of the chorus helped her to the wings. Her condition was not believed serious.

Miss Milanov was replaced during the remainder of the performance by Heidi Krall, who had sung the part for her Friday.

Nixons, 35,000 Brave Gray To Attend Sunrise Services

he that hath seen Me hath seen the Father.'

"'Before Abraham was made, I am'"

Those who heard these words included Christ's disciples, introduced next as they took their places around the familiar table of the Last Supper.

As they moved from the upper room to the Garden of Gethsemane, the singing of crickets from the sound track (used for the first time this year to accompany each scene) made it all seem authentic.

The Christus, portrayed by Robert Godbey with the voice of Noah Tyler on tape, then prayed His timeless prayer, "Oh, my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me; nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt."

Suddenly the quiet was interrupted by the appearance of Judas and the soldiers who seized Jesus, drug Him to Pontius Pilate for "trial," scourged Him, and took Him up Calvary's hill where they nailed Him to the cross.

Thunder and lightning, produced effectively by the technical skill of Bill Stone and Jim Hahn, accompanied the crucifixion. And then the body of the Lord was removed in quietness and placed in the tomb.

And the closing words of the narrator were: "Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day: And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations."

It is the church's insistant demand that this statement is true which is the heart of the Christian gospel, the Rev. Lane G. Adams was explaining to the Nixons and the other worshipers over by the seaside.

The pastor of the Key Biscayne Presbyterian Church said that too often poeple don't really believe these facts because they are not honest about their doubts, never seriously examine the evidence and seek to escape the moral claims Christ would have on their lives if they really believed it.

"But if you don't believe in the bodily resurrection of Christ, take heart," he said. "The disciples were not prepared to believe at first, either."

Then the Rev. Mr. Adams listed the usual arguments against accepting the resurrection and then refuted them, finally outlining reasons for believing in the cornerstone event.

He declared that the change that came into the lives of the disciples, the testimony of the church down through the ages, and the experience of those who confront Christ today are proof enough.

He concluded by challenging the worshipers to live as if they believed that Christ has risen and offers real, abundant and eternal life to those who believe.

Typical of the messages preached at the other two dozen sunrise services were the ones delivered on the lawn of the Coral Gables city hall and at Oceanside Park in Miami Beach.

The Rev. W. Baxter Weant, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, told the 2,000 early-bird worshipers in Coral Gables that there are two phases to the Easter story and most folks get only through the first phase.

He said that first step is responding to the angel's invitation to come and see that the Savior has risen.

However, he pointed out, the tomb was not empty because it was filled with God's light, His word and the gospel of the resurrection.

Pastor Weant declared that the women who came to the tomb were given the opportunity for the most blessed service they ever rendered when they were asked to go tell the disciples that Christ had risen.

"At this point most of us fail Him," asserted the Rev. Mr. Weant. "We come, see, and hear, but fail to go tell."

Meanwhile, rain before and after the service somewhat dampened the usual enthusiasm at the area's oldest sunrise program on Miami Beach. But there was no rain during the service attended by 1,000 worshipers.

They heard the Rev. Joseph Crawley, of the St. John's-on-the-Lake Methodist Church, point out that the events of Easter promise that God will never be far off with joy and new life although there will be times of trial for those who love and follow Him.

Rebel Leader Reported Killed

ALGIERS —(AP)— The French army said Sunday a rebel Col. Amirouche has been killed near Bou Saada, 150 miles south of Algiers. He was described as one of the leading chiefs of the Nationalist rebellion.

An army announcement said Amirouche was killed Thursday when French units swooped down on a meeting place of military chiefs of the Nationalist Army of Liberation.

National Summary

A disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico during mid day resulted in occasional rain from the Eastern Gulf states and portions of the South Atlantic coast states into the Ohio valley with scattered sleet or snow in the mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina. Significant amounts of rain were observed in the Gulf states where Atlanta, Georgia reported .37 inches in six hours while Montgomery, Alabama measured .34 during the same period. The rain will spread across portions of the Virginias into Western Pennsylvania tonight beginning as snow or sleet in higher elevations and will prevail intermittently from the Carolinas into New York today.

Mostly sunny skies occurred from New England into Maryland accompanied by temperatures in the 20s and 40s with Boston reporting a reading of 40 while the nation's capital had a 42. Fair weather will continue in New England with increasing cloudiness today.

Sunshine prevailed in the north and south border states from the Rockies into the Mississippi Valley while cloudiness shaded the remainder of the mid section of the country. Temperatures in the 40s and 50s occurred over most of the middle portion of the nation except for the 30s in the Great Lakes region and the 60 near the gulf.

Less Than One in Four Thinks Fighting Is Inevitable

Public Thinks Firm Berlin Stand Can Prevent War

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N.J. — Behind the public's willingness to gamble on the chances of war in Berlin is a confirmed belief that wars are avoided by a firm stand and not by appeasement.

By standing firm in Berlin, the public feels, we stand to gain, at least, a compromise agreement with the Soviets and, at best, a major "cold war" victory.

Less than one American in four today who is familiar with the Berlin crisis, in fact, believes that it will end in war.

No doubt confirming the opinions of many voters is memory of what happened in the German city 10 years ago when the West stood firm in the face of a Russian challenge.

Although conceding — in a June, 1949 Gallup Poll survey — that Russia did not really want to cooperate with the U.S. in world affairs, the chief reason, in voters' opinions, why the Communists had lifted the Berlin blockade was that "it had become a losing proposition" for them.

The latest Gallup Poll survey — taken as Western leaders search for a joint approach to the Berlin question — reveals that the public's basic thinking has changed little since then.

All voters who were familiar with the present crisis in Germany (78 per cent) were asked:

"Do you think this Berlin crisis will end in war, or not?"

The results:

WILL BERLIN CRISIS END IN WAR?

No, will not	59 Pct.
Yes, will	22
No opinion	19

In the East and Far West, where it was reported earlier that the greatest determination to keep troops in Berlin was in evidence, Gallup Poll reporters also found the greatest amount of optimism that the German crisis will not result in war.

Here is the vote by regions of the country on the possibility of war breaking out as a result of the Berlin crisis:

WILL BERLIN CRISIS END IN WAR?

	Yes Pct.	No Pct.	No Opin. Pct.
East	17	68	15
Midwest	25	59	16
South	30	41	29
Far West	16	65	19

If not a war in Berlin, what does the public think will happen? When voters were asked for their guess on the eventual outcome of the German crisis, three major courses, other than war, were mentioned most frequently. These were:

1. That Russia would back down and the West would score a major cold war victory.
2. That some form of agreement between the Soviets and the Western powers would be reached.
3. That the Berlin crisis would simply continue — as in the past — as another irksome feature of the cold war with neither side winning.

A Building Neighbor Whoops It Up

A Sense Of Achievement

JACKSONVILLE is laying claim to the title of "import-export merchandise center of the Southeastern United States." And not without some reason.

In January, notes the bank bulletin "Jacksonville Progress," the community established the Jacksonville International Trade Mart. This is a facility which offers foreign traders display rooms, office space, library and research aid, access to consular staffs, hotel and club accommodations and other commercial advantages.

With ship movements tripled in the last seven years, Jacksonville sees itself a potential rival of the ports of New York and New Orleans, though presently it is not within hauling distance of New York's annual 197 million tons of commerce or New Orleans' 50 million tons. But the bulletin casts a covetous eye at the plush Caribbean and concludes:

> The Jacksonville International Trade Mart is looked upon as a challenge to the control which New York has held over American foreign trade for the past century. The present tendency is for import-export firms here and abroad to seek ports of entry outside the congested New York area to reduce transfer and handling costs, avoid delays due to periodic dock strikes, and to ship goods destined to other parts of the United States through ports more conveniently located than New York.

MIAMI of course congratulates neighbor Jacksonville on its sense of achievement. The example, then, may be a challenge to this community, which has only on paper:

A trade mart (Interama)
A first-class seaport
A complex of expressways

Jacksonville has these facilities in being or in final stages of completion.

Miami has talked about them, dreamed of them and planned for them in a tentative and divided approach to capital improvements for the community.

But that is all.

Common Market For The Americas

THE NEED for a common market in the Americas is becoming more obvious with every month that passes.

Former Sen. Claude Pepper is the latest to urge such an arrangement to stabilize and speed the flow of hemispheric trade. It is now essential, Senator Pepper told the International Affairs Department of the Miami-Dade Chamber of Commerce.

Common markets in Europe are cutting deeply into United States exports in that area. Economic difficulties in the nations on this side of the world are reducing the exchange of goods with our closest neighbors.

The creation of a common market in Latin America, in which the United States does not participate but will stand as friend and sponsor, is the current thinking of the administration. This undoubtedly will be discussed when the 21 governments meet in Buenos Aires April 13. The representatives will sign the charter of the billion-dollar Inter-American Bank to finance economic development of Latin American countries. It will be an historic occasion. Undoubtedly it will send a wave of hope through many depressed lands.

BUT IT WILL not be a final solution.

Along with economic aid, the countries to the south are looking for understanding. As Milton I. Vanger, a distinguished expert on Latin-American affairs, pointed out in The Herald Thursday, we give too much weight in our Latin American approach to the question of anti-Communism. "Communism is in fact not a present danger in any Latin American country," wrote Mr. Vanger.

"The fundamental problem for Latin America is how to speed up economic development so as not to disappoint an increasingly aware population."

Even more to the point is Dr. Jose A. Mora of Uruguay, secretary-general of the Organization of American States. Of the complex inter-relations of the Pan American world, he said:

"Reaching the solutions presupposes a high degree of international cooperation; it also presupposes the will to change established policies. In this period of rapid transition our problems can be solved only through a deep understanding of the common interests, on the basis of imaginative and far-reaching proposals.

"Perhaps the basis of all foreign trade reforms should be a system of regional common markets or free trade zones. This would be the first step toward economic integration of the hemisphere."

These are the words of men deeply concerned with the need for closer ties in this family of nations. They all recognize the ferment that is working in this area which is growing faster, in numbers and in stature, than any in the world.

Made In Florida On The Double

FLORIDIANS are making money twice as fast as people all over the country.

That is the happy conclusion of Dr. Wylie Kilpatrick of the University of Florida's Bureau of Economic and Business Research. He reached it by comparing the personal income of Floridians with the national figures for 1947 and 1957.

Statewide, he found, personal income grew twice as fast as the national rate during the decade. The jump in Florida was 159 per cent—from $2,903,000,000 to $7,522,000,000.

During the same 10 years, this state's population grew 67 per cent, more than three times the national rate.

Thus, personal income in Florida has been rising nearly two and a half times as fast as population. Any family in that situation would consider itself going strong.

Of course, the dollar total isn't divided uniformly among every man, woman and child in the state. The three most populous counties — Dade, Duval and Hillsborough —accounted for 44 per cent of the state's income in 1957.

Southeast Florida — Dade, Broward and Palm Beach counties – received a hefty one-third of the statewide total.

Dr. Kilpatrick spoke of his findings in terms of "the level of economic well-being" and "market potential." To most Floridians, his figures add up to a single word: prosperity.

Mostly, An AAA-1 Program

MOTORISTS—and that includes just about everybody above adolescence these days—will find much to applaud in the legislative proposals of the Florida Conference of AAA Motor Clubs.

The program is designed to make driving safer and less costly to the individual. In many ways it would accomplish that very end.

On the safety side the Conference recommends license suspension for habitual traffic violators, stricter reexamination of drivers involved in accidents, more accountability for juvenile violators, and high school driver education.

On the cost side there is opposition to increases in the gasoline tax and to diversion of present taxes for non-highway purposes.

The Conference recommends driver licenses good for three years, renewable in birth months to stagger the work load on state agencies. A uniform traffic court system is urged.

This is only part of a far-reaching and constructive program. Some of the proposals already have been approved by the interim committee on traffic safety. Prospects are good that many will receive favorable consideration by the lawmakers, as they should.

The driving public is aroused by the tragic toll of death and injury on the highways. It is disturbed by the spiralling cost of operating motor vehicles, particularly their insurance costs.

Too often the public has no advocate in legislative halls. For the public in its role as motorist the Florida Conference of AAA Motor Clubs assumes that role. In effect the organization is speaking for all who drive.

We Lose A Fistful Of Titles

We shucked a couple of other titles when Congress admitted Alaska and Hawaii as the 49th and 50th states.

For more than a century, Florida had the longest coastline of any state. Alas, no more. Alaska has us beat by a good deal more than a country mile: its 4,750 miles of wave-washed shore is nearly four times Florida's 1,200.

Gone, too, is South Florida's distinction as the only subtropical corner of the United States. Hawaii is subtropical and also plumb tropical.

FOLK in Key West were the first to notice that their city no longer is the southernmost in the United States. The change should have no effect on travel to Key West. It's still the southernmost spot in the country reachable by automobile.

Motorists heading for the new southernmost state must cross at least 2,000 miles of water by other means of transportation from the nearest major land mass.

But Florida and Hawaii have some things in common. A Miamian, for example, would feel right at home among the shrubs, trees and flowers around Honolulu.

Coconut palms are plentiful there as here. They aren't native to either place, but started naturalizing themselves in Hawaii before showing up in Florida.

Star-shaped, fragrant frangipani flowers like Miami's are part of the Hawaiian scene. They grow all over the tropics.

Corals built our Upper Keys and some of the Hawaiian Islands, a chain extending diagonally over 1,500 miles of the Pacific Ocean. But the south end of the State of Hawaii is nearly 300 miles closer to the Equator than Key West.

THE NEW southernmost and westernmost state is quite unlike Florida in some ways. Some spots there are deserts. Many of the islands are of volcanic origin, and Mauna Loa is the largest active volcano in the world.

By contrast, Florida rests secure on deep layers of limestone rising from one of the most stable parts of the earth's crust. It doesn't rise very high, to be sure. Our highest known natural point is in Walton County, near the Alabama line. It's 345 feet above sea level — quite a contrast to 13,000-foot Hawaiian mountains.

Floridians have one consolation: that lowly hill in Walton County, like all others here, is never going to blow its top.

Of course, the titles which have flitted from Florida to Alaska or Hawaii probably could be salvaged by the addition of "continental" or "mainland." Our peninsula is still the southernmost mainland state. It still has the only subtropical corner of continental United States. No other mainland state has a longer coastline.

But why bother? Florida needs no contrived superlatives.

Early Swim Lessons Pay Off

Editor, The Herald: I am as shocked as others about the increased number of children's deaths due to drowning in our area. I agree with County Manager O. W. Campbell that the answer is to teach the children to swim and that it is absurd to fence in the water in the area.

However, I do not believe that his idea will be successful as a voluntary recreation program. It will be too much bother for some parents to see that their children attend, and the program will not appeal to others.

I would suggest that a swimming pool be an integral part of every public school and that the physical education teachers take over the job of teaching the youngsters to swim beginning in the first grade. All children over six will be reached in this manner.

To know how to swim in this area is as vital a part of a child's education as the three R's; and I believe that the physical education teachers would prefer to teach swimming to the youngsters instead of so much of the folk dancing to which my children have been subjected.

Perhaps we might even develop some more international swimming champions.

I have two children. When they were four and six years of age we moved to our present address with 220 feet of waterfront which is 18 feet deep right up to the edge—an abandoned rockpit.

We did not errect a fence between us and the water—we did give our children professional swimming lessons. They have enjoyed the rock pit and I have no fear of it. We had been here about six months when my son came to the back door and said, "Mom, hand me a towel." He had reached for a fishing lure and fallen into the lake with all his clothes on.

His only comment was, "Gee, these clothes are heavy when they are wet." The expense of the professional swimming lessons had paid off.

Zealousness Of Police Does Not Rate Scorn

Editor The Herald: In no city, state or country in which I've traveled have I ever seen the members of a police department take more viperous verbalizings from the law-breaking citizenry than here in the Miami area.

Ex-mayors and judges scream injustice every time their self conceit is threatened by being delayed in the name of the justice they so hollowly preach for everyone else.

Those who cried so bitterly at having been caught breaking the speeding laws on Brickell Ave. undoubtedly would be the first to cry if the police did not do their duty. That strain of human, it seems, never is satisfied.

To my way of thinking, if only one life was saved for every 57 speeding citations handed out by a police force which works tirelessly to keep drivers from killing themselves, it was nice knowing that the life saved may have been mine or my wife's or my child's.

I do not profess righteousness as a driver, but I detest hypocrisy as a human being.

Ask References From The Boss

Editor The Herald: Do you think the time will ever come when we poor abused secretaries can do a turn-about and ask a prospective employer for his qualifications before taking a job?

I took a position where 100 words per minute shorthand was minimum, and then all the boss could do was—ahem, grunt, strike-that-out, at the terrific speed of about 30 words per minute.

I suffered with another (president of a $3 million company) for a record three months. This man has about 30 secretaries a year. Then you have a man who runs a constant ad in your paper. He hires and fires two and three girls a day. I lasted three.

Bishop's Drill Hits A Nerve

Editor The Herald: Jim Bishop, evidently probed a few touchy cavities when he wrote about dentists — but he proved himself a great man by printing some of the not-too-gentlemanly retorts from those who took offense.

Maybe, without meaning to be anything but lightly humorous, Bishop overdid it. Still, one would think the dentists would have taken the criticism in stride, even looking to see if perhaps some of it might be justified, and if so, seeking ways to overcome any deficiencies.

Truth is, the teeth are about the most sensitive part of the body, partly because they are the hardest to anesthetize . . . and even if the nerves are deadened, that horrible sound still transmits itself to the ears, and at that point, imagination takes over, creating pain which really doesn't exist.

The wise dentist warns his patient that "this is going to hurt," thus putting him on his mettle. Pain is often as much psychological as physical. Personally, I hate going to the dentist.

Remember The Good Year '28?

A Trip Back Down Memory Lane

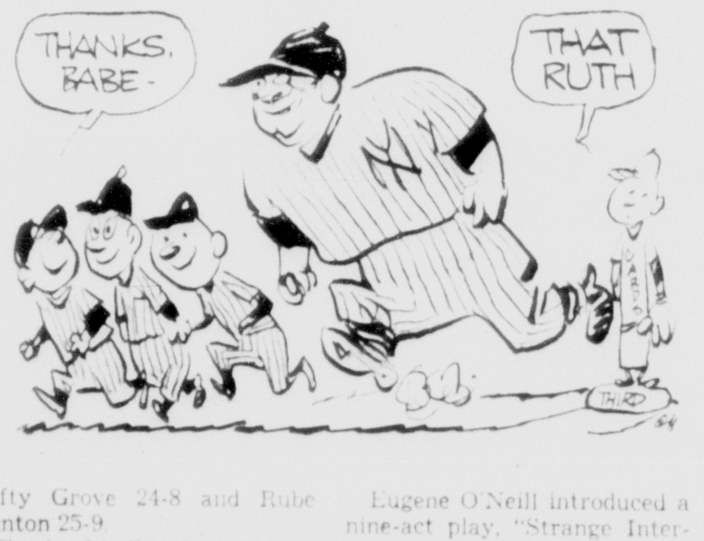
Editor The Herald: The year was 1928. Everything was rosy and the goose hung high.

Skirts were up and fears were down. It was the flapper age, a time for the Charleston, coonskin coats, Rudy Vallee and speakeasies.

President Coolidge told Americans the prospects for prosperity never were so good. The crash of '29 was still around the corner.

Bobby Jones, Walter Hagen and Tommy Armour were the big names in golf. Bill Tilden and Helen Wills were the same in tennis. A girl named Sonja Henie was the best figure skater around. Reigh Count won the Kentucky Derby. Gene Tunney beat Tom Heeney in 11 rounds to retain his heavyweight title.

Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig almost won the World Series alone with their big bats as the Yankees, 10-to-7 underdogs, knocked the St. Louis Cards for four straight, with Waite Hoyt winning two games. Ruth slugged 54 homers during the season and had a three-homer in the last game of the series. Rogers Hornsby led the majors in hitting with .387. Alvin Crowder had a 21-5 pitching record, Lefty Grove 24-8 and Rube Benton 25-9.



Charles Lindbergh still shared the front pages, after his 1927 hop to Paris, with Herbert Hoover (A chicken in every pot) and Al Smith (Let's look at the record). Hoover won the presidency.

The movies didn't talk, but John Gilbert made the ladies swoon. He starred in "The Big Parade" with Renee Adoree. William Haines had a young supporting actress named Joan Crawford. Tom Mix, Janet Gaynor, Francis X. Bushman, Doug Fairbanks, Mary Pickford were important shadows on the silent screen. Vaudeville was going strong.

Eugene O'Neill introduced a nine-act play, "Strange Interlude," which took up six hours and included a dinner intermission.

The use of radios in police cars was looked upon as a coming thing to combat crime. Miami got its first letter by airplane through a rainstorm.

Mens' fine wool suits were $13.95 and one could rent a house for $25 a month. Shoes were $5 a pair and a fancy Chrysler sold for $1,075. The new Chevrolets sported rumble seats.

How many remember 1928 and would like to travel again those 30 long years?

Through-City Road Has Its Blockades

By John D. Pennekamp

THERE WILL BE no work done on the so-called "downtown" link of the Interstate highway through Miami for at least five years unless some new source of money opens up, according to William D. Singer, this district's member of the State Road Department.

Estimates of the cost of the downtown link range from $77 million to $112 million.

If the federal government approves the plans for it, it will pay 90 per cent of the cost.

Pennekamp

Others are:

Finances, the federal government having allocated all available funds for the highway's building elsewhere, including the strip northward from 36th St. in Dade County.

Height of the bridge over which the highway will cross the Miami River.

THE SO-CALLED downtown link extends generally along NW 6th Ave., southward from 29th St., shifting eastward as it gets close in to cross the river approximately where the Florida East Coast railroad's turntable bridge is now.

Approval of a plan that differs from the government's construction policy for the highway now is being negotiated in Washington.

The Bureau of Roads believes that elevated land sections of the highway should be on solid fill.

Primary purpose of the highway, it contends, is to move traffic rapidly in an emergency.

Miami business and political interests, however, want the highway to serve the purpose also of helping to "save" downtown Miami by making ingress and egress easy.

They also want to be sure that the highway permits the opening of an adequate number of east-west streets, a possibility that was evolving with the planned removal of the FEC's downtown freight yards.

However, the building of the highway on fill and fenced only a short distance westward could, if it served as a blockade, wipe out that gain.

FURTHER, with adequate advance planning, an intown section elevated on concrete and steel could provide a gigantic parking area under it, close to downtown, thus solving another pressing problem.

If the Bureau of Roads goes along with the proposal, then eventual federal financing of the downtown link is assured and an effort may be made to finance it temporarily against the time when the federal government can repay the outlay.

If it doesn't the possibility of the county putting up the money has been suggested.

THE FILL vs. structure argument, while intense, has been obscured by the one as to the height of the bridge over the river.

The Bureau wants a fixed bridge. In an emergency, it asserts, it doesn't want an open bridge to stop the automobile traffic movement.

It proposed a 55-foot bridge. Shipping interests said that wasn't high enough. They stood firmly for a bascule, or lift bridge, such as now spans the river. There are some indications, however, that they might consider an 80-foot span a victory.

Best guess is that a compromise may be reached at 65-feet. The marine interests say there are 164 boats in this area, mostly pleasure craft, which would need a higher span if they went up the river.

Since a three-per cent grade is regarded as best for bridge approaches (three feet of rise for each 100 feet of distance) a 65-foot bridge would require more than 2,000 feet of approach on each side.

Singer says that estimates indicate a 65-foot bridge would cost about $2 million more than a 55-foot one.

Discovering Self Is Greatest Task

By SYDNEY J. HARRIS

PEOPLE are always asking Michael what he wants to "be" when he grows up, and he is always telling them. Right now, he wants to be a welder. Last week it was a garbage collector; the week before, a crane operator.

Harris

When Thoreau was nine years old, someone asked him what he would be when he grew up, and he answered promptly: "I'll be myself." And he was, too — the most gloriously independent mind of his time.

How many of us in the adult world can say we are ourselves? How many of us even know what that means? Instead, we are subsumed within our jobs, our social positions, our functions as husbands and voters and home-owners.

To be oneself does not mean to run wild, to ignore obligations, to rebel for its own sake (as the adolescent beatniks seem to think). It means, rather, to see oneself first and foremost as a person, not as a part of a person — not as an American, or a Republican, or a male, but as a living organism composed of body and spirit.

Thoreau had a lifelong passion for asserting his own identity as a person; and this passion made him seem like a fanatic in the eyes of his contemporaries. When he sequestered himself in Walden for two years, it was not (as so many people think) to learn more about Nature, but to learn more about Thoreau.

Most of us live locked tightly within our partial little loyalties, and thus never realize what the fullness of a human being should be like. We approach the world sideways, like a crab, seeing it only from the oblique angle of our particular social status, our native background, our special vocation.

BUT TO BE distinctively human means not to have a worm's-eye view, or a crab's-eye view. It means to share with God a panoramic view of the world, including oneself; it means rising above the accidental prison of our personalities, and trying to discover what a human being should really be like.

This is a difficult task, but it is the only worthwhile task in life. Compared to it, making money is frivolous, and having fun is dull. When Michael grows up, I most of all want him to be Michael — whether he is collecting garbage or dividends.

Smathers Calls Page One Shots

By DAVID KRASLOW
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Sen. George Smathers, with only a 4½-minute bit each week, has been making bigger news recently than some of the national television panel shows.

Smathers' format is simple. He interviews a top official each week on current issues. The show is filmed in Washington for use on Florida TV stations.

Statements by Smathers' guests became Page One news in and out of Florida for three straight weeks.

First there was the remark by Sen. Mike Mansfield (D., Mont.), the assistant majority leader, that both parties would support President Eisenhower "to the hilt" on the Berlin crisis.

The following week Rear Adm. J. T. Hayward, assistant chief of naval operations for research and development, disclosed that the nuclear submarine fleet would be assigned to Cape Canaveral to test-fire the Polaris missile.

Smathers topped this with another national "beat" in his interview with Sen. William Fulbright (D., Ark.), chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

Fulbright warned of the possibility of war over Berlin and suggested that instead of being "too sticky" about summit conferences, perhaps there ought to be one every six months.

The proposal impressed British Prime Minister Harold Macmilian, who recommended it to President Eisenhower.

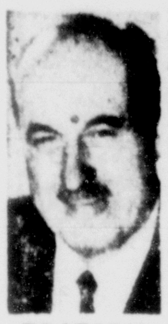
Easter Letter From an Oppressed Land

CIUDAD TRUJILLO
DOMINICAN REPUBLIC

Dear Drew, Georgie, and Joe:

I am on one of the islands which Christopher Columbus discovered when he came to America. It is a beautiful island and I wish you were here. The water is warm and maybe we could go swimming.

You will remember reading in your history book, Drew, about how Columbus had to encourage his men, who almost revolted before he reached the new World. Maybe you could read to your brothers about him. Columbus was one of the most persistent pioneers in history. All pioneers have to be persistent, or they don't get any place. But Columbus first had to sell the Queen of Spain on putting up enough money to finance a fleet to find the New World; and after that he had to sell his crew on staying on the job until they found the New World. He was not only a pioneer, he was also a salesman.



PEARSON

Remember that sometimes when your lessons seem hard or cleaning up the garden is boring.

Well, after Columbus arrived he started a settlement, and then the trouble began. He took some of the Indians back to Spain as slaves, while the soldiers he left in this New World settlement shot many of the remaining Indians.

The difficulty was that Columbus was more a pioneer than an administrator. He didn't want to settle down to run a home and keep a garden. He let others do that, and they didn't do it very well.

So there was trouble. At first, to solve the trouble and provide cheap workers, they brought slaves here from Africa. But that only caused more trouble.

None of this was really the fault of Columbus. Nor was it the fault of the slaves. They were prisoners. But even today, over 400 years later, one part of this island, the Dominican Republic, is still having trouble with one dictator, while the other half, which is called Haiti, is having trouble with a whole series of changing dictators.

The part of the island where I am now, the Dominican Republic, is sometimes called the refuge of ex-dictators; because this is where two famous dictators, Juan Peron of Argentina and Fulgencio Batista of Cuba, have retired. They came here when the people in their own countries kicked them out. They were kicked out because they did not hold free elections or because they became too unpopular.

So they came to live under another dictator named Trujillo.

We in the U.S. have learned that it doesn't pay to have dictators. That's why we have elections, and why your daddy once ran for Congress. When he was defeated, he didn't organize an army in order to go to Congress anyway, the way dictators do. He just said to himself: "Well, I'll stay home and enjoy my family."

However, all young men should run for Congress or mayor, or some other public office. That's why we have a better government than some people of the islands Columbus discovered. We believe everyone should take an interest in his government and run for office, even if he's defeated, and thus develop government by a lot of men and women, not by just one dictator.

Over in Haiti, where about three million descendents of African slaves are living, they have very little food and some people are actually starving. Fortunately CARE, an organization which tries to help feed people, is bringing some food to them. This is American food which American farmers have too much of. But it seems to me that instead of keeping it in warehouses where the rats and weevil get into it, we should send it to people who are starving.

You should receive this letter about Easter time. And I'm sure you know that Christ was crucified at this time almost 2,000 years ago because he taught the idea that we must take care of our fellow men.

In other words, Christ was also a pioneer. He was an even greater pioneer than Christopher Columbus. He was such a great pioneer that he gave us the greatest doctrine for getting along with our fellow men known to the world. If we practiced it more we would get along better.

We are practicing it when we send food to Haiti, or when you boys do something thoughtful for a neighbor down the street. We have to practice it and work hard at it — among our neighbors and among our families, and also among nations.

It isn't always easy to do, but remember that is what Christ died for and that is why we remember him at Easter. That is also how we can avoid some of the troubles that still make these islands which Columbus discovered so unhappy.

I hope you get a lot of Easter eggs, but don't eat them all at once.

Lots of Love,
GRANDPA

U. S.-Anglo Alliance Stronger

While Men Talk, They Do Not Fight

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE PROBLEM THAT FACES the Western world is war. Shall we have a war immediately? Shall we postpone the war? Shall we try to avert war? Shall we retreat from war?

These are the fundamental questions that President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Macmillan discussed in more graceful terminology.

These are the questions that will have to be discussed at a Summit Conference which will include General de Gaulle of France and Nikita Khrushchev of Soviet Russia and will be keenly watched by Chancellor Adenauer of West Germany who can start a world war with a gesture.

SOKOLSKY

War is a terrible instrument for the settlement of disputes. It is irrevocable. The consequences of war are final in the sense that whatever remains after a war is different in many aspects from what came before.

Prime Minister Macmillan is forced by the circumstances of Great Britain to prefer peace to war, but Great Britain cannot desert the United States and therefore must compromise with American policy and American public opinion.

The United States wants peace, too. But the United States is no longer afraid of Soviet Russia as it had been for many years. The United States is no longer willing to accept Khrushchev's blustering.

CHANGES IN PUBLIC OPINION are difficult to trace. Nevertheless, whereas a few years ago, fear and frustration characterized American attitudes toward Russia, today American responses to Khrushchev are most unfavorable.

He is no longer amusing. He is no longer cute. His threats are a bore. His toasts are vulgarities.

Therefore, Americans do not desire that their President meet with this moujik. They would prefer that intercourse with Soviet Russia be through ordinary channels.

Macmillan represents another point of view. In the first place, British public opinion is, on the whole, not as pro-American as we should like it to be.

With our assistance and British trading acumen, the British economy is doing as well as the most optimistic could have anticipated.

But the British would like to do more business in the United States because the dollar is still good money in spite of its depreciation.

This plays a role in British thinking.

And yet, if Great Britain and the United States, or better still, the United States and the Commonwealth could form an economic union, many current problems among these countries would solve themselves and the associations among these peoples would be closer.

WHAT EISENHOWER and Macmillan have accomplished by their conference may not be as tremendous as appears on the surface.

FIRST, they have established the solidarity, for the time being, of the Anglo-American Alliance;

SECONDLY, they have made it possible for Khrushchev to withdraw his May ultimatum without losing face;

THIRDLY, they have agreed upon a Summit Conference but have pushed it into August which is far enough away and they have stipulated that it should not be a circus, which may be difficult for Khrushchev;

FINALLY, they have considered the prospects of several Summit Conferences which means only that while men talk, they do not fight.

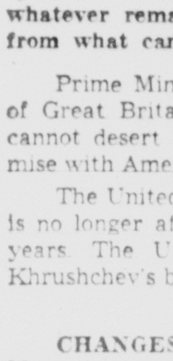
Will this resolve the Russian menace? Not at all. The objective of the Soviet Universal State is the absorption of all nations in a Communist world with the Kremlin at the center.

Anything less would be a defeat of Marxism-Leninism and Khrushchev could not stand up if he were thus defeated.

Algerian Moslem Males Headed for Trouble

By ROBERT C. RUARK

AS A FELLOW who is strongly opposed to tampering with other people's customs (I.E., pie for breakfast, peas with a knife), I am real sore at Miss Nafissa Sid Cara, the first Algerian Moslem woman to sit in the French National Assembly, and now a secretary of state.



RUARK

Miss Nafissa, obviously an old maid by Algerian standards, has just scored a resounding victory for her side, womanhood, and Allah knows what the results will be.

For many a thousand year the Moslem man had it made. He could marry up to four wives, and if he needed a summer replacement or the Fatima acted up, he could get rid of his hair shirt merely by saying, "I divorce you," three times. Out she went, flat on her djelabah.

Largely due to the lobbying of Miss Nafissa, the French have just nullified the old ruling, and from now on divorce will be granted only after a hearing by a magistrate, with alimony and all the other boons of civilization laid on.

The reason I am sore at Miss Nafissa is that for years I have been telling mama that if she didn't behave herself, I would just zip over to Algiers and mutter, "I divorce you," three times into my beard.

This was a pretty good threat, too, because there was a ruling in Moslem Cairo the other day that a non-Moslem could divorce his wife if he were a resident of Egypt by the same easy process.

The air fare is more expensive to Cairo from where I live than it is to Algiers.

MISS NAFISSA'S frenzied lobbying has produced other sweeping changes, designed to give Moslem women the same rights as Europeans.

For the first time, consent by the lady was made part of the marriage law.

Moreover, the new French decree sets the minimum age for marriage at 15 for the girls and 18 for the boys, which is a dreadful thing, really.

In the good old days, when Uncle Abu was a frisky colt, any girl considered herself an old maid, and possibly cross-eyed, if she were still unmarried at 15, when all the other ex-bobbysoxers were working on their third set of twins.

UP TO NOW THE NAFISSA forces have not been able to persuade le grand Charlie to nullify plural marriages, but I believe that is next on the schedule, and who is going to do the work around the tent or in the casbah I cannot say.

Certainly not the poor, delicate men, who are unused to any household toil more arduous than smoking a little kif in the shade of a date palm while mama minds the goats and younguns.

I suppose the young city Arabs will take to all this newfangled tomfoolery that has made the Western world so stable matrimonially, and before long the ladies will be wearing the spiritual pants and running for office, while the goats stray and the babies' noses go unblown.

But certainly the old folks aren't going to like it, and after a while, the young male crop won't like it either, when they find out how bossy a dame can be around the hutch when full emancipation sets in and the women begin to consider themselves as human beings instead of chattels.

(I believe that some rather rough-hewn Moslem sects contest the supposition that women have souls, and when you beat them for being bad, you are not really striking a person. I have always held this to be an extremely healthy view, productive of peace, calm and hard work in the home.)

There is much too much misguided good being committed in this world, I believe, by people who claim to know what the other fellow wants.

If I were an Algerian male Moslem today, I would be awful sore at Miss Nafissa Sid Cara, and almost equally sore at the assembly and Big Charlie for letting her get away with it.

Gotham In Union? Why Not?

They may not be ringing the alarm bells in Albany yet, but New York City is muttering secession—and admission to the union as a sovereign state. And a remarkable sort of state it would be.

By HUGH A. MULLIGAN
AP Newsfeature Writer

New York, Alaska and Hawaii have finally made it into the union. Anyone for 51?

You bet there is, make way for the Little Giant.

New York City, in a fit of pique at the way it was treated by the legislature up in Albany, is muttering about going it alone as a separate state. Led by Majority Leader Joseph Sharkey of the city council and the New York Journal-American, the irate burghers at the big mouth of the Hudson dream of tacking a new star on the flag and letting the upstate patroons fend for themselves.

Are they serious?

Why not? From almost any angle, New York City would make a dandy addition to the family circle.

Right off the bat, it would be the smallest state in area, only 315 square miles compared with roomy Rhode Island's 1,214, and the sixth biggest in population, behind California, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Texas.

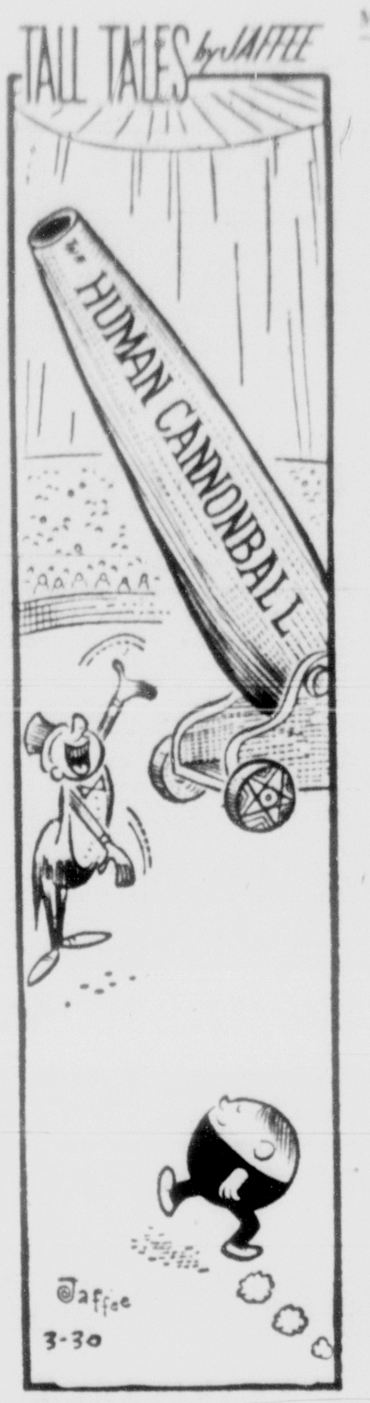
Divorced from its namesake, New York State would drop from first to eighth, behind the new city-state and Michigan, and it no longer would have to carry on the dreary argument with London over which boasts the largest city, since Buffalo isn't even in the world's top 50.

As a separate state, New York City would be the only one in the union with more psychiatrists than cows, more banks than barns, more pizza chefs than county agents, more people underground at any given moment than some states have overground, more Italians than Genoa, more Jews than Tel Aviv, and more Irish than Dublin.

What to call the new state? The Herald-Tribune already has pointed out that it can't be called South New York, because of the confusion over West New York, which is in New Jersey, and East New York, which is in Brooklyn, and just plain York, which is in Pennsylvania.

The Indians called it Man-a-hat-a, "the heavenly land," but Washington Irving christened it Gotham, "after the legendary English village whose inhabitants were known for their foolishness."

Anyhow, it would be a great state to visit . . . but you wouldn't want to live there. Nobody does, it's too crowded.



Dawn 'School' Makes a Point

By PAUL WOODRING
National Education Expert

HOW MANY PEOPLE would get up at six thirty in the morning to watch a televised course in college physics?

Sounds like a silly question—common sense tells us that nobody would get up at that hour for even the best song and dance program or the most exciting horse opera.

WOODRING

But if you're a late riser the real answer may surprise you—it did me. According to the TV ratings more than a quarter million Americans have been getting up at that hour all winter for a program called Continental Classroom.

This IS a course in college-level physics, taught by Prof. Harvey White of the University of California. It is broadcast over NBC which, with its affiliates, (WCKT in Miami) donates the time.

Production costs are financed by the Ford Foundation and several industrial organizations—Bell Telephone, Standard Oil of California, General Foods, I.B.M., U.S. Steel, Pittsburgh Plate Glass.

THE COURSE WAS INTENDED primarily for high school science teachers who want to bring their knowledge of physics up to date.

The Association of Colleges for Teacher Education has arranged with some 250 colleges and universities to grant credit for the course upon examination and about 6,000 teachers are enrolled.

But the audience consists largely of people who take the course without credit — just because they want to know — and whose interest in knowledge is so great that they will get up for a dawn course.

Continental Classroom is the largest undertaking of its kind, but by no means the only one. In the New York area thousands of people watch an early morning program called "Sunrise Semester."

When a professor of literature announced that he would discuss Stendhal's "The Red and the Black" the novel was sold out in a few hours in every New York bookstore.

THE RESPONSE TO THESE programs indicates a tremendous thirst for knowledge on the part of many American people. It opens up new vistas in education.

If a quarter million people will watch a dawn course in a tough subject, how many would be interested in this and other educational programs at a more favorable hour?

Nobody yet knows the answer but it seems possible that a good academic course in literature or biology presented at ten in the morning or two in the afternoon might outdraw all the soap operas.

Maybe housewives are a good deal brighter and more intellectual than the program planners think.

Perhaps a course in American history—one that made history come to life—if presented on a Sunday evening would make the spectaculars and variety programs look to their laurels.

Such a program would have to be supported by advertising but the commercials would be no more painful as breaks in an educational program than they are in a drama or a musical.

MANY TEACHERS have been reluctant to accept teaching by television because the student has no opportunity to ask questions.

In some subjects this is undoubtedly a handicap, but many students are convinced that it is more than offset by the superiority of instruction in the better TV programs.

Unlike the classroom teacher, who often can get away with poor teaching for many years, the TV teacher MUST be good if he is to survive.

His inadequacies, including any serious limitations in his knowledge of his subject, quickly become apparent.

But, because only a few are needed, the TV teachers can be much more highly selected than teachers normally are.

QUESTION: Is a corporation single or plural? What about those that have half a dozen names in their title?—B. L.

ANSWER: The mixture of singular and plural in your questions is an answer in itself. A corporation can be treated as either singluar or plural.

Firms usually employ the plural in their brochures and correspondence. They have to say "Write to us" or "Send for our catalog."

But it is equally correct to say "U.S. Steel have revised their catalog" or "U.S. Steel has revised their catalog." Some grammarians claim that the second of these is incorrect because it mixes a singular verb and a plural pronoun. But this mixed form is used by many of our greatest writers.

Face-Lift Makes Red Doctors Guffaw

By MIKE MORGAN
Herald Staff Writer

Dr. M. L. Berson
. . . tells of tour

Russian surgeons were convulsed with laughter when they saw a U. S. film depicting the techniques of a face-life operation, an American plastic surgeon recently back from Moscow said in Miami Saturday.

Dr. M. L. Berson related some incidents that happened while he was on a world-wide tour sponsored by the World Medical Association to exchange medical ideas in the field of plastic surgery.

Dr. Berson is author of a standard text on the subject, and director of plastic surgery at Wickership Hospital in New York City.

Invited in Moscow to address the Institute of Surgery of the Academy of Medical Sciences, among the films and techniques he lectured about was the face-lift operation, as well as reconstructive work.

Although reconstructive surgery is practiced in Russia, the Reds will have nothing to do with re-engineering faces for cosmetic reasons. They have not developed surgical techniques for it, said Dr. Berson.

Nor could the group of doctors, about 50 per cent women, understand anyone undergoing an operation for beautification purposes.

One doctor told him: "We don't care if a nose reaches from here to Stalingrad — if it works that's all that counts."

Nevertheless, the Russians were impressed with the skill and technics of the face-lift operation and applauded when the film was finished.

In Hong Kong, Dr. Berson visited the Leprosarium on Hay Ling Chau Island. He found a number of patients who were cured but refused to leave the island.

Through the ravages of leprosy they had completely lost their nasal bridges.

Subsequently, most of the patients were able to leave the leper colony.

In Delhi and Calcutta Dr. Berson learned that many women sought treatment for damage and mutilation caused by weight and sizes of rings and earrings worn in nostrils for decorative effects.

Many instances of infection set in and resulted in serious damage.

But why did most of the women want the nostrils rebuilt? Not primarily for health reasons; they simply yearned to be able to wear the rings in their noses again!

In Japan there's still a lively cut-rate business going for Japanese girls who want their eyelids altered to a less oriental look, and their noses built up.

But these low-priced jobs often have only a very short-lived effect.

Dr. Berson does considerable work on television and screen personalities — especially those who appear frequently on TV.

TV cameras for some reason are more revealing in closeups than the movie closeu Quite a number of men come around to get those bags removed, noses reshaped and other bits of face tailoring.

The doctor lifted a couple of sagging faces that hung on the frames of some prominent male personalities.

Who?

The doc smiled. "It's a secret I'll take to my grave."

Whether it's a sign of the times or not, men are not at all as reluctant to come around for nose reshapings as they once were.

Time was the doc would alter about 25 female sniffers to one male — now it's 50-50.

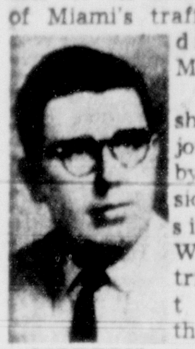
Traffic Engineering Switch Looms

By JOHN MORTON
Herald Staff Writer



MORTON

City Commissioner Otis W. Shiver may pick this week to ask for an immediate transfer of Miami's traffic engineering division to Metro.

If he does, it should get majority backing by the commission. Commissioner George W. DuBreuil tried to get the transfer through last year — after the autonomy amendment was defeated — but failed.

That's three votes.

Shiver probably is trying to beat the county to the punch on this particular transfer.

Due most any day is a big fat report by Metro Traffic Engineer George H. Kunde, which would set out a unified county-wide traffic engineering and highway program.

Parts of the report, according to the grapevine, are startling. But Kunde won't say anything about what's in there until County Manager O. W. Campbell gets a look at it.

One thing to look for, in the cities as well as the county, is a reappraisal of the stoplight situation. When he was with Miami, Kunde was reticent about installing lights except where intersecting streets bore heavy volumes of traffic.

It may mean that some existing lights will be pulled down and certainly signals the end of "political" stoplights or any other stoplights which are not justified by strict requirements.

City Parking Lot To Gross $20,000

MONEY from the city parking lot across from the County Courthouse will add about $20,000 a year to the city till. When the Off Street Parking Board puts up its garage, there will be enough space for about five times as much income.

Gasoline Tax Suit Still Kicking Around

WHAT HAPPENED to the city's two-million-dollar suit against Dade County seeking part of the road and bridge funds paid out of gasoline tax collected within the city? City Attorney William L. Pallot said it's still kicking around in Circuit Court, after a year.

Derby Daiquiri in its special glass.

The Derby Daiquiri!

Delicious new cocktail
chosen official drink of Florida Derby

BRILLIANT occasions should be toasted with brilliant drinks.
So when the Florida Derby is run on April 4 at Gulfstream Park, it will have its very own official cocktail: the Derby Daiquiri.

Ask for a Derby Daiquiri at your favorite restaurant or bar. Mix one at home tonight. And remember, always use a light, dry rum from sunny Puerto Rico.

DERBY DAIQUIRI*
1 oz. orange juice
½ oz. lime juice
½ oz. simple syrup (or scant tsp. sugar)
1½ oz. light Puerto Rican rum

Mix in blender with 1 cup crushed ice and blend to smooth, liquid consistency. Serve in liquid state.
If blender and crushed ice are not available, simply put ingredients and ice cubes in cocktail shaker and shake well.

*Originated by the Mai-Kai Restaurant, Fort Lauderdale, using Puerto Rican rum.

Metro Leaves No Gripers Unanswered

By LEO ADDE
Herald Staff Writer

Metro's charter doesn't say so specifically, but part of the county government's job is finding lost balls—and kids—in the high weeds.

Mrs. R. G. Crandell, 4530 NW 179th St., wrote County Manager O. W. Campbell that weeds between her street and 183rd St., and from 44th to 47th Aves., were so high that children at play were getting lost in them and couldn't find their way out.

That complaint was made Jan. 21. By Feb. 5, intrepid machete-wielders from Metro's Public Works Department had felled the final weed, and a citizen was happy.

Behind the speed in which this request was handled, along with others coming into the manager's office at the rate of 50 a week, lies a simple-looking but effective new system. It affects more persons than any other single thing Metro is doing.

When a Dade resident registers a beef about holes in streets, uncollected garbage, or anything else, his letter goes into a mill. A sandy-haired Mickey Rooney-ish government buff named Elliott (Ike) Gates cranks the handle.

Through a double-check filing system, Gates makes sure that the complaint doesn't get the brushoff somewhere down the county's chain of command. The complainer must get a notice his complaint was received. The proper department head must notify Campbell of action taken or the reasons why action is impossible. (The latter is happening on about 25 per cent of complaints.)

Finally, the person with the gripe gets another letter telling what has been done, and why. If the complaint was first made to a Metro Commissioner, who passed it upstairs for action, he gets a full report, too.

"None of these complaints gets the deep-six treatment," says Gates, a Navy veteran from Pennsylvania. He first saw Florida from the deck of President Truman's yacht in 1948, and returned to stay as soon as possible. Gates is majoring in government at University of Miami night school, and "interning" with Metro in the daytime.

Reason for most unrequited complaints to Metro, Gates says, is lack of jurisdiction.

"People write us about problems they really should take to municipal governments," Gates says. "To them, the courthouse is city hall and everything else. Some people have been surprised when I advised them Miami had its own city hall."

Sheriff Tom Kelly probably had the feeling he didn't quite satisfy the woman on SW 4th St., who wanted Metro's cops to keep the dogs "from making a mess of" the parkway in her neighborhood.

"I am sorry to have to inform you there are no laws governing a dog's actions in these parkways," the sheriff wrote. "As they are county property, the animals may make use of them."

Crocus in Bloom

HUSUM, Germany — (AP) — Husum Castle's 12-acre crocus garden, planted 400 years ago by monks and kept going continuously with seeding rather than bulbs, has three million violet-shade blooms. It's the largest crocus bed in Europe and a tourist lure.

U.S. Believed to Have Edge in Weather Studies

By ARTHUR J. SNIDER
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

SNIDER

CHICAGO We appear to be ahead of Russia in weather control research — a possible war weapon of the future — but the Soviets could be hiding their work under a cloud of secrecy.

Louis J. Battan of Tucson, Ariz., an atmospheric physicist who has made an intensive study of the Russian scientific literature, issued this caution.

He told the American Meteorological Association that he was struck by the number of Soviet references to American research.

"About 15 per cent of a typical Russian bibliography is composed of citations to American journals," asserted Battan.

"On the other hand, examination of a leading American meteorological journal has shown that less than one per cent of the references were from Russian sources."

Aside from secrecy, an explanation of the dearth of Russian references in this country may be the inability of American scientists to read Russian.

Battan is associated director of the University of Arizona's Institute of Atmospheric Physics.

Weather as a weapon has been under consideration by scientists for some time. Some see climate control as a power more menacing than the H-bomb.

Stressing the nature of Soviet secrecy, Battan pointed out that Americans have published scores of articles on the use of radar to observe thunderstorms, tornadoes and hurricanes.

The Russians have published virtually nothing.

Cloud-seeding, a technique of rain-making, appears to be classified in Russia, too.

J. Robert Stinson, assistant professor of geophysics, St. Louis University, warned the meeting that there is evidence Russia can overtake us in meteorology.

"The real threat," Stinson said, "is not what the Russians have done but what they may be able to do in the future.

"We can't afford to come in second best in this race. We need greater support and more manpower to maintain any lead we may have."

How Much Education Does $35 Buy?

By PHIL MEYER
Herald Education Writer

What kind of education will $30-$35 a month buy?

The answer to that question is the key to the effect the proposed Parent Option Plan will have on Florida children whose parents exercise its provisions.

The plan, expected to be passed by the 1959 Legialature, provides tuition payments of that amount to enable parents to send their children to private schools to avoid integration.

Backers of the plan have answered questions about the quality of those private schools by suggesting they be required to meet the standards of some private group such as the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools or the Florida Council of Independent Schools.

In Dade County, private school men are uncertain about the quality of education that could be offered at that price.

"It would be extremely difficult to have a good educational system for that amount," said one headmaster. "Parents would have to add to it, because tuition in good schools runs all the way from $55 to $100 a month.

But another headmaster said it might be possible for private schools to lower their rates by increasing the size of their classes. Most private schools hold the number of pupils down to 15 to 20 per class as compared to 30 for public schools.

A more definite opinion was offered by the superintendent of a local school accredited by both the Southern Association and the Florida Council.

"I know we couldn't operate a school for $35 a month tuition said Col C. E. Sampson of Miami Military Academy.

"I don't know how anyone can unless he underpays his teachers."

An opponent of the Parent Option Plan, Sampson fears it will lead either to state control of private schools or to the growth of "a lot of fly-by-night outfits" to compete with reputable schools.

Latest answer to the question of who should control the quality of private schools has come from Sen. Tom Adams, one of a group of senators who has been working on a bill to set up a new state accrediting agency.

Backers of this measure frankly admit that the standards of existing private school organizations, such as the Southern Association, are too high for any $35-a-month school. They would set new requirements which would meet "minimum educational standards."

Their requirements could be met by schools and teachers who are now able to qualify for state certification. This measure would encourage establishment of enough private schools to meet whatever demands the Parent Option Plan ultimately imposes.

By thus making the plan workable, it may be possible to "eliminate the necessity in the minds of some for the Last Resort Bill and other extreme measures," said Adams.

'Undesirables' Bill Approved

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House immigration subcommittee has approved a bill to make it easier for the government to deport undesirable aliens.

The bill, identical to one which the House approved last year, would crack down on drawn-out legal proceedings used to block deportation of aliens.

2 Students, Educator to Attend Fair

A. Abbott Messler, chairman of the science department at Coral Gables High School, was named Sunday to attend the National Science Fair in Hartford, Conn.

Messler will attend the May 6-9 event with the two students who won grand prizes in the South Florida Science Fair last week.

He was chosen by the fair's executive committee for his "over-all cumulative contribution to Science Fairs in South Florida."

The prize-winning students who will go to Hartford are Tony Rossman, 17, Messler's physics student at Gables High, and Vincent Sites, 16, a junior at Archbishop Curely High.

Their trip will be sponsored by The Miami Herald.

Hunts Snake

BEYREUTH, Germany — (AP) — Explorer Hans Ertl says he's off to the Amazon to capture a 35-foot anaconda. He aims to finance a short film with the $10,000 he expects to get for it. He told a news conference: "It's easier to get hold of an anaconda than a subsidy."

AF Developing Air Bottle Device So Man in Space Can Steer Self

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Air Force researchers are developing a gadget like a siphon bottle to enable weightless space travelers to move around inside or outside of their rocket ships.

Officials at nearby Andrews Air Force Base, Md., said Sunday the work — anticipated decades ago in science fiction — is being done at Wright Air Development Center, Dayton, Ohio.

Actual experiments with the device, called a reactor gun, have been performed under conditions of weightlessness. These conditions are created by diving a C131B airplane from 12,000 feet at a sharp angle until it reaches a speed of 250 miles an hour.

The craft then pulls out and coasts in an arc "during which it and everything inside the airplane becomes weightless for 10 to 15 seconds."

The reactor gun, consisting of a package of high-pressure air bottles and a short length of hose with nozzle and valves, is strapped to the space traveler's back. To go one way, the space-suited voyager points the nozzle in the opposite direction and presses the handle.

"The reaction of the high-pressure air rushing out of the nozzle provides sufficient force to propel the man from one point to another," the Air Force said.

"Without a propelling device," the report said, "the weightless space voyager finds it very difficult to control his movements. Since he is weightless, the slightest effort or motion will tend to propel him in the direction opposite to the motion.

"By using a reactor gun, it is believed that he will have complete control of his movements simply by 'firing' the gun to start, stop, or change direction."

How Much Education Does $35 Buy?

By PHIL MEYER
Herald Education Writer

What kind of education will $30-$35 a month buy?

The answer to that question is the key to the effect the proposed Parent Option Plan will have on Florida children whose parents exercise its provisions.

The plan, expected to be passed by the 1959 Legialature, provides tuition payments of that amount to enable parents to send their children to private schools to avoid integration.

Backers of the plan have answered questions about the quality of those private schools by suggesting they be required to meet the standards of some private group such as the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools or the Florida Council of Independent Schools.

In Dade County, private school men are uncertain about the quality of education that could be offered at that price.

"It would be extremely difficult to have a good educational system for that amount," said one headmaster. "Parents would have to add to it, because tuition in good schools runs all the way from $55 to $100 a month.

But another headmaster said it might be possible for private schools to lower their rates by increasing the size of their classes. Most private schools hold the number of pupils down to 15 to 20 per class as compared to 30 for public schools.

A more definite opinion was offered by the superintendent of a local school accredited by both the Southern Association and the Florida Council.

"I know we couldn't operate a school for $35 a month tuition said Col C. E. Sampson of Miami Military Academy.

"I don't know how anyone can unless he underpays his teachers."

An opponent of the Parent Option Plan, Sampson fears it will lead either to state control of private schools or to the growth of "a lot of fly-by-night outfits" to compete with reputable schools.

Latest answer to the question of who should control the quality of private schools has come from Sen. Tom Adams, one of a group of senators who has been working on a bill to set up a new state accrediting agency.

Backers of this measure frankly admit that the standards of existing private school organizations, such as the Southern Association, are too high for any $35-a-month school. They would set new requirements which would meet "minimum educational standards."

Their requirements could be met by schools and teachers who are now able to qualify for state certification. This measure would encourage establishment of enough private schools to meet whatever demands the Parent Option Plan ultimately imposes.

By thus making the plan workable, it may be possible to "eliminate the necessity in the minds of some for the Last Resort Bill and other extreme measures," said Adams.

'Undesirables' Bill Approved

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The House immigration subcommittee has approved a bill to make it easier for the government to deport undesirable aliens.

The bill, identical to one which the House approved last year, would crack down on drawn-out legal proceedings used to block deportation of aliens.

2 Students, Educator to Attend Fair

A. Abbott Messler, chairman of the science department at Coral Gables High School, was named Sunday to attend the National Science Fair in Hartford, Conn.

Messler will attend the May 6-9 event with the two students who won grand prizes in the South Florida Science Fair last week.

He was chosen by the fair's executive committee for his "over-all cumulative contribution to Science Fairs in South Florida."

The prize-winning students who will go to Hartford are Tony Rossman, 17, Messler's physics student at Gables High, and Vincent Sites, 16, a junior at Archbishop Curely High.

Their trip will be sponsored by The Miami Herald.

Suzy Parker Almost Got Tainted For Loyalty to Paris Hairdresser

By Cholly Knickerbocker

CHOLLY

SUZY PARKER

KING BAUDOUIN

MADAME DE GAULLE

SUZY PARKER almost got herself and her famous sister, Dorian Leigh, involved in France's "Rose Ballet" sex scandal. Suzy kept telephoning her Paris hairdresser Guillaume (he is one of the prominent personalities accused in the case) to sympathize, assure him of her loyalty, and ask how things were going.

French gendarmes had the telephone tapped and, after they discovered that Suzy's sister Dorian runs a Paris model agency, they decided that this was very suggestive and called Dorian up for questioning.

Dorian's agency uses top British and French mannequins and has a first-rate reputation in Paris, so all the information the cops got out of the interview was Dorian's enraged insistence that "Guillaume is the best hairdresser in the world."

The Smart Set

As for the case itself — it seems to be wilting. It is now known that only one under-age girl was involved in the alleged "orgies" and with only one of the accused one time, so there will only be a single criminal charge.

Despite Paris gossip and name-dropping, no other prominent people are mixed up in the case which has been vying with "L'Affaire Lacaze" for space.

ONE of the Rockefellers has "gone native." He is the governor's nephew, John Rockefeller 4th, who is living the life of a struggling Japanese student on less than $56 a month in Tokyo. "Jay," as he is called, will make a career of government service . . . King Baudouin of Belgium, one of the most dour but eligible bachelors in the world, has been invited to visit the U.S. late in May. The line forms to the right, girls.

FRANCE'S first lady, Madame De Gaulle, has continued tightening discipline in the Elysee Palace. The footmen are back in knee breeches and there's no more of that easy-going atmosphere where the servants enjoy the presidential parties more than the guests . . . The wife-hunting Shah of Iran will pay a state visit to Denmark in May and look over the Scandinavian royal families. There are plenty of princesses there to wed and most of them are pretty . . . Prince Giuseppe Cortes Aragona Pignatelli, out of prison after serving his term for a Rome drug scandal, has married Giulia Galleratti, a Soraya look-alike.

TOBACCO millionaire Richard J. Reynolds is recuperating on his Sapelo Island off the Georgia coast after a long critical illness. Doctors want him to rest for a year, at least . . . Standard Oil heir Peter Salm, one of International Society's most eligible bachelors, may soon remove himself from circulation — or so say those who have seen him with Munich beauty Heidi Kart . . . Ursulla Stevens, off-Broadway ingenue vacationing in San Juan, was approached by a complete stranger who offered her a free plane trip to Havana and a hefty bonus if she would take a large sum of Cuban dollars in with her and deliver them.

IT MUST BE spring: Sally Headley of the Manchester Farms family (they own Tom Fool and Tim Tam) and banking heir Dennis Noviello let it out. They're engaged . . . And Charles Hirschon is saying that he asked Wendy Vanderbilt to marry him.

William Pahlmann jet-planed to Delray Beach to house-guest with Mrs. Darwin James 3rd (she's the lady who's been fighting to keep Brooklyn Heights exclusive and untouched by modernity, even to the extent of personally buying up most of the neighborhood).

Russia Agrees To Nepal Loan

KATMANDU, Nepal —(UPI) —Russia has agreed to give this Himalayan mountain kingdom 35 million rubles in economic aid "with no strings attached," press reports said.

(The ruble is officially pegged at four to the dollar but the more realistic tourist rate places it at 10 to the dollar, making the loan roughly $3,500,000.)

If you were born before 1900 . . .

FLORIDA'S LARGEST CHAIN OF BUSINESS MACHINE STORES

More than an adding machine!

plus $7.50 fed. tax
BUDGET PAYMENTS!

More than an adding machine, this new portable standard 10 key Contex adds, subtracts, multiplies and divides . . . never before has a small machine like this offered division. Needs no electric current—operated by palm pressure on plunger so fingers never leave key position, permitting speeds equal to those possible on electric machines. Use it anywhere. Weighs less than 6 lbs.; over-all size only 10x7x3¾ high: fits desk drawer and brief case.

If you work with figures even half an hour daily, you can save time and money with this personal calculator.

IF YOU CAN READ, YOU CAN USE A CONTEX. Now everyone working with figures can have a calculator on his desk—no more chasing around trying to find a free one. Now everyone can be an "expert," for Contex is simplicity itself to use. Full instructions are on the bottom of each machine—one small page tells all—and everyone who can read can operate it.

NO ELECTRICAL OUTLET NEEDED. Palm pressure on the plunger operates Contex; fingers remain at the keyboard ready for the next number, so speeds as great as those of electric machines are possible.

RENTAL PURCHASE PLAN AVAILABLE: Rent the Contex at $12.50 per month. At any time during the first three months, the entire rental may be applied to the purchase price.

"BUT IT HASN'T ANY TAPE." Like most real calculators, even the $1,000 machines, the Contex doesn't have a tape because it doesn't need a tape. All factors can be checked from the dials. They can even be recalculated much faster than checking a tape. If you need a tape for your permanent records, forget the Contex. But if you need your figuring answers fast, at your own desk or in your home, let the Contex prove how conveniently it adds, subtracts, multiplies, and divides.

LARGE OFFICES. Your heavy duty calculators pay off only if they are kept busy constantly. That applies to your people, too, kept busy at productive work, not waiting for a calculating machine to be free, or walking half a block to find one. A Contex calculator on every desk saves time and steps, and that means saving money.

ONE GIRL OFFICES. Of course you need an adding machine, but if you send out statements you need one which subtracts, too, to show your customers' balances. If you pay bills, you need one which multiples (16½ gross @ $2.375 = ?). If you figure ratios or percentages, you need one which divides (Net income ÷ net sales = percentage of profit). Contex does everything—adds, subtracts, multiplies and divides. No other small machine divides. Yet the price is only $125 plus fed. tax . . . less than that of many machines which add only.

FOR BUSINESS MEN ON THE MOVE. If you need to estimate or figure while you travel, Contex is ideal. Weighs less than 6 lbs., fits your brief bag; or carry it in its own case ($12.50). Wonderful also for working at home, for accountants to carry from job to job, etc.

FACTS ABOUT THE CONTEX

CAPACITY: Totals to 11 digits (999,999,999.99).

SPEED: A speed two to three times faster than 10-key electric machines is possible for addition, subtraction, and multiplication.

ADDITION, SUBTRACTION, AND TOTALS: Figures are entered on keyboard as read. Subtraction is direct. Sub-totals are continuously available. Total appears in register.

DIVISION: Dividend and divisor are entered in keyboard. Actuating bar is depressed until it locks automatically. Quotient is read from control window, remainder from register.

CLEARANCE AND CORRECTION: Register is cleared by depressing clearance key. If wrong figure is entered, cancel it by returning red pointer to original position.

SIZE AND WEIGHT: Just 10" long, 7" wide, 3¾" high. Total weight 6 lbs.

Convenient carrying case.. $12.50

Information Agency Reports Progress

U.S. Shoving Facts Through 'Curtain'

George V. Allen
. . . 'Voice' speaks up

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — The U. S. Information Agency said Sunday it is succeeding in getting facts about this country to more and more people behind the iron curtain.

In a semi-annual report to Congress, USIA Director George V. Allen said the agency's radio arm, the Voice of America, has had better luck in reducing the effects of steadily increasing Soviet jamming.

In addition, he said, the USIA's Russian-language magazine, America Illustrated, achieved wider readership as the result of more efficient circulation.

A Polish language edition of the magazine was distributed for the first time early this year. Allen said more than one million dollars worth of other publications and motion pictures were shipped to Polish importers.

Allen also noted that an agreement had been reached which would make possible the first official U. S. exhibition on American life ever to be held in the U.S.S.R. It will go on view in Moscow's Sokolniki Park for six weeks this summer.

Under another agreement, U. S. motion pictures will be shown in the Soviet Union for the first time in 20 years.

Allen said the Voice of America scored greater success in breaking through Soviet jamming by making fewer broadcasts and concentrating the power of more transmitters to carry them.

"The Soviet government continued to compliment the programs by trying to jam more heavily than ever," Allen said, "but there is reason to believe that the Soviet authorities are finding it awkward to explain their refusal to allow the Russian people to hear news of the outside world."

Allen said this was particularly true last August when the Soviets jammed live voice broadcasts of the U.N., including the speeches of Russian Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The report said that during the latter half of 1958 work was completed on a teletype network linking Washington to 75 U.S.I.A. posts abroad, new libraries and cultural centers were opened and plans were made to increase and improve the teaching of English overseas.

It said more than 130,000 persons studied English in 165 U.S.I.A.-sponsored cultural centers and language institutes. In addition, about 4,500 local teachers of English, whose students number about 1,000,000, attended U.S.I.A English-teaching seminars during the six months.

At the close of 1958, U.S.I.A. was operating 155 libraries in overseas cultural centers and aiding the operation of libraries, educational classes and other activities at 92 binational cultural centers.

GENTLE REMINDER
Let the Florida Home Heating Institute Exhibit at the Miami Home Show help you remember that . . .

Don't count on many repeat performances of this past winter's "summer" weather. Winter-before-last the mercury dipped below 60° on 46 days . . . remember? And the 35 winters before that averaged 42 "below sixty" days. Let's face it! The law of averages says you'll need heat in the house on chilly days every winter season. And there's just one kind of house heating that's by far the cheapest and best for Florida—permanently-installed fuel-type home heating. So, visit the fuel-type heating exhibit at the Miami Home Show this week. You'll come away with a money-saving, world-beating recipe for a happier home during winter cold snaps for the rest of your life!

Saddened Rex Harrison Says Farewell To 'My Fair Lady' After 39 Months

By Herald Wire Services

REX HARRISON has said farewell to "My Fair Lady" in London.

Visibly saddened as he bowed out of the musical version of George Bernard Shaw's Pygmalion after 39 months, the 51-year-old British actor refused to make a curtain speech. He shook his head sorrowfully while the audience roared "Bravo, bravo . . . speech, speech."

Backstage afterward, he talked with friends, ably supported by a large Scotch and soda, his actress wife Kay Kendall and American Actress Lauren Bacall.

"I was determined not to make a speech," Harrison said. "really though, there was nothing much you could have said. Anyhow, I expect the audience was ready to leave the theater."

Soraya and Orsini Have a Rendezvous

FORMER QUEEN SORAYA of Iran met in a tete-a-tete in her swank Rome hotel suite with Prince Raimondo Orsini, the 27-year-old Italian she says she loves but won't marry.

It was the first meeting of the two since the green-eyed princess arrived in Rome for the Easter holidays. They had an appointment earlier this week but Soraya called it off at the last minute.

Man to Sail Ark To South America

CHARLIE POLIQUIN plans to shove off in his hand-made ark from Mankato, Minn. for a trip to South America today.

Poliquin said the only thing that might keep his house-boat "See Scout" from heading down the Minnesota River toward the Mississippi would be a low water level at the river bank.

Poliquin, an ex-farmer who has lived in the boat since last May, built the craft himself out of wood with aluminim sheeting on the sides. He plans to take movies of the journey and write a book based on his daily log.

LEIGH SNOWDEN, the actress-wife of accordionist Dick Contino has been hospitalized in Burbank, Calif. after the loss of her baby. She was taken to St. Joseph's hospital by her husband, but doctors were unable to save the baby, that had been expected in October.

The couple has a 15-month-old daughter, Mary.

Contino is appearing at a nightclub in Las Vegas, Nev.

They both won their bets when they polished off the liquor within the time limit, along with a beer chaser. But the result was disastrous — they both passed out and were rushed to a hospital where they nursed monumental hangovers.

Syria Has Pro-Red 'Mystery Man'

DAMASCUS, Syria — Syria has a new pro-Communist man of mystery who flits across borders in the struggle with Iraq between Communists and Nasserists.

It's Maj. Gen. Afif Bizri, bald-headed former chief of staff of the Syrian army, who disappeared from Cairo several weeks ago.

Bizri has suddenly gained clandestine fame in Syria as leader of the new pro-Kassem "foreign legion" of Arabs fighting on the side of the Communists. (Abdel Karim Kassem is premier of Iraq.)

Bizri's first venture, according to reports in military quarters in Damascus, was in leading his pro-Communist legion into Mosul just before the March 8 revolt. Bizri's presence reportedly pushed the pro-Nasserist Mosul nationalists into defeat.

Bizri has definitely quarreled with Gamal Abdel Nasser, president of the United Arab Republic (Egypt and Syria), his former superior. This split has caused his legion's maneuvers to be omitted from Syrian newspapers, which are not even allowed to attack him.

Like the veteran Communist Khalid Bakdash, he is omitted from the censored Iraqi press also.

Bizri, known as a pro-Communist, was induced to go along with the delivery of Syria into Nasser's hands in February 1958 and cooperated with the officer corps in yielding to Nasser's authority.

However, once in Cairo, Bizri told Nasser he was dissatisfied with the Egyptian army's conditions for absorbing Syria and threatened to resign. Nasser took Bizri aback by instantly accepting.

In Damascus it is reported that Bizri is now reorganizing his pro-Communist "foreign legion" in an Eastern European capital for eventual intervention against Nasser in Syria.

They will be installed at 8:15 p.m. Thursday.

Taxi!--Never Do That Again!

CHICAGO — (UPI) — Miss Ella Brin, 62, finally made it home but after a taxicab ride she'll never forget.

Miss Brin stepped into the cab at a red light. The taxi sped away as a police siren wailed nearby. Missing a turn, the taxi ran up a sidewalk, smashed three parking meters, hit three parked autos and a police motorcycle.

Police seized the driver, James Reed, 17, who had stolen the cab from in front of a police station as the real driver was inside making a complaint.

Local Business-Adventurer Returns to Miami
Sam Lubin, a pioneer-importer of rattan in this area, returned to Miami last week after a whirl-wind tour of the Far East. "The trip," he reported, "covering over 100 air hours of travel, has resulted in good news for the people of South Florida.
"The critical condition in that area," he continued, "has caused lower prices than ever before! I couldn't resist the tremendous opportunity to buy at this time even though our warehouses are bulging with merchandise!
"In order to make room we are giving exceptional values in rattan furnishings this week so that we can clear out some of our present stock."
The hundreds of thousands of tons of rattan furnishings and Oriental accessories that have reached South Florida is a tribute to the adventurous Lubin."
His faith in South Florida was the only stimulant that sent him to the mysterious Orient years ago, a land he knew nothing about."
Today, two beautiful air-conditioned showrooms display this unmatched merchandise. One is located at 3640 Coral Way and one at 3425 South Federal Highway in Ft. Lauderdale. —Adv.

Reds OK Land Grab In Romania

LONDON — (AP) — Romania's Communist regime has authorized collective farms to take over all land owned by "capitalist" elements who hire labor, Moscow Radio says.

Cropsharing, leasing of agricultural land and use of hired labor were prohibited in a parliamentary decree aimed at "liquidating the vestiges of exploitation of man by man in agriculture," the broadcast said.

It reported the order "applies to Kulaks (rich peasants) who possess more land than they are capable of working with their families, and also to persons who, because they have other work, do not cultivate their own land themselves."

The decree said land thus left untilled will be handed over to agricultural collectives.

British Plan A-Sub Freight Route

LONDON — (AP) — A British engineering firm has announced plans for a big atom-powered freight submarine to open a trade route under Hudson Bay.

Plans call for a 600-foot craft able to cruise at a depth of 300 feet with a crew of 50.

Frank Mitchell, head of the Mitchell Engineering Co., says he will leave for Canada soon to discuss possibilities of using the sub to carry iron ore out of Canada under the frozen waters of the bay. The bay normally is closed to shipping from October to mid-July.

Tass Aims Blow At Gen. DeGaulle

MOSCOW — (AP) — Tass assailed President Charles de Gaulle of France for what it called his military ideas on settling German questions.

It warned that the Soviet Union would "deliver a devastating rebuff" to any attack on Soviet troops or East Germany.

The 2,000-word statement, which the news agency called authorized, was reaction to Gen. de Gaulle's news conference at which he warned that Soviet troops will have to deal with the West if any attempt is made to blockade West Berlin.

Smallwood Offers To Resign Post

ST. JOHN's, Nfld. — (AP) — Premier Joseph Smallwood of Newfoundland has offered to resign if Canadian Prime Minister John Diefenbaker will treat this province "fairly and decently."

Smallwood has accused the federal government of betraying Newfoundland by refusing to guarantee grants of financial aid after 1962. In protest, Smallwood decreed four days of official mourning on Wednesday, called off a celebration of the 10th anniversary of union with Canada, and ordered all public buildings draped in black crepe.

Court Orders Author Investigated

LISBON, Portugal — (AP) — Aquilino Ribeiro, one of Portugal's most popular writers, said he is being investigated by police because of his latest book, "When the Wolves Howl."

Ribeiro said the police inspector in charge of his case had questioned him twice on charges that the book contained injurious and prejudicial references to Portugal's courts. The charges were brought by the Ministry of Justice, he added.

Red Turbo-Prop Ready for Service

LONDON — (AP) — Radio Moscow reports the Soviet Union's new 95-seat Ilyushin IL18 turbo-prop aircraft will go into service soon on internal passenger routes.

The plane made its first public appearance at a Moscow airport in July, 1957.

Chinese Accused Of Interference

The government said in a 10,000-word "white paper" that the Communist Chinese had given financial contributions to Malayan Communists. The Communist plot to take over the government "has not been completely foiled," the white paper added.

Protestant Howls May Rise

Meg, Mother to Visit Rome For Audience with Pope

LONDON — (AP) — Court sources said Sunday Princess Margaret will visit Rome next month with Queen Mother Elizabeth.

Word of her trip leaked out after a London Sunday newspaper, The People, reported the princess was "most anxious" to meet Pope John XXIII despite opposition inside Buckingham Palace.

"It is feared that if she insists on seeing the pope there will be an outcry from Protestant extremists," the newspaper said.

Earlier this year the Queen Mother arranged to visit Rome April 20-26. One of her principal engagements will be an audience with Pope John.

A British Protestant organization fired off a letter telling the Queen Mother a visit with the pope would be "inconsistent with your position as the mother of the queen who has declared herself to be a faithful Protestant."

Margaret is known to have been greatly impressed by her private audience with the late Pope Pius XII at the Vatican 10 years ago.

That audience provoked criticism in Britain from some Protestants — especially Scottish Presbyterians.

The people said Buckingham Palace and foreign office officials are urging the 28-year-old princess to drop her plans to see the pope in case it starts another row.

"No member of the British royal family for centuries has paid a second visit to Rome after having been received in papal audience during a previous visit," the paper said.

No Dice, Boys

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. — (UPI) — Urged to join an illegal dice game at a resort motel, a man bragged he was "really going to break it up," then identified himself as a detective and arrested four suspects.

Mother Given Compensation

TOKYO — (UPI) — The U.S. will pay $4,166 as compensation to Mrs. Sano Miyamura, mother of a Japanese musician who was fatally shot by an American sentry at Johnson Air Base last year.

Mrs. Miyamura's son, Sachiyuki, was shot when Airman Peter E. Longpre, 20, of Larewood, Calif. accidentally fired his carbine. The bullet struck Miyamura, 22, who was aboard a train passing through the base. Longpre has been charged with accidental homicide.

CHIROPRACTIC FOR LEG AND HIP PAINS

DR. F. F. REYES

Anyone who suffers with leg or hip pains, especially one who has had this malady for a long time, may now look forward to much relief. This condition is so common, that it has interested research groups to investigate the cause, and the steps necessary to bring relief.

Symptoms experienced by the one afflicted are: (1) Pain in the lower back extending to the hip, thigh and lower part of the leg, (2) inability to sit for a long period of time, (3) a dull sensation in the leg, as if the circulation had been cut off.

The cause of this pain may be due to pressure upon vital nerves in the small of the back, causing irritation, or it may even be arthritis. It is also possible for both conditions to exist at the same time.

Reports disclosed by the International Chiropractic Association and the National Chiropractic Association show the following per cent of cases handled successfully under the care of chiropractic doctors.

Condition	No. cases studied	Per cent well or much improved
Arthritis	447	73.3%
Sciatica	791	85.0%
Rheumatism	136	77.2%

The conditions already mentioned may give the symptoms of leg and hip pains, however the following conditions may either be followed by leg and hip pains, or may lead to them.

They are as follows with the statistics of their relief under Chiropractic care:

Condition	No. cases studied	Per cent well or much improved
Back Disorders (general)	1989	81.75%
Lumbago	1835	87.3%
General Tension	91	72.5%
Herniated Disc	1030	88.2%
Sacro-iliac Disorders	304	71.8%
Slipped Discs	1000	88.7%
Spinal Curvature	35	82.9%

EMERGENCY MEDICAL OXYGEN

Eminent doctors throughout the world recognize and recommend the use of Oxygen in a wide range of circumstances, all calling for immediate action. A portable Oxygen Unit could be the difference between life and death. Remember you can live 3 weeks without food — 3 days without water BUT ONLY 3 MINUTES WITHOUT OXYGEN.

BE PREPARED — It is better to have oxygen and not need it than to need oxygen and not have it.

Stroke, Asthma, Shock, Fatigue, Accidents, Fainting, Drowning, Asphyxiation, Heart Attacks, Migraine Headaches, Driving Exhaustion and many others.
Portable
Easy to Carry
Lightweight

Contrary to normal belief, Oxygen is not an explosive. SAFE AND HARMLESS — DEPENDABLE — EASY TO USE — INEXPENSIVE.

Cylinder can be refilled over and over again at any Oxygen Supply Company. Every HOME, OFFICE AND FACTORY should have one.

Ready to use in seconds, no technical knowledge needed. Thousands of similar units in use by aircraft all over the world. No matter where you are when OXYGEN is needed, seconds may be a lifetime.

Unbelievable but true — over 50% of the deaths in the United States are caused by Heart Disease.

Sparks Already Flying Over '60 Demo Convention

By CHARLES CLEVELAND
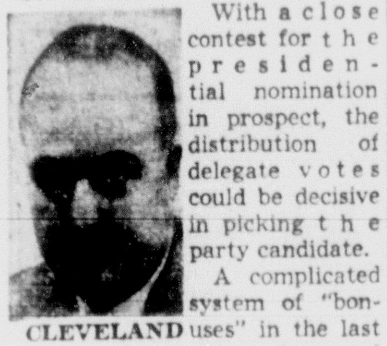
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

CHICAGO — A battle is shaping up in the Democratic National Committee over delegate alloments to the 1960 convention.



CLEVELAND

With a close contest for the presidential nomination in prospect, the distribution of delegate votes could be decisive in picking the party candidate.

A complicated system of "bonuses" in the last 10 years has almost destroyed the basic plan of giving each state its share of the vote depending on the size of its population.

Unless the rules are altered, California, Illinois, New York and Pennsylvania will be seriously "short-changed" in the next convention.

Meanwhile smaller states, particularly in the Rocky Mountain and Southwest areas, will carry more than their fair share of influence in the balloting.

Ordinarily, delegate strength is alloted on the basis of each state's electoral vote. This means two convention votes for each congressman and senator from a given state.

Counting Alaska and Hawaii, this would mean 1,074 votes, with a few more tossed in for the Canal Zone, District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the Virgin Islands.

In 1952 the Democrats altered their rules.

The first thing they did was to "ignore" the 1950 census that changed the number of congressmen in some states. Illinois, for example, lost one congressman while California picked up seven.

The Democrats decided not to take away any delegate strength from states like Illinois. But where states like California gained congressmen, they were given the additional votes.

In addition, the party gave four "bonus" votes to states that carried for Truman in the 1948 election.

In 1956 the Democrats also did not cut back any state's delegation, but added still another four-vote bonus rule.

A bonus was given to any state that carried for Adlai Stevenson in 1952, or who elected a Democratic senator or governor in 1952 or 1954.

If the same rule is applied in distributing 1960 delegates, nearly every state will qualify. The notable exceptions will be New York, where Gov. Averill Harriman met defeat last fall, and Illinois, which had no contest in 1958 for senator or governor.

If the bonus rule remains unchanged and the policy of not reducing any state's allotments of delegate votes is upheld, only one state — North Carolina — will get exactly the number of delegates it would be entitled to if the same number of delegates were alloted on a population basis.

Only minor differences would occur with Alabama, Iowa, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Nebraska and Wisconsin, which would be "shortchanged" by one or two votes.

Jack M. Arvey, Illinois national committeeman, said the subject of delegate distribution will be brought up soon before the national committee.

He said he would urge a complete revaluation of the allotment rules.

ONLY NATIONAL
airline of the stars
flies Jets to New York-135 minutes nonstop

All flights leave 5 minutes ahead of peak departure hours to avoid take-off delays!

NOW! Incomparable jet flight—at no increase over regular fares—puts Miami and New York only "commuting" distance apart. Flying time of previous schedules is almost cut in half . . . yet you scarcely feel any sensation of speed! Jet travel is that smooth, quiet, vibrationless!

Speed is but one of many reasons why you'll like jet flying. As National flies you high above the weather, you relax in the most spacious cabin you've ever seen. The decor is sheer elegance! Comfort is unparalleled! And service is extra-special! You have every modern passenger convenience, including your own "private" loud speaker for music and reports from the captain. What's more, meals are superb, thanks to two well-equipped galleys.

National's jet flights to New York are Boeing 707's, flight tested for more than four years before entering commercial service. Now, these same ocean-tested jets that span the Atlantic for Pan American in 6½ hours fly you to New York in 135 minutes.

RECOGNIZE THIS FELLOW soaking up sun at the Australian resort of Broadbeach? It's Evangelist Billy Graham, on a two-week vacation at the town some 50 miles south of Brisbane. Graham Sunday appeared at a special Easter service for 800 persons near Broadbeach and led the congregation in prayer. He resumes his crusade in Auckland, New Zealand, on Friday.

Few Believe England Would Go to War

Britons Favor Talks Over Berlin

By DREW MIDDLETON
The New York Times Service

LONDON — British opinion strongly favors negotiation rather than war over Berlin. Division of Germany is accepted with almost the same degree of tolerance as that extended to the division of Europe between Communist and Western blocs.

There is no open support for withdrawal of British or other western forces from West Berlin. Yet few believe Britain would go to war — as a garage mechanic put it — "for a lot of bleedin' jerries" (Germans).

The average man's attitude toward the Germans and a united Germany evidently plays a more important role in the making of public opinion here than in the U.S.

These conclusions have been drawn on the basis of conversations with Britons since the Berlin issue first took shape last fall. They also are based on recent telephone conversations with editors, businessmen, trade union leaders and teachers throughout the country.

On the whole these talks disclosed good knowledge of the broad geographical and political factors in the situation. It may be that residual hostility toward Germany from the last war and the challenge of German economic competition have provoked a livelier interest in that country here than in the U.S.

A few right wing conservatives counseled defiance of the Soviet Union even if it meant war. Otherwise differences among the voters of both major parties centered on the conditions and extent of negotiations. Generally there was strong belief that the Soviet Union had been bluffing over Berlin.

Those familiar with international affairs recognized that opinion in the U.S. is more bellicose than it is here. In many cases this was accompanied by conviction that Americans, while willing to talk tough, would be reluctant to act that way when the issue is clearly war or peace.

Many people recalled that 20 years ago Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain's appeasement policy was hotly attacked in the U.S. as a surrender to German tyranny. But it was Britain, they pointed out, which had gone to war with German tyranny and it was the U.S. which stayed out of the war until it was blown into it at Pearl Harbor 27 months later.

Two weeks ago a British Broadcasting Corporation television program recorded the belligerent attitudes of a number of average Americans. Their apparent readiness to risk war moved many Britons to ask if the Americans understood exactly what nuclear war would mean.

Most Britons think they understand this. Yet their memories of the bombing and rocketing of 1939-45 have not led to any important support for nuclear disarmament or pacifism.

'Spanking' Bill Up to Rockefeller

ALBANY, N. Y. — (AP) — Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller will have to decide whether teachers should be allowed to use "reasonable force" on children in classrooms.

The senate passed the "spanking bill" 35-21, agreeing with the assembly that teachers should have a free hand to control unruly children.

The state penal law long has declared that teachers may use "reasonable force in moderate degree."

But many school authorities have ruled out corporal punishment. In New York City, such punishment has been outlawed for 40 years.

The new bill states: "No school district or board of education shall promulgate or continue a rule, regulation, or by-law, which shall prohibit the use of force."

Sponsors described it as a means of restoring "good old-fashioned discipline in the schools." An opponent termed it an "open-season-on-children bill."

Nikita Dines U.S. Corn Man

MOSCOW — (AP) — Premier Nikita Khrushchev entertained an Iowa corn grower and his wife at dinner and talked about growing corn.

Tass reported in a dispatch from the Black Sea resort of Sochi that Khrushchev's guests were Iowa Hybrid Corn Grower Roswell Garst of Coon Rapids and his wife. The Soviet News Agency said Garst and Khrushchev talked about agricultural questions with Agriculture Minister V. V. Matskevich.

Murder Toll High

MEXICO CITY — (AP) — Criminologist Alfonso Quiroz Cuaron reports murder accounts for more deaths in Mexico than anything but heart attacks and malaria. Mexican homicides claim an average of 48 out of every 100,000 persons a year, his findings show.

Communists Rap Doctors

BUDAPEST — (UPI) — The Hungarian Communist government has adopted a new decree to curb private practice by physicians, it was announced.

The decree, adopted by the council of ministers, would "help to liquidate the remnants of capitalist moral conception in the field of health affairs."

An official announcement added that the attitude of "some" doctors deserved criticism and the new decree would free Hungarians from such "harms."

Communist newspapers have been attacking private doctors for several months, charging that many of them are "profiteers" who consider their profession only as a source of income.

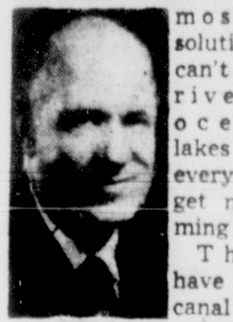
GOREN 4B

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

COUNTY Manager O. W. Campbell thinks the best way to stop drownings is to teach al' children to swim. It's the most sensible solution, for we can't eliminate rivers, canals, oceans and lakes — and every day we get more swimming pools.



BELL

The Bells have lived on a canal since our girls were born. We did teach them to be careful. But in addition they learned to swim when very small. I reckon every kid in Bay Point has fallen into the water at least once. But they all could swim. When we have summer camp we teach every non-swimmer to swim. The children at public and YMCA pools can get instruction. The teaching program can be extended to every child.

The danger now is inertia on the part of the commissioners. Mere talk won't start a swimming program.

Florida Derby

How good is Jim Norris' colt East Spur: How good is Troilus? Or is there another capable of beating both of them Saturday?

The Florida Derby at Gulfstream shapes up much better than did the Flamingo at Hialeah. This is because Easy Spur beat Troilus so easily last week.

Horace Wade, reminiscing as usual, tells of an English suffragette who threw herself under the King's horse during the running of one English Derby at Epsom Downs. Then there was the American Derby at Chicago in 1893 that had 25 false starts and went off 90 minutes late. Then there was the American Derby of 1926, won by one of Col. E. L. Bradley's horses. He got his $100,000 check in the winner's circle — and it bounced.

The Gulfstream check won't bounce. Jimmy Donn has too many begonias and calladiums for that.

Fame at Last

Manna-Zucca finally has achieved fame. For years she has been one of the nation's top-notch composers. But only recently did she have her name used in a comic book. It's in a Tubby sequence in Little Lulu, linked with Bach and Beethoven. She's taking the honor with rare dignity.

Latin Likes Miami--and He Repents

A year ago last May a Venezuelan student picked up a rock and threw it at the American Embassy.

"I want you to know before I leave that I have spent the most wonderful 15 days in my life in Miami.

"I didn't have any idea that Americans can be so wonderful and warm. The men and women on the streets, the hotel workers, policemen all helped me with a smile.

"I don't speak any English (A friend is writing this for me in English).

"But always people tried to understand my words with patience and understanding. You can't imagine the wonderful impression of the American people I am taking back to my country.

"A year ago I didn't have any idea about you. I listened to what some people tried to make me believe.

"You can imagine now how sorry I am for throwing a rock at the U.S. Embassy."

It was signed, "A Venezuelan student."

And the Maddest of All Was 'Mad Bear'

Angry Indians Pow-Wow on the Trail

By TOM LOWNES

Herald Staff Writer

Tired of the white man beating around their bushes, members of eight once-great Indian nations gathered deep in the Everglades Sunday and made talk of beating a warpath to the U.N. Security Council.

Beaded and be-feathered, they came to discuss forming a "United Indian Republic" and to say nasty things about Indian Commissioner Glen Emmons, President Eisenhower, the American Indian Association, and the Canadian Mounted Police.

There were Florida's own Miccosukee Seminoles, Tuscaroras from New York, Canadian Mohawks, Utah Utes, Senecas, Onondagas, Oneidas, and Cayugas.

They numbered only 36 as they pow-wowed in a palm-thatched chickee on the Tamiami Trail 38 miles west of Miami.

Almost to a man, they were mad at the government. But maddest of all was Mad Bear, a burly Tuscarora brave and a heap-good speaker.

"Our creator tells us that a time would come when the white serpent would have the Indian by the throat but that a red serpent would come from the north and attack the white serpent!" cried Mad Bear.

"Our Creator tells us that such a time would come—and the time, my brothers, is now."

After quoting a long section of the U.S. Constitution to prove Indian land rights, he proceeded to call the Constitution "invalid and unconstitutional."

He didn't think much of the government either. "Its full of nepotism, collaboration, and outright theft—I'm not a citizen and don't want to be one."

Then, one by one, he hit:

PRESIDENT EISENHOWER: "He's not a man to honor treaties."

INDIAN COMMISSIONER Emmons: "We tried to arrest him, but he hid behind his desk and wouldn't surrender to our posse."

CANADIAN MOUNTIES: "They came into the Grand River Country (Ontario) on Friday the 13th and beat up women and children — this Mohawk brave (Irving Logan) by my side fought them."

AMERICAN INDIAN ASSOCIATION: "They are weak-minded, jellyfish Indians who would sell their brothers down the stream for a nickel."

THE UNITED NATIONS: "A carnival of mice presided over by two big cats—the U.S. and Russia."

Jumping to his moccasined feet, 73-year-old Francis X. Guardipee shook his eagle-feather headdress and proclaimed, "This meeting is wrong. I'm a U.S. citizen and proud of it. You can't go back to the old hunting grounds."

"If you're a citizen you have no right to speak at this meeting!" shouted Miccosukee Howard Oceola.

After a few more hot words, Guardipee was ordered out of the council hut. He returned a few minutes later minus his Indian togs and dressed in a brown business suit.

"I've seen civilization and I don't want any part of it," Mohawk Logan was saying.

Outside, as white egrets drifted over the rolling green real estate the Miccosukees claim as their own, some 50 Seminole children, many of them dressed in store-bought clothes, hunted Easter eggs.

Vice Presidential Family Sings at Crandon Service

. . . the Nixons, from right, Dick, Patricia, Julie and Pat

By GENE MILLER

Herald Staff Writer

Julie Nixon, a pretty 10-year-old girl whose daddy is vice president of the United States, needs a ribbon on her new Easter bonnet.

While a rigid-winged pelican glided high over a wooden cross at Crandon Park, the Nixons worshiped Sunday at an Easter Sunrise Service at low tide on the beach.

A warm, easterly wind rattled the ocean palms, breathed into a microphone and wheezed from a loud speaker, and nipped at Julie's yellow bonnet. There was no ribbon to tie it down.

When everyone stood to pray, Mrs. Nixon kept a gentle hand on Julie's head.

Then, finally, as the service ended, a gust caught it and away it went.

Julie pouted a pretty 10-year-old pout, a man quickly retrieved it, and Julie's daddy said, "You'll have to hold it."

The vice president awoke at 5:10 a.m. Sunday, five minutes before the alarm was set. The girls saw their Easter baskets. Then C. G. (Bebe) Robozo, Nixon's Key Biscayne friend, and two Secret Service men drove them to the ocean.

They arrived 20 minutes before the lead-gray sunrise at 6:16 a.m., and silently sat together in the third row.

Directly to the vice president's right was the adult choir, a little girl's choir, and the pianist. The pianist needed two little girls and some clothespins to keep the sheet music from blowing away.

Nearly 1,000 persons attended and many stood through the hour-long service on the lawn behind the wooden chairs.

The Rev. Lane G. Adams made no direct reference to the Nixons' presence.

He glanced at them as he said, "We are happy indeed to see so many out-of-town friends and guests."

At the close of the service, the vice president arose and shook hands with the people behind him.

Then he was gently mobbed by well-wishers, handshakers, and shutterbugs. The Nixons remained very gracious.

Americas Festival Faces Vote Today

Discomfort Index Poll Planned

By GENE MILLER

Herald Staff Writer

In theory, misery loves company.

But the Miami Weather Bureau for one isn't the least bit sure misery loves publicity.

A few weeks ago bigwig forecasters in Washington announced grandiose plans for a "discomfort index," an official daily calculation on the heat-humidity mixture.

The idea is for the bureau to inform the populace in the summertime when things are "uncomfortable," "miserable," and "acutely miserable."

But the local prophets have heard no words of encouragement. And Walter R. Davis, assistant bureau chief, figures assorted tourist-minded folks might not like the index at all.

"I'm afraid," he said diplomatically, "our discomfort index will be a little on the high side from April to September, and I'm not so sure people will want to be told about it.

"Of course, we don't get those 100-degree Kansas City temperatures, but we do pretty well with the humidity."

So beginning today Weatherman Leonard C. Pardue is going to run his own little Gallup-styled poll.

"If we find out enough people want a discomfort index," said the weatherman, "we'll give one. I suspect we'll find the air-conditioning salesmen in favor of it."

$1,503,050 Raised by CJA

A new total of $1,503,050 has been reached in the 1959 Combined Jewish Appeal, Jack Carner, campaign chairman, announced Sunday.

Pledge tallies were reported last Wednesday at a meeting in the Rubaiyat room of the Algiers Hotel. A final citywide door-to-door solicitation is set for Sunday, April 19.

Community Dinner Listed

The ninth annual dinner of the Dade County Council on Community Relations will be held at 7:30 p.m. April 11 at the Bayfront Auditorium.

Guest speaker will be A. Fernos-Isern, resident commissioner of Puerto Rico, who will speak on "Strangers, or Neighbors?"

Hialeah Flier Freed on Bond

Stuart Sutor, 34, of Hialeah, accused of attempting to fly stolen government arms to the Cuban rebels, was free from federal custody Sunday for the first time since last November.

Sutor posted $25,000 bond in Pittsburgh on an indictment accusing him of gun-running. Earlier in the week he put up bond of $20,000 on a similar indictment in West Virginia.

He was arrested in Morgantown, W. Va., last November after landing his plane for fuel. Government agents said he had taken off from airfield near Tarentum, Pa., with a cargo of guns destined for Cuba.

Hero's Reward For Convan Neuberger

. . . a big kiss from Lynn Garrett

Toddler, 3, Pulled From Rock Pit

A brown-haired toddler, splashing feebly in a rock pit, was rescued Sunday by an Opa-locka policeman who plunged in fully clothed.

The tot, Lynn Garrett, three, was quickly revived.

Only casualty was Officer Convan Neuberger's soaked uniform.

"We were all swimming, and Lynn had wandered off," said her aunt, Mrs. Paul Simpson, of 19500 NW 11th Ave.

When they looked around, Lynn was struggling at the far end of the lake at NW 27th Ave. and 133rd St.

"We hollered, but there were no other swimmers around," she said.

While Mrs. Simpson and the Joseph Garretts, of Hamilton, Ohio, watched, horrified, Neuberger leaped into the water.

"She was going under for the third time when he reached her," Mrs. Simpson said.

Lynn had toddled off a ledge, where water deepens sharply, said Neuberger, who is one of several Opa-locka officers hired by the owner to keep boats off the lake.

"She was winded and kind of out, but okay other than that," Mrs. Simpson said.

Neuberger has been an Opa-locka policeman for three years.

Boy, Girl Rescued

For 15 minutes Sunday two lifeguards and two panicky children were battered against a barnacle-crusted groin off Miami Beach.

The guards, making a rescue, were caught in the same wave-tide action that almost drowned the children at a pier near the Traymore Hotel, 2445 Collins Ave.

The children were Stanford and Devra Davis, 11 and 12, tourists from a nearby motel.

Charley Groff, 24, the other guard, managed to climb up on the pier. With a line around his neck, he crawled to safety, then hauled the others from the water.

High Will 'Pitch' for Approval

By CHARLES TAYLOR

Herald Staff Writer

A second Festival of Americas, greatly reduced in scope from last year's extravaganza which left the city holding the bag for some $60,000, will be proposed to the Miami Commission today.

Mayor Robert King High said Sunday he will read the members a letter from "a very interested person" suggesting that a successful festival could be staged by inviting only "four or five" countries to participate.

High said he also understood there have been "feelers" from Miami Beach as well as Dade County indicating a possibility they might share the cost of the festival.

The first festival last June was a 10-day affair which included beauty queen contests, concerts, regattas, parades, a golf tournament, fashion show, exposition — and the big deficit for the city.

The county put in $10,000 to help the festival along, but the extravaganza was promoted chiefly by the city. Some 15 Latin American countries participated.

Putting on a more limited festival this year, High said, "would at least give us a chance to see if it would be worthwhile."

The other commissioners, he said, have indicated they feel the first festival was "too grandiose for a beginning" and are afraid of creating another fiasco.

"But I also think most of them feel like I do that the festival could be a great benefit to this area," he said.

Commissioner Otis Shiver said he would like personally to see the festival continued.

"But if it is put on," he said, "It should be a joint effort by at least two or three other municipalities as well as the county, and it should be under the auspices of some organization in which we have control."

He blamed last June's fiasco on "improper planning."

But he said the festival "could do more good for this area through international publicity than any other event in the country."

He said that so far no groundwork has been done toward planning a festival this year.

High said, however, he will ask the commissioners today for their feelings about starting the ball rolling toward another festival.

Recluse's Home To Be Razed

The home of Mrs. Grace Determan, the 74-year-old woman found living in squalor with $31,000 in the bank, will be torn down for off-street parking, Miami Beach officials said Sunday.

The woman is in Jackson Memorial Hospital for observation. Police said she explained the 1,000 empty cans of mildew deodorant found in her home at 1821 Bay Rd. by saying she was "keeping out the atomic fallout."

How Big Will U.S. Deficit Be?

...Government outgo to exceed income

...No new spiral in prices expected

...Ike's pleas called scare campaign

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

The 1960 Federal budget will be unbalanced.

This has been a two-to-one bet since the instant in January when President Eisenhower sent his 77 billion dollar budget to Congress precariously balanced on paper to show a hairline surplus.

SYLVIA

Now, it's about as certain as any forecast about government spending in this era can be.

The government's outgo in the year beginning this July will top its income by at least a couple of billion dollars, quite likely by more.

This has been the probability all along, for the President's budget totals have been based from the start on some embarrassingly flimsy premises — assumptions that Congress would juggle the figures so spending for next year would be "charged" to this year, that it would not vote a penny more than the President requested, that it would approve boosts in gas taxes, postal rates, etc.

Now, with Congress refusing to go along with the President's statistical hanky-panky, determined to hike spending in many areas and ignoring the proposals for gas tax and postal rate boosts, the question is not whether there'll be a deficit in the '60 budget. The question is only "how big?"

The foreseeable deficit in the next budget will not by itself spark a new round of inflationary price increases.

This also has been thoroughly understood by serious students of government finance, and objective observers have been sharply criticizing administration spokesmen for encouraging the impression that a budget balanced to the decimal point next year is imperative to avoid inflation.

Now, with hope for a balanced budget at just about zero, there is real danger in the "open mouth" budget policy the President is pursuing. And it's time this was put on the line in plain language.

There is no secret whatsoever about anything I've written here. It's not news to Wall Street or to informed businessmen the nation over, or to economic literates in Washington.

It's also no secret that the key aim of the administration's dire warnings about a deficit is to keep Congress from going overboard on voting extra spending. This is, in short, basically a scare campaign.

What's the danger, then? The danger is that a scare campaign of this sort can boomerang badly. The day of statistical reckoning will come this summer, when the budget estimates must be officially revised. The new estimates will show a deficit. And then, as the conservative trade daily, "The Journal of Commerce," recently put it in a message to its financial readers, "The Administration's response can only be one of two things:

"It can say, in effect, 'Shucks, Mr. Citizen, Mr. Investor, Mr. Businessman, we didn't really mean it. A deficit of this size isn't really going to hurt much.'

"Or it can say, 'Well, we warned you and now it has happened. Congress unbalanced the budget and prices are going to take off into the upper stratosphere'. . ."

Obviously, the second response would be intolerable; it would help create the very inflationary runaway so deeply feared. There are also inherent dangers in the first response. After all you've heard, you well might refuse to accept the assurances. Or if you did accept them, you might begin to doubt all warnings and at some future date when the inflation threat might be highest, you might just refuse to listen.

This is no casual, carping essay on the budget. In the hope of offsetting some of the exaggerations, here are a few hard points:

The 1960 budget will show a deficit, and the GOP will enter the next Presidential election with a record of six years of unbalanced budgets during the height of the Eisenhower administration;

A higher-than-estimated take from corporation taxes is likely to hold down the next deficit to a fairly moderate figure;

A gently rising price level would be the long-term outlook in this land with a balanced budget, as well as without it.

SAND SPRINGS, Okla. — (AP) — A candidate for mayor, Hugh Bryant, has a novel way of campaigning. He watches for cars parked at meters that have run out of time and drops in a few pennies. Then he explains in a printed note what he did, also getting in a plug for himself in the message.

"housework cut in half...leaves more time to enjoy my children"

Mrs. Ruth Stutzman, 2035 N.W. 186th St., Opa Locka, says: "I have had both gas and electric kitchens and I find my housework cut in half because electric is so much cleaner. I am most happy, as it leaves me more time to enjoy my children and not be a slave to my kitchen; not to mention how much more economical."

For Less Work, More Fun . . .

It's Time to Change...To an Electric Range

Modern electric cooking pays off in many wonderful ways. Safest because it's flameless! No fumes, no danger from constant-burning pilot lights. Absolutely worry-free. Cook, roast without potwatching. Just set dial and enjoy push-button freedom.

Electric cooking is white-glove clean. Never any soot, or greasy film to smudge your walls and curtains. Pots and pans stay "brand-new" bright. You save household drudgery. You save yourself!

No wonder over 2 million Floridians now enjoy the safety and convenience of automatic electric cooking. And remember . . . it's cheaper to go all-electric in the kitchen-laundry than to use a combination of fuels.

Goren on Bridge

Diamond Control

[© 1959: By The Chicago Tribune]

ANSWERS TO BRIDGE QUIZ

Q. 1—As South you hold:
♠AQJ63 ♥AK1072 ♦84 ♣6

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1♠	2♦	3♣	Pass
3♥	Pass	4♠	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Five spades. You should have enough material to produce 12 tricks, but you are faced with the possible loss of two tricks in diamonds. The five spade bid should convey this information or message. If partner can control the second lead of diamonds, you wish him to bid a slam. A Blackwood call would be ineffective if partner acknowledged only one ace.

Q. 2—As South you hold:
♠AKQ87 ♥763 ♦J103 ♣A10

The bidding has proceeded:

North	East	South	West
1♦	Pass	1♠	Pass
2♠	Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Three clubs. You should lay some foundation for investigation of slam possibilities. If partner has a good diamond suit, and some kind of heart control, there may be an easy slam. Your next move will depend upon partner's reaction to your three club bid.

Q. 3—As South you hold:
♠64 ♥5 ♦AJ108 ♣AJ10864

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	2♥	Pass
3♣	Pass	3♠	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three no trump. Showing the diamonds at this point would not meet with our approval. Partner's blood pressure has obviously been raised to a high point and a four diamond bid might induce him to take unduly drastic action. A slightly discouraging note should be injected into the proceedings at this time.

Q. 4—You have 80 part score and as South you hold:
♠AQJ10964 ♥Q ♦AJ53 ♣6

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1♠	Pass	2♣	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Three spades. This bid strongly suggests to partner that you are looking for further information which may lead to a possible slam. It is not necessary to bid any more than three spades and it would be premature to show the diamonds at this stage.

Q. 5—As South you hold:
♠AKQ10 ♥AK10874 ♦63 ♣K

The bidding has proceeded:

West	North	East	South
3♣	Pass	Pass	?

What do you bid?

A.—Our first choice is a bid of four hearts. This is by no means a preempt, but announces that you would like to play at four hearts even if partner has a very weak hand. If he has any strength, he is at perfect liberty to go on. The only other choice is a take-out double.

Q. 6—As South you hold:
♠KQJ854 ♥KJ ♦AQ5 ♣AK

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
2♠	Pass	3 NT.	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Six no trump or six spades. Partner is marked almost to a certainty with the king of diamonds and an ace. This is practically the only holding which would justify a jump response to three no trump.

Q. 7—As South you hold:
♠AQJ5 ♥QJ63 ♦K ♣AK54

The bidding has proceeded:

South	West	North	East
1♣	1♦	1♥	Pass

What do you bid now?

A.—Two spades, forcing to game. A mere jump rebid in hearts would be inadequate. Partner needs very little to produce a slam and an effort should be made to describe the great power of your hand. On the following round it will be time enough to show your fine heart support.

Q. 8—As South you hold:
♠J7 ♥Q9 ♦K108743 ♣AJ2

The bidding has proceeded:

East	South	West	North
3♣	Pass	Pass	4♥
Pass	?

What do you bid now?

A.—Five clubs. Partner has announced a powerful hand on which he can win most of the 10 tricks in his own hand. You may have just enough to bring the total to 12. The recommended call is five clubs. This will show the adverse suit's ace and also a willingness to play at hearts.

U.S. Official Will Speak

Secretary of Commerce Lewis L. Strauss will speak at the 52nd annual membership banquet of the Miami-Dade County Chamber of Commerce Wednesday at 7 p.m. at the Dupont Plaza Hotel. Installation of officers, including President Hugh F. Purvis, also will take place.

STRAUSS

Hotel Fire Kills Two

The fire started in the kitchen about 5:30 a.m.

The dead were identified by Coroner Vernon Beck as William Alva Fuqua and William Sheid, both of Ukiah. Both were found unconscious in their rooms and died shortly afterward at the Ukiah hospital.

The four-story Palace Hotel is one of the largest and oldest in Ukiah, a town of some 9,000 population 130 miles north of San Francisco.

Smart Housewives

LOOK FIRST FOR FRESHNESS!

"Freshness" is the keynote of all the many activities of Food Fair Stores. The men and women who serve you in the markets and all the folks who work "behind the scenes," the buyers, merchandisers and supervisors are dedicated to the goal of bringing you foods just as fresh as fresh can be.

"Freshness" is the basic precept upon which Food Fair Stores have grown and grown to become the most patronized markets in all of Florida. If you're not already a Food Fair customer, why not discover why so many Smart Housewives are switching weekly to the markets that sparkle with freshness, cleanliness and abundance. You'll like the change.

410 ALMERIA STREET

has this to say:

"We have been enthusiastic Food Fair customers since we first arrived in Florida a good many years ago, and we've been continually impressed with the superior freshness of everything we ever bought there. From our nearby Food Fair Store, on Miracle Mile we have enjoyed wonderful fruits and vegetables, consistently tender and flavorful meats — and nice, fresh Sea Foods. We think their Butter and Eggs are really grand, too."

"We are a family of seven, and if we had to pay big prices for all these superior foods, it's just possible we might have tried to economize. But, when we can enjoy the best and actually save money at the same time . . . Well, I can't understand why folks shop elsewhere."

How You Can Build Bustline

By ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN: I own several nice sweaters, but I have nothing to put in them. (I hope you get this.) I've seen ads for creams and salves but some of my girl friends who sent away for them said they didn't work very well. I just heard that exercising with dumbbells helps. They are pretty expensive but I would buy them if I thought they would do something for me. Please advise. I am desperate—MISS 32.

ANN

Dear Miss 32: Exercising with dumbbells will definitely "do something" for you. They will develop your arm and back muscles and you'll look like a wrestler. They will also help the guy who sells you the dumbbells. He will make a profit.

If you're as desperate as all that, go to a lingerie shop and buy what you need. It makes much better sense.

DEAR ANN: Recently a young girl wrote and asked what life would be like married to a career service man. You invited wives of servicemen to give her a first hand report. This is the sole subject on which I'm an authority.

When my husband came home after flying "The Hump" he told me of a sign at Operations Headquarters Kunming. It said "China is not for the timid." I can't think of a set of words that applies more fittingly to a woman who marries into the armed services.

I shivered in drafty rooms in Canada and melted in the California desert. I've loaded three small children on buses and followed my husband the breadth of the land. I've put the finishing touches on curtains and had to pack them in a crate because unexpected orders came through.

I've known what it is to be snubbed by wives of fat civilians. I've driven through lovely residential sections of 20 cities, and cried with longing to have a home of my own.

When our daughter graduated from college she counted 17 schools she had attended. The boys never added their score, but it would have been about the same. All three were top students who really lived—and so did I!

Next year my husband retires. In retrospect I would not do it differently if I could live my life over. It's been thrilling, educational and extremely rich in fascinating experiences. So, to the gal who wrote—if you love the guy say yes. But remember that sign in Kunming.—AIR FORCE WIFE

Dear A. F. W.: Thank you (and the many others who wrote). The response was 50 to one in favor of saying yes.

DEAR ANN: A bunch of us girls got together for a slumber party. At midnight we started to call people on the phone for fun. We called a fraternity house and talked to the boys for almost two hours. We've done this before and some of the voices and names are familiar to us although we've never met the fellows.

One guy over there has a voice that is strictly Dreamsville. He's asked me out twice but both times I was busy. We've never met, and now I'm afraid we never will. That last conversation was too long and goofy and I think he's lost interest in me. How can I fix things up?—MISS MONITOR

Dear Miss Monitor: Phone romances, like mail order love affairs, are usually a big disappointment. The characters one manufacturers in the laboratory of the mind seldom live up to the flesh and bone image. Don't phone him again. Hope that one day you meet in person and then let him be the aggressor.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Miami Herald, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Iranian Jews Live In Squalor

By ELEANOR ROOSEVELT

TEL AVIV, Israel — On my last day in Shiraz, Iran, last week I visited the Jewish Community. Housing there for the poor is somewhat below the worst standard we could find almost anywhere in the U.S.

MRS. FDR

The average poor family may consist of a mother and father and many children — six or eight is not unusual — and they live in one room, with no sanitation. There are not even doors or windows in the room — holes are cut in the walls to be used for coming in and going out and for letting in a little light.

In the one room there is a little charcoal brazier in one corner, which is used for cooking and heating. Bedding, which is rolled up in the daytime, covers the floor at night for sleeping. Often a low wooden table, covered by a blanket, is placed over the brazier and the occupants of the room sleep with their feet toward the brazier.

This way of sleeping and keeping warm was familiar to me because I had seen it in the Khyber Pass in Pakistan. But the hazards are many because of the crowded conditions and the little children. And there is an added hazard in daytime because nearly always there is a kettle of boiling water sitting on the brazier, almost inviting little children to knock it off.

The Jewish community in Shiraz and the one in Teheran are not entirely Jewish, for Moslems populate some 20 to 30 per cent of the area. There is one advantage to this, for whatever programs are started to improve conditions for the Jewish people naturally benefit the Moslems, and the whole community is improved.

FOR INSTANCE, when a courtyard is cleaned out, some kind of a toilet is usually installed for the three or four families that may have rooms around that courtyard. Also, an arrangement is made for the removal of garbage. And a plant or two may be set somewhere in the courtyard and all the families watch over this little bit of cheer.

In Shiraz a well-to-do member of the Jewish community gave the land and building for the kindergarten, which takes care of 250 of the more than 1,000 children. These fortunate 250 are given every day either UNICEF or American surplus milk powder which is made into milk and some milk-bread. This is the children's breakfast, which they get soon after their arrival at school at about 8:30 in the morning.

Twice a year these children also are issued clothes, one suit for the winter and one for summer, and shoes of some kind are also included. At noon they are served a meal, and the director told me that the breakfast and the noon meal provide two-thirds of the children's needed nutrition, so that only the remainder had to be provided in the children's homes.

THE occupation of most of the Jewish men is that of peddler. Some women may do some small work at home, but the family income of the average Jew in Teheran, I was told, is about 25 cents a day. In Shiraz it is about the same, for the man who is making as much as a dollar a day is considered quite rich.

Rent for one room in Teheran comes to about $4 a month, which, as you can see, does not leave a great deal to be spent on food for a family of eight or 10 people. And the situation is much the same in Shiraz.

Our Ways Puzzle Visitors

By AMY VANDERBILT

DEAR Miss Vanderbilt: I am writing this letter in behalf of my mother-in-law. She was born in Germany and came here as a child. When she was a young girl she was ashamed of her birthplace, and never told anyone that she was born there. In the factory where she was employed she told them her birthplace was Detroit. Now she is eligible for social security and is worried and doesn't know what to do.

AMY

Tell her merely to apply to the Social Security Administration. There is no regulation stating that one must be born in the U.S. in order to qualify for social security, but one must have made the necessary payments in covered employment.

* * *

DEAR Miss Vanderbilt: A year ago we came from Europe, and, as I studied English at a university there to become an interpreter, I am acquainted with most of the customs and manners in this country. But there is something I did not learn and I am so embarrassed all the time.

Etiquette

People, such as neighbors and my landlady and people who do some service in the house, address me by my first name. I don't even know where they get it from. In the country where I was raised only very close friends address me so, and only after we tell them to do so. What I can't understand is that these people who call me by my first name speak of their spouses as Mr. or Mrs. John Doe.

We think it is impolite because we do not want to make friends with everybody and I am not a servant. May we correct these people, or only ignore it?

There is entirely too much use of first names in this country. Most conservative people feel as you do that a first name should be used only after considerable acquaintance and when the other person has indicated in some way that he wishes his first name used. Certainly, those people who presume to call you by your first name are impolite in the next breath to refer to their husbands as Mr. Smith to you. The proper thing would be to refer to the husbands as "My husband," or "John," under the circumstances.

One rather pointed thing that you can do when people call you by your first name and you do not wish them to is to continue to refer to them as "Mrs. Jones." Perhaps in time they will get the idea, but there is no guarantee that they will do so.

DEAR Miss Vanderbilt: Should a child (up to 18) greet an adult first, or is it vice versa? I was raised in Europe and was taught as a child always to greet neighbors and family friends when passing them on the street or meeting them anywhere. Since none of our neighbors' and friends' children do it, I wonder if such a procedure is customary in America. Also, does a woman greet a man first? — U. M., Cleveland, Ohio.

Such greetings are usually spontaneous — the adult and the child recognize each other at the same time and greet each other. However, it is always proper for a child to greet an adult first if he is sure that he is not interrupting an adult conversation or a telephone call or some other activity of the adult. A child should be taught that no lady likes to have her name called out on the street. If a child is passing an adult, he doesn't call out, "Good afternoon, Mrs. Smith," if the adult is somewhat out of earshot.

In regard to men's and women's greetings, here again it is often a spontaneous thing wherein they both recognize each other at the same time and bow or speak. Otherwise, where there is any hesitancy, the man waits for the woman to acknowledge her recognition of him first.

Just Who Is Teamster Organizer Henry Feinstein?

Mouthpiece for Hoffa Tries to Enlist Dade Public Employes

By DOM BONAFEDE
Herald Staff Writer

Who is Henry Feinstein, the man behind the Teamsters Union drive in Dade County?

Until a few weeks ago not many in Dade had ever heard of him.

Then, almost overnight, he became a headline figure when he announced a campaign to organize thousands of Dade county and municipal employes.

Today, he is a name which disturbs local government officials.

They know that Feinstein is a mouthpiece for Jimmy Hoffa, steel-tough Teamsters boss with the power of a 1½-million-member union behind him.

Statistically, he is 53, Brooklyn-born, a current legal resident of Greenwich Village, the father of two children, and a longtime City of New York employe who started as a chauffeur.

Physically, he is about as tall as Hoffa, but a bit broader. He is a natty dresser.

During a long union career he has weathered many storms, the most notable being a highly publicized and ill-fated drive to unionize New York's 24,000 policemen.

And in 1956 he ran into left-wing trouble within his union. No left winger himself, he was charged with providing a haven for others of that political coloration within Local 237, of which he was president.

The incident involved Jack Bigel and Frank Herbst, two organizers suspected, and identified at Congressional hearings, as Reds. The activities of the pair were disclosed in a secret report made by New York City investigators.

But, unexplained to this day, the confidential report gathered dust in City Hall until exposed by New York newspapers in December, 1956.

Shortly afterward, Feinstein said Saturday, the two were fired from the union.

"We are the most violently anti-communist group in the country," he declared. "Reviving these incidents are part of the smear tactics employed by the AFL-CIO."

Feinstein's name became a byword in New York papers again last week when his union participated in a picketing demonstration at New York Hospital.

Feinstein denies this.

"Some trucks with materials not drastically needed did not go through the picket line, but all vital materials were allowed to pass," he commented.

The dispute is pending and a new flareup is expected soon.

In January he reported he had signed up 3,000 police officers. New York officials announced the figure was an exaggeration. Nevertheless, it provoked a blistering outburst by Police Commissioner Stephen P. Kennedy, later supported by Mayor Robert Wagner.

The mayor issued an ultimatum to Feinstein — stop organizing the police or lose an $8,500-a-year job as transportation superintendent of Manhattan.

Feinstein backed off.

Recently, Feinstein said he would retire from his city job before the end of the year to devote full time to union organizing. He contends, incidentally, he has never taken a union salary while on the city payroll. However, he does get expenses and his son is a paid organizer for the union.

Ironically, Feinstein was once affiliated with the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employes — his present rivals.

"Nobody is going to stop us," he says with conviction, undaunted by earlier defeats.

Real Estate Man Held in Racial Fight

WILMINGTON, Del. —(AP)— Francis A. Levering Jr., a real estate dealer who sold a Negro family a home in all-white Collins Park, is free on bail on an assault charge.

Mrs. Pearl Osterbo told Magistrate August F. Umbrecht that Levering threw a flower pot at her but missed. The flower pot broke in the road in front of Levering's home.

A number of residents from suburban Collins Park have been assembling almost nightly in front of Levering's home and office since he sold the house to the Negro family recently.

Magistrate Umbrecht held Levering in $200 bail for appearance in Court of Common Pleas on a charge of assault with intent to commit bodily harm and in $50 bail on a charge of littering the highway.

State police dispersed crowds which gathered outside the home of the George Rayfields when they first moved in. Rocks were thrown, several arrests were made and police continue to patrol the area.

Californians Like Rockefeller

LOS ANGELES — (AP) — A group of self-styled "political greenhorns" entered politics—in Vice President Richard Nixon's back yard — with an organization called "Californians for Rockefeller."

Said Businessman Charles Lewsadder, Los Angeles County director of the organization: "We recognize the governor of New York as the one current political leader in our country competent to lead us through the hazardous period ahead."

He announced a "Draft-Rockefeller - for -President" drive, without mentioning Nixon.

Suburb Forbids Any Business

CINCINNATI — (UPI) — You can't buy an aspirin or a loaf of bread — or anything else — in the exclusive Cincinnati suburb of Indian Hill.

The community of 2,100 occupies an area one-fourth the size of Cincinnati, which has a population of more than half a million.

Indian Hill has outlawed all business establishments and permits only single family dwelling units.

When the village was first incorporated, a filling station was in operation, but the community purchased and eliminated it.

9—If no correct entries are received in any week, $100 will be added to the original prize money each week until there is a winner.

10—Winners will be announced as soon as judging is completed. There is only one correct solution. The decision of the judges is final, and all contestants agree to abide by the judges' decision. No entries will be returned. All become the property of The Miami Herald.

11—The Miami Herald cannot be responsible for entries delayed or lost in the mails.

Answers to Last Week's Puzzle

Across

1—It isn't often good for our peace of mind to talk about something that SADDENS us (Maddens). — Isn't often is too restrained with MADDENS, a strong term. SADDENS is better. Occasionally, talking about such a thing helps dispel the sadness.

3—Children are apt to express their dislike of a person BOLDLY (Baldly). — Apt understates with BALDLY; children usually speak in a frank and unadorned manner, because they are by nature unsubtle and direct of speech. They are only apt to speak BOLDLY, impudently.

6—Grousers usually imagine they have a lot of FOES (Woes). — Grousers, complainers, almost always have a lot of WOES, either real or imaginary. Otherwise, they'd not be grousers. Usually is better with FOES, as complainers somewhat less frequently attribute their WOES to FOES, enemies.

8—As a rule, country dwellers seem to be more HANDY than city residents (Hardy). — HANDY is better, because country dwellers are more used to improvising. HARDY, in the sense of bold, daring, courageous, is more open to question if used, here.

12—Dictates of fashion cause frequent striking changes in women's LOOKS (Locks). — LOCKS, hair, goes too far; note frequent striking changes. LOOKS, which might include locks, is more consistent with the reference to women in general.

13—A person who in conversation with us is TENSE is apt to make us feel uncomfortable (Tease). — TENSE is better because he is mentally or emotionally strained. TEASE is weak because much depends on whether his teasing is amiable or ill-natured.

14—Repression in childhood causes many a young person to seem PRIM (Prig). — Normally, repression in childhood will tend to crush individuality; and because of fear of doing the wrong thing, PRIM is better here. PRIG is less apt; a prig is a person who affects great propriety, to the annoyance of others.

15—It's often exasperating to have to listen to a pessimist's LOT (Rot). — The word pessimist points to LOT. The lot of a pessimist is always a doleful one. As for ROT, it's exasperating to have to listen to anybody's ROT, nonsense.

Down

2—When we're in SOME difficulty it often helps us to discover our true friends (Sore). — The mildness of SOME fits well with the restraint of often. When we're in SORE, great, difficulty, it at least usually helps us to discover our true friends.

3—People are apt to be tiresome who seldom enjoy a game unless they make a BET on it (Bit). — Apt understates with BIT; then they play for the money rather than for the game. A BET might not be for money.

4—It usually makes a parent happy to give a child JOY (Toy). — TOY is weak, because the child might be too young to appreciate the TOY. Too, he might not like that particular TOY. JOY is better with usually. Not always, because giving of a particular JOY might sometimes be against a parent's inclinations, and thus he would not be happy.

5—Men are seldom deeply impressed by any woman's TASK (Talk). — Because they're unacquainted with woman's work, they can't appreciate it until they've actually performed it. Men then soon change their minds. To use TALK to complete the statement makes it obviously wrong, because it's simply not true to life.

7—Warm-hearted people seldom feel an urge to SPITE anyone (Smite). — It's more ill-nature to SPITE someone than to SMITE, strike, someone, who might thoroughly deserve it. Note that the clue refers only to an urge and not to the action. Such people might often feel an urge to SMITE someone who deserves it.

9—A SLIP is often wounding to one's self-esteem (Slap). — A SLAP is more frequently than often wounding to one's self-esteem. Not necessarily so a SLIP, an error or mistake. There might be no observers.

10—As a rule, much tact is necessary to placate a DOUR person (Sour). — A DOUR person is fundamentally difficult to persuade or convince; he is obstinate and stubborn. SOUR means discontented, bitter; as a rule and much tact go rather far with this answer.

11—Weak characters are seldom able to make BEST of their troubles (Jest). — They're often lacking in purpose and make no effort to tackle their problems, merely treating them as a JEST. It's in keeping with their character that they are seldom able to make the BEST of their troubles by striving to remedy them.

Town's Content: It's Up With On

KINGSTON-UPON-THAMES, England —(UPI)— The British post office finally has knuckled under for the city fathers.

The post office agreed to a long-standing request by the city council to describe this community as Kingston-upon-Thames and not Kingston-on-Thames.

Nasser, Kassem Slug Each Other With Acid Words

By GEORGE WELLER
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

NICOSIA, Cyprus — The acid art of Arab abuse is advancing with each name flung in the Nasser-Kassem duel.

WELLER

3 — Egyptians are a "Hashashid race," meaning they prefer hashish to hash.

4 — Iraqis are "Communist dupes," meaning their dope is dialetic.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, sitting high in the Moscow pressbox, watches the volleys between Cairo and Baghdad. When he drops an epithet on Nasser, like "young and hotheaded," the Egyptians water it down to "enthusiastic and impetuous."

Kassem, personally, stays under wraps, his slanguage depends on his able pro-Communist propagandists, who try patiently to tie Nasser to Hitler, thus pleasing Khrushchev.

Nasser is "no true friend of the Soviet Union," says Iraqi Judge Col. Fadel Mehdawi. As an insult in today's red-sliding Baghdad, that's the most.

"Nasser imported Hitler's officers to train his army, and even allowed the American ambassador to wave farewell to King Farouk," Baghdad Radio charges.

Kassem, to a London Times reporter, pleaded, "I have never personally abused anybody."

Kassem is handicapped by a joke of history: After his July revolution he jailed Iraq's ablest radio denouncers of Nasser, and they cannot blaspheme from behind bars.

Nasser is joyously himself when scribbling on fences. He loves it and excells at it. His Damascus and Cairo speeches develop like an American college's "locomotive cheer," starting at a slow, word-by-word chug, then gathering momentum.

In early rounds Nasser, to avoid naming the Russians, promised to defend Iraq against "such imperialists as the Crusaders." This figure confused the customers for two reasons: The Crusaders were Christians who invaded Islam from the west, not atheists from the north, and secondly, the "defender of Islam" Saladin — with whom Nasser is often compared — was an Armenian Kurd from northern Iraq who conquered Egypt.

To uncross these wires Nasser shifted to "Tartars" as a figure for the Russians. Everybody understood immediately. Nasser said the Egyptians and Syrians had once combined to drive out Hulagu, leader of the Mongol Tartar hordes from the steppes, and could do so again.

With Kassem standing back, Iraq's press and radio, sharply controlled by pro-Communist censors, are working on the general "anti-Fascist" line that so successfully corralled Western liberals in the 1930s.

Nobody is a Communist, but everybody is a "struggler against fascism," or a "partisan of peace."

All parties except the fellow-traveling National Democrats have been expelled from Kassem's cabinet. But the Baghdad line is that Iraq is a "free republic," unlike the Nasser "dictatorship." Communism? That's impossible in Iraq.

"We declare openly and firmly," sayd Col. Mehdawi "that Syria and Egypt must be liberated from Nasserite Fascist rule."

Under the special rules of the Baghdad censorship, neither Red China's Mao, Stalin nor Khrushchev can be called "dictators," but only Hitler and Mussolini. Yet the Western republics are all "reactionary."

In Cairo's eyes everybody important in Baghdad is either a Communist or fellow-traveler. But under Baghdad's censorship nobody can be called a Communist, even after he dies.

Veteran Communist Lawyer Kamel Butrus Kazanchi was murdered by nationalists in Mosul. Under the Red censorship he became a "nationalist" at his funeral, while his murderers became "Nasserite traitors."

Australian Due In Washington

CANBERRA — (AP) — Australia's Trade Minister John McEwen is leaving April 2 for talks in Washington on the effects of U.S. surplus commodity disposals. In his words, "Australia has always sought to minimize the impairment of normal commercial trading by surplus disposals, while avoiding obstructing generosity where there is a need."

House Small, Dinners Big

BOSTON — (UPI) — The Barrons live in a six-room ranch-style home. But sometimes as many as 40 relatives and friends sit down to dinner in the dining room.

Superior Judge Jennie Loitman Barron and her lawyer-banker husband Samuel wanted a house small enough for two but big enough to seat 40 for dinner.

They solved the problem by having large dining and living rooms that open into each other in L-shaped fashion.

'Needed to Meet Soviet Sea Menace'

Produce Anti-Subs, Rickover Urges

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Adm. Hyman G. Rickover said Sunday the U.S. should go into large-scale production of nuclear-powered "anti-submarine" submarines to protect this country against missile-launching Russian subs.

The father of nuclear submarine development in this country said the high-speed anti-submarine is the "best means that we have right now" for meeting what he called the "great submarine missile menace."

Rickover said the nuclear-powered submarine "definitely" is far enough advanced to be placed in large-scale production.

He gave his views in a filmed television interview in New Orleans. He was questioned by Sen. Russell Long (D., La.).

The admiral said the Skipjack, a high-speed nuclear submarine, "established all sorts of world records" on recent sea trials off Connecticut.

Rickover also recommended "more unification in development" of new weapons and greater expenditure for "pure research" before placing money in actual development of weapons. He said the Defense Department is "too big" and should stop operating such non-military things as commissary stores.

THE ALITALIA GUIDE TO SUNSHINE!

You know Florida. You've been to the Caribbean. This is your year for the sunny resorts of Italy. Especially since Alitalia wings you from the dreary Hudson to the balmy Mediterranean in half a day. Not just to Milan—not just to Rome! Alitalia's big local network lets you travel to any of 16 different areas in Italy. And you don't pay a penny more than the Rome fare, whether you fly First or Economy Class.

CAPRI The Emperor Tiberius lazed away his days here instead of running the Roman Empire. A famous movie star lived through a world-shaking romance here instead of staying home with her husband. Americans have come here—sold their businesses by cable—and stayed. Alitalia deposits you daily in Naples—a mere hop by steamer from Capri. Same excellent service back to the States if you want it.

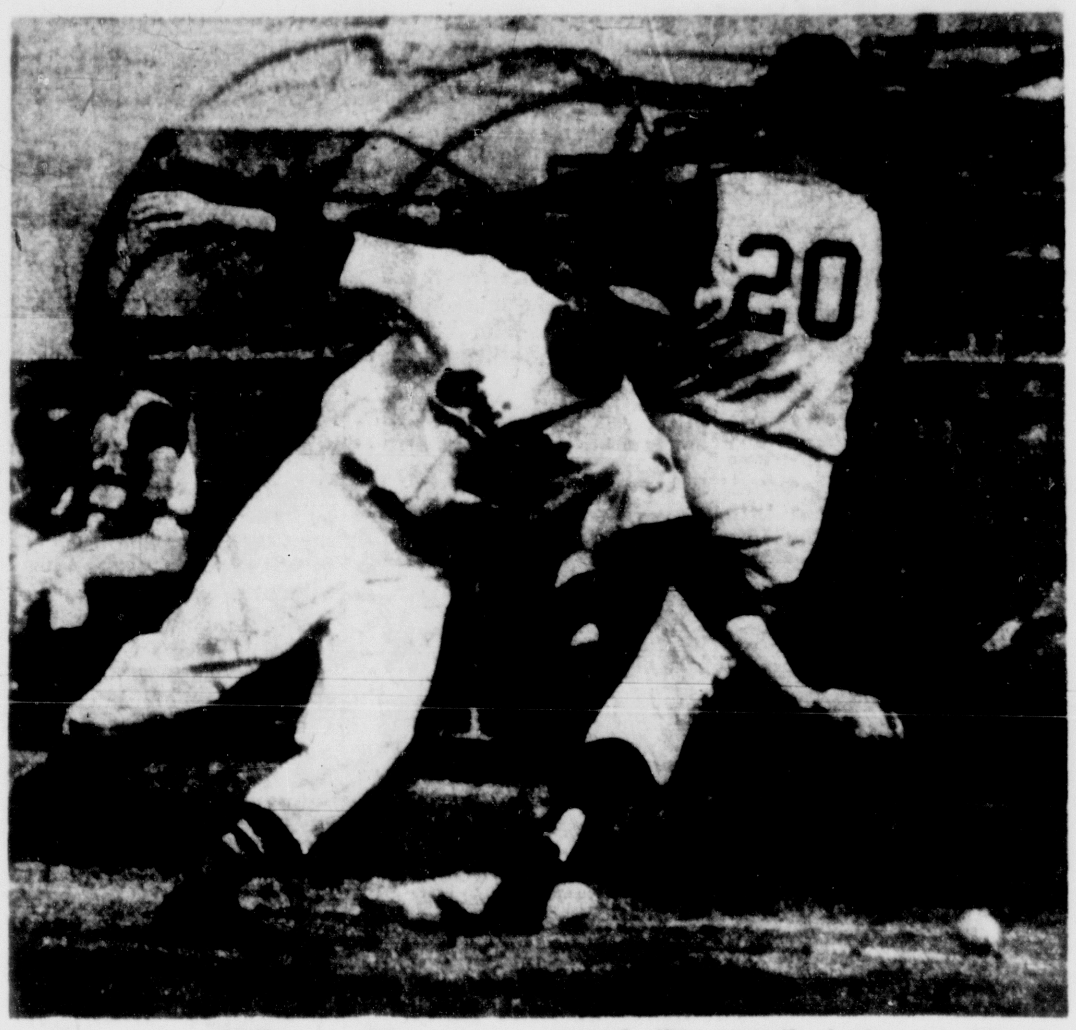
THE ITALIAN RIVIERA You can tell the sophisticate from the mere tourist by what he means when he says "Riviera." The really chic crowd wouldn't be seen anywhere but on the Italian side—in San Remo, Portofino, Rapallo, or St. Margherita. You can sip vino in sidewalk cafes or sample the luscious seafood. Excellent—though not quite as luxurious as Alitalia's 7-course dinner coming over.

VERONA AND THE LAKE REGION Stroll through the sunny piazzas where Romeo and Juliet walked. Then take the short ride to the Lakes. Snow-capped Alps above, semi-tropical flowers below . . . no wonder passionate romance flourished here! Even today the lake-front luxury hotels bustle with flirtation and intrigue. Fastest way there: non-stop by Alitalia to Milan. Not even the jets can do better!

SARDINIA Looking for something "unspoiled?" Sardinia's people are shy, proud, untouched by tourism. To them you are still a rare, important guest to be treated with courtesy and a certain wonder. They will invite you to their wonderful festivals—but even a working-day brings out elaborate costumes. Not even the airlines have discovered Sardinia—except Alitalia which flies there 3 times daily.

SICILY Dig in the ground anywhere along Sicily's south coast, and you'll come up with a bit of Greek sculpture or pottery. You may watch a Greek play in a theater where Archimedes sat. Or you might just luxuriate in Taormina. Here, you can ski on snow-covered Mt. Etna in the morning—then swim in the balmy blue bay all afternoon. Alitalia is the only airline to fly into Sicily. Many flights daily.

In Miami see your travel agent or Alitalia, 245 S.E. First Street; phone: FRanklin 7-3566. Also in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Washington, D. C., Chicago, Detroit, Dallas, Cleveland, New Orleans, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Toronto and Montreal.



Safe . . . Plus Some

As Baltimore's Whitey Lockman stretches for a wild throw, Pittsburgh Catcher Hank Foiles chugged across first . . . and then into second on the error. Foiles opened the seventh inning at Miami Stadium with a slow roller just down the third base line, and Third Baseman Leo Burke gave the ball a chance to roll foul before scooping it up for a hurried throw. Foiles later scored, but the O's won, 6-5.

But Nobody Moans Loss

Marlins' Pyburn Quits Baseball

Jim Pyburn, onetime $48,000 Baltimore Orioles' bonus prospect now assigned outright to the Miami Marlins, said Sunday he is quitting baseball.

Nobody seemed particularly disturbed by the announcement.

"If he has decided he wants to quit, we won't try to urge him to play," said Lee MacPhail, Baltimore general manager. "When you have to urge a man to play, there's not much hope he'll be outstanding."

"We'd like to have him this year, of course," said Joe Ryan, Marlin GM. "But even if he doesn't show up, we still figure the outfield will be our strong point."

Pyburn, first of over $1,000,000 worth of bonus athletes signed under Manager Paul Richards' rebuilding program, indicated from his Birmingham, Ala., home he plans to embark on a high school coaching career there.

But he gave the same apparent lack of interest which greeted his announcement as the reason behind the move. Specifically, he said he was disappointed at not being invited to the Orioles' spring camp here this year after hitting .287 last year for Triple-A Louisville.

"I thought I had a pretty good year at Louisville," Pyburn told Lou Hatter of the Baltimore Sun. "But no interest was shown in me. Frankly, I was a little disappointed. I know there were some boys invited who couldn't hit .287 in Double-A ball."

"Pyburn has been invited to spring training in years gone by," retorted MacPhail. "As a matter of fact, he even spent two seasons with the varsity club under the old bonus rule.

"Certainly we're interested in him. We think he could help Miami, but we aren't going to try to talk him into it. He's got to make the move, not us."

Pyburn, 26, former Auburn All-America football end and baseball star, told Hatter he "thought about quitting for some time, and I guess I'm pretty well on my way. I don't think I'll change my mind.

"The prospect of lingering in minor league baseball for the rest of my life I do not regard as a wholesome situation."

One Of Derby's 'Big Trio' Could Be 3-Year-Old King

TROILUS had a brief reign.

Bayard Sharp's strapping colt became king of the three-year-olds by trouncing First Landing in Hialeah's Flamingo Feb. 28.

Twenty-five days later, Spring Hill Farm's Easy Spur demolished Troilus just as convincingly as the latter had crushed First Landing.

Easy Spur's eight-length triumph in last Wednesday's Fountain of Youth Stakes threw the sophomore picture out of focus. But the clouds of confusion will be at least partially lifted in Saturday's $100,000 added Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park.

Mutual Admiration Society

EASY SPUR, TROILUS AND SWORD DANCER are the Big Three in Jimmy Donn's big one. A field of nine or 10 colts is expected. Which rival do the top entries fear the most?

Easy Spur—fears Sword Dancer.
Troilus—fears Easy Spur.
Sword Dancer—fears Troilus.

KELLEY

That should make it even-steven. However, as Paul Kelley, Spring Hill trainer, said, "We're all alike. We drop a loser like a hot potato and go with a winner. So I suppose my horse will be favored in the Florida Derby."

Why does Kelley fear Sword Dancer more than Troilus?

PEOPLES

"Well, after Wednesday's race, I have to believe Easy Spur can beat Troilus. As you know, I thought my horse would have won the Flamingo with better racing luck. We'll have to watch Sword Dancer because he's a nice little colt and Brookmeade always bears watching."

* * *

Too Much Flesh

CHARLEY PEOPLES, TRAINER of Troilus, understandably regards Easy Spur as the horse to beat.

BURCH

Said Peoples: "We knew our horse might be a little short last week. We didn't work him much after the Flamingo because we want to keep plenty of flesh on him for the long campaign ahead.

"However, we didn't expect to have so tough a race in the Fountain of Youth. Frankly, I don't believe any horse in the country could have handled Easy Spur that day. He sure does like this track. But Troilus will be ready for the Florida Derby."

Sticking With Troilus

ELLIOTT BURCH OF BROOKMEADE Stable was the only one of 12 trainers we polled before the Flamingo who picked Troilus to upset First Landing. He still sees Sharp's colt as the main threat Saturday.

Said Burch: "Easy Spur is in such good form and likes the Gulfstream track so well that he's bound to be hard to handle. But I have to rate Troilus as the big Horse.

"He demonstrated his class in the Flamingo and I have to throw out his last race. He was short and didn't have Chris Rogers, his regular rider. Troilus impressed me terrifically in the Flamingo."

Pacesetter Out

KELLEY IS NATURALLY SORRY that his good sprinter, Octopus, has been sidelined by injuries and won't be available to help Easy Spur by setting a rapid pace Saturday.

However, Easy Spur has managed to score four straight times at Gulfstream (twice as a two-year-old), and until we see him beaten, we'll have to believe he's the king at Hallandale.

Marlins Drop 4th Straight

By EDDIE STORIN
Herald Sports Writer

Those aches and pains in the Miami infield hurt a little more Sunday night as the Marlins dropped their fourth straight exhibition to Dallas, 6-2, at Flamingo Park.

The pitching of Jim Archer, Windy McCall and Al Diez was good enough for Pepper Martin's outfit to gain their first victory over the Rangers.

But the infield play made it impossible. Three errors added up to Dallas' final four unearned runs and gave the Marlins a 3-6 record.

Rookie Fred Valentine, Miami's leading run producer of the spring, clubbed a two-run homer in the first inning — running his RBI total to eight.

Archer went five innings in his first start, and although he left trailing 2-3 his performance was somewhat encouraging. All three Dallas runs off Archer were a bit on the tainted side.

The first, in the second inning, came on a bloop double just inside the left-field foul line and a follow-up two-baser.

A walk and a single put Rangers on first and third in the third inning. Then Archer caught his spikes on the pitching rubber as he went into his wind-up and was charged with a balk, sending the run home.

The final run off the 26-year-old southpaw came on Shortstop George Wehmeyer's wild throw.

Diez finished up for the Marlins and retired six Rangers in succession in his best stint in three outings.

Except for Valentine's homer the Marlins showed no offensive punch. They managed only four hits, including a safe bunt by Valentine.

FISH TALES: The Marlins play host to Memphis (Southern Association) tonight at 8 at Flamingo Park. Mel Held (Six innings, four runs) and Harry Byrd (seven innings, three runs) are due to pitch for Miami.

Silver Spoon Rates Kentucky Derby Nod

AGUA CALIENTE, Mexico — (AP) — Silver Spoon, the filly who won the Santa Anita Derby, became the Kentucky Derby favorite Sunday at odds of 4 to 1 quoted by the Caliente future book.

Troilus, winner of the Flamingo, but beaten by Easy Spur, in the Fountain of Youth Handicap last week at Gulfstream Park, was listed at 5 to 1. Easy Spur is next at 6-1, along with First Landing and Intentionally.

Orioles Win, 6-5

Tasby Homers Scuttle Bucs

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

Fleet Willie Tasby, a Baltimore rookie hammering toward the Orioles' regular center field job, exploded two home runs and a double to almost personally overpower the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-5, at Miami Stadium Sunday afternoon.

He did the job with major league dramatics, whiplashing the Birds back from a 5-3 deficit to the winning margin with a three-run rifle shot over the left center field wall in the seventh.

"Right along," smiled Bird boss Paul Richards after the thin win, "we've hoped Tasby could step into center field for us. You never know . . . one game doesn't make a regular . . . but he didn't hurt himself today."

The powerful 26-year-old parked a Haddix curve over the left field wall for Baltimore's first run in the second inning, lashed out a double in the two-run sixth, and then lost a Haddix fast ball for the winning edge.

"The wind out there today (which flared the Stadium flag straight toward left center field) may have helped," grinned Tasby.

"I know my first homer did not feel too good. But that last one did — both when I connected and when I turned third to head for those handshakes."

The Pirates, a solid ball club, gave Haddix a 1-0 lead in the top of the third, and a 4-1 margin in the fifth. Both times, Roberto Clemente packed the punch.

Clemente singled home Hank Foiles, who had singled, in the third, then slashed a screecher to left to score

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — (AP) The amazing Minneapolis Lakers dethroned the National Basketball Association Champion St. Louis Hawks Sunday with a 106-104 victory that locked up the Western Division playoff title for Minneapolis.

The Lakers took the series, four games to two, and now face the Eastern Division champion in the NBA's championship series. Boston and Syracuse, tied at three games apiece, meet Wednesday night for the Eastern title.

Another tremendous performance by the Lakers' Rookie of the Year, Elgin Baylor, returned the onetime NBA kingpins to the Western Division title for the first time in five years.

Baylor collected 33 points. Two clutch free throws with a minute to play were the margin of victory.

The desperate Hawks, trailing by 12 points with five minutes to play, cut the Laker margin to 104-102 with 1:17 left. But Baylor then was fouled by Lovellette, and cashed both free throws on a bonus situation.

Nats Pop Celts, Square Playoffs

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — (AP) — The Syracuse Nationals held off a late Boston Celtics surge for a 133-121 triumph Sunday and squared their National Basketball Association Eastern playoffs at three games each. The deciding game will be played in Boston Wednesday.

The Nats, leading by as many as 19 points in the third period, almost blew the game. Boston crept to within four points midway in the wild final period before the Nats pulled away.

Father's 'Beef' Involved

International Soccer Kin to Cattle Market?

LONDON —(AP)— The father of the fabulous Charles Brothers thinks it is about time something was done to stop soccer's big bosses selling players "like a farmer sells his cattle."

The two sons of Ned Charles — John and Mel — have been transferred for a total of about 110,000 pounds ($308,000).

John, center half or center forward, went to Italy's Juventus team from Leeds United for a reported 65,000 pounds ($182,000). Mel, center half or inside forward, has joined Arsenal from Swansea Town for about 45,000 pounds ($126,000).

"Big transfers like these should be stopped," the father said. "The soccer bosses sell players as a farmer would at a cattle market — but the profits are bigger."

In Britain clubs agree on a transfer fee, but the player has the last word on whether he wants to move. The most a player can get from a transfer is 300 pounds ($840) no matter what the transfer fee. That is a new rule. Previously the most a player could collect was 10 pounds ($28).

Spahn Routed as Reds Bounce Braves, 7-3

BRADENTON — (AP) — The floundering Milwaukee Braves Sunday went down to their 13th exhibition loss in 18 games as the Cincinnati Redlegs clobbered them with five home runs for a 7-3 victory. It was the fifth straight triumph for the Reds.

Southpaw Warren Spahn gave up four home runs, three in one inning, in the five innings he worked. Joey Jay took over and permitted four hits and served a fifth homer.

Frank Robinson led the way for Cincinnati with his fifth and sixth home runs of the spring, plus a double and a single. Pete Whisenant, Dutch Dotterer and Johnny Temple also homered.

Malzone Homers Stymie Giants

PHOENIX, 'Ariz. — (AP) — Frank Malzone's two-run homer in the ninth inning gave the Boston Red Sox a 9-7 exhibition victory over the San Francisco Giants Sunday.

It was the second homer of the game for the American League All-Star third baseman, who hit his first in the fifth inning. Rookie Pumpsie Green hit another homer for the Sox as a sixth-inning pinch hitter.

The game was highlighted by the return of Willie Mays to the Giants lineup and Jackie Jensen to the Boston outfield.

Art Wall Ups Lead In Azalea

WILMINGTON, N.C. —(AP)— Lanky Art Wall Jr. continued to master the field and the elements Sunday, shooting a one-under-par 71 to lengthen his Azalea Open golf tournament lead to five strokes after 54 holes.

The 35-year-old professional carries a 209 total into today's final 18 holes in the $15,000 tournament.

Mike Souchak had the best score of the cold, windy day, a 70, to take second place with a 214 total. Don Whitt fell off to 73 but his 215 total was good enough for third place.

Driver Veith Injured In Daytona Wreck

A wet track caused officials to call off the second day of qualifying runs for the 100-mile race April 4, but the asphalt surface dried sufficiently in the afternoon for practice drives around the 2½-mile Daytona International Speedway.

Veith said a wind caught him and sent him sideways. He estimated he was going 150 miles per hour when the skid started.

The racing car skidded about 300 yards, hit the guard rail, rode it and came off upside down, went another 200 yards before plunging into the infield and flipping upright.

"The roll bar really saved me," Veith said. "I thought it would never stop sliding upside down."

Veith was taken to a hospital for observation overnight.

'The White Coats Are Coming'

'Goony Bird' Jim Piersall Learns to Take Jockeying

PHOENIX, Ariz. —(AP)— Jimmy Piersall, who recovered from mental illness and resumed a major league baseball career, still gets a good riding from opposing players.

PIERSALL

But now there's a difference, Piersall told the Phoenix Press Club Forum — He can take it.

"They imitate sirens coming for me," said the Cleveland outfielder recently acquired from Boston, "call me the goony bird and keep telling me the white coats are coming.

"Just today (Thursday) we had a hassle and Bill Rigney (San Francisco manager) came out. 'Get back in your cage,' I told him. 'You've got a lot of guts,' he said."

Piersall said Yankee Catcher Yogi Berra once called for knockdown pitches against Jackie Jensen and Frank Malzone. Each grounded out on the next pitch.

"When I got up," Piersall said, "I told Yogi, 'I got a bat. If you call for a knockdown on me, I'll hit you right on the top of the head and plead temporary insanity.'

"Yogi said, 'Go ahead and take a good cut. We don't knock down lousy .200 hitters.' "

Someone asked Jimmy about Ted Williams, his Red Sox teammate for eight years.

"He likes fans," Piersall replied. "He just doesn't like sportswriters. He uses them to key himself up . . . I'm supposed to throw golf clubs or bats — Keep nothing bottled up inside me — But everyone knows about me. It costs Williams $500."

Derby Starters Battle Today At Gulfstream

This is Florida Derby Week at Gulfstream Park and that means there will be activity of all sorts before the six-day span of racing is completed with the running of the $100,000 three-year-old classic on Saturday.

The probable Derby field overshadows everything else at the moment and it appears that nine is the most likely figure for the mile and an eighth test.

Rico Tesio and Revolutionist are in the lineup in today's sixth event at a mile and 70 yards. They'll go in the Derby regardless of where they finish today, according to their connections. Three other Derby eligibles are in this eight-horse field. They are Sam Tufano's Wheatley Road, Puneves who is a stablemate of Rico Tesio and Lake Erie, owned by the estate of P. H. B. Frelinghuysen.

While the Derby is the piece de resistance of the week's program, two other stakes are on the agenda. Two-year-olds owned by Floridians will clash in the Dinner Stakes on Tuesday, with a dinner in the clubhouse that night at which time trophies will go to the successful owner, trainer and jockey.

The midweek attraction on Wednesday will be the Suwannee River Handicap for fillies and mares.

Derby Week will be marked by an influx of sports writers from all sections of the country to cover the three-year-old feature. On Derby Day there will be music by three bands for the entertainment of the fans, plus a special water ski show on the infield lake.

Graham, Bennett Win

Gunner Bennett and W. J. Graham won in straight sets over Ted Gary and Steve Lynch Jr., 6-0, 6-4, Sunday for the doubles championship in the Indian Creek Country Club tennis tournament.

In girl's competition today, Libby Foote plays Margie Knight and Martha Foote meets Pat Vonniff in singles; Martha and Libby Foote play Lynn Jackson and Pat Vonniff in doubles, the winners to meet Margie Knight and Linda Lynch for the title.

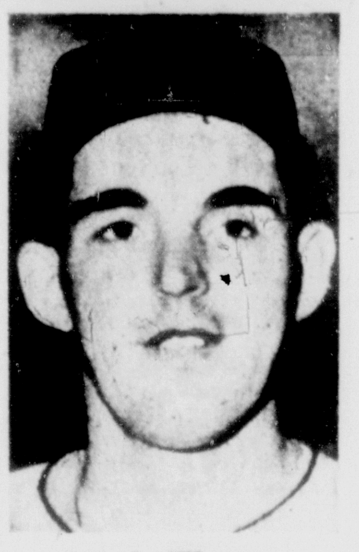
Miss Had Message: 'Hit Home Runs'

'Bum' Rap Made Thomas Think



Frank Thomas
. . . he heard a voice

By ARTHUR DALEY
The New York Times Service

TAMPA—Ballplayers like to pretend that they don't hear the jeers and taunts of heckling fans. Some such as Ted Williams, have rabbit ears and even catch the whispers. But Frank Thomas, third baseman of the Cincinnati Reds, has steeled himself so that almost all verbal brickbats bounce off unrecording ear drums.

When he was playing for Pittsburgh a couple of years ago, however, he committed one of the most heinous crimes any ball player can commit. With the bases full he sapped into a double play to end the inning.

Embarrassment and rage surged through him as he flung away his bat. Then from the Forbes Field grandstand he heard one sentence.

"Thomas, you're a bum!" the high, penetrating voice called out.

Frank turned to look. The Pirates were so bad in those days they didn't draw too many spectators anyway. It was easy enough for him to locate the critic whose one sentence outcry had grated his nerves. His angry hazel eyes swept across the box seats behind the Pirate dugout and suddenly he started to laugh. The heckler was his little daughter, Joanne.

When the big slugger returned home that evening, he beckoned to the pert miss.

"Darling," he said, "I heard you at the ball game today. Little girls should be more tolerant of their fathers."

"But daddy," she said with the ingenuous simplicity of childhood, "good ball players like you shouldn't hit into double plays. They should hit home runs."

Frank gave her a silent hug and fled to the kitchen. She left him speechless because her childish appraisal was so eminently correct. Sluggers are paid to hammer out the long ball, and few batters in the National League can hit longer ones than Frank Thomas.

WILLIAMS

IT'S QUITE POSSIBLE that Big Frank—he's 6 feet 3 and 205 pounds—will be the home run king of the majors this year. He had 35 last season while operating out of spacious Forbes Field. A deadly pull-hitter, he'll now be aiming at the more friendly left field wall in Cincinnati, a wall that's almost 40 feet closer to the plate.

Thomas is murder in small ball parks. In eleven games in San Francisco last season he had six homers and in eleven games in Los Angeles he had seven.

If the Dodgers had any sense—which they don't always have—they'd have traded for Thomas regardless of the price. He'd be fantastic playing in O'Malley's Alley.

"Maybe so," he admitted cautiously. "Publicity men, trying to hypo the gate in Los Angeles, quoted me as saying I could hit 77 homers if I was on the Dodgers. I never said that. The most I ever said was that I'd have a good chance of breaking Babe Ruth's record of 60 if I played 77 games in the coliseum.

"But I'm far from convinced. I hit five homers in the first five games we played there, never giving a thought to homers but just swinging away freely. Then that screen began to fascinate me. I couldn't take my eyes off it and I began going for homers. So I hit only two in the next six games there.

Thomas at 29 is just beginning to gain the recognition he has long deserved as one of the big stars of the game. Perhaps that recognition will be speeded up in Cincinnati.

Arcaro Wins on Atoll, Still Likes 'Landing'

By the Associated Press

Eddie Arcaro rode a right smart colt in Atoll to victory in the Swift Stakes at Jamaica Saturday but the veteran jockey hasn't changed his mind regarding his mount in the Kentucky Derby. It's still First Landing, champion 2-year old of 1958.

Eddie Arcaro
. . . no change

"I don't know how good he really is but he certainly had no trouble handling this bunch," Arcaro said of Atoll after the chief Kentucky Derby hope of the Florida-owned Elkcam Stable romped to a seven-length decision. "When I asked him to run he poured it on and was just galloping along at the finish."

"But I haven't lost faith in First Landing, even though he didn't look good in winning only one of his three races in Florida. After all, he beat 'em all last year. And they tell me he is looking much better since returning North."

A Bird?

Nope, just a plain pitcher, Ray Narleski of Detroit, going through some wet weather workouts in Lakeland after the Tigers' game with Los Angeles was rained out Sunday. Serving as Narleski's ballast on the bend exercises is Joe Proski, assistant to Detroit's trainer.

Florida Wins, Gives Trophy To Puerto Rico

GRAND BAHAMAS ISLAND, Bahamas — (AP) — Florida's AAU swimmers won the Easter weekend Grand Bahamas Club International meet but Puerto Rico got the trophy in a surprise presentation that brought the islanders close to tears.

Jack Nelson, Olympic medalist who heads the Florida team, accepted the trophy from the committee and then told the gathering Sunday:

"We must remember we've been swimming for some time. Pureto Rico has just come into the AAU this year. We've all been impressed by the outstanding competition they've given us and by their terrific sportsmanship.

"On behalf of the Florida team, I want to ask Puerto Rico Coach Feliz Perez to come up here and accept our trophy for his team."

Florida scored 442 points, the Virginia AAU All-Stars 342 and Puerto Rico 184 in the 22-event meet. Sandy Zissen of Miami won the outstanding individual trophy.

Winners in each division, boys and girls:

Orioles Shade Pirates

Haddix and Dick Schofield in the fifth.

Baltimore Hoyt Wilhelm survived the rocky innings, but yielded to a pinch-hitter in the bottom of the seventh as the Orioles paved the way for Tasby's homer.

With one out, Jim Finigan doubled and Pinch-Hitter Bobby Avila, batting for Fred Green, singled. Jim Caldwell struck out for Wilhelm, but that brought up Tasby.

Sunday's Easter weather brought out 2,480 fans.

IS YOUR OLD ELECTRIC SHAVER BREATHING HARD?
REPLACE IT WITH THE NEW ROTARY BLADE FAVORITE...
THE NEW Norelco® SPEEDSHAVER
...the largest-selling electric shaver in the world!

This year, millions of electric shavers will earn their retirement. How about yours? Is it an antique? Has it lost its zip? Turn to the new Norelco Speedshaver—and discover how electric shaving has improved.

The future of shaving has arrived! Instead of using a back-and-forth action that may pinch and pull, the new Norelco Speedshaver strokes off whiskers with rotary blades. Beneath stationary guards, 12 self-sharpening blades whirl round and round in one continuous sweep. Norelco needs no setting, automatically adjusts itself to your beard.

And you STAY shaved! All day. Norelco's patented skin-smoother rim stands whiskers erect, holds them erect for clean, longer-lasting shaves.

Rugged brush motor is lubricated for life, runs quietly, won't heat up. World-wide service.

Try the new Norelco Speedshaver and you'll realize how old-fashioned every other shaver has become. In jet-gray and white. AC/DC. Complete with handsome travel case, $24.95.

Outdoorsman? Motorist? Get the New Norelco Sportsman. Just like the Speedshaver except it runs on flashlight batteries or plugs into car lighter. $24.95. NORELCO is known as PHILISHAVE in Canada and throughout the rest of the free world.

Baseball, Tennis End UM Carnival

University of Miami's successful Sports Carnival comes to a close Monday when Yale and Miami play a baseball game at 1 p.m. and Miami and Presbyterian College clash in tennis at 2.

However, the upcoming week is a busy one for Hurricane teams even after the carnival ends.

Amherst sends its baseball team to town for single games Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, each beginning at 3 p.m. By Thursday, the Hurricanes will have been in action on the diamond 12 out of 13 successive days.

The track team, still seeking its first win, takes to the road Saturday for a dual meet with The Citadel at Charleston, S.C. The golfers do not compete this week but the tennis team has a Tuesday meet with Presbyterian, always tough for Miami.

Riot Squad Keeps Peace As Rod Wins

State and county police were called to quell a near riot at the Hollywood Speedway Saturday night during the running of the 40-lap feature, won by Rod Perry of Miami.

A riot squad from the Broward County Sheriff's office and members of the Florida Highway Patrol were brought in over an incident touched off by the rough riding of Herb Tillman and Ernie Reeves.

As Reeves and Tillman, contending for first position, rounded the 31st lap, Tillman's right front wheel hit Reeves' left back wheel, sending Reeves into the fence, momentarily knocked out. The race was halted as the ambulance sped to the scene.

Drivers, owners, pit crews and fans who had been taking sides in the feud between the two drivers swarmed onto the infield, surrounding the cars and officials with protests. Tempers began to flare and the call for help was made.

Best-Ball 59 Wins Tourney

A best-ball 59 by Mr. and Mrs. Clark Hardwicke, F. R. Fehlhaber and Mrs. E. A. Ingleheart Jr. won top honors Sunday in Indian Creek Country Club's Officers Tournament.

In second place was the team of C. T. Douglass, J. C. Douglass, Mrs. Lois Osten and Mrs. Lisa Chandor with 60.

'Bulkhead Would Benefit Public'--Wenner

Banana River Welfare: To Fill or Not To Fill

FISHING

...with Vic Dunaway

DUNAWAY

Defending the Board of Brevard County Commissioners on the proposed bulkhead line in the Banana River is Commissioner Lee Wenner of Cocoa.

"The City of Cocoa Beach, the Brevard County school board and the Canaveral Hospital Association (non-profit) have requested all of the public lands that will be realized by the fill to be used by public institutions — a sewage plant, recreation area, school and hospital. Since Cocoa Beach lacks room for expansion, the only place for some of these publicly beneficial institutions is a fill into the river. There is no giveaway as was implied in tackleman Bennett's (Cocoa Mayor Gary Bennett) letter.

"The commission asked for and received competent advice. W. Turner Wallis, who was honored by Gov. Collins as Conservationist of the Year, set the bulkhead line at the outermost limits of the land requested by the hospital for its facilities and no farther."

Must Be Done Eventually

"The majority of lands under controversy have already been condemned by the Bureau of Entomology as mosquito breeding territory and if not filled by private enterprise, would soon have to be filled at the taxpayer's expense.

"None of the sportsmen's associations of Brevard County have joined the Brevard Bulkhead Committee in its opposition to the line. Perhaps this is because there are 220 additional square miles of shallow water, not including marsh lands, in the county. All this territory is suitable for the spawning of the type of fish said to be endangered by the bulkheading of only three square miles of water.

"Florida sportsmen can rest assured that the preservation of our excellent speckled trout fishing will always be of paramount concern to the Board of County Commissioners, Brevard County."

March On The Capital

There is also a late report from opposition headquarters. Bennett advises that a delegation of the Brevard Bulkhead Committee went to Tallahassee and talked at length to Don Livingstone, the governor's administrative assistant, and to members of the Internal Improvement Board.

"The members and the director of the Internal Improvement Board," says Bennett, "assured the delegation that no official action would be taken on the questionable bulkhead line established by the Brevard County Commissioners without thorough study and public hearings. The Bulkhead Committee will be notified when action is to be taken, and you can bet there'll be a good delegation on hand to oppose this undesirable, precedent-setting bulkhead line.

"Since more than 3,000 residents of the county have registered their opposition by signing a petition to the Internal Improvement Board, we now feel that this bulkhead line will be carefully considered at the state level.

"In this case it is necessary to go over the county level to register opposition, because the commissioners are giving the false impression that there are no objections to the bulkhead line."

Olson vs. Calhoun In Comeback Bout; Harris On TV Card

NEW YORK —(AP)— Two former middleweight champions, Bobo Olson and Carmen Basilio, and a couple of contenders, Heavyweight Roy Harris and Welterweight Isaac Logart, are featured in this week's boxing action.

Olson, making a comeback as a light heavyweight, faces a rugged test tonight at San Francisco. He takes on hard-swinging Rory Calhoun in a ten rounder.

Basilio, still hoping for another crack at Middleweight Champion Sugar Ray Robinson, warms up against Arley Siefer at Augusta, Ga., Wednesday night.

Harris defends his Texas heavyweight crown against Donnie Fleeman at Dallas' Memorial Auditorium Wednesday night. The return 12-rounder will be telecast coast to coast (ABC 10 p.m., EST). Harris defeated Fleeman in a 12-rounder last Dec. 1.

Another return bout — between welterweights Isaac Logart and Charley Scott — features the Friday night radio-TV (Ch. 7, 10 p.m.) show out of Washington's Capitol arena. Scott, an unknown, upset Logart, the Cuban contender, in a ten rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena, March 16.

947—SECOND—Purse $3,000, 4-year-olds and up; claiming, $4,250-4,000; 6½ furlongs. Post: 2:20

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds

VAGABOND KING must be given slight edge but must get off also list; ETHEL-RITA is lightly weighted, contender; FLORANN won recently and is very dangerous; ON THE ROPES is ready for a good race.

948—THIRD—Purse $3,000, 2-year-olds maidens, 3 furlongs, claiming, $10,000. Post 2:50.

833	2	First National	J. Sellers	114	15-1

a—Briardale Farm entry

952—SEVENTH—Purse $3,500, 4-year-olds and up, claiming, $12,000-10,000; 1 and 1-16 miles (turf) Post: 4:50.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds

899	11	Palustris	J. Block	x108	20-1

DEADLEY ACTOR looks like he'll be able to handle these; BILLIARDS likes the grass and contender; CAMARISTA 2ND is knocking at the door; SAM SLICK should take part, will be closing fast.

953—EIGHTH—Purse $3,200, 4-year-olds and up; claiming, $6,750-6,250; 6 furlongs. Post: 5:20.

878	13	Hash Again	A. Fairbanks	113	20-1

a—B. Burk-Mrs. G. H. Emick entry
b—Flagler Farm-J. L. Friedman entry

EXODO is dropping far down the ladder; TILE SON was used up early last time, can argue in this company; MICROBE was runnerup in last start, quite sharp; LOGRERA is a mate to Microbe with a chance.

954—NINTH—Purse $3,000; 4-year-olds and up; claiming, $3,500; 1 and 1-16 miles. Post: 5:50.

Ind	PP	Horse,	Jockey	Wt.	Odds

Jeff Chandler Working Out With Giants

MEMOS OF A MIDNIGHTER: Eddie Foy III and Katherine Conklin of "My Fair Lady," told chums at the Purple Tree spot they'll unite in June . . . Rare Sight at a First-Night: Mrs. Robert Goldman, wife of the "First Impressions" lyricist, holding their two-weeks young infant. Youngest first-nighter in history . . . Three of the top strippers are over 50 years old . . . John Duke and Dolores Michaels (she's Henry Fonda's leading lady in "Warlock") wed shortly . . . Don't invite Orson Welles and Curt Jurgens to the same meannie-roast . . . Jeff Chandler, a ballteam buff, deserted bride-to-be Esther Williams for a few weeks, to don a Giant uniform and work out with that team in Phoenix . . . Playwright Inge's next play, they say, is more of an orgy than "Sweet Bird" . . . Margie Graner, ex-"Tropicana" lovely landed in the "Al Capone" flicker . . . Popular drink-about-town: "The Hemingway," that author's favorite concoction: Scotch and lime juice . . . B'way: The Street that loves you when you defeat it.

MOVIEVILLE'S annual envelope-opening gala — the Academy Award shindig — will soon offer its customary glitter, hoopla and yakety-yak. It will be a big night for Oscar & Co. . . . Oscar, you may be astounded to learn, was born on a tablecloth. When the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences was organized, a group of movie execs had a meeting to decide on the symbol of achievement. Art director Cedric Gibbons sketched the figure on a tablecloth and it was later made into a baby statue by sculptor George Stanley. Oscar stands 10 inches tall, weighs seven pounds and his exterior is gold plate. He costs about $100. Nevertheless, the value of Oz at the box-office has been estimated at over $1 million.

THE "DIARY of Ann Frank" will undoubtedly be one of the year's memorable films. The 15-year-old author of the classic diary was one of the many victims at the infamous Belsen concentration camp. One of the survivors of the Hell of Belsen has recalled the following heartbreaking incident: "I can still see Anne Frank standing by the door, watching a group of naked young girls being shoved along to the crematory. Anne watched them, weeping. And she wept when we filed past Hungarian children waiting, twelve hours naked under the rain, for their turn to enter the gas chamber. Anne cried: 'Look at their eyes!' She wept when most of us had no tears left."

FROM THE MARCH 18 headlines: "Joe Louis and Los Angeles attorney Martha Jefferson secretly wed a week ago" . . . From the WW column of Jan. 19: "Ex-Champion Joe Louis' big interest is Martha Jefferson, a coast Portia" . . . Angie Dickenson's legs in the "Rio Bravo" film make most gal's stems look like piano stools . . . The Nick Cavataros (Atra Baer, TV historian) expect their next image in June . . . Bill Hayes and Florence Henderson's big laugh-getter at the St. Regis Maisonette: An impression of Maria Callas and the Met's Mr. Bing dueting: "Thou Swell" . . . Jimmy Hoffa's shrug on why the Teamsters' Union keeps growing: "Because a teamster brings home a fat pay envelope. That automatically allies us with the strongest of all unions—The Wives' Union" . . . One foreign car advertises it this way: "Loads of room for 4½ people."

GLORIA VANDERBILT LUMET'S party brought gifts For The Girl Who Has Everything. Actress Susan Pleshette gave her a $25 pink elephant pin-cushion and Carol Grace brought her a box of monogrammed pencils . . . The Presidents of the N. Y. Times and N. Y. Herald Tribune (Orville Dryfoos and Howard Brundage) are Dartmouth College men. (Rah-Rah!) . . . "Flower Drum Song" and "Redhead" are the musicals most in demand. "Sweet Bird" and "Majority" lead in the straight plays . . . Guy Wood, who wrote "French Foreign Legion," the hit song, rightfully protests the statement that his tune is anything like "Goody-Goody." His musical veracity is herewith acknowledged.

YOUNGEST stage manager in England is the distinction claimed by Carol Ann Aylett but the 22-year old has greater ambitions. She hopes to become an opera singer and perches on a London piano to prove it.

'West Side' Sold For $500,000

'From a Bunny?'

Counting his eggs before they hatched was never the mistake of industrial tycoon Arthur Vining Davis, but on Easter he relented to count the unhatched eggs of a young boy who joined 150 other children from the Crippled Children's Society for an egg hunt on the grounds of Davis' palatial estate on Old Cutler Road. Davis was host to the children. For more pictures of Easter in Miami, see Page 1D.

Keep Believing It, Wedge

Collegiate Argot Tricky to 'Tune'

By DUANE JONES
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Are you "a cage rattler," "bent out of shape," or "off the wall?"

That's college talk as it's spoken at the beach this year, and if you don't dig it you're "out to lunch," "a real loser" or "bad news."

If you're really "out of it," you're "a honk," "a tool," or "a load."

But whatever you are, "stay loose," and KBI—"keep believing it."

College kids vacationing here will tell you that once you're "out strictly" (out to lunch), it's hard to "swing easy" again—especially if you aren't "tweedy" or "a mover."

And if you're "a smasher," or frequently become "smashed," "you've had it" and probably are "out of it" for good.

Stay out of left field. Organize. If a recognized sorority or fraternity won't have you, "tap-a-keg-a-day" will.

Don't run for your dictionary. Only "a clod" or "a wedge" would do that.

Only collegians "are tuned" to these expressions and only they can explain them. Here are some of the definitions:

CAGE RATTLER — A handsome man who "rattles" or "shakes up" girls.

BENT OUT OF SHAPE — One who is intoxicated.

OFF THE WALL — One possessing a deficient personality.

OUT TO LUNCH — A square.

BAD NEWS — A dope.

REAL LOSER — A dopey dope. Also a "honk," "tool," "wedge" or "load."

SWINGS EASY — One who's popular.

SMASHER — A heavy drinker.

SMASHED — Intoxicated.

MOVER — One who moves about in the best circles.

SNAKEY — A beautiful off-beat girl.

TOUGH DOLLIE — Beautiful on-beat girl.

TWEEDY — A fellow who dresses well.

GROG — Beer.

TUNED — You're coming through.

KEEP BELIEVING IT — An expression with no particular meaning.

Car Strikes Cyclist, 91

Robert M. Reno, 91-year-old retired newspaper photographer, was seriously injured Sunday when struck by a car and knocked from his bicycle at Coconut Grove intersection.

Police said Reno, of 3672 Douglas Rd., Coconut Grove, rode his bicycle into the path of a car driven by Harold Junior Duke, 26-year-old Negro of 3737 Oak Ave. at Grand Ave. and Margaret St.

Reno was taken to Doctor's Hospital and reported in serious condition. He suffered a concussion and a broken leg.

Reno was chief photographer for The Miami Herald from 1923 to 1937, when he retired. He is the father of Herald reporter Henry Reno and father-in-law of Herald Music and Art Critic Doris Reno, the wife of another son, Paul.

Miami Policeman D. R. Charlton said no charges were filed against Duke.

LITTLE MIKLOS HARGITAY, three-month-old son of Actress Jayne Mansfield, is carried down the church aisle in his papa's arms after being christened Sunday. His papa, Mickey Hargitay, married his mama in January, 1958, in the same church, the Swedenborgian Wayfarer's Chapel in Palos Verdes Estates, Calif. About 200 persons watched the ceremony.

Annexation Could Put Jax on Top

JACKSONVILLE—(AP)—Jacksonville could become the state's No. 1 city in 1960, from a population standpoint, if city limits are extended to include an estimated 147,000 persons in fringe areas.

Thomas W. McWhirter, regional supervisor for the Bureau of the Census, said the 1960 federal count is expected to show that Miami will have only 10,000 more than the 259,035 listed in a special 1955 census.

That would give Miami, now Florida's largest city, a population of roughly 270,000 persons. Miami's 1950 population was 249,276 on the basis of the federal census.

Jacksonville's population in 1950 was 204,517. The addition of 147,000 persons before the 1960 census would give Jacksonville more than 350,000 persons.

A proposed act to include 94 square miles and 147,000 persons in Jacksonville was submitted to the Duval County legislative delegation by the Downtown Council recently.

The four-man delegation, however, turned down the proposed measure.

There have been indications by several Duval legislators since that they would consider a bill providing for separate elections on annexation of smaller areas than that covered by the Downtown Council proposal.

Miami Boy Auto Crash Victim

A 16-year-old Miami youth pulled out to pass a string of cars in a drizzling rain near Orlando Sunday, and was killed when his car collided head-on with another.

Two passengers and the driver of the other auto were seriously injured.

Killed was George Warren Barnett III, of 7571 SW 36th St. The accident occurred on State Road 520, about 25 miles southeast of Orlando.

Injured passengers in Barnett's car were James Coates, 18, of 7580 SW 36th St., and Emil Max Reim, 18, of Galloway Rd., a neighbor of Barnett and Coates.

Barnett was a student at Southwest High School, along with Coates.

The driver of the other car, Phil Morris, 24, manager of a nursery, also was seriously injured. He told a state trooper a light drizzle was falling and he didnt' even see the other car until it struck.

Dag Ends Trip To 10 Countries

NEW YORK — (UPI) — United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold returned Sunday from a one-month tour of nine Asian countries and the Soviet Union and described his talks with such leaders as Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru as "extremely useful."

House Burns

Fire burned through two rooms of a rooming house at 2080 Biscayne Blvd. Sunday before it was brought under control. District Fire Chief R. E. Coxe said no one was injured, but that cause of the blaze was undetermined.

Capital Corner

Switch In Race Is Seen

By JOHN L. BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSE — State Sen. Verle Pope of St. Augustine will abandon the idea of running for governor in 1960 if his cousin, Doyle Carlton Jr., decides to make the race.

BOYLES

However-Pope, who is in the insurance and real estate business, may be a candidate for a Cabinet post — possibly State Treasurer — next year.

He indicated recently that friends had suggested he seek the office, if he doesn't try for the governorship.

Meanwhile State Treasurer and Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson is trying to beef up his position by pushing for strong legislative action on traffic safety measures in an effort to halt rising auto insurance rates through reduction of accidents.

Lobbies Grow

A RECORD number of lobbyists are expected to sweep down on the capital corridors when the Legislature convenes week after next.

Two years ago there were nearly 700 registered, representing varied interests and organizations. When the issues multiply, the legislative pitchmen increase. In 1955 only 436 were on hand.

Talk of stern economy measures, the continuing debate on the need for new segregation laws, central purchasing to tighten controls on government buying and reform procedures for purchasing printing, will spur lobbying activities.

Stamps Again

THE OLD HASSLE over retail trading stamps, one of the most lobbied issues ever to come before the Legislature, is expected to be revived.

And Gov. LeRoy Collins' proposal to abolish the practice of naturopathy will cause the nature doctors to call in their lobbying troops.

The catch in the proposal drafted by a group of printers at Orlando recently is that the industry would still largely control purchasing practices.

New Pattern?

THEY RECOMMENDED an advisory board of five members of the printing industry, appointed by the governor, to guide a central buying program for state printing.

This could result in all industries doing business with the state — asphalt contractors, concrete manufacturers, office equipment houses and others, asking for an advisory board in each field.

Picket Plea Is Rejected

Community Development Company's injunction suit against picketing of its new homes in Carol City was dismissed by Circuit Judge Vann for lack of state court jurisdiction.

Judge Vann found it is a federal court matter and there was no showing of violence in the Sunday picketing which was started March 15 by members of construction unions.

Defendants in the suit were Painters local 365, Plumbers and Pipefitters local 519, Electrical Workers local 349, Hod Carriers and Common Laborers locals 635 and 478 of which Bernard Rubin is business manager.

Rubin, mentioned in the Senate Rackets Committee hearing in Washington as the sender of Negro "home purchaser prospects" into Sunday model home crowds at Heftler's Carol City development, attended Friday's court hearing as a spectator.

21 Escape When Navy Plane Flips

No one was seriously hurt. One crewman received minor hand cuts.

A Navy spokesman said the big aircraft was making a normal landing approach despite a stiff crosswind. The right landing gear buckled when it touched down. The plane flipped on its side, burst into flames and skidded about 1,500 feet. The right wind and two engines were sheared away.

13, COUNT 'EM, 13 red-blooded South Dade youngsters 12 boys and one girl, display their unscrambled forms outside one 57.6-cubic-foot container belonging to the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company.

INSIDE, the hard way, this mob claims what must be a record for sardined occupants of an upright phone booth. Some Californians established a record of 32 occupants a few weeks ago. But they toppled their booth on its side first and entered the reclining cubicle from the top. Those who were in were only half in at best.

Case of Slain Deputies Closed

Probe of Haitian Plot Uncovers 'Old Stuff'

A $5,000 investigation into the part Dade County deputies played in last summer's unsuccessful plot to overthrow the Haitian government produced nothing but "old stuff," County Manager O. W. Campbell said Sunday.

"Just about everything in the report had come out before," said Campbell, who ordered the report.

The 200-page report was the fruit of a long investigation by former FBI Agent Charles Mathews into events leading up to the abortive attempt to topple the government of Haiti.

Two Dade deputies, Arthur Thomas Payne and Dany Jones, and another Miamian, Robert Hickey, were slain in street fighting in Port-au-Prince.

Following completion of the report, both federal and Metro authorities said they were closing the case because the reports contained nothing on which any prosecution could be based. The only real violations uncovered, they said, were by the men who were killed trying to storm the presidential palace in Port-au-Prince.

Mrs. John Roberts Dies; Mum Grower

Mrs. John W. Roberts, 76, a nationally known grower of chrysanthemums, died Sunday at James Archer Smith Hospital, Homestead. She had lived at Sandanoma Rd., Homestead, since coming to South Florida 11 years ago.

Mrs. Roberts was an organizer, charter member and officer of the National Chrysanthemum Society. A hybrid chrysanthemum, the "Edith Roberts," was named for her. She was a past president of the Redlands Neighborhood Club and was active in the Audubon Society.

Her late husband was an officer of the International Telephone and Telegraph Co. She is survived by two sons, a brother, a sister and four grandchildren. Services will be private.

Gen. Lassiter, who retired in 1931, commanded army troops in Hawaii in his last assignment.

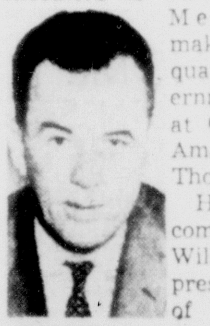
Virgin Islands Governor to Attend

Travel Agents to Convene in Nassau

By NED AITCHISON
Herald Travel Writer

Gov. John David Merwin of the U. S. Virgin Islands will be among honor guests at the spring meeting of the Southeastern chapter of the American Society of Travel Agents in Nassau, April 30-May 6, Robert T. Bellchambers of Miami, convention chairman reported Sunday.

The first native-born chief executive of the islands, Gov. Mervin, now makes his headquarters in Government House at Charlotte Amalie on St. Thomas.



MERWIN

He will accompany Arthur Wilson, chapter president, also of St. Thomas, to the Bahamas where he will be greeted by Sir Raynor Arthur, colonial governor of The Bahamas.

From 250 to 300 delegates and their wives are expected to attend the ASTA sessions in Nassau, Bellchambers said.

Included in the area are the states of Tennessee, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, Florida and South Carolina; Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the Panama Canal Zone.

"But, in addition," Bellchambers said, "we anticipate many ASTA members from New York, Canada, Mexico and the Mid-West also will be on hand."

All of the visiting travel agents, active and allied, who are members, too, of the travel and transportation fraternity, the Skal Club, have been invited to attend the annual installation dinner of Greater Miami Skalmen at the Eden Roc Hotel on the night of April 28.

Nassau headquarters for ASTA will be at the Emerald Beach hotel, with registration scheduled for April 30, Bellchambers said. Eastern Shipping Corp. will tender a buffet luncheon aboard the S.S. Yarmouth, and Stafford L. Sands, CBE, MHA, chairman of the Nassau Development Board, will be host at a cocktail party that evening at his home.

Business sessions will open Friday morning, May 1, with a joint meeting of allied and active members, and separate afternoon conferences of the two groups. In the evening, the Development Board will be host at a reception and dinner at the Emerald Beach.

Saturday, Skal Clubs of the Southeast will assemble for a luncheon, and from 2:30 to 5 p.m., the P. & O. Steamship Co. will be host at an open house aboard the S.S. Florida. At 6:30, the Bahamas Hotel Association will host a cocktail party and dinner at the Fort Montagu Beach Hotel.

Nassau member agencies, R. H. Curry & Co., Howard Johnson Tours, Nassau Tours and Playtours, are arranging transportation, sightseeing and other entertainment for the visitors.

To acquaint ASTA members with attractions on Outer Bahama Islands, one- to three-day post-convention tours are being provided for members and their wives to Grand Bahama, Andros and Eleuthera, with flights by Bahamas Air Lines to the Grand Bahama Club, French Leave and Rock Sound.

ASTA Chapters Plan Meetings

A second regional group of ASTA — the Mid - American chapter — will convene at the new Nassau Beach lodge April 16, and will be guests of the Bahamas Hotel Association April 18 at a dinner there, Denis S. Hickman announced. Prior to departing April 19, members will survey Nassau's facilities and attractions for tourists.

Pennsylvania chapter of ASTA will pay a visit to the Bahamas April 10-13.

BAD. SCHOOL AUTHORITIES understandably regret teen-age marriages. But we think that instead of deploring this situation, or paying no attention to it, school officials should take an intelligent look at the whole matter. Married students need high school more than ever. Often they especially need courses and counseling in marriage and family living. The married student should be regarded, not as a problem, but as an educational challenge.

2. No. Natural leaders are usually strong personalities, who have a far above average desire to dominate. But people don't like to be pushed around. A number of studies have shown that the most successful leader is the one who can wheedle, persuade, or otherwise exercise his dominance in ways that do not arouse antagonism. If all he knows how to do is to "crack the whip" he is likely to be unpopular and rejected.

3. False. The installment credit system can be a healthy one for this country and for you. But problems occur when people buy more than they can handle. Before you buy on credit, make sure you can meet the payments without wrecking your budget. Even more important, make sure that the item you're buying is worth the sacrifices you must make elsewhere to meet the payments.

YOUR GAS FREE FOR 1 FULL YEAR

WITH YOUR 1959 ENGLISH FORD

HERE'S HOW:

Since we began our "Free Gas Courtesy Card" Plan with the purchase of an ENGLISH FORD it has come to our attention that a great deal of misinformation has reached the public about how the plan works. We have therefore compiled the following list of questions that you might ask and we have answered each one in order to give you the true facts on the "Free Gas" Plan.

Charlie Grentner

Q. When and How do I receive the free gas?
A. You receive a Courtesy Card immediately which is good at over 200 stations in Dade County.
Q. How do you figure "1 Year's Supply?"
A. By using an average mileage of 10,000 and arriving at a total of 333 gallons.
Q. Do I pay any more for the car on the Free Gas Campaign?
A. No. All factory prices are the same at all dealers as required by the Federal Price labeling law.
Q. Must I buy any "EXTRAS?"
A. No.
Q. Does the Free Gas plan apply to all models?
A. Yes, there are no gimmicks or restrictions on this plan.
Q. May I choose my brand of gas?
A. Yes. You may choose any brand of regular gas and the station.
Q. Must I use all the Gas within one year?
A. No. If you do not use this much within a year your courtesy card is valid until all the gas has been used.
Q. Am I limited to a certain amount each week?
A. No. You may use as much or as little as you wish.

PAYMENTS AS LOW AS $9.75 PER WEEK

TUNED IN TO A TREASURE, Michael Lantz, 5, closes in on an Easter egg. Michael, who is blind, followed the noise of a tiny transistor radio hidden in the egg basket. He is being helped by Clara Jo Proudfoot, 7½ former Easter Seal poster girl. They were among the youngsters taking part in an egg hunt sponsored by Crippled Children's society in the gardens of Arthur Vining Davis.

Easter In Miami

Text By Betsy Buffington

Photos By John Walther

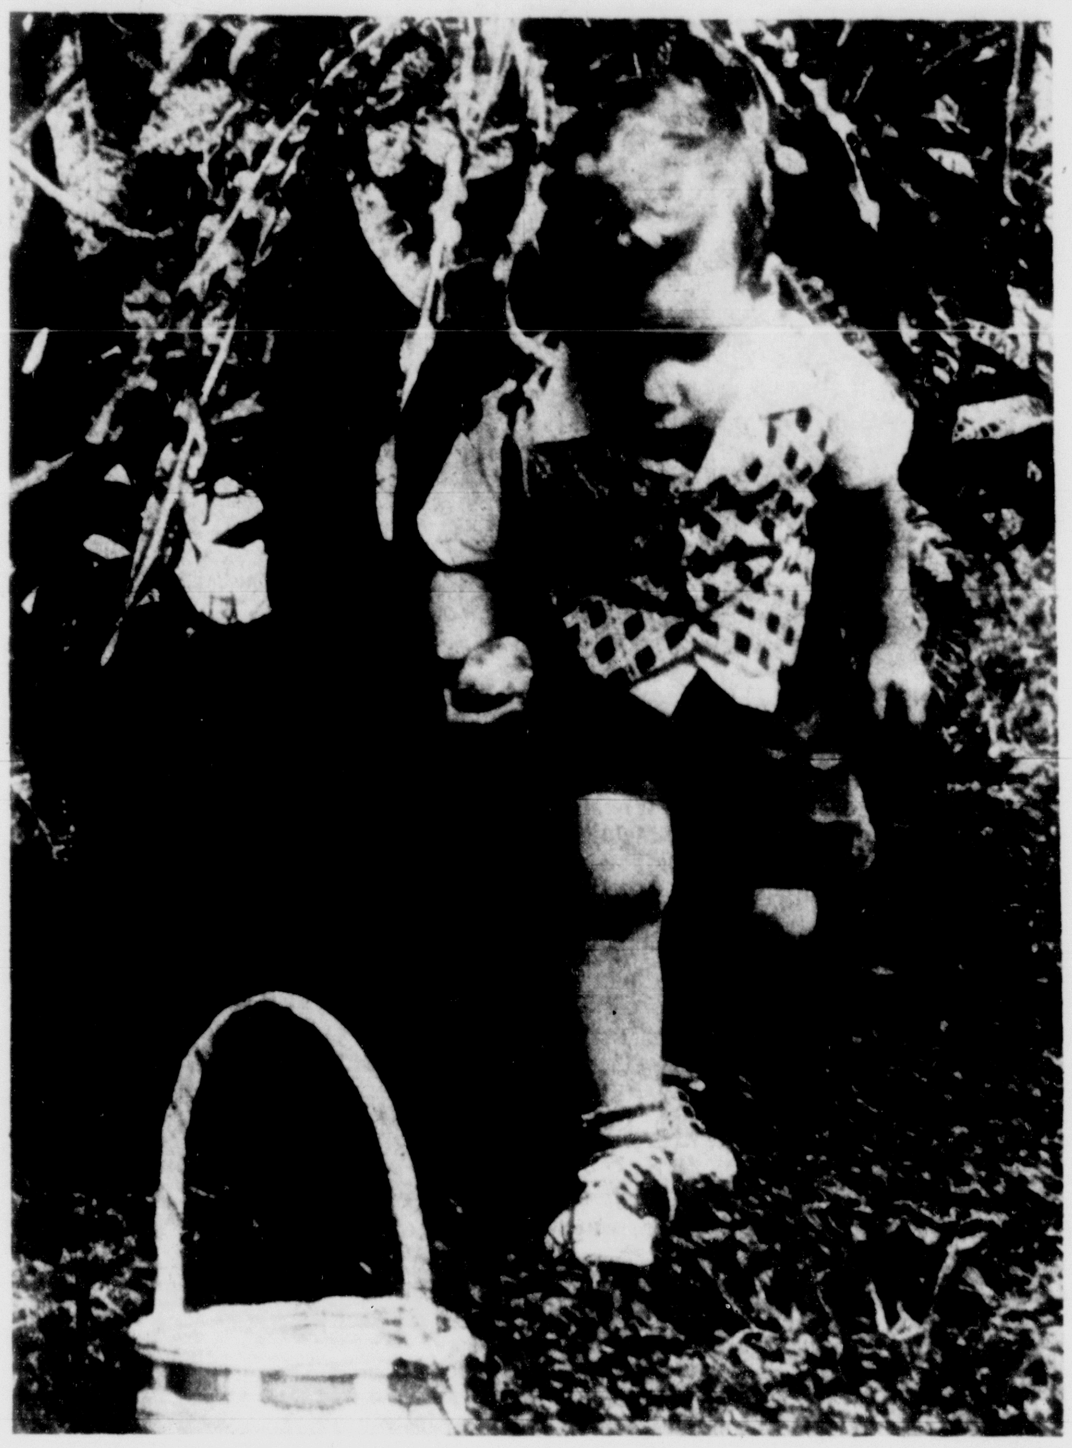
Topping off the Easter celebration for hundreds of Miamians, who attended church services in the morning, were the twin parade, an egg hunt for handicapped youngsters and the Easter Walk at Vizcaya.

With all the colorful hoop-la of a small town parade, Miami twins and triplets decked in Easter finery marched down Flagler, and up Biscayne. And they came in all ages and sizes from infancy to middle-age.

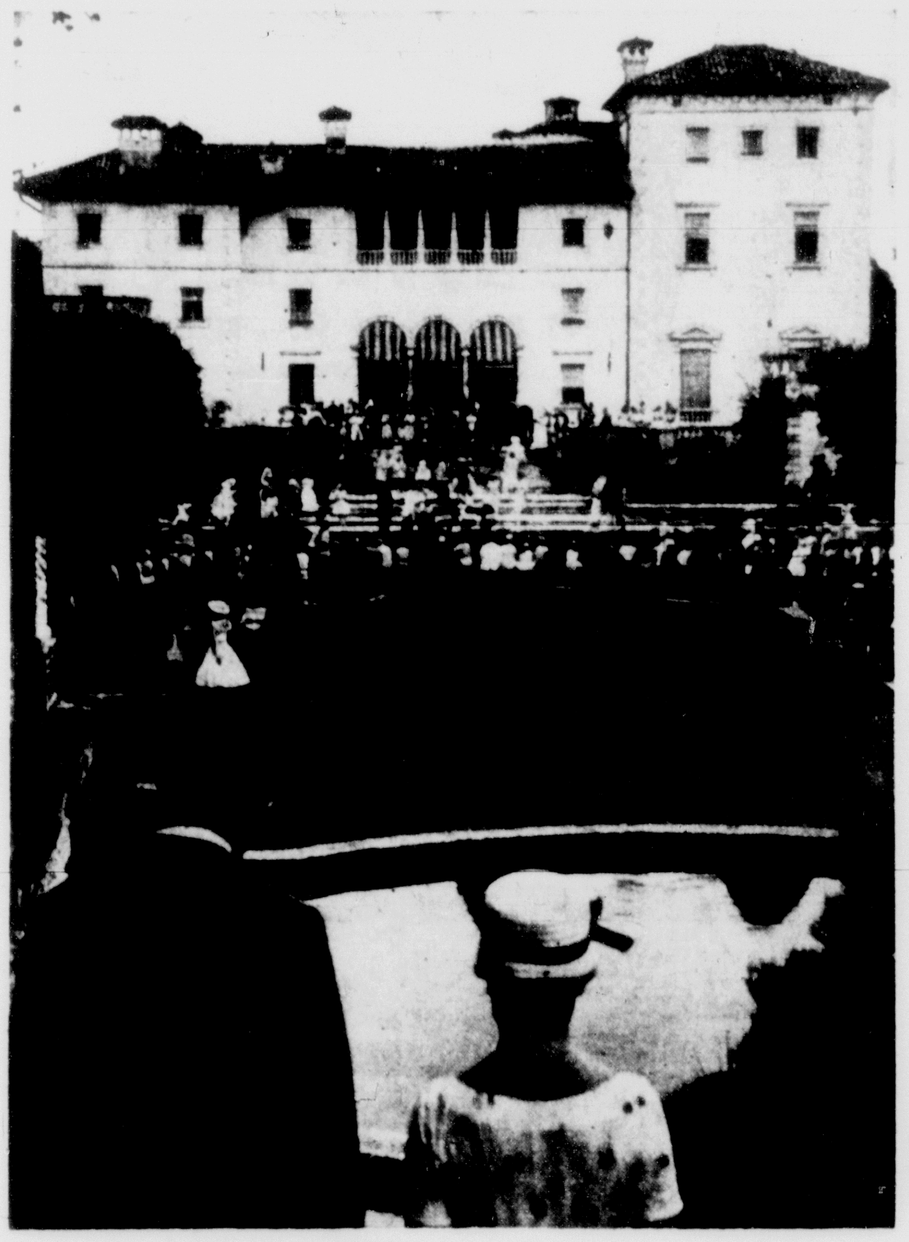
Blind and crippled youngsters were guests of Arthur Vining Davis at his South Miami mansion for a Crippled Children's Society egg hunt and party. Blind youngsters were guided to egg hiding places by transistor radio.

Fashion event of the day was the third annual Easter Walk in the beautiful formal gardens of Vizcaya. Hundreds of Miami women staked their Easter bonnets in competition for awards which were, appropriately, hats.

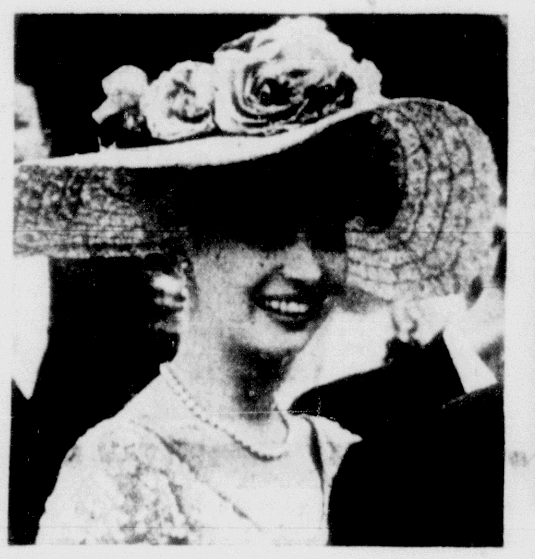
Professional models strolled down pathways displaying the latest spring fashions.



"I FOUND ONE!" says Dougie Kaizer, 2. He and 125 other children ferreted out 3,000 Easter eggs hidden all over Arthur Vining Davis's estate on Old Cutler Road. The smallfry also watched a puppet show, ate ice cream and clowned with a genial clown named Glumbo. This is the first time the Crippled Children's Society has sponsored the event. Chairman was Mrs. Comer Kimball.

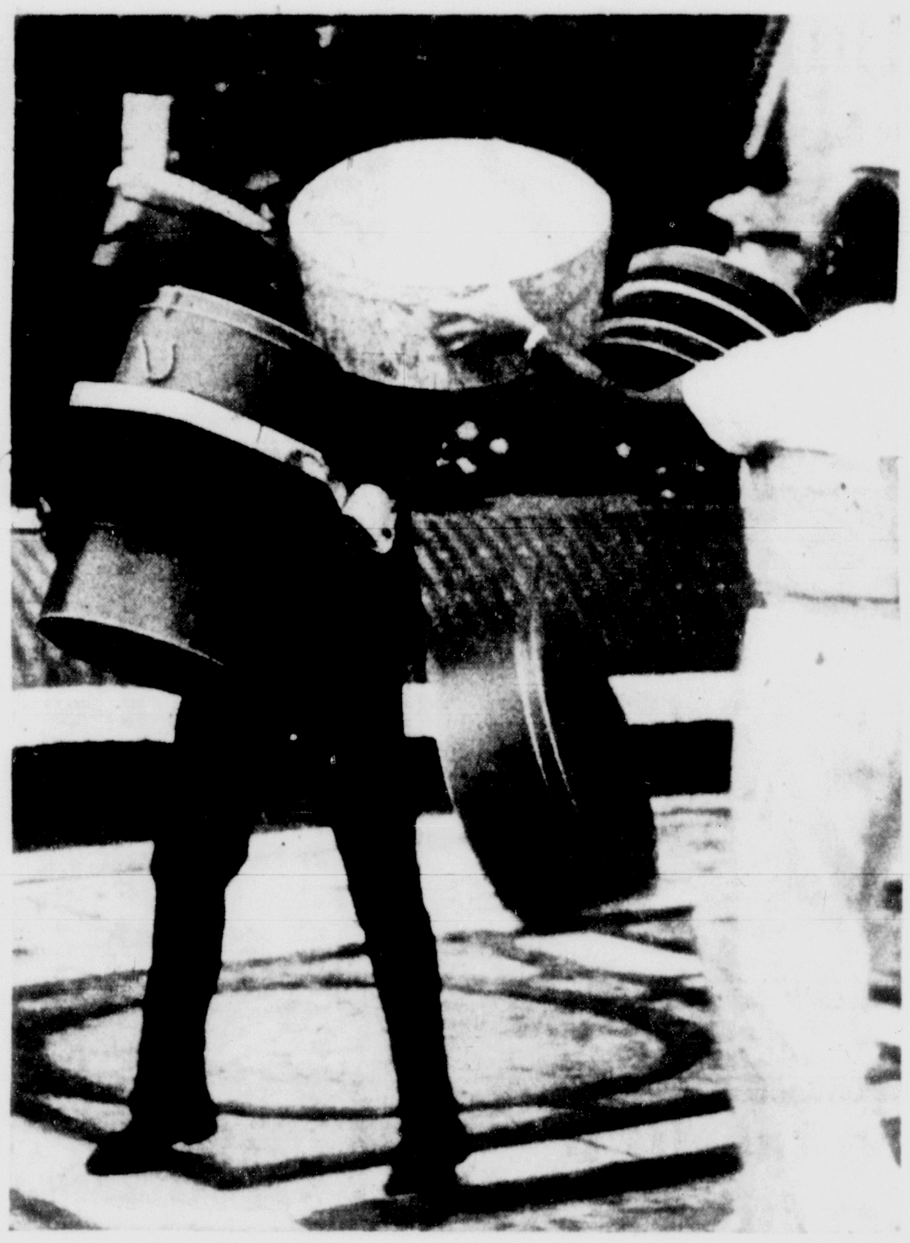


VIZCAYA'S FORMAL GARDENS were the setting for the annual Easter walk given by the Vizcayans, a group of Miamians interested in developing programs at Dade County's Art Museum. About 500 strolled through the gardens, watched a fashion show.



AWARD for "the most" hat went to Mrs. Joseph A. Garfield. Hat was beige trimmed in tan and burnt orange roses.

AWARDLESS but not hatless was this unidentified spectator at Vizcaya who struggled with the winds on a gusty afternoon.



OOPS . . . THAR THEY BLOW . . . Easter Walk chairman Jim Wills nearly lost the awards when a good gust of wind came whipping across Vizcaya's gardens. In a continentally tailored suit and Spanish matador's hat, Jim received a special commendation from the judges.

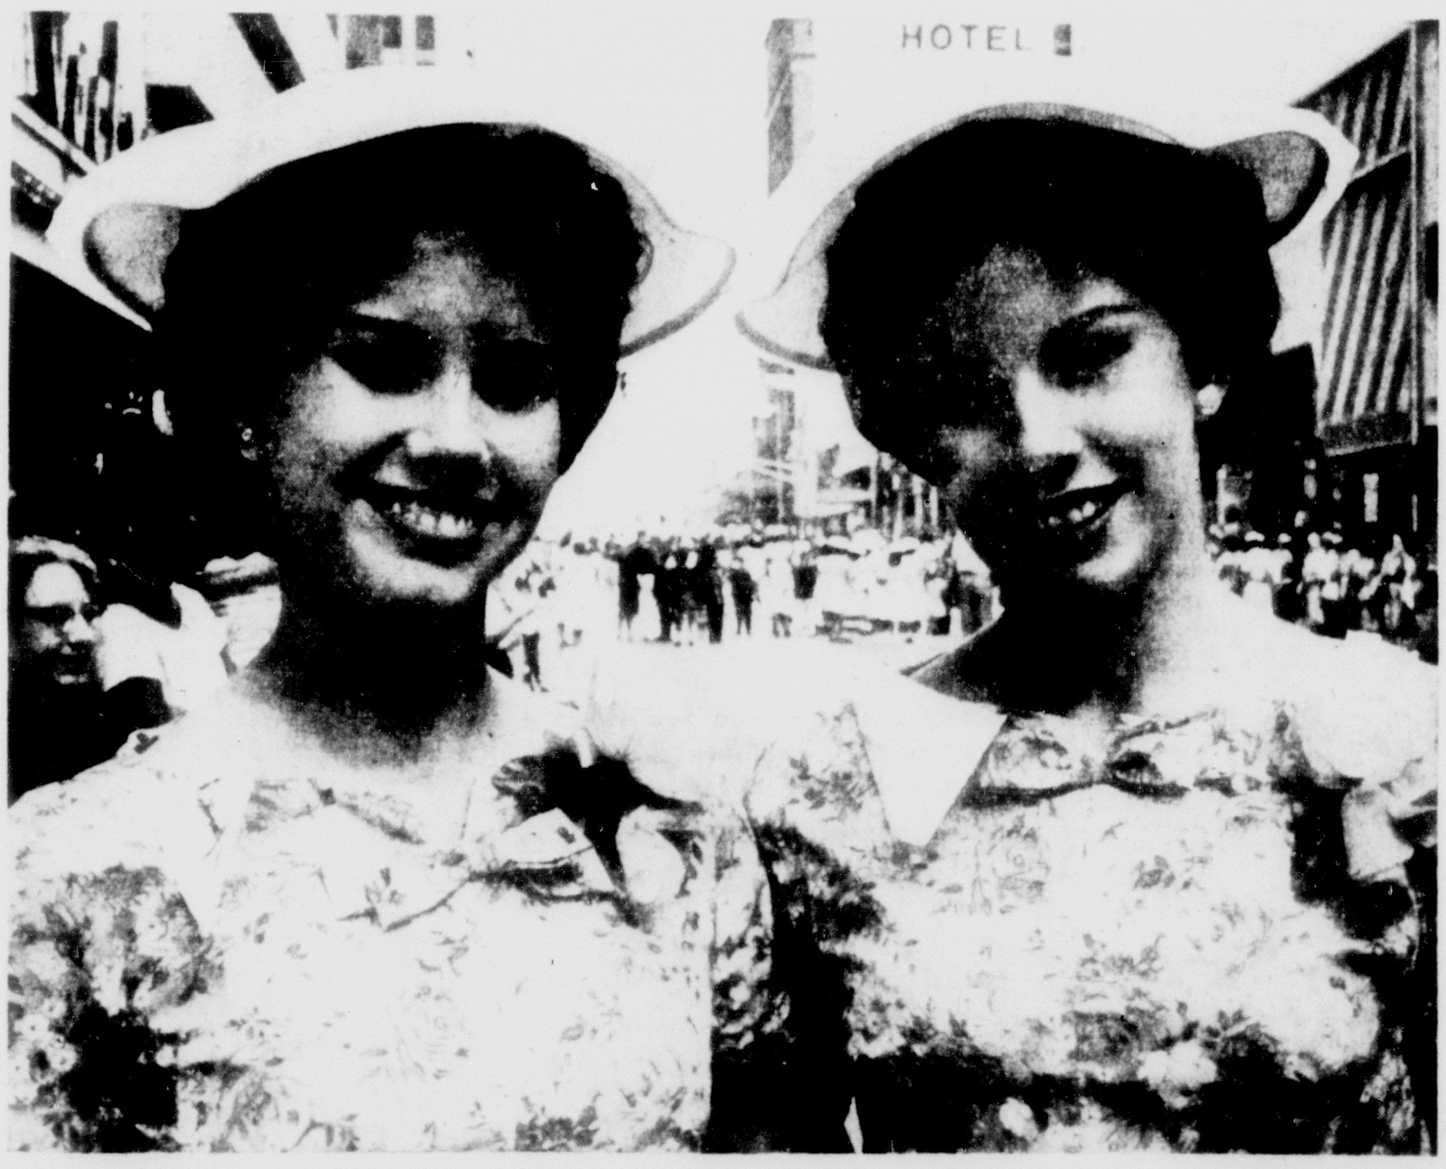
TWIN SPECTATORS at the twin parade down Flagler Street Easter afternoon were wide-eyed Mike and Scott Brandenberg, 4, and Carolyn and Marilyn Rives, 5. Hundreds of Miamians jamming sidewalks saw double and triple when youngsters paraded by. Drill teams and drum majorettes and floats made it a parade in the colorful Miami tradition.



TWIN WINNERS of the twin parade in the teen division were 16-year-old Lorraine and Elaine Sherman. Top honors also went to Janis and Bradford Horn, three-year-olds who sat astride bunny-headed rocking horses in a giant rolling Easter basket. Six-to-12-year-old winners, entered as 91-B, failed to return to identify themselves for honors.

There's plenty of work ahead for Mrs. Jack Bell, left, and Mrs. Edward Melniker—and for other members of the Variety Club Women's Committee. Mrs. Melniker was chairman and Mrs. Bell co-chairman of a tea Friday at the Barcelona Hotel. Tea 'kicked off' the Women's Committee of 1,000 fund-raising campaign.

Katharine Binns, Jerry Annis Wed

Best man was Cameron Stewart and the matron-of-honor was Midlred Belcher.

The bride is the daughter of the F. W. Boyd Allens of Tucson, Ariz. Educated in Scarsdale, N.Y., schools, Mrs. Annis has been a receptionist at the Coral Gables Country Club for the past six years.

His parents are Mrs. Herbert Bernhardt, 7690 SW 80th St., and J. C. Annis, 1033 Hardee Rd., Coral Gables.

Thomas-Brannen

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph R. Thomas are living at 313 Plover Ave., Miami Springs, following their recent wedding in Folkston, Ga.

The bride is the former Dorothy Anne Brannen, daughter of the H. S. Brannens, 240 Palmetto Dr., Miami Springs.

A graduate of Miami Edison High School, Mrs. Thomas attended the University of Miami where she belonged to Zeta Tau Alpha sorority. She also belongs to the Miami Junior Woman's Club.

Mr. Thomas' parents are Dr. and Mrs. J. E. Thomas of Nashville, Ark. A veteran of four years service in the Air Force, he attended Nashville schools, Northeast Oklahoma A & M Junior College and Southern State College.

Beautification Is Party's Aim

Golden Gate Garden Club is holding a benefit dance, "April in Paree" at 8 p.m. April 18 in the Elks Lodge at 887 E. Okeechobee Rd.

Purpose of the dance is to raise money to landscape Opalocka's recreation park and to provide yellow elder trees for Carol City and other northwest area residents under the club's beautification program.

The club is being helped on tickets sales by civic, garden and women's clubs and PTAs in the area. Mrs. Forrest Macurda is chairman and Mrs. Eugene Culotta is co-chairman

Fragrant Lilacs Decorated Table At Easter Coffee

By HELEN WELLS
Herald Society Editor

Easter's cup of joy was overflowing for the Dick Rutledges at their home in the Gables. For their son, Dick Jr., and his fiancee, Fleming Parker, came from Virginia to spend their holiday with them.

Fleming is a tall, slender and so-pretty brunette and is a senior at Sweet Briar. Dick is in his last year at University of Virginia graduate school of business.

Evelyn Rutledge admitted that she was going against her "bringing up" to plan a party during Holy Week. But on Saturday she had a coffee for Fleming at Riviera Country Club to introduce her to her friends and the young set.

Fleming was wearing a tailored champagne silk and white orchid corsage. Mrs. Rutledge was in pink linen, and a good looking pair they made standing together

Mrs. Rutledge, Miss Parker

At the outer hall Mrs. Warren Quillian and Mrs. Charles Carroll directed all comers to the lounge where the party was in progress. The long coffee table was the embodiment of spring itself with tall vases of fragrant white lilacs and yellow rosebuds, while on the terrace a huge bowl of colorful Easter eggs flanked the punch bowl.

There was many a mother-daughter combination at the coffee. Mrs. Harold Kendall came up from Goulds with her two pretty daughters, Susan and Martha.

Martha (Mrs. Reid) de Jarnette and her good looking daughter, Louise Taylor, who is visiting with her husband Dr. John C. Taylor and their family from Jacksonville, were taking turns at the coffee urns. Mrs. Taylor's 11-year-old daughter, Martha, in yellow organdy, came to the party. She is as pleasing to the eyes as her mama.

"Sister" (Mrs. Henry) Pruitt and her sister-in-law, Virginia (Mrs. Frank) Pruitt were in a group of young marrieds with Shirley (Mrs. Walter) Rogers.

Dr. Jean Perdue and her cute red-headed daughter, Jean, who poured punch, were there and so were Mrs. Albert Hinton, those two look-alikes, Liz (Mrs. Charles) Dann and Cotton (Mrs. Vass) Shepherd.

With Dorothy Wright was Jerry's mother, Mrs. R. B. Wright who is visiting them from Moultrie, Ga. Dorothy's blue dress was highlighted with a pink petal Easter bonnet. Hats of the day, beside Dorothy's were worn by Mrs. Cecil Sledd and Mrs. Ben Hendricks.

Margaret Sledd's was a medium sized pink straw, the brim smothered in pink flowers and worn with pink linen. Wessie Hendrick's was a saucy yellow sailor worn with yellow linen and yellow gloves.

Emery Flinn is Married

When Emery Flinn returned to Miami from Charlotte, N.C., on Friday he brought with him a bride. He and Beverly Hemby Haddock were married quietly in the home of her father in Charlotte with only their immediate families present.

The new Mrs. Flinn has been active in Junior League work in Charlotte and this is her second marriage. They are living at the Belle Isle Court Apartments.

It Will Be Fred's Day

Sportsman Fred Hooper doesn't know it but the turf race at Gulfstream Park on Wednesday will be named the Hooper Purse. You can be sure that Fred, Laura and their post deb daughter, Betty, who is home on spring vacation, will be in their box in the Turf Club.

One of the reasons for naming this race for Fred is that he built the turf course at Gulfstream. It was a mean job, says he, since he had to dredge 30 feet into the lake there to get coral rock on which to build the course.

Havana Is 'Fun as Ever'

Fun in Havana was on the date book for Mary and Al Sherman on their long weekend sojourn there. "Havana is just as gay and delightful as ever . . . at least on the surface," said Mrs. S.

Mrs. Sherman

With the Shermans went Mary's son, Bobby Matz and Al's boyhood friend, Ellis Dunn of Baltimore.

Alianza Ceremony is Sunday

Miss Alianza Interamericana, Queen of the Americas, will be crowned at the Coronation Ball of Alianza Interamericana on Sunday at the Dupont Plaza Hotel.

Mrs. Nestor Morales is chairman of the ball with Mrs. Charles Enterline, co-chairman. The ball is from 8 'till midnight with dress optional.

'Not All of Us Boys Go for Sexy Girls'

DEAR MRS. RICKER:

In one of your recent columns in our newspaper there was a letter submitted by a girl named Betty. She wanted to know if ALL boys go for the "sexy" type of girl.

Dorothy Ricker

I say, "NO!" I have dated many girls but the kind I take to nice places are the NICE girls—the kind I am proud to be seen with. A girl who dresses sexy usually gives herself a bad name.

I admit my eyes stray to the sexy type but I don't date them. If I were to take THAT kind of girl home to meet my parents, it would be the end of me seeing her, I can tell you that.

Please publish my letter for the benefit of the girls because I am positive there are many other boys who feel the same way I do. Thank you.

SPEEDY

Well, here's your letter and I hope my girl readers will profit by reading it.

Girls who obviously try to look, act and dress sexy may think they "have it made" with the boys, but your letter adds one more bit of proof they are wrong.

These girls may have a rush of popularity for a while but when it comes to marriage, many either will be left out in the cold or will have to settle for something far less than their 'dream' man.

Dorothy Ricker

Sexual attraction is a powerful factor in teenage boy-girl relationships. A clear understanding of sex is vitally important to both boys and girls. Send for Dorothy Ricker's new straight-from-the-shoulder booklet, "FACTS ABOUT 'LOVE'." Write to her in care of The Miami Herald, enclose 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A Cooky Sandwich

Make oatmeal sandwich cookies for after-school snacks by putting several semi-sweet chocolate pieces or shaved chocolate between two oatmeal cookies, bottom sides together. Place them on cooky sheet in moderate oven until chocolate melts.

Time To Plan

Dade County Council of Home Demonstration Clubs will plan its annual achievement day program and exhibit at a 10 a.m. meeting Thursday at Camp Owaissa Bauer near Homestead. Achievement day will be held April 28 and 29.

Finger Paint From Starch

Mix 6 tablespoons dry laundry starch with a little cold water. Slowly pour into 1 quart boiling water, stirring constantly until mixture thickens.

Add a drop of oil of cloves and stir well. Divide into small jars and tint the mixture with different food coloring or poster paint.

'I'm Feeling Fine,' Says John Madala

By REGRET
Herald Columnist

Winners' Circle

"I feel fine," said a smiling John Madala at Gulfstream Park Saturday, "but I'm still taking it easy."

The day at the races was the first outing for Mr. Madala since he was shot Jan. 30 by disgruntled tipster at Hialeah Race Track where he is director of security.

With Mr. and Mrs. Madala were Mr. and Mrs. Horace M. Wilson of Chicago, houseguests in the Madalas' Coral Gables home.

They looked like a couple of kids on a college vacation but they weren't. The young attractive James Cains, eagerly taking in the races Saturday, have been Mr. and Mrs. for a year, ever since Jim married "the girl next door" in Wilmette, Ill.

The Cains are down visiting his parents Mr. and Mrs. Byron Cain who winter in Fort Lauderdale. During the summer the elder Cains live in Lake Forest, Ill., where they keep their three jumpers.

If you cherish the idea that all high fashion models look like cadavers or insomniacs it's a shame you haven't met Mimi Byers. Tall? yes. Skinny? yes. Distinctive features? yes. But she complements it all with a deep tan, a brilliant smile and boundless school girl energy.

Miss Byers, wearing the most classic of pink linen sheaths, was at Gulfstream Saturday with her brother B. M. Byers of Pittsburgh. A Pittsburgh girl, too, she took an apartment in New York last fall after graduating from Briarcliffe Junior College and began her career as a model for Vogue magazine.

With brother and sister was Joseph Reed of Hobe Sound and Greenwich, Conn.

Jockey Ken Church, who was supended for 10 days on his birthday Tuesday, and his wife Nancy were on the other side of the rail Saturday. They were playing host to his parents Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Church of Windsor, Ont., and to his sister and her husband Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Fletcher who are also visiting them.

Use Peperoni Sauce For Zesty Spaghetti

By JEANNE VOLTZ
Herald Homemaking Editor

Daily Food Guide

Spaghetti with a good sauce is a sure-to-please dish with children, their dads and moms.

Peperoni, the zesty Italian sausage, and ground beef, too, go in the spaghetti sauce below. Oregano, an herb which has become popular in this country only since World War II, is one of the major seasonings.

Spaghetti is almost a meal alone, so other dishes are few and simple.

SPAGHETTI SUPPER

Spaghetti with Peperoni Sauce
Tossed Green Salad
Italian or Cuban Bread
Strawberries in Orange Juice

Spaghetti sauce is one of the best cook-ahead and reheat foods. It keeps a day or two in the refrigerator, several weeks in a home freezer.

SPAGHETTI WITH PEPERONI SAUCE

½	pound peperoni sausage
½	pound ground beef
1	1-pound, 12-ounce can tomatoes
1	7-ounce can tomato paste
1	cup water
2	tablespoons instant minced onion
2	teaspoons salt
1	teaspoon crumbled whole oregano leaves
1	teaspoon chili powder
½	teaspoon sugar
½	teaspoon garlic powder
2	tablespoons dried parsley flakes
1	8-ounce can sliced mushrooms
1	pound spaghetti, cooked
	Grated Parmesan cheese

Chop sausage fine and heat 5 minutes in a 9-inch skillet. Add ground beef and cook until browned. Add tomatoes, tomato paste, water, onion and salt. Simmer, uncovered, 20 minutes or until thickened. Stir in oregano, chili powder, sugar, garlic powder, parsley flakes and mushrooms. Cook 5 minutes longer. Serve over hot cooked spaghetti. Sprinkle with cheese. Makes 8 to 10 servings.

Memo for Men

WORD TO WIVES: Here's a good way to clean rugs when no vacuum cleaner is handy. Dampen sheets of paper toweling, tear them into small bits and scatter on the rugs. They will gather the dust as you sweep them up.

Eugenia's Portrait Is Unconventional

By GWEN HARRISON
Herald Columnist

The handsome man who lunches frequently in Gulfstream's Turf Club with thoroughbred race horse owner Eugenia Bankhead is Jamie Spillman . . . he's a portrait painter from Provincetown, Mass., currently painting Eugenia's portrait . . . he selected the gown she wears for the sittings . . . it's vivid green with a splash of purple velvet bow . . . unusually strong colors for a portrait he explains, "they're most expressive of Mrs. Bankhead's vibrant personality" . . . the portrait's pose is not conventional, either . . . it's a full-length back view, with an over-the-shoulder glimpse of the face! . . . gregarious Eugenia is planning a party soon for 50 of her friends in her Fort Lauderdale spot for a first showing of the finished painting . . . there'll also be another in New York later in the spring . . .

Dapper Willie Sweeny who attended Easter services in morning coat and striped trousers, as befits a male fashion-plate, says Pola Negri told him she may be back here for three weeks the end of April . . . Willie, despite his recent illness, squired Miss Negri to the races and to a number of parties while she was here . . . she went to San Antonio with her friend Margo West, owner of ranches, banks and oil wells in Texas . . . it's income tax time for bigwigs like Miss West, too, if that's any consolation . . . from there Miss Negri goes to Beverly Hills for a short visit and if she doesn't return here, she'll go back to her apartment in New York . . . no European trip for her this summer, quoth she . . . she feels there is "unrest" . . .

Cocktail and dinner party for 30 guests was given Sunday by Bernice (Mrs. Conrad P.) Hart, 1150 NE 87th St., for four visiting northern friends . . . they are Mr. and Mrs. George Gammel, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Metzloff, all from Buffalo, N.Y. . . .

Cooky Recipes Next

Recipes for drop cookies are wanted next in the series of Miami Herald recipe contests.

Send only tested recipes. Only one recipe from each contestant is eligible for a prize.

Recipes must be entered in the contestant's own name. Each entry must be signed. Write on one side of the paper only. Be sure address is given and date of entry.

Entries must be postmarked not later than April 9. Mail to the Homemaking Editor, The Miami Herald, Miami 30.

Prizes of $5, $3 and $2 in cash will be awarded for the three best recipes. The next 10 best will be given honorable mention awards of $1 each.

New Spray Helps End Mustiness

A new spray to check musty odors is on the market and will help Florida housewives fight one of their biggest dampness problems.

It's put out by the Houston company which recently put onto the market an anti-mildew crystal — the only moisture control product approved by the U.S. government and which is shipped to service supply centers overseas.

The new spray can be used on fabrics, carpeting, leather, tile and wood to keep your home smelling fresh.

It's recommended for use around baseboards in closets, between box spring and mattress, underneath cushions of overstuffed furniture, inside luggage and automobile trunks, as well as under cushions and in cabinets of boats.

Available at a local department store, the product comes in a 14-ounce spray can and is guaranteed to be non-toxic, non-allergic and stainless. It was tested for a year in Houston's humid climate before being put on the market.

Where To Buy?

Call FR 9-3826 after 9:30 a.m. today. After 24 hours, write to The Miami Herald Shopping Service, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

'I Want the Better Things in Life'

Column with a Heart

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I have been married 10 years to a man seven years younger. We have no kids, can't adopt any. We have a home, but little in common. Our religions are different.

My husband loves to drink and play cards. I do not care for either. I want the better things in life plus kids. I am no young chick, but most every one thinks I am years younger.

I am healthy . . . but such a mixed up life. I am precise, my husband the opposite. What can you advise?

CAN'T SEE FUTURE

What shall I say, or rather, what do you want me to say? Life isn't mixed up, only the people who live it.

The differences between you and your husband . . . age, termperament, religion . . . were probably all there 10 years ago, but obviously the passing years have magnified them.

Professional counseling would help you crystalize your thinking . . . just what are these "better things in life" you want?

Every man needs a goal, something concrete to strive for. Without it he lacks purpose. Family Service, 395 NW First St., is your community counseling agency and has people who can help you.

* * *

A. A.: I think your letter would be better directed to the Letters to the Editor column. However you must give your name and address, which will not be printed if you so request.

Thought For the Day

"Each is given a bag of tools,
  A shapeless mass,
A book of rules;
  And each must make,
Ere life is flown,
  A stumbling block
Or a stepping stone."
—R. L. SHARPE

Let Transplants Get Together

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

The feeling that southern hospitality is solely for southerners doesn't seem to change. I would like to see all the transplanted yankees get together, and after a few trial meetings of the women, plan a barbecue for the men at a place like Crandon Park.

Many of the things suggested for lonely people or newcomers do not appeal to all. Dances are for the young and vigorous, at least for the healthy. Older people are not aggressive enough to attend public affairs alone.

But pleasant visiting with people from your home state or city at a backyard-type barbecue, with lots of gay chatter, has appeal to almost any age.

We have been here almost 14 years, and I'd like to see this idea get going. Any suggestions?

TRANSPLANTED YANKEE

You live in a large community, so why not start with the transplants around you? A notice in your community newspaper, or church bulletin, for the initial meeting of feminine transplanted yankees, ought to bring lots of response.

'Mothers: Think For Yourselves'

DEAR ELEANOR HART:

I don't agree with M.B. If mothers would start thinking for themselves instead of letting child experts think for them, our teenagers wouldn't be in such a mess.

Don't kid yourself, mothers. Spanking is, always was and always will be the best method to bring about decent, well behaved children. If you can't raise them without a child expert telling you when and how to correct them, you shouldn't have children.

I am 23, have four children. They are the best behaved children in our neighborhood. I don't beat them, but I do spank. There's a lot of difference in the meaning of those two words.

My oldest makes good grades in school and they all love me very much.

BRUTE

Let's not forget to include love in your "foolproof" method . . . love and understanding. There's a lot of difference in the meaning of those words, too.

Eleanor Hart.

Musical 'Hit Parade' May Bow Out in April

By MILT FREUDENHEIM
Miami Herald-Chicago News Wire

NEW YORK — The musical Hit Parade, celebrating its 24th year of broadcasting April 20, may make this season its last. Its sponsor and owner will decide within a few days whether it shall continue.

The Hit Parade history — 15 years on radio, on television since 1950 — tells the story of the songs, sweet and silly, that have captured American heartstrings and pursestrings.

It all started in April, 1935, when one Gogo de Lys warbled "Soon" into a radio microphone.

THE MOST POPULAR songs of the week — dwindling in number over the years from 15 to 10 to 7 to four now — have been drawn from polls by Billboard magazine and other tabulations from juke boxes, sheet music and record sales.

The show has won at least 19 top broadcasting awards, including Peabody and "Emmy."

DOROTHY COLLINS

JOHNNY DESMOND

Irving Berlin's "White Christmas" is the all-time favorite. It led the popularity list 10 times, was on the list 36 times and returned to favor for 12 Decembers after its 1942 debut.

A 1951 ballad, "Too Young," holds a record for keeping first place 12 weeks. The same year "Because of You" was first for 11 weeks.

The first to score 10 weeks was "I Hear a Rhapsody" in 1941. Other steady first-place winners range in style from "Peg O' My Heart" (the 1947 Harmonicats revival) to "Some Enchanted Evening" (1947) from Rodgers and Hammerstein's "South Pacific."

ALMOST ANY TUNE a whistler or hummer can recall from the period has made the Hit Parade, along with many quite-forgotten gems.

Singers Dorothy Collins and Johnny Desmond are the latest of an impressive list of singing hosts on the show.

Dorothy was on for seven years, her husband, orchestra leader Raymond Scott for nine, until a 1957 shakeup. She returned this year.

Guests have included Noel Coward, Fred Astaire, Judy Garland, the Andrew sisters (remember their "Bei Mir Bist du Schoen" in 1938?) Dinah Shore, and many others.

The late W. C. Fields was featured for a time in a weekly comedy sketch.

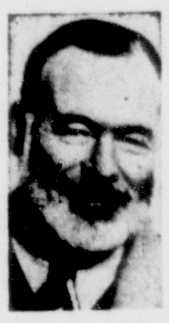
A pick the winners contest in 1936 and 1937 reportedly drew 68.5 million entries in 11 months. One week 3.5 million entries poured in.

Persons and Programs

Ernest Hemingway, after seeing CBS-TV's version of his "For Whom the Bell Tolls," called it the most adult play he's ever seen on TV.

He liked particularly Maria Schell and Steve Hill. And in one contemptuous shot referred to the movie version of his novel as: "Abercrombie and Fitch out of Helena Rubinstein."

Ted Mack's amateur hour will start as summer replacement for CBS-TV's Person to Person on July 3 . . . Julie Andrews has signed in for Jack Benny's second special for CBS-TV May 23.—She'll fly in from London where she's appearing in "My Fair Lady."



HEMINGWAY

JULIE

MACK

Robert Stephens who starred in Broadway's "Epitaph for George Dillon" has been added to the cast of the CBS-TV April 23 special, "The Browning Version," along with Cecil Parker.

It Also Won an Oscar

Film Daily Poll Names 'Bridge' As Best Film

NEW YORK — (UPI) — "The Bridge on the River Kwai," which won the Motion Picture Academy Award, Sunday night was named the best picture in 1958 in "Film Daily's" 36th annual list of the 10 top films.

"Bridge," the story of a British officer who was a prisoner of the Japanese in World War II, received 240 first place votes in a poll of motion picture critics, reviewers and commentators. Alec Guiness starred in the movie as the British officer.

"Cat on a Hot Tin Roof," starring Elizabeth Taylor, placed second in the poll with 221 votes.

The other top 10, in order of their standing, included: "Gigi," "Auntie Mame," "The Defiant Ones," "Witness For the Prosecution," "Separate Tables," "The Long Hot Summer," "The Young Lions," and "The Big Country."

It's a Continent

LONDON — (UP) — Moscow radio reports Soviet explorers have determined that Antarctica is a continuous continent and not just an ice-capped archipelago.

Your Horoscope

See Higher Ups

By CARROLL RIGHTER
Monday, March 30, 1959

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Take care in A.M. not to fly off to some worthless place or interest. Later in the day it would be wise to be especially good to higher ups and executives.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Don't fall for any seemingly ironclad get-rich scheme that one who seems to be a friend places before you. Save your money. There is an opportunity later to step out of dull-doldrum existence.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Be wise and let other persons realize you do understand their opinions and ideas. Be sure to meet all obligations to the letter. P.M. a system for economy can be set up by you.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Be particularly careful you do not have altercation with good fellow worker or labor in such a way that you do damage and incur expense. Be cooperative. FOR YOUR COPY of Carroll Righter's individual 16-page Forecast for April send your birth date and 50c in coin (no stamps) to Carroll Righter Forecast, Miami Herald, Box 1895, Grand Central Sta., N.Y. 17, N.Y.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Being in a mood to enjoy yourself no matter what, you could very easily spend far more than you can afford today. Get your work done first instead and then have fun economically.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) A.M. may bring arguments with family ties if you are not diplomatic. Later in the day you may have to meet the same test with outsiders. Retain perfect control though there may be real provocation.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) A.M. is fraught with danger while out driving or while conversing with partner. Be most careful and keep your head at all cost. Work diligently and with real system.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Be very careful before you jeopardize your holdings and financial security by what could be a wrong investment, or you will know the ire of governmental officials and associates.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Do not waste your time or energy telling other persons off today, but give attention to personal matters and appearance. Then take inventory of your financial standing.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) If you permit, a secret worry could stop you from continuing with the work of real merit you have started. Refrain from self-pity and carry through intelligently.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) A very honest and blunt person will today give you advice that is just what you need. Do not be offended by this, but profit from sage counsel and follow ideas.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to March 20) Bigwigs you contact this day are quite put out, so be the soul of diplomacy or make appointments for a later day. P.M. be very kind toward your intimates instead of endeavoring to kick up a fuss.

4 — AMERICA PAUSES FOR SPRINGTIME — Barry Wood, the former producer of Wide, Wide, World, uses the same hop, skip and shoot approach tonight. This is a spot pourri, going to 11 spots around the nation to get intriguing backgrounds for songs and dances. Some are filmed, some taped, some live, and we'll switch back and forth, which may prove a bit troublesome. But there are some fine individual things here. Burgess Meredith is host, and he'll be live. We'll see Marge and Gower Champion dancing in a San Francisco park, Genevieve singing in a Louisiana bayou; Robert Merrill singing on a ferryboat in New York harbor; some of the cast of "The Flower Drum Song;" and lots of other things. Note the relative lack of commercials, which, alas, won't set a trend.

Best Bet

7 — BUCKSKIN — Wife leaves blacksmith when he is ridiculed for attempting to invent a gasoline engine.

10 — TEXAS RANGERS — Bank robbers are trailed into the desert, where the rangers must deal with outlaws and elements as well.

10 — SHERLOCK HOLMES — Six nights, six pieces of candy, six dead beauties — each with three thistles beside them.

8:30

2 — STOCKS AND BONDS — Another lesson with Dave Williams in understanding the securities market.

4 — FATHER KNOWS BEST — Attempting to go steady with two girls at once, Bud finds, is all sorts trouble.

10 — BOLD JOURNEY — Waterspouts, moray elles and Spanish galleons are to be found in the waters of the West Indies. They are explored tonight by photographer Stan Waterman.

4 — DANNY THOMAS — Sheldon Leonard, show's producer - director, rarely gets the greasepaint on any more. When he does, it's a treat, because nobody can play a character quite like him. That's why tonight's story is worth viewing. Leonard is playing Danny's agent. Result: a couple of funny scenes of two temperamental characters in conflict.

7 — PETER GUNN — Helping police capture a criminal intent on murder, Peter learns his client is an escaped convict.

10 — VOICE OF MUSIC — Nineteen Cole Porter songs star on tonight's show, and they have four good voices to sing them. You'll meet them entering on big drums, and they are Anna Maria Alberghetti, Bill Hayes, Margaret Whiting and Stephen Douglass. Keep your eyes on those drums; each of the four becomes something else.

2 — OPUS TWO — Peggy and Robert Wallace offer an evening of piano favorites.

4 — ANN SOTHERN — The new hotel manager goes on a health kick to impress his new girl. Katy applies good old common sense and saves the day.

7 — TV PLAYHOUSE — A leaf is taken out of the book of the Circle Theatre and we go to truth tonight. They're telling the "Obenauf Story," which sounds like a German concentration camp horror, but isn't. It's the story of Air Force Lt. James Obenauf who flew a crippled bomber to a safe landing despite all manner of hardships. Kerwin Mathews stars as Obenauf, who deserved the medal he got.

10 — HOUR OF STARS — When auto races are televised over a national hookup, members of a gang spot a man whom they have been hunting for months.

2 — LANGUAGE IN ACTION — Puppets demonstrate how the language of advertising can influence the public.

Stephen A. Mitchell
. . . anti-political boss

Amateurs Get Say In Politics

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Neighborhood political clubs are emerging as a vital force in both major parties. They are forcing professional politicians to give hundreds of volunteers a voice in party affairs.

So writes Stephen A. Mitchell, Chicago lawyer who was chairman of the Democratic National Committee during the first presidential campaign of Adlai E. Stevenson in 1952.

Mitchell brought out a book Sunday called "Elm Street Politics." It got its title from a political club Mitchell helped to organize last year in Chicago to encourage more people to take an active part in politics.

In this way, Mitchell says, he hopes to dilute the influence of the old style political boss wherever it might remain and to return political power to the neighborhoods.

More than 75 such clubs were operating in Illinois in 1958. Similar groups in both parties have been active in California, New York and other states.

"The trouble with politics is that it's too much a spectator's sport," Mitchell says.

"To make matters worse, the rival parties make it hard for the spectators to get on the political playing fields.

"These barriers must go down to let more citizens have a part in the political party of their choice."

Mitchell predicts political clubs are here to stay and will be a vital force in both parties as political action speeds up in 1959 and 1960.

"They can readily play a sensational part in rejuvenation of the Republican Party just as they are already strengthening and broadening the Democratic Party," he says.

Leonard W. Hall, Republican national chairman during part of the time Mitchell headed the Democratic organization, says in a forword to the book, that it should be acclaimed by both parties and every citizen interested in good government.

Teeth Will Gnash in Kansas

39 'Mothers of Year' Find It Ain't So

NEW YORK —(AP)— A red-faced and apologetic American Mothers Committee acknowledged bravely Sunday that 39 mothers had been mistakenly notified of their selection as Kansas mother of the year. A clerical error was blamed.

Two of those erroneously informed already have come forward. The committee uneasily awaited word from others.

The selection of the Kansas mother actually will be made today in Wichita.

Mrs. Aileen Fogarty, national director of the American Mothers Committee, which selects the national mother of the year from state winners, said the mixup was caused by volunteers who helped with the organization's mailing.

The volunteers were mailing letters to members whose names were contained on an alphabetical list of states. Apparently all the wrong letters were confined to Kansas.

"At least I hope it's only Kansas," exclaimed Mrs. Fogarty. She had rushed in to take some of the pressure off Mrs. Daniel A. Poling, national chairman of the committee, who had been deluged with queries resulting from the error.

"We'll lose our Kansas chairman unless she's a dear," Mrs. Fogarty lamented.

She seemed to be reading the mind of the Kansas chairman, Mrs. John Selfridge of Wichita, who announced she was going to be away from home to escape telephone calls.

The error became known after Mrs. Nellie Krueger of the little northern Kansas community of Washington announced receipt of a letter telling her she was the Kansas mother of the year. The town's weekly newspaper published the story Thursday, and a Topeka paper picked it up.

A much confused Kansas selection committee checked hastily with headquarters in New York and learned of the error—but not its magnitude.

Then Saturday night, a second Kansas woman, Mrs. Fred Gould of Arkansas City, announced receipt of an identical letter. That prompted another check with national headquarters and the whole story came out.

Javits to Renew Fight on Secrecy

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R., N.Y.) said Sunday that at the next meeting of Republican senators he will raise anew the question of disclosing each senator's pay roll.

"As far as I am concerned, I think it is a good thing to do," Javits said.

The issue, spotlighted by recent publicity about relatives on the payrolls of Congress members, was discussed by Republican senators at a meeting before Congress took an Easter recess, but no action was taken.

The pay received by each employe of House members is a matter of public record. The Senate does not disclose this information, although individual senators are free to do so if they wish.

LIFE WITH LARRY THOMPSON

Bi-Lingual Elevators

MY FRIEND, W. L. Willcox, who works for the Otis Elevator people, called and told me to be sure to ride the new elevators in the Pan American Bank Building. He said I'd be in for a surprise.

I didn't see how any elevator could surprise me, unless it went sideways or zoomed through the top floor and turned into a helicopter, but I dutifully went to the bank building.

These are automatic elevators, such as I have seen before, and they have built-in voices, such as I have heard before.

But these were bi-lingual elevators, and that was new to me. One of these elevators can carry on a conversation with itself.

When you step in, a voice announces: "Please touch button for your floor and step back."

Before I had a chance to do that, another voice came on, saying something I couldn't understand. I later found that this was the same message, in Spanish.

At our first stop, the English voice announced: "Second floor." Then the Spanish voice said: "Send one pizza." I assumed that the announcer was ordering a snack. (He may have been saying, "Segundo Piso" which is Spanish for "Second floor").

At the next stop, the American dispatcher said: "Third floor." And the Spanish fellow said: "Ten-cent pizza." Apparently he was haggling with the store about the price of his snack, or he may have been trying to order a very small pizza.

I don't know where you can get even a small pizza for a dime, but maybe this fellow had connections. (Of course he may have been saying "Tercer Piso" but that's not how it sounded to me.)

This sort of thing went on all the way to the top floor, where the English voice said we were "Going down" and the Spanish voice said "Abajo" which sounded as if he was about to sing the Witch Doctor song.

In any event, I think they've now reached the ultimate in elevator service, unless they invent an elevator that can do the cha cha.

NOW ABOUT THAT QUESTION on how Cocoa, Fla., got its name, we've received explanations from several sources.

Earl A. McFarland, Eau Gallie, sent a column from The Cocoa Tribune, written by Johnny Pound; Mrs. R. Ricketts, 514 SW 14th Ave., mailed a clipping from Woman's Day magazine; Mrs. Gus C. Edwards, Cocoa, sent an article, and Mayo Hill, executive secretary of the Greater Cocoa Chamber of Commerce, forwarded a short history compiled by the chamber.

All agree that when the new settlement wanted a post office in 1882, as Indian River City, the postal authorities said that name was too long for a postmark. A bunch of men were in the town's general store when word of this decision was received.

In the lively discussion that followed, one fellow noticed a box of Baker's Cocoa just brought in by freight. On one end of the wooden box was stamped "Cocoa."

"How about that?" he asked. "That ought to be short enough to suit them."

At which they took the board off the box and nailed it to the front of the store. And that's how Cocoa became Cocoa, even if there are no cocoa beans in the neighborhood.

Incidentally, the post office department no longer objects to the length of Indian River City. There's a community by that name about 16 miles north of Cocoa and it has a post office.

SIMILAR SUBJECT: Mr. McFarland says that bananas as well as pineapples were at one time grown on Merritt Island, between the Banana and Indian rivers, until some long past hurricane sufficiently salted the land to discourage the growers.

And Dan Brown, of the Herald's Cocoa bureau, says that there still are wild bananas growing along the Banana River.

Any more questions? Class dismissed.

Jack Kofoed Says

Some Things Annoy Men Tremendously

PEOPLE ARE funny. What pleases one annoys another. What one does quite casually seems inexplicable to his neighbor.

Note the case of Dr. Theodore Lazarson, a British scientist. Noise, even a little, distracts him, and every effort has been made to protect this genius from sounds which jangle his nerves. Recently his maid decided to spend her day off in the house, grinding pleasant sounds out of a record player.

Dr. Lazarson flipped his lid and gave her a merciless beating. Modern music was anathema to his ears. Unable to control himself, he tried to settle the problem with his knuckles.

As a contrast, let us consider Joe E. Lewis. To this king of the night clubs, silence is devastating. He is used to noise, plenty of it. If you've ever been in the gambling room of El Rancho Vegas you'll get an idea of what I mean.

It burbles and rackets with sounds. Joe E. loves that, as he loves the roar of the crowd at a race track. What would have driven Dr. Lazarson stark, raving mad is the breath of life to Mr. Lewis. Conversely, quiet, which the scientist finds essential, would give the comedian a severe case of jitters.

Lewis can't understand Lazarson, Lazarson can't understand Lewis, and no country seems able to understand emotions and reactions which dominate the actions of other lands.

MAJ. PETER Deriabin had been an important man in Okhranka. That is to say, he was security policeman, a spy, an informer on his fellow workers; in other words, a no-good louse.

One day, feeling the hot breath of trouble on his own neck, Deriabin sought asylum from the United States. The Okhrana is a pretty miserable outfit, so you can figure out what Deriabin is.

Yet, we listen to him eagerly when he recites little scandals, like Joe Stalin's son, Vassily, is an alcoholic who associates with prostitutes.

Maybe that's true. Who cares? I wouldn't trust a guy like Deriabin . . . a man who double-crossed his comrades and then his country. As a matter of fact, I'd give him back to Khrushchev. They deserve each other,

COL. GEORGE Grivas, lean, mustached leader of the EOKA during years of bitter revolt in Cyprus, came down from the hills when peace was made. The British had called Grivas a murderer, and put a price on his head. The Greeks made him a lieutenant-general. No one seemed to remember that under his leadership hundreds of civilians . . . men and women . . . were slaughtered. Had the Greek Cypriots lost their struggle for independence, Grivas would have been hanged. Because they won, he is a hero. I wonder if the colonel ever thinks of young housewives, dead in the gutter, their dresses stained with blood? Maybe he's proud that EOKA was tough enough to shoot women in the back.

AVA GARDNER was once one of the most beautiful and popular of movie stars. She isn't as young as she used to be, and the bloom of romance has withered on many of her affairs. It won't be long . . . the way the years flick by . . . before her acting career is over. Miss Gardner apparently doesn't realize it. Going to Australia to make a picture, she was greeted by reporters, photographers and hundreds of fans.

Miss Gardner didn't want to be annoyed. She threw a glass of champagne into a lensman's face, refused to talk with newspapermen and ignored the calls of an adoring mob.

Neither fans nor the press adore her any more.

When she is ignored, Ava may begin to understand that courtesy and good manners are not entirely out of place, even in a beautiful woman who still gets star billing.

MISS LIBBY Jones, B.A., is a strip teaser currently working at the Clover Club. This is a bald statement of fact, which does not do Miss Jones the credit she deserves.

I always had thought her business a pretty poor one, but Libby, who is as intelligent as she is beautiful, has elected to put me straight. As a matter of fact, the doll has been doing this educational stint through luncheon talks to civic clubs for quite some time.

There are nearly 7,000 strippers in the United States, with a salary spread of from $75 a week for the unintelligent and uninspired, to the Top Ten, who earn from $750 to $2,000.

Miss Libby Jones, B.A., rates fourth in the list of money earners, and expects to be number one in the not distant future.

I never had given a thought to the possibility that the strips could further their careers through education, but Miss Jones proves me wrong. Her study of psychology enables her to better judge how to please guzzlers at the late, late shows. Audiences fall into several blocs, high, low, morons, inexperienced, sophisticated. Classifying them properly enables a girl to slant her work to their attitudes. A formal education also helps in costuming, arguing salary, getting publicity, and in various other ways.

All the time I thought the only thing a girl in that business had to do was take 'em off. No wonder Miss Libby Jones is doing so well. She has figured the angles better than anybody since the salad days of Gypsy Rose Lee.

Nasser Orders Red Apparatus

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia — (AP) — President Gamal Abdel Nasser's United Arab Republic is to get some more Communist-made radio equipment. The CTK News Agency announced a Czechoslovak company which has done work previously in Egypt is supplying two transmitters for the U.A.R. Voice of Arabs network this year.

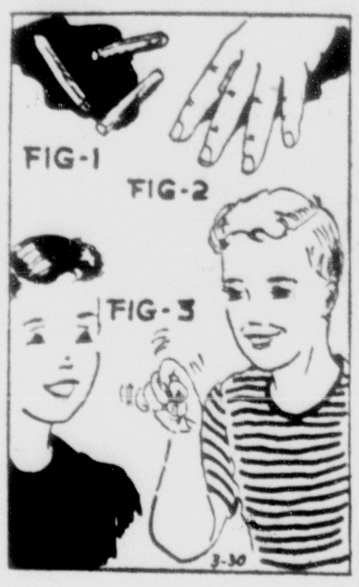
Magic Rattling Sticks Confuse Your Friends

By CAPPY DICK

Hobby Club



FOR A BIT of magic which can easily be performed on a moment's notice, you can quickly learn a trick called "The Rattling Sticks." The effect is puzzling to any spectator.

You must have three small, wood sticks (Figure 1) which you can carry in your pocket. Place them on the table and ask a friend to pick each one and shake it close to his ear to see if it makes a noise as he does so. As he shakes each stick, he is sure to deny that he hears any noise coming from it.

However, the effect is different when you yourself pick up each stick and shake it because it will produce a distinct rattling sound (Figure 3) loud enough for your friend to hear.

This will mystify him and he probably will want to try shaking the sticks again. But try as he will, he cannot cause them to produce a sound.

THE SECRET, of course, is simple, as in all magic. You can make the sticks seem to rattle because hidden between the first and second fingers of your hand, as in Figure 2, is a small druggist's capsule into which you have put a B-B. As you shake each stick you also cause the B-B to move about in the capsule snugly tucked between your fingers.

Carry the capsule in your pocket with the three sticks. While your friend is testing the sticks to see if they rattle, use the opportunity to slip your hand into your pocket and hide the capsule between your fingers.

Easter's Hope Is 'Noble Life'

By United Press International

Christians around the world rejoiced, meditated and paraded Easter Sunday, amid different scenes and different climes but with same hope: a nobler life for all mankind.

They came once again to those spring-basked hills of Jerusalem to hail the resurrection of their Saviour almost 2,000 years ago—the most glorious chapter in history's most oft-told tale.

New York's famed Easter Parade was chilled a bit by temperatures in the 20s. The cold knocked out the traditional flower display at Rockefeller Center, killing the display of 750 lilies, 150 yellow tulips and 350 yellow chrysanthemums—the first time in 25 years the show hasn't gone on.

Cold and rain cut into attendance at outdoor services in the Southwest and East but 20,000 persons filled Hollywood bowl in a clear Easter dawn.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower attended services at the Gettysburg Presbyterian Church near their farm. Mrs. Eisenhower, like millions of other ladies, sported new spring finery.

In Rome, Pope John XXIII said mass in St. Peter's Basilica and prayed international leaders would end their discord "in the superior interest of peace in the world."

The pontiff then went outside and gave an Easter blessing to more than 10,000 persons gathered in St. Peter's square.

At the Hollywood Bowl, Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson said the greatest events of history are those which affect the greatest number of persons for the longest periods of time.

"By this standard, no event

Nixons, 35,000 Brave Gray To Attend Sunrise Services

Easter in pictures, 1D

By ADON TAFT
Herald Religion Editor

Florida's famed sun missed Miami's Easter sunrise services and so did many of the usual worshipers as showers marred the first observances of the holy day.

But Vice President Richard Nixon and his family and nearly 35,000 others took a chance on the weather to hear and see the time-honored message of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ preached and portrayed in pageant in God's magnificent chapel of the out-of-doors.

The Nixons were in a standing-room only crowd of 1,300 at the service in Crandon Park on Key Biscayne, where it sprinkled briefly just before activities began but was dry throughout the program.

A later victory by the sun promised faithfully by the weatherman, encouraged nearly 300,000 worshipers to crowd the churches of the area throughout the day.

The biggest crowd — 25,000 — was at the traditional pageant in the Orange Bowl. The rains of the night and the still threatening clouds at the starting time of 5:25 a.m. caused nearly 10,000 of those worshipers to waver in their decision to attend until they were late in arriving.

It never did rain on the bowl pageant, but a few drops fell just as they were taking Christ down from the cross in the drama and sent most of the viewers scurrying for cover under the overhang of the upper deck. The noise and confusion nearly ruined the effect of the resurrection scene climax.

Yet in many ways the eight-scene production sponsored by the Greater Miami Ministerial Association and the Greater Miami Council of Churches was the most effective in the long history of the event.

Beginning as it did nearly an hour before sunrise, the pageant was made more dramatic by the use of very skillfull lighting which helped keep the action moving and the crowd's attention on the scene in progress.

The stadium lights had just been blacked out to signal the start of the play when suddenly the top of the stage at the west end zone lit up, silhouetting three crosses — the center one red — against the dark sky.

"Above His head were written the words: Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews," came the voice of the Rev. Neil Wyrick, narrator, author and director of the pageant. "The blood ran red from the bite of the mocking crown of thorns. Their shadows silhouetted against the sky, the indifferent, the seekers of thrill, the soldiers with a job to do, Mary his mother with a broken heart, Mary Magdalene with a life now made clean — they all stood and watched the Son of God prepared to die.

"But before this crucifixion could become a reality, it was necessary that His teachings fall on deaf ears and hardened hearts. For three years now — before this infamous deed he had spoken to men and these were His words:

"'I am the living bread which cometh down from heaven, if any man eat of this bread he shall live forever; and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.'

"'I and the Father am one,

Kefauver Sounds Call:

'Consumers Unite, Fight Inflation'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.) said Sunday the "forgotten" American consumer must rise up in protest if the inflation plaguing the U.S. is ever to be halted.

KEFAUVER

He said a cabinet-level Department of Consumers which he proposed recently was the best way for "lonely" consumers to make their voices heard above the "strident clamor" of special interests.

Kefauver, chairman of the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee, said on a television program that the department would bring the voices of unorganized groups to bear on government activities that might tend to hurt the consumer's dollar.

Three California congressmen took differing views on inflation in a broadcast aired in their home state.

Rep. Edgar W. Heistand (R., Calif.), a member of the House Banking Committee, said the main cause of inflation was government spending, especially deficit spending.

Freshman Rep. Gordon A. Kasem (D., Calif.) said inflation was something to be concerned about but was "not anything that should be raised as a perpetual and constant bogey man to justify inactivity when there should be activity."

Rep. Charles M. Teague (R., Calif.) said if the country demanded "rather costly programs" then Congress should "have the courage to raise taxes to put ourselves on a pay as you go basis."

Plane Crash Kills 23

CALCUTTA—(AP)—A DC3 airliner crashed Sunday near Kailakandi in Assam state. The Indian Airlines Corp. said 19 passengers and four crew members were killed.

The plane left Calcutta Sunday morning for Kailakandi and crashed on a tea estate only a few minutes before it was due to reach its destination.

The airlines corporation, India's nationalized domestic air company, said the victims included five infants.

Dag Ends Trip To 10 Countries

NEW YORK — (UPI) — United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold returned Sunday from a one-month tour of nine Asian countries and the Soviet Union and described his talks with such leaders as Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru as "extremely useful."

But Hammarskjold declined to reveal anything specific about his meeting at a Black Sea resort with Khrushchev. "Private talks are private," he said.

Strongest Metal Yet: 'Iron Whiskers'

Then try to imagine that a tiny whisker of iron one-tenth the diameter of that hair can be the strongest thing in the world.

"It's true," says Dr. Donald S. Clark, "but we can't 'grow' anything bigger than whiskers — and we don't know why."

Whiskers of iron up to half an inch in length have been grown in laboratories, Dr. Clark says, by vaporizing the metal with 2,500 degrees of heat, then letting it condense.

As it cools down, the iron forms into tiny strands that somehow fail to have the imperfections that weaken metal produced by conventional methods.

"If we could produce a bar of iron one inch square with the same basic strength as these iron whiskers, such a bar would withstand the weight of about 900 tons and would be about six times as strong as the best steel," Dr. Clark said in an interview prior to his appearance on California Institute of Technology's "Next 100 Years" television program. Clark is professor of mechanical engineering at the school.

Wants Ban on Aid to Aggressors

Soviet Asks Pact By East and West

Old Stuff, Say U.S. Officials

Proposal Comes One Eve of Meet

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Soviet Union proposed Sunday that the NATO and Warsaw Pact countries sign a nonaggression pact and revise their existing treaties to assure no aid be given an aggressor.

The proposal was contained in a 3,000-word statement carried by the official Soviet news agency Tass in advance of the NATO Council meeting in Washington opening on Tuesday.

It noted that NATO celebrates its 10th anniversary on April 4.

Moscow also asked the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council to endorse long-standing Communist proposals in Europe, including a disengagement of East-West military forces.

The Tass statement declared NATO had proved it was an aggressive pact and not defensive, and had failed of its avowed purpose.

"Not one member of NATO can say it now has more security than it had before the creation of this bloc," the statement said.

(In Washington, U.S. officials said they saw nothing new in the Moscow statement.

(State Department Press Officer Francis W. Tully Jr. said: "there is nothing new in it. They have said these things many times before."

(He declined further comment pending receipt of the text of a Soviet government statement distributed by Tass.)

The statement repeated the offer of the Soviet Union to discuss at a summit meeting arms limitation, an end to nuclear tests and withdrawal of military forces from contact areas in Central Europe.

It stressed the danger of nuclear arms concentrations by both East and West.

Also, it said the Soviet Union still believed its proposal to demilitarize West Berlin would be the best means of reducing tension in this area.

It said NATO had spent 500 billion dollars on armaments in the last 10 years, and that only increased East-West tension had resulted.

Moscow also affirmed its willingness to attend a foreign ministers meeting to consider a peace treaty with Germany and the East-West dispute over Berlin. The Western powers have suggested May 11 as the starting date.

The Soviet government statement said a summit meeting would be "most useful," but if the Western powers were not ready for it, a foreign ministers meeting could be convened.

The West is agreeable to a summit meeting if the foreign ministers lay the groundwork.

Cubans Look to Him for Better Life

Castro Has Made Blunders, But He Gives People Hope

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Foreign Affairs Writer

HAVANA — Fidel Castro, despite his blunders, has given the Cuban people hope for a better life.

The way things are worsening economically here, this hope may die. Nevertheless, the average Cuban is still optimistic and believes in the bearded revolutionary leader who overthrew Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Businessmen, the large landowners and the wealthy, however, are scared.

To them the communistic or socialistic tendencies of the Castro government can only mean trouble and financial losses.

Many merchants with whom this reporter talked admitted frankly they want to sell their businesses and get out.

Leaders in the big businesses fear the Castro government may nationalize their enterprises. Construction firms are reluctant to put money into any sizable projects.

Even many of the not-so-wealthy middle class are holding on to their cash, not investing, not paying bills. Just keeping the money handy.

I asked one of Castro's key government officials to enumerate the accomplishments and failures of the three-month-old Castro administration. Here is how he listed the former:

UNIFIED the nation which has been badly divided under the Batista dictatorship.

CORRECTED many of the inequities through social and economic reforms.

INSTITUTED honesty as an iron-clad policy and requisite in all branches of government, a quality unknown in Cuban governing circles.

GAVE HOPE to all Cubans, except those who played footsie with Batista, for a brighter future.

"That last one is the most important motivating force," the official said. "It results in all Cubans putting their faith in Castro."

The same frank official then listed what he thought were the failures and blunders of Castro. Here they are:

FRIGHTENED capital—property owners, potential investors, businessmen.

CREATED a racial issue by calling for complete social equality on "private" beaches, in private clubs and on every level.

MADE LABOR unions the "dictators," bowing to their every demand.

ORDERED the re-trial of 43 fliers who were acquitted by a revolutionary military court.

INSULTED former Costa Rican President Jose Figueres, a guest of Cuba, by criticizing him for urging that all countries of the Americas work together in the Cold War against Russian communism.

Figueres, a leader in Latin America, had said that he disagrees with U.S. policy toward Latin America, but to call the U.S. an enemy is "foolish."

Castro, following Figueres on the platform during a labor rally, charged that the Costa Rican was being "influenced" by international interests. Castro advocated neutralism for Cuba when he declared:

"Why say in the face of tragedy (the hydrogen bomb threat) that we must choose sides? . . . Why not proclaim our right to live our own lives even if they do kill us?"

Basically, what Castro seems to have in mind for Cuba is a one-class society, with everybody in the middle class. He announced his aim is to "elevate the poor and reduce the wealthy."

Here are some of the laws and programs advocated by Castro. Several have strong Socialist or Communist overtones.

AGRICULTURAL REFORM — Give each man the land he farms. Break up the large farms. Make government-owned tractors available to small farmers. Extensive land reclaiming program in the swamps and salt marshes of Southern Cuba.

URBAN REFORM — Designed to stimulate construction by threatening government confiscation of vacant properties. Castro says owners must build — or else. Plans low-cost housing projects.

RENT LAW — Arbitrarily cut in half all rents which did

Inside a Trouble Spot

Reporter John B. McDermott has focused on politics and foreign affairs throughout the world. His travels to Russia, Africa, Germany and the Near East have brought Herald reader's inside reports from the globe's trouble spots.

In this, the second of a series, McDermott studies turbulent Cuba, and how it is faring under the rule of bearded revolutionist Fidel Castro.

McDermott

Old-Line Politicos Wait on Sidelines

By WILLIAM GAUDET
Special To The Herald

HAVANA—Did Fidel Castro and his men take over the government of Cuba without any real military victory?

Those here who closely watched the revolution develop and finally succeed say this is true. They say this cold military fact has much to do with the current political picture in the country.

Certainly there were the rebel raids from the Sierra Maestro range, and the besieging of Santiago by Castro's men.

GAUDET

But long-time observers here say the collapse of Fulgencio Batista's forces came from corruption, not from any military beating.

At the time of Batista's flight from Cuba Jan. 1, say these observers, there were no less than a dozen groups working to overthrow the government. The big difference was that Castro's men were the ones ready to move in and take over.

Once Castro was the man of the hour, his popularity soared. Now, nobody can beat him.

But there are still oppositionists, many of them trained politicians. They are careful not to make any outward moves — but they will talk privately and they will tell you they will not remain inactive forever.

They say that eventually it will be the old-line politicians—as opposed to Castro's young idealists—who will move in again to take over.

Two of the strongest of the opposition political parties are the Communists and the Autenticos, the party of former President Carlos Prio Socarras.

Manuel Antonio de Varona, head of the Autentico Party, in a recent television interview managed adroitly to praise the Castro regime while making a lot of qualifications.

His most significant statement was that the period of the revolution, and its accompanying business "retraction," will not be over "until the people vote their approval of revolutionary laws in an election."

Cuba's politicians may be sidelined. But they have not abandoned their goals.

Latin Diplomats Hope Nixon Can Dispel Castro's Coolness

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Several Latin American diplomats friendly to the U.S. voiced hope Sunday Vice President Richard M. Nixon will have a heart-to-heart chat with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro during his unofficial visit here April 17.

These diplomats, who did not want to be identified, are disturbed over Castro's growing hostility toward the U.S., especially his recent statement that Cuba would remain neutral in the event of war between the U.S. and Russia.

They believe that a forthright talk between Nixon and the Cuban leader might go a long way toward dispelling differences between the two countries.

Castro is due to come here at the invitation of the American Society of Newspaper Editors to address its annual meeting. The State Department has said publicly that Castro "will assuredly be welcome here."

But many U.S. officials are known to be cool toward the visit. They want Castro's appointments with high officials kept to a minimum.

The Latin American diplomats said it would be a grave mistake for the U.S. government to snub Castro, especially since the U.S. is still under fire for being too friendly with Latin American dictators.

Castro feels that the last two U.S. ambassadors to Cuba under the regime of Fulgencio Batista were overly friendly to the ousted president. He says this is the big obstacle to more friendly relations between the U.S. and Cuba.

According to the Latin American diplomats, this is where Nixon could be most useful.

Nixon was briefed on Castro's "26 of July" movement by Puerto Rican Gov. Luis Munoz Marin during Munoz' visit here last month. Their conversation was given little notice at the time.

Munoz urged greater understanding for the revolutionary spirit in Cuba, even though he was critical of the summary execution of war criminals.

In about these words, Munoz told the vice president: "We cannot allow the overwhelming moral achievement of a whole country rising against despotism to be marred by sporadic incidents resulting from the revolutionary fervor."

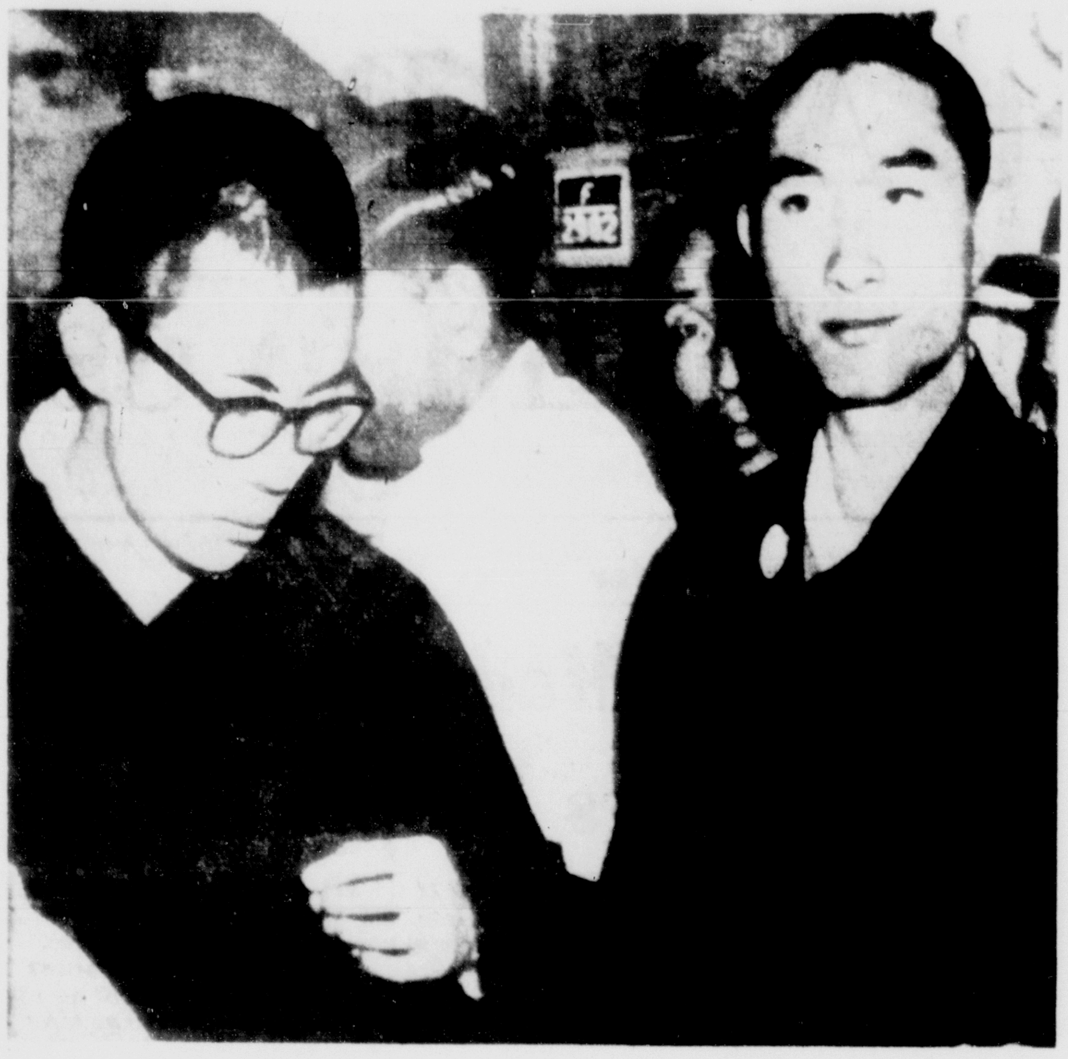
Dalai Lama Hurt in Fall From Hill, Say Reports



—Associated Press Wirephoto

Dalai Lama, Left, and Panchen Lama on 1956 Visit to India

. . . now Dalai Lama has been replaced by rival, set up by Red China

No Details On Injury Available

NEW DELHI —(UPI)— The Dalai Lama, god-king of Tibet, was seriously injured in a fall from a hill while fleeing to refuge from the Chinese Communists, according to persistent private reports in New Delhi and the border areas Sunday.

The reports could not be confirmed here. The Reds have sealed off all normal communications between Tibet and the outside world since the anti-Communist revolt flared in the sacred city of Lhasa last week.

Except for Red China's statement that it had smashed the Lhasa revolt and set up a puppet government, all news on the Tibetan situation has been brought out by traders and refugees who made their way to the border.

According to the reports, the Dalai Lama was heading eastward from Lhasa with his guards for a place of safety when he fell and was injured.

There were no other details.

Meanwhile, reports in Gangtok, capital of Sikkim state, said the Tibetan rebels had captured one of the two largest airfields in Tibet.

The exact whereabouts of the Dalai Lama were not known. But diplomatic sources said the Reds had sealed off all possible escape routes leading south to the border and called in a special manhunting staff to track him down.

The Peiping regime Saturday said it had deposed the Dalai Lama and installed a new government of Tibet under the pro-Communist Panchen Lama.

A communique broadcast by Peiping said the Dalai Lama was "under duress by the rebels" — an indirect admission that he had escaped from his winter palace in Lhasa.

Despite the Reds' claim to have "completely smashed" the revolt, reports trickling across the border said the fight was continuing.

Tibetan exile leaders in India pledged a fight to the death to win freedom for the ancient Himalayan kingdom and save the Dalai Lama from Red oppression.

The pledges were made by spokesmen for Tibetans living in India who came here to appeal to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to take up their cause against the Communists.

Revolt to Succeed, Say Nationalists

TAIPEI, Formosa —(AP)— Nationalist Chinese claimed Sunday that the Tibetan rebellion was spreading and would eventually succeed.

It is taken for granted by the public here that the Nationalist government has been air-dropping limited supplies to the rebels and will expand this aid. This conviction has not been affected by official silence on the subject.

Tremor Shakes Virgin Island

CHARLOTTE AMALIE, Virgin Islands—(AP)—A heavy earth tremor shook Charlotte Amalie and the surrounding area of this island resort area early Sunday, but caused no damage or casualties.

Nixons, 35,000 Brave Gray To Attend Sunrise Services

he that hath seen Me hath seen the Father.'

"'Before Abraham was made, I am'"

Those who heard these words included Christ's disciples, introduced next as they took their places around the familiar table of the Last Supper.

As they moved from the upper room to the Garden of Gethsemane, the singing of crickets from the sound track (used for the first time this year to accompany each scene) made it all seem authentic.

The Christus, portrayed by Robert Godbey with the voice of Noah Tyler on tape, then prayed His timeless prayer. "Oh, my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me; nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt."

Suddenly the quiet was interrupted by the appearance of Judas and the soldiers who seized Jesus, drug Him to Pontius Pilate for "trial," scourged Him, and took Him up Calvary's hill where they nailed Him to the cross.

Thunder and lightning, produced effectively by the technical skill of Bill Stone and Jim Hahn, accompanied the crucifixion. And then the body of the Lord was removed in quietness and placed in the tomb.

In the climaxing resurrection scene, the garment of the risen Christ glowed with a blue-white light. He stood above the tomb, arms outstretched, as the 100-voice choir directed by Miguel Quetglas sang the "Hallelujah Chorus."

And the closing words of the narrator were: "Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day: And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations."

It is the church's insistant demand that this statement is true which is the heart of the Christian gospel, the Rev. Lane G. Adams was explaining to the Nixons and the other worshipers over by the seaside.

The pastor of the Key Biscayne Presbyterian Church said that too often poeple don't really believe these facts because they are not honest about their doubts, never seriously examine the evidence and seek to escape the moral claims Christ would have on their lives if they really believed it.

"But if you don't believe in the bodily resurrection of Christ, take heart," he said. "The disciples were not prepared to believe at first, either."

Then the Rev. Mr. Adams listed the usual arguments against accepting the resurrection and then refuted them, finally outlining reasons for believing in the cornerstone event.

He declared that the change that came into the lives of the disciples, the testimony of the church down through the ages, and the experience of those who confront Christ today are proof enough.

He concluded by challenging the worshipers to live as if they believed that Christ has risen and offers real, abundant and eternal life to those who believe.

Typical of the messages preached at the other two dozen sunrise services were the ones delivered on the lawn of the Coral Gables city hall and at Oceanside Park in Miami Beach.

The Rev. W. Baxter Weant, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, told the 2,000 early-bird worshipers in Coral Gables that there are two phases to the Easter story and most folks get only through the first phase.

He said that first step is responding to the angel's invitation to come and see that the Savior has risen.

However, he pointed out, the tomb was not empty because it was filled with God's light, His word and the gospel of the resurrection.

Pastor Weant declared that the women who came to the tomb were given the opportunity for the most blessed service they ever rendered when they were asked to go tell the disciples that Christ had risen.

"At this point most of us fail Him," asserted the Rev. Mr. Weant. "We come, see, and hear, but fail to go tell."

Meanwhile, rain before and after the service somewhat dampened the usual enthusiasm at the area's oldest sunrise program on Miami Beach. But there was no rain during the service attended by 1,000 worshipers.

They heard the Rev. Joseph Crawley, of the St. John's-on-the-Lake Methodist Church, point out that the events of Easter promise that God will never be far off with joy and new life although there will be times of trial for those who love and follow Him.

Rebel Leader Reported Killed

ALGIERS —(AP)— The French army said Sunday a rebel Col. Amirouche has been killed near Bou Saada, 150 miles south of Algiers. He was described as one of the leading chiefs of the Nationalist rebellion.

An army announcement said Amirouche was killed Thursday when French units swooped down on a meeting place of military chiefs of the Nationalist Army of Liberation.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

BELL

COUNTY Manager O. W. Campbell thinks the best way to stop drownings is to teach all children to swim. It's the most sensible solution, for we can't eliminate rivers, canals, oceans and lakes — and every day we get more swimming pools.

The Bells have lived on a canal since our girls were born. We did teach them to be careful. But in addition they learned to swim when very small. I reckon every kid in Bay Point has fallen into the water at least once. But they all could swim. When we have summer camp we teach every non-swimmer to swim. The children at public and YMCA pools can get instruction. The teaching program can be extended to every child.

The danger now is inertia on the part of the commissioners. Mere talk won't start a swimming program.

Florida Derby

How good is jim Norris' colt East Spur: How good is Troilus? Or is there another capable of beating both of them Saturday?

The Florida Derby at Gulfstream shapes up much better than did the Flamingo at Hialeah. This is because Easy Spur beat Troilus so easily last week.

Horace Wade, reminiscing as usual, tells of an English suffragette who threw herself under the King's horse during the running of one English Derby at Epsom Downs. Then there was the American Derby at Chicago in 1893 that had 25 false starts and went off 90 minutes late. Then there was the American Derby of 1926, won by one of Col. E. L. Bradley's horses. He got his $100,000 check in the winner's circle — and it bounced.

The Gulfstream check won't bounce. Jimmy Donn has too many begonias and calladiums for that.

Somebody Goofed

Oops! 39 Mothers Of Year Aren't

NEW YORK —(AP)— A red-faced and apologetic American Mothers Committee acknowledged bravely Sunday that 39 mothers had been mistakenly notified of their selection as Kansas mother of the year. A clerical error was blamed.

Two of those erroneously informed already have come forward. The committee uneasily awaited word from others.

The selection of the Kansas mother actually will be made today in Wichita.

Mrs. Aileen Fogarty, national director of the American Mothers Committee, which selects the national mother of the year from state winners, said the mixup was caused by volunteers who helped with the organization's mailing.

The volunteers were mailing letters to members whose names were contained on an alphabetical list of states. Apparently all the wrong letters were confined to Kansas.

"At least I hope it's only Kansas," exclaimed Mrs. Fogarty. She had rushed in to take some of the pressure off Mrs. Daniel A. Poling, national chairman of the committee, who had been deluged with queries resulting from the error.

"We'll lose our Kansas chairman unless she's a dear," Mrs. Fogarty lamented.

She seemed to be reading the mind of the Kansas chairman, Mrs. John Selfridge of Wichita, who announced she was going to be away from home to escape telephone calls.

The error became known after Mrs. Nellie Krueger of the little northern Kansas community of Washington announced receipt of a letter telling her she was the Kansas mother of the year. The town's weekly newspaper published the story Thursday, and a Topeka paper picked it up.

A much confused Kansas selection committee checked hastily with headquarters in New York and learned of the error—but not its magnitude.

Then Saturday night, a second Kansas woman, Mrs. Fred Gould of Arkansas City, announced receipt of an identical letter. That prompted another check with national headquarters and the whole story came out.

Latin Likes Miami--and He Repents

A year ago last May a Venezuelan student picked up a rock and threw it at the American Embassy.

"I want you to know before I leave that I have spent the most wonderful 15 days in my life in Miami.

"I didn't have any idea that Americans can be so wonderful and warm. The men and women on the streets, the hotel workers, policemen all helped me with a smile.

"I don't speak any English. (A friend is writing this for me in English).

"But always people tried to understand my words with patience and understanding. You can't imagine the wonderful impression of the American people I am taking back to my country.

"A year ago I didn't have any idea about you. I listened to what some people tried to make me believe.

"You can imagine now how sorry I am for throwing a rock at the U.S. Embassy."

It was signed, "A Venezuelan student."

Robert M. Reno Injured by Car

Robert M. Reno, 91-year-old retired newspaperman, was struck and seriously injured Sunday when, police said, he rode his bicycle into the path of a car.

Reno, of 3672 Douglas Rd., Coconut Grove, is the father of Miami Herald reporter Henry Reno and father-in-law of Herald music and art critic Doris Reno, with whom he lives.

Police said Reno rode into the path of the car at Grand Ave. and Margaret St. in Coconut Grove. He was taken to Doctors' Hospital with a broken left leg and other injuries.

Driver of the car was not charged, police said.

could be more important to individuals or nations than the resurrection of the Master," Benson, a church leader, said.

A crowd of 8,000 at Rindge, N. H., attended sunrise services at the Cathedral of the Pines but the worshipers wore ski clothing and wrapped themselves in blankets.

Weather also hampered services at the Wichita Mountains Easter Pageant near Lawton, Okla. A crowd of near 100,000 had been expected but only 20,000 showed up after a night of rain and an early morning fog.

"Old Ironsides," the USS Constitution, the Navy's oldest regularly commissioned ship, was the scene of still another Easter service at Charlestown, Mass.

And at Vandenberg Air Force base, Calif., 24 pacifists held their Easter services outside the field's main gate. They said they belonged to the "Fellowship of Reconciliation" and the Friends Church, and were praying for world peace.

7 Children Die in Fire

DANIELTOWN, Va. —(AP)— Seven small Negro children perished Sunday when fire destroyed their home while their parents were away for an Easter sunrise service.

They were children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lewis. Lewis, 34, had taken his wife to the sunrise service at Mount Zion Church about a mile away. Lynn Towers, a white man from Dundas, was passing about 5:40 a.m. and saw the small four-room frame cottage on fire. He attempted to kick in the back door but was unable to gain entrance because the interior was ablaze.

Towers said a large St. Bernard dog, owned by the family, was attempting to awaken the children but could not get inside and was unsuccessful by barking.

National Summary

A disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico during mid day resulted in occasional rain from the Eastern Gulf states and portions of the South Atlantic coast states into the Ohio valley with scattered sleet or snow in the mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina. Significant amounts of rain were observed in the Gulf states where Atlanta, Georgia reported .37 inches in six hours while Montgomery, Alabama measured .34 during the same period. The rain will spread across portions of the Virginias into Western Pennsylvania tonight beginning as snow or sleet in higher elevations and will prevail intermittently from the Carolinas into New York today.

Mostly sunny skies occurred from New England into Maryland accompanied by temperatures in the 20s and 40s with Boston reporting a reading of 40 while the nation's capital had a 42. Fair weather will continue in New England with increasing cloudiness today.

Sunshine prevailed in the north and south border states from the Rockies into the Mississippi Valley while cloudiness shaded the remainder of the mid section of the country. Temperatures in the 40s and 50s occurred over most of the middle portion of the nation except for the 30s in the Great Lakes region and the 60 near the gulf.

Switch By Pope Is Seen

By JOHN L. BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

BOYLES

TALLAHASSE — State Sen. Verle Pope of St. Augustine will abandon the idea of running for governor in 1960 if his cousin, Doyle Carlton Jr., decides to make the race.

However Pope, who is in the insurance and real estate business, may by a candidate for a Cabinet post — possibly State Treasurer — next year.

He indicated recently that friends had suggested he seek the office, if he doesn't try for the governorship.

Meanwhile State Treasurer and Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson is trying to beef up his position by pushing for strong legislative action on traffic safety measures in an effort to halt rising auto insurance rates through reduction of accidents.

Lobbies Grow

A RECORD number of lobbyists are expected to sweep down on the capital corridors when the Legislature convenes week after next.

Two years ago there were nearly 700 registered, representing varied interests and organizations. When the issues multiply, the legislative pitchmen increase. In 1955 only 436 were on hand.

Talk of stern economy measures, the continuing debate on the need for new segregation laws, central purchasing to tighten controls on government buying and reform procedures for purchasing printing, will spur lobbying activities.

Stamps Again

THE OLD HASSLE over retail trading stamps, one of the most lobbied issues ever to come before the Legislature, is expected to be revived.

And Gov. LeRoy Collins' proposal to abolish the practice of naturopathy will cause the nature doctors to call in their lobbying troops.

The catch in the proposal drafted by a group of printers at Orlando recently is that the industry would still largely control purchasing practices.

New Pattern?

THEY RECOMMENDED an advisory board of five members of the printing industry, appointed by the governor, to guide a central buying program for state printing.

This could result in all industries doing business with the state — asphalt contractors, concrete manufacturers, office equipment houses and others, asking for an advisory board in each field.

Test Given Husband of Slain Woman

SARASOTA —(AP)— Officers gave a lie detector test Saturday night to the husband of a 51-year-old woman, killed by a mystery shot.

Sheriff Ross Boyer said William Woodard, 55, agreed to the test. He was questioned about the death of his wife, who was killed by a .22 caliber bullet which pierced a screen door and struck her between the eyes Friday night.

Mrs. Woodard was watching television in the living room of her home at nearby Venice at the time. She died four hours later.

Boyer and William Donaldson, special investigator for the state attorney's office, took Woodard to the courthouse in Bradenton for the lie detector test. Donaldson is a lie detector expert.

The sheriff said results of the test are not yet known.

Boyer said the fatal bullet apparently was fired from close range.

Woodard, a former county commissioner, told officers he was in a garage, painting a sign for his seed and feed store when he heard what sounded like the whine of a glancing bullet.

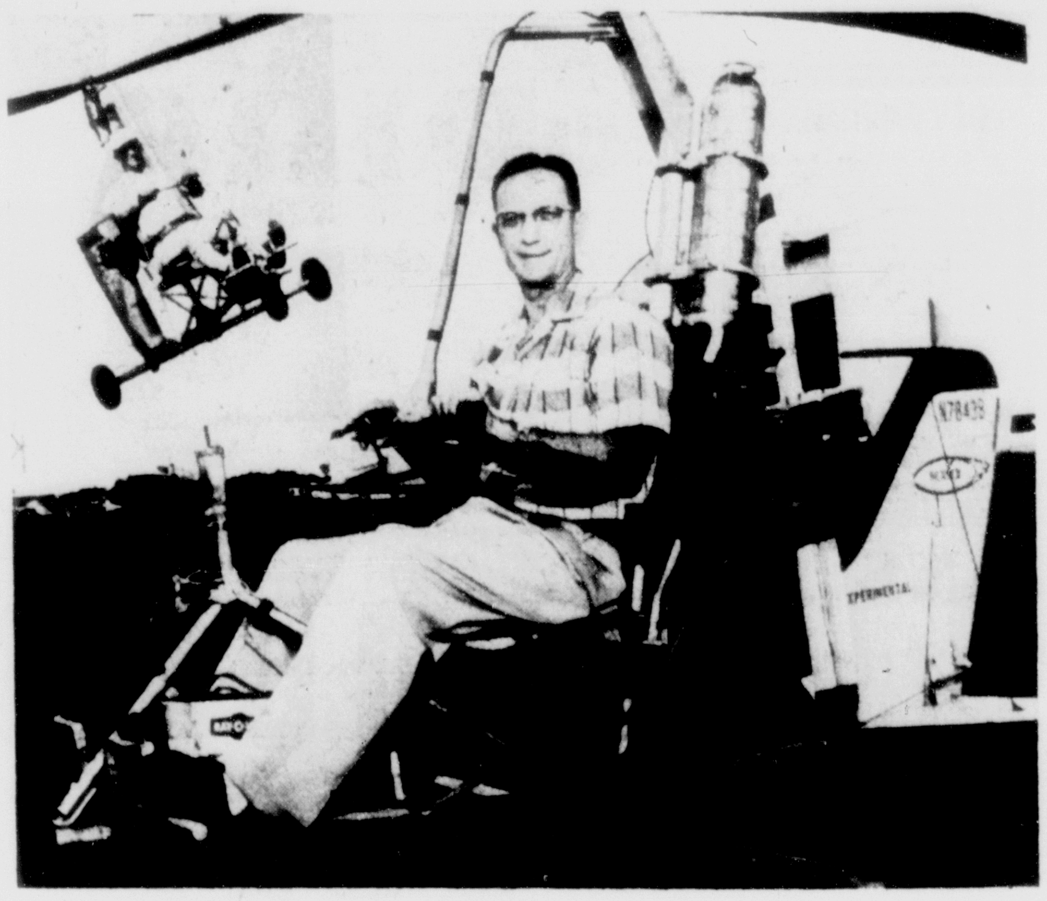
His Rockin' Chair Takes Off

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer



Prop Behind Tom Smith Pushes
. . . and non-powered rotor lifts gyro copter

LAKE WORTH – Tom Smith frolics in a flying machine the likes of which you won't find anywhere else in the area.

His was the first in the state, and he's still the only proud owner of a gyro copter — a flying rocking chair — in Palm Beach County.

It really rocks — up and down, and from side to side. It has aileron, or rolling, control that's why.

Smith, 51, city manager of Lake Worth, can't take Josephine, or anyone, up, up, up in his flying machine. It's a one-seater. ("Two men can pick it up and carry it. It only weighs 185 pounds.") But he's been rocking and rolling in the blue yonder two years with it himself.

"It's a sport," he says.

Smith isn't new to flying and neither is the gyro copter. It made its comeback from the 20's only in those days — the same days Smith first took to the wing — they were called autogyros, and looked slightly different, not so much like a rocking chair.

The helicopter, now a more popular rotary-wing craft, is really a come-lately to the sky.

The difference? The helicopter and gyro copter both have windmill, or rotating, blades overhead. The gyro copter's windmill is turned — you guessed it — by the wind, and the helicopter's blades are powered.

The flying rocking chair ("it's been called everything, even a humming bird,") will soar to 12,000 feet ("I haven't taken it that high yet,") and has a top speed of 75 mph. It cruises at 40 to 60 mph.

Smith can frolic in the coulds for 40 miles before he has to refuel.

This open-air rocking chair is safer than most aircraft. If the motor conks out, you still have the windmill.

"In a free fall, it levels out at 17 feet per second, slower than a parachute. The 10-foot blade acts like an air brake."

Smith hauls his flying machine on a converted boat trailer to Lantana Airport, where he takes off. He could use it for short hops from Lake Worth to West Palm Beach, instead of fighting the road traffic. But the gyro copter needs a 200 to 300 foot take-off strip. Landing takes less space.

"It sits down like a bird," Smith said. "The blade goes back like a bird's wing. Its landing roll is only 10 to 20 feet."

The flying city manager also has a whirly water glider which is motorless. The rocking chair has a motor for forward thrust.

Equipped with three pontoons, the glider is towed by a boat until it is up and aloft on its own windmill blade.

Smith, an undertaker for 33 years before he became city manager in 1957, took up flying as a hobby in 1928.

He learned in a 90-horse power, open-cockpit, Waco 10 and has logged 2,000 flying hours. He holds a commercial pilot's license, but "I've never flown for money."

A member of the Elite Quiet Birdmen, Smith flew with the CAP as a ground search officer in World War II. He's been through two minor crashes and scores of close calls.

In the air for 31 years, Smith claims you're on safe ground if you fly within the limits of your craft and the weather.

"You're apt to be killed in any mode of transportation if you try to make it do what it won't do," he says.

He plans to keep right on flying for the fun of it.

Come, Josephine, want to try a flying machine?

Annexation Could Put Jax on Top

JACKSONVILLE—(AP)—Jacksonville could become the state's No. 1 city in 1960, from a population standpoint, if city limits are extended to include an estimated 147,000 persons in fringe areas.

Thomas W. McWhirter, regional supervisor for the Bureau of the Census, said the 1960 federal count is expected to show that Miami will have only 10,000 more than the 259,035 listed in a special 1955 census.

That would give Miami, now Florida's largest city, a population of roughly 270,000 persons. Miami's 1950 population was 249,276 on the basis of the federal census.

Jacksonville's population in 1950 was 204,517. The addition of 147,000 persons before the 1960 census would give Jacksonville more than 350,000 persons.

A proposed act to include 94 square miles and 147,000 persons in Jacksonville was submitted to the Duval County legislative delegation by the Downtown Council recently.

The four-man delegation, however, turned down the proposed measure.

There have been indications by several Duval legislators since that they would consider a bill providing for separate elections on annexation of smaller areas than that covered by the Downtown Council proposal.

FSU Labs Take Aim At Staph

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Florida State University scientists have started an all-out war on the "staph" bacteria, which causes the death of newborn babies in hospitals.

The staph, or staphylococcus, has been known for hundreds of years, and recently made a comeback against "wonder" drugs designed to kill it.

At present, biologists say, the only known protection against it is good health.

The research, paid for by a $19,107 U.S. Public Health Service grant, will be conducted by Dr. Loretta Ellian and Mary Hood, FSU bacteriologists.

Getting at the tiny germ has proven to be a problem, since it surrounds itself with a substance that is a protection against anti-bioties.

The scientists are seeking a vaccine to destroy the protective covering, and make it vulnerable to attack by wonder drugs.

The staph, scientists say, has become of increasing concern since it developed resistance to antibiotics. It is a common inhabitant of man's skin, nose and clothes, and is widely circulated in the dust and air.

UF Prof Says

State's Reactors Ready for Work

GAINESVILLE—(UPI)—Florida has enough bricks in its nuclear research brickyard — "now it's time to start building something."

So spoke Dean Joseph Weil of the University of Florida engineering college who will see a dream come true next month when a 10-kilowatt critical reactor finally goes into operation.

This reactor can open unlimited horizons in the industrial field, Weil said. It will permit exhaustive study of ways to reduce the cost of nuclear power and to use it in the development of Florida's resources.

"With Florida's limited resources, we should take advantage of the great wealth of knowledge in nuclear research and see if we can't bring it into practicality," he said.

He noted state appropriations in nuclear research so far have totaled $5,300,000. But only $900,000 has actually gone into a project which can have a direct bearing on industrial development and expansion in the state. This was the money allotted for the critical reactor and related equipment, plus salaries for professors who will supervise its training use.

The remainder went toward basic research, such as involved in the sub-critical reactor in use at the University.

The power-producing reactor at the University, which Weil said would be in operation by late April, could be a boon to a proposed 50-thousand kilowatt reactor planned for Central Florida in the next three or four years.

The huge reactor would be financed jointly by the state, industry and federal government. General Nuclear Corp. has been hired to do the design work and studies are underway on the type of reactor to use.

The practical use of the University's reactor in this project are obvious, Weil said. Industry already has invested more than $200,000 in the atom splitter which can be employed in more ways imaginable, the educator explained.

Electric Strike Not Settled

PENSACOLA — (AP) — No progress was reported Sunday in efforts to settle a strike against Gulf Power Co., the utility which serves an area extending from Pensacola to Panama City.

Several separate and joint talks have been held by the company and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers since about 340 employes walked off their jobs last Monday in a contract dispute. But both sides agreed that very little headway has been made.

The company said the only point in dispute was a union demand to represent about 25 foremen and control center operators. The firm said it considered them supervisory personnel and representatives of management.

The union denied it has had anything to do with a series of power failures in northwest Florida, blamed by the company on vandalism.

No College Step-Children

New Universiy to Move Ahead

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— Sen. John Rawls of Marianna forecast Sunday that any move to abandon or seriously cripple the new university being built at Tampa will be rejected by the legislature.

Rawls is chairman of the Senate appropriations subcommittee that will recommend the spending program for the university system. He said he has found no serious sentiment in the Senate for cutting off funds to build the Tampa university.

Most of that kind of talk is coming from the House, and only from a very small group there, he said.

He said it is a foregone conclusion the universities are not going to get all building money recommended by the Cabinet Budget Commission.

"But there will be no redheaded step-children," he said. "They'll all be treated alike."

"We must face the fact the Tampa university is a reality and we cannot abandon it now."

But, Rawls said, the state must make more use of junior colleges to take care of some of the anticipated record college enrollments during the first two years of study.

Research Grant

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Florida State University chemist, J. W. Quagliano, has received a $12,361 grant from the Atomic Energy Commission for research in structure of metal coordination compounds.

Holiday Mishaps Kill 8

By The Associated Press

Florida's weekend has been marred by at least eight accidental deaths.

Daniel S. Hammond, 47, of Orlando, was killed by a train as he walked along a trestle in Jacksonville Friday night.

In another Friday night accident, Howard Travis Utley, 49, of Pensacola, died in a headon auto collision in West Pensacola. Three persons, including the driver of the other car, Edward Eugene Salter, 22, were injured. Authorities said Salter's car, going at high speed, skidded into the path of Utley's car.

Jimmy Don Holaway, 20, of McCoy Air Force Base at Orlando, was killed, also Friday night, when his motor scooter was struck from the rear by a car. Holaway was from Hartsell, Ala.

An 18-year-old Negro, Franklin Mitchell, died Friday night in an auto accident on a rural road near Quincy.

Donald Mays, 17-year-old Melbourne High School student, drowned in Indian River near the Melbourne causeway Saturday when he attempted to retrieve a cork, which came off a fishing line.

His aunt, Mrs. Dan Holmes, tried to rescue him, but got into trouble herself and was saved by Eldon E. Frye, off-duty Melbourne policeman who was fishing nearby.

Festus Alvah Tatum, a West Palm Beach policeman, was killed Saturday in a collision between his motorcycle and a scooter operated by a 15-year-old boy.

Tatum, 35, was escorting a funeral procession when the accident occurred. Police said Elmer Lutz Jr., cut through the line of mourners at an intersection. The boy suffered a broken leg, cuts and other injuries.

Carleton Crosby, 17, of Trenton was killed near Fernandina Beach Friday night when a car in which he was riding left the road and hit a tree.

John Henry Dinkins, 22, Fort Lauderdale Negro, was killed in a Sunday highway accident on State Rd. 84, near Fort Lauderdale.

Highway patrolmen reported the car driven by Dinkins skidded as it attempted to pass another and crashed into the second vehicle. A passenger in Dinkins' auto was injured.

Reapportionment The Binding Tie

TALLAHASSEE—(UPI)—The majority bloc of the State Senate, welded together by North Florida and small county ties, currently is riding higher than it has in years.

The bloc will go into the 1959 Legislative session on April 7 in complete control of the Senate, both on the floor and in the important committees.

Dewey Johnson
. . . holds the reins

Charley Johns
. . . bloc stalwart

W. Turner Davis
. . . in power post

The group, sometimes called the "Pork Chop Gang," claims as members at least 21 of the 38 senators, and seems in position to count on support from one or two more in a pinch.

Johnson, who'll be 52 the day before the session opens, is a lawyer and farmer.

So far, he has handed all the political plums to the leaders of the majority bloc, and given short shrift to big county senators.

Apportionment is the cement which holds together the "Pork choppers," and Johnson already has served notice on Gov. LeRoy Collins the majority bloc won't stand still for any reapportionment plan which would break its hold on the Senate.

Working with Johnson as a sort of advisory body are a half dozen other influential senators — Charley E. Johns of Starke, Wilson Carraway of Tallahassee, John Rawls of Marianna, Turner Davis of Madison, S. D. Clarke of Monticello, and Randolph Hodges of Cedar Key.

Johns is an insurance man and banker and served as acting governor of Florida in 1953 and 1954. He has a two-county district — Union and Bradford. He is 54.

Carraway, Tallahassee banker and soft drink bottler, also is 54. He has a one-county district, Leon, site of the state capital. Carraway is mentioned as possible Senate president in 1961.

Rawls, Marianna attorney, is youngest of the majority bloc's old-time leaders. He is 38, was born on New Year's Day in 1921.

Davis, chairman of the Rules Committee in 1957, will be chairman of this powerful body again this year. An attorney, Davis is 57, and considered one of the most astute men in the Senate, sometimes called the "old gray fox."

Clarke, oldest man in the Senate, is 78. He is a banker, and former president of the Senate. His views are respected, but he does not take the same active interest in running the majority bloc he once did.

Hodges, 45, is an ice manufacturer and dealer in marine supplies in his fishing-village hometown of Cedar Key. He'll head the Temperance Committee, and has appointments to other key committees. He'll also be Senate president pro tem.

Others in the bloc are Tom Adams, Orange Park real estate dealer; Philip Beall, Pensacola attorney; Harvie J. Belser, Bonifay attorney; Irlo Bronson, Kissimmee rancher, Newman C. Brackin, Crestview druggist, Drew Branch, Liberty County contractor,

James E. Connor, Brooksville real estate brokers; J. Emory Cross, Gainesville attorney, L. K. Edwards Jr., Marion County rancher; J. C. Getzen Jr., Bushnell attorney; H. H. Hair, Live Oak hospital administrator; Bart Knight, Blountstown attorney; G. T. Melton, Lake City oil distributor; B. C. Pearce, Palatka farmer, and Harry O. Stratton, Callahan business executive.

Dulles Due To Arrive In Florida

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will fly to Florida today in President Eisenhower's plane, Columbine III.

Dulles will leave Washington at 10:45 a.m. today for convalescence following cancer treatments at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Mrs. Dulles, a physician and two State Deparrment aides will accompany the secretary. The physician is Capt. Edward J. Kamin II, of the Walter Reed staff, a specialist in internal medicine.

The Dulles plane is due to land at Palm Beach Air Force Base at 2:15 p.m. The group will motor to the residence of Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon at Hobe Sound, about 30 miles away.

State Department Press Officer Francis W. Tully Jr. said Dulles will be in Florida indefinitely "for a period of convalescence."

DAR to Hold 57th Convention

ST. AUGUSTINE —(AP)— The Florida Daughters of the American Revolution will hold their 57th annual meeting here Tuesday through Thursday.

U.S. Rep. A. S. Herlong of Leesburg will speak Tuesday night and Albert C. Manucy of St. Augustine, president of the Florida Historical Society, will speak Wednesday night.

Florida has 68 chapters. The first was Jacksonville, organized in 1895; and the second St. Augustine organized in 1898. Youngest are Chipola, Pompano Beach and Lake Worth, organized last year.

Milk Controls Ruling Delayed

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— Leon Circuit Judge Hugh Taylor says it will be another week or 10 days before he rules in the controversy between the state Milk Commission and dairy farmers of this area.

The farmers petitioned the commission two months ago to free them from controls. The commission scheduled an investigation and the farmers got a temporary injunction prohibiting the commission from any regulation.

Hearings to dissolve the temporary injunction were taken under advisement last month.

Commission lawyers and representatives for the dairymen met with Judge Taylor last week to discuss plans for a settlement.

How Big Will U.S. Deficit Be?

...Government outgo to exceed income

...No new spiral in prices expected

...Ike's pleas called scare campaign

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

SYLVIA

The 1960 Federal budget will be unbalanced.

This has been a two-to-one bet since the instant in January when President Eisenhower sent his 77 billion dollar budget to Congress precariously balanced on paper to show a hairline surplus.

Now, it's about as certain as any forecast about government spending in this era can be.

The government's outgo in the year beginning this July will top its income by at least a couple of billion dollars, quite likely by more.

This has been the probability all along, for the President's budget totals have been based from the start on some embarrassingly flimsy premises — assumptions that Congress would juggle the figures so spending for next year would be "charged" to this year, that it would not vote a penny more than the President requested, that it would approve boosts in gas taxes, postal rates, etc.

Now, with Congress refusing to go along with the President's statistical hanky-panky, determined to hike spending in many areas and ignoring the proposals for gas tax and postal rate boosts, the question is not whether there'll be a deficit in the '60 budget. The question is only "how big?"

The foreseeable deficit in the next budget will not by itself spark a new round of inflationary price increases.

This also has been thoroughly understood by serious students of government finance, and objective observers have been sharply criticizing administration spokesmen for encouraging the impression that a budget balanced to the decimal point next year is imperative to avoid inflation.

Now, with hope for a balanced budget at just about zero, there is real danger in the "open mouth" budget policy the President is pursuing. And it's time this was put on the line in plain language.

There is no secret whatsoever about anything I've written here. It's not news to Wall Street or to informed businessmen the nation over, or to economic literates in Washington.

It's also no secret that the key aim of the administration's dire warnings about a deficit is to keep Congress from going overboard on voting extra spending. This is, in short, basically a scare campaign.

What's the danger, then? The danger is that a scare campaign of this sort can boomerang badly. The day of statistical reckoning will come this summer, when the budget estimates must be officially revised. The new estimates will show a deficit. And then, as the conservative trade daily, "The Journal of Commerce," recently put it in a message to its financial readers, "The Administration's response can only be one of two things:

"It can say, in effect, 'Shucks, Mr. Citizen, Mr. Investor, Mr. Businessman, we didn't really mean it. A deficit of this size isn't really going to hurt much.'

"Or it can say, 'Well, we warned you and now it has happened. Congress unbalanced the budget and prices are going to take off into the upper stratosphere'. . ."

Obviously, the second response would be intolerable; it would help create the very inflationary runaway so deeply feared. There are also inherent dangers in the first response. After all you've heard, you well might refuse to accept the assurances. Or if you did accept them, you might begin to doubt all warnings and at some future date when the inflation threat might be highest, you might just refuse to listen.

This is no casual, carping essay on the budget. In the hope of offsetting some of the exaggerations, here are a few hard points:

The 1960 budget will show a deficit, and the GOP will enter the next Presidential election with a record of six years of unbalanced budgets during the eight of the Eisenhower administration;

A higher-than-estimated take from corporation taxes is likely to hold down the next deficit to a fairly moderate figure;

A gently rising price level would be the long-term outlook in this land with a balanced budget, as well as without it.

SAND SPRINGS, Okla. — (AP)— A candidate for mayor, Hugh Bryant, has a novel way of campaigning. He watches for cars parked at meters that have run out of time and drops in a few pennies. Then he explains in a printed note what he did, also getting in a plug for himself in the message.

"housework cut in half...leaves more time to enjoy my children"

Mrs. Ruth Stutzman, 2035 N.W. 186th St., Opa Locka, says: "I have had both gas and electric kitchens and I find my housework cut in half because electric is so much cleaner. I am most happy, as it leaves me more time to enjoy my children and not be a slave to my kitchen; not to mention how much more economical."

For Less Work, More Fun . . .

It's Time to Change...To an Electric Range

Modern electric cooking pays off in many wonderful ways. Safest because it's flameless! No fumes, no danger from constant-burning pilot lights. Absolutely worry-free. Cook, roast without potwatching. Just set dial and enjoy push-button freedom.

Electric cooking is white-glove clean. Never any soot, or greasy film to smudge your walls and curtains. Pots and pans stay "brand-new" bright. You save household drudgery. You save yourself!

No wonder over 2 million Floridians now enjoy the safety and convenience of automatic electric cooking. And remember . . . it's cheaper to go all-electric in the kitchen-laundry than to use a combination of fuels.

Easter's Hope Is 'Noble Life'

By United Press International

Christians around the world rejoiced, meditated and paraded Easter Sunday, amid different scenes and different climes but with the same hope: a nobler life for all mankind.

They came once again to those spring-bathed hills of Jerusalem to hail the resurrection of their Saviour almost 2,000 years ago—the most glorious chapter in history's most oft-told tale.

New York's famed Easter Parade was chilled a bit by temperatures in the 20s. The cold knocked out the traditional flower display at Rockefeller Center, killing the display of 750 lilies, 150 yellow tulips and 350 yellow chrysanthemums—the first time in 25 years the show hasn't gone on.

Cold and rain cut into attendance at outdoor services in the Southwest and East but 20,000 persons filled Hollywood Bowl in a clear Easter dawn.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower attended services at the Gettysburg Presbyterian Church near their farm. Mrs. Eisenhower, like millions of other ladies, sported new spring finery.

In Rome, Pope John XXIII said mass in St. Peter's Basilica, and prayed international leaders would end their discord "in the superior interest of peace in the world."

The pontiff then went outside and gave an Easter blessing to more than 10,000 persons gathered in St. Peter's square.

At the Hollywood Bowl, Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson said the greatest events of history are those which affect the greatest number of persons for the longest periods of time.

Gray Sky Fails to Keep Nixon, 35,000 from Sunrise Services

By ADON TAFT
Herald Religion Editor

Easter in pictures, 1D

Florida's famed sun missed Miami's Easter sunrise services and so did many of the usual worshipers as showers marred the first observances of the holy day.

But Vice President Richard Nixon and his family and nearly 35,000 others took a chance on the weather to hear and see the time-honored message of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ preached and portrayed in pageant in God's magnificent chapel of the out-of-doors.

The Nixons were in a standing-room only crowd of 1,300 at the service in Crandon Park on Key Biscayne, where it sprinkled briefly just before activities began but was dry throughout the program.

A later victory by the sun, promised faithfully by the weatherman, encouraged nearly 300,000 worshipers to crowd the churches of the area throughout the day.

The biggest crowd — 25,000 — was at the traditional pageant in the Orange Bowl. The rains of the night and the still threatening clouds at the starting time of 5:25 a.m. caused nearly 10,000 of those worshipers to waver in their decision to attend until they were late in arriving.

It never did rain on the bowl pageant, but a few drops fell just as they were taking Christ down from the cross in the drama and sent most of the viewers scurrying for cover under the overhang of the upper deck. The noise and confusion nearly ruined the effect of the resurrection scene climax.

Yet in many ways the eight-scene production sponsored by the Greater Miami Ministerial Association and the Greater Miami Council of Churches was the most effective in the long history of the event.

Beginning as it did nearly an hour before sunrise, the pageant was made more dramatic by the use of very skillfull lighting which helped keep the action moving and the crowd's attention on the scene in progress.

The stadium lights had just been blacked out to signal the start of the play when suddenly the top of the stage at the west end zone lit up, silhouetting three crosses — the center one red — against the dark sky.

"Above His head were written the words: Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews," came the voice of the Rev. Neil Wyrick, narrator, author and director of the pageant. "The blood ran red from the bite of the mocking crown of thorns. Their shadows silhouetted against the sky, the indifferent, the seekers of thrill, the soldiers with a job to do, Mary his mother with a broken heart, Mary Magdalene with a life now made clean — they all stood and watched the Son of God prepared to die.

"But before this crucifixion could become a reality, it was necessary that His teachings fall on deaf ears and hardened hearts. For three years now — before this infamous deed he had spoken to men and these were His words:

"'I am the living bread which cometh down from heaven; if any man eat of this bread he shall live forever; and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.'

"'I and the Father am one.

Kefauver Sounds Call:

'Consumers Unite, Fight Inflation'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.) said Sunday the "forgotten" American consumer must rise up in protest if the inflation plaguing the U.S. is ever to be halted.

KEFAUVER

He said a cabinet-level Department of Consumers which he proposed recently was the best way for "lonely" consumers to make their voices heard above the "strident clamor" of special interests.

Kefauver, chairman of the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee, said on a television program that the department would bring the voices of unorganized groups to bear on government activities that might tend to hurt the consumer's dollar.

Three California congressmen took differing views on inflation in a broadcast aired in their home state.

Rep. Edgar W. Heistand (R., Calif.), a member of the House Banking Committee, said the main cause of inflation was government spending, especially deficit spending.

Freshman Rep. Gordon A. Kasem (D., Calif.) said inflation was something to be concerned about but was "not anything that should be raised as a perpetual and constant bogey man to justify inactivity when there should be activity."

Rep. Charles M. Teague (R., Calif.) said if the country demanded "rather costly programs" then Congress should "have the courage to raise taxes to put ourselves on a pay as you go basis."

Plane Crash Kills 23

CALCUTTA—(AP)—A DC3 airliner crashed Sunday near Kailakandi in Assam state. The Indian Airlines Corp. said 19 passengers and four crew members were killed.

The plane left Calcutta Sunday morning for Kailakandi and crashed on a tea estate only a few minutes before it was due to reach its destination.

The airlines corporation, India's nationalized domestic air company, said the victims included five infants.

Dag Ends Trip To 10 Countries

NEW YORK — (UPI) — United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold returned Sunday from a one-month tour of nine Asian countries and the Soviet Union and described his talks with such leaders as Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru as "extremely useful."

But Hammarskjold declined to reveal anything specific about his meeting at a Black Sea resort with Khrushchev. "Private talks are private," he said.

Blandin Broke Pile

Strongest Metal Yet: 'Iron Whiskers'

Then try to imagine that a tiny whisker of iron one-tenth the diameter of that hair can be the strongest thing in the world.

"It's true," says Dr. Donald S. Clark, "but we can't 'grow' anything bigger than whiskers — and we don't know why."

Whiskers of iron up to half an inch in length have been grown in laboratories, Dr. Clark says, by vaporizing the metal with 2,500 degrees of heat, then letting it condense.

As it cools down, the iron forms into tiny strands that somehow fail to have the imperfections that weaken metal produced by conventional methods.

"If we could produce a bar of iron one inch square with the same basic strength as these iron whiskers, such a bar would withstand the weight of about 900 tons and would be about six times as strong as the best steel," Dr. Clark said in an interview prior to his appearance on California Institute of Technology's "Next 100 Years" television program. Clark is professor of mechanical engineering at the school.

Wants Ban on Aid to Aggressors

Soviet Asks Pact By East and West

Old Stuff, Say U.S. Officials

Proposal Comes One Eve of Meet

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Soviet Union proposed Sunday that the NATO and Warsaw Pact countries sign a nonaggression pact and revise their existing treaties to assure no aid be given an aggressor.

The proposal was contained in a 3,000-word statement carried by the official Soviet news agency Tass in advance of the NATO Council meeting in Washington opening on Tuesday.

It noted that NATO celebrates its 10th anniversary on April 4.

Moscow also asked the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council to endorse long-standing Communist proposals in Europe, including a disengagement of East-West military forces.

The Tass statement declared NATO had proved it was an aggressive pact and not defensive, and had failed of its avowed purpose.

"Not one member of NATO can say it now has more security than it had before the creation of this bloc," the statement said.

(In Washington, U.S. officials said they saw nothing new in the Moscow statement.

(State Department Press Officer Francis W. Tully Jr. said: "There is nothing new in it. They have said these things many times before."

(He declined further comment pending receipt of the text of a Soviet government statement distributed by Tass.)

The statement repeated the offer of the Soviet Union to discuss at a summit meeting arms limitation, an end to nuclear tests and withdrawal of military forces from contact areas in Central Europe.

It stressed the danger of nuclear arms concentrations by both East and West.

Also, it said the Soviet Union still believed its proposal to demilitarize West Berlin would be the best means of reducing tension in this area.

It said NATO had spent 500 billion dollars on armaments in the last 10 years, and that only increased East-West tension had resulted.

Moscow also affirmed its willingness to attend a foreign ministers meeting to consider a peace treaty with Germany and the East-West dispute over Berlin. The Western powers have suggested May 11 as the starting date.

The Soviet government statement said a summit meeting would be "most useful," but if the Western powers were not ready for it, a foreign ministers meeting could be convened.

The West is agreeable to a summit meeting if the foreign ministers lay the groundwork.

Cubans Look to Him for Better Life

Castro Has Made Blunders, But He Gives People Hope

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Foreign Affairs Writer

HAVANA — Fidel Castro, despite his blunders, has given the Cuban people hope for a better life.

The way things are worsening economically here, this hope may die. Nevertheless, the average Cuban is still optimistic and believes in the bearded revolutionary leader who overthrew Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Businessmen, the large landowners and the wealthy, however, are scared.

To them the communistic or socialistic tendencies of the Castro government can only mean trouble and financial losses.

Many merchants with whom this reporter talked admitted frankly they want to sell their businesses and get out.

Leaders in the big businesses fear the Castro government may nationalize their enterprises. Construction firms are reluctant to put money into any sizable projects.

Even many of the not-so-wealthy middle class are holding on to their cash, not investing, not paying bills. Just keeping the money handy.

I asked one of Castro's key government officials to enumerate the accomplishments and failures of the three-month-old Castro administration. Here is how he listed the former:

UNIFIED the nation which has been badly divided under the Batista dictatorship.

CORRECTED many of the inequities through social and economic reforms.

INSTITUTED honesty as an iron-clad policy and requisite in all branches of government, a quality unknown in Cuban governing circles.

GAVE HOPE to all Cubans, except those who played footsie with Batista, for a brighter future.

"That last one is the most important motivating force," the official said. "It results in all Cubans putting their faith in Castro."

The same frank official then listed what he thought were the failures and blunders of Castro. Here they are:

FRIGHTENED capital—property owners, potential investors, businessmen.

CREATED a racial issue by calling for complete social equality on "private" beaches, in private clubs and on every level.

MADE LABOR unions the "dictators," bowing to their every demand.

ORDERED the re-trial of 43 fliers who were acquitted by a revolutionary military court.

INSULTED former Costa Rican President Jose Figueres, a guest of Cuba, by criticizing him for urging that all countries of the Americas work together in the Cold War against Russian communism.

Figueres, a leader in Latin America, had said that he disagrees with U.S. policy toward Latin America, but to call the U.S. an enemy is "foolish."

Castro, following Figueres on the platform during a labor rally, charged that the Costa Rican was being "influenced" by international interests. Castro advocated neutralism for Cuba when he declared:

"Why say in the face of tragedy (the hydrogen bomb threat) that we must choose sides? . . . Why not proclaim our right to live our own lives even if they do kill us?"

Basically, what Castro seems to have in mind for Cuba is a one-class society, with everybody in the middle class. He announced his aim is to "elevate the poor and reduce the wealthy."

Here are some of the laws and programs advocated by Castro. Several have strong Socialist or Communist overtones.

AGRICULTURAL REFORM — Give each man the land he farms. Break up the large farms. Make government-owned tractors available to small farmers. Extensive land reclaiming program in the swamps and salt marshes of Southern Cuba.

URBAN REFORM — Designed to stimulate construction by threatening government confiscation of vacant properties. Castro says owners must build — or else. Plans low-cost housing projects.

RENT LAW — Arbitrarily cut in half all rents which did

Inside a Trouble Spot

Reporter John B. McDermott has focused on politics and foreign affairs throughout the world. His travels to Russia, Africa, Germany and the Near East have brought Herald readers inside reports from the globe's trouble spots.

In this, the second of a series, McDermott studies turbulent Cuba, and how it is faring under the rule of bearded revolutionist Fidel Castro.

HAVANA—Did Fidel Castro and his men take over the government of Cuba without any real military victory?

Those here who closely watched the revolution develop and finally succeed say this is true. They say this cold military fact has much to do with the current political picture in the country.

Certainly there were the rebel raids from the Sierra Maestro range, and the besieging of Santiago by Castro's men.

GAUDET

But long-time observers here say the collapse of Fulgencio Batista's forces came from corruption, not from any military beating.

At the time of Batista's flight from Cuba Jan. 1, say these observers, there were no less than a dozen groups working to overthrow the government. The big difference was that Castro's men were the ones ready to move in and take over.

Once Castro was the man of the hour, his popularity soared. Now, nobody can beat him.

But there are still oppositionists, many of them trained politicians. They are careful not to make any outward moves — but they will talk privately and they will tell you they will not remain inactive forever.

They say that eventually it will be the old-line politicians—as opposed to Castro's young idealists—who will move in again to take over.

Two of the strongest of the opposition political parties are the Communists and the Autenticos, the party of former President Carlos Prio Socarras.

Manuel Antonio de Varona, head of the Autentico Party, in a recent television interview managed adroitly to praise the Castro regime while making a lot of qualifications.

His most significant statement was that the period of the revolution, and its accompanying business "retraction," will not be over "until the people vote their approval of revolutionary laws in an election."

Cuba's politicians may be sidelined. But they have not abandoned their goals.

Latin Diplomats Hope Nixon Can Dispel Castro's Coolness

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Several Latin American diplomats friendly to the U.S. voiced hope Sunday Vice President Richard M. Nixon will have a heart-to-heart chat with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro during his unofficial visit here April 17.

These diplomats, who did not want to be identified, are disturbed over Castro's growing hostility toward the U.S., especially his recent statement that Cuba would remain neutral in the event of war between the U.S. and Russia.

They believe that a forthright talk between Nixon and the Cuban leader might go a long way toward dispelling differences between the two countries.

Castro is due to come here at the invitation of the American Society of Newspaper Editors to address its annual meeting. The State Department has said publicly that Castro "will assuredly be welcome here."

But many U.S. officials are known to be cool toward the visit. They want Castro's appointments with high officials kept to a minimum.

The Latin American diplomats said it would be a grave mistake for the U.S. government to snub Castro, especially since the U.S. is still under fire for being too friendly with Latin American dictators.

Castro feels that the last two U.S. ambassadors to Cuba under the regime of Fulgencio Batista were overly friendly to the ousted president. He says this is the big obstacle to more friendly relations between the U.S. and Cuba.

According to the Latin American diplomats, this is where Nixon could be most useful.

Nixon was briefed on Castro's "26 of July" movement by Puerto Rican Gov. Luis Munoz Marin during Munoz' visit here last month. Their conversation was given little notice at the time.

Munoz urged greater understanding for the revolutionary spirit in Cuba, even though he was critical of the summary execution of war criminals.

In about these words, Munoz told the vice president: "We cannot allow the overwhelming moral achievement of a whole country rising against despotism to be marred by sporadic incidents resulting from the revolutionary fervor."

Dalai Lama Hurt in Fall From Hill, Say Reports

—Associated Press Wirephoto

Dalai Lama, Left, and Panchen Lama on 1956 Visit to India

. . . now Dalai Lama has been replaced by rival, set up by Red China

No Details On Injury Available

NEW DELHI —(UPI)— The Dalai Lama, god-king of Tibet, was seriously injured in a fall from a hill while fleeing to refuge from the Chinese Communists, according to persistent private reports in New Delhi and the border areas Sunday.

The reports could not be confirmed here. The Reds have sealed off all normal communications between Tibet and the outside world since the anti-Communist revolt flared in the sacred city of Lhasa last week.

Except for Red China's statement that it had smashed the Lhasa revolt and set up a puppet government, all news on the Tibetan situation has been brought out by traders and refugees who made their way to the border.

According to the reports, the Dalai Lama was heading eastward from Lhasa with his guards for a place of safety when he fell and was injured.

There were no other details.

Meanwhile, reports in Gangtok, capital of Sikkim state, said the Tibetan rebels had captured one of the two largest airfields in Tibet.

The exact whereabouts of the Dalai Lama were not known. But diplomatic sources said the Reds had sealed off all possible escape routes leading south to the border and called in a special manhunting staff to track him down.

The Peiping regime Saturday said it had deposed the Dalai Lama and installed a new government of Tibet under the pro-Communist Panchen Lama.

A communique broadcast by Peiping said the Dalai Lama was "under duress by the rebels" — an indirect admission that he had escaped from his winter palace in Lhasa.

Despite the Reds' claim to have "completely smashed" the revolt, reports trickling across the border said the fight was continuing.

Tibetan exile leaders in India pledged a fight to the death to win freedom for the ancient Himalayan kingdom and save the Dalai Lama from Red oppression.

The pledges were made by spokesmen for Tibetans living in India who came here to appeal to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to take up their cause against the Communists.

Revolt to Succeed, Say Nationalists

TAIPEI, Formosa — (AP) — Nationalist Chinese claimed Sunday that the Tibetan rebellion was spreading and would eventually succeed.

It is taken for granted by the public here that the Nationalist government has been air-dropping limited supplies to the rebels and will expand this aid. This conviction has not been affected by official silence on the subject.

Nixons, 35,000 Brave Gray To Attend Sunrise Services

he that hath seen Me hath seen the Father.'

"'Before Abraham was made, I am'"

Those who heard these words included Christ's disciples, introduced next as they took their places around the familiar table of the Last Supper.

As they moved from the upper room to the Garden of Gethsemane, the singing of crickets from the sound track (used for the first time this year to accompany each scene) made it all seem authentic.

The Christus, portrayed by Robert Godbey with the voice of Noah Tyler on tape, then prayed His timeless prayer, "Oh, my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me; nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt."

Suddenly the quiet was interrupted by the appearance of Judas and the soldiers who seized Jesus, drug Him to Pontius Pilate for "trial," scourged Him, and took Him up Calvary's hill where they nailed Him to the cross.

Thunder and lightning, produced effectively by the technical skill of Bill Stone and Jim Hahn, accompanied the crucifixion. And then the body of the Lord was removed in quietness and placed in the tomb.

In the climaxing resurrection scene, the garment of the risen Christ glowed with a blue-white light. He stood above the tomb, arms outstretched, as the 100-voice choir directed by Miguel Quetglas sang the "Hallelujah Chorus."

And the closing words of the narrator were: "Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day: And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations."

It is the church's insistant demand that this statement is true which is the heart of the Christian gospel, the Rev. Lane G. Adams was explaining to the Nixons and the other worshipers over by the seaside.

The pastor of the Key Biscayne Presbyterian Church said that too often poeple don't really believe these facts because they are not honest about their doubts, never seriously examine the evidence and seek to escape the moral claims Christ would have on their lives if they really believed it.

"But if you don't believe in the bodily resurrection of Christ, take heart," he said. "The disciples were not prepared to believe at first, either."

Then the Rev. Mr. Adams listed the usual arguments against accepting the resurrection and then refuted them, finally outlining reasons for believing in the cornerstone event.

He declared that the change that came into the lives of the disciples, the testimony of the church down through the ages, and the experience of those who confront Christ today are proof enough.

He concluded by challenging the worshipers to live as if they believed that Christ has risen and offers real, abundant and eternal life to those who believe.

Typical of the messages preached at the other two dozen sunrise services were the ones delivered on the lawn of the Coral Gables city hall and at Oceanside Park in Miami Beach.

The Rev. W. Baxter Weant, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, told the 2,000 early-bird worshipers in Coral Gables that there are two phases to the Easter story and most folks get only through the first phase.

He said that first step is responding to the angel's invitation to come and see that the Savior has risen.

However, he pointed out, the tomb was not empty because it was filled with God's light, His word and the gospel of the resurrection.

Pastor Weant declared that the women who came to the tomb were given the opportunity for the most blessed service they ever rendered when they were asked to go tell the disciples that Christ had risen.

"At this point most of us fail Him," asserted the Rev. Mr. Weant. "We come, see, and hear, but fail to go tell."

Meanwhile, rain before and after the service somewhat dampened the usual enthusiasm at the area's oldest sunrise program on Miami Beach. But there was no rain during the service attended by 1,000 worshipers.

They heard the Rev. Joseph Crawley, of the St. John's-on-the-Lake Methodist Church, point out that the events of Easter promise that God will never be far off with joy and new life although there will be times of trial for those who love and follow Him.

Rebel Leader Reported Killed

ALGIERS —(AP)— The French army said Sunday a rebel Col. Amirouche has been killed near Bou Saada, 150 miles south of Algiers. He was described as one of the leading chiefs of the Nationalist rebellion.

An army announcement said Amirouche was killed Thursday when French units swooped down on a meeting place of military chiefs of the Nationalist Army of Liberation.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

BELL

COUNTY Manager O. W. Campbell thinks the best way to stop drownings is to teach all children to swim. It's the most sensible solution, for we can't eliminate rivers, canals, oceans and lakes — and every day we get more swimming pools.

The Bells have lived on a canal since our girls were born. We did teach them to be careful. But in addition they learned to swim when very small. I reckon every kid in Bay Point has fallen into the water at least once. But they all could swim. When we have summer camp we teach every non-swimmer to swim. The children at public and YMCA pools can get instruction. The teaching program can be extended to every child.

The danger now is inertia on the part of the commissioners. Mere talk won't start a swimming program.

Florida Derby

How good is Jim Norris' colt East Spur: How good is Troilus? Or is there another capable of beating both of them Saturday?

The Florida Derby at Gulfstream shapes up much better than did the Flamingo at Hialeah. This is because Easy Spur beat Troilus so easily last week.

Horace Wade, reminiscing as usual, tells of an English suffragette who threw herself under the King's horse during the running of one English Derby at Epsom Downs. Then there was the American Derby at Chicago in 1893 that had 25 false starts and went off 90 minutes late. Then there was the American Derby of 1926, won by one of Col. E. L. Bradley's horses. He got his $100,000 check in the winner's circle — and it bounced.

The Gulfstream check won't bounce. Jimmy Donn has too many begonias and calladiums for that.

Somebody Goofed

Oops! 39 Mothers Of Year Aren't

NEW YORK —(AP)— A red-faced and apologetic American Mothers Committee acknowledged bravely Sunday that 39 mothers had been mistakenly notified of their selection as Kansas mother of the year. A clerical error was blamed.

Two of those erroneously informed already have come forward. The committee uneasily awaited word from others.

The selection of the Kansas mother actually will be made today in Wichita.

Mrs. Aileen Fogarty, national director of the American Mothers Committee, which selects the national mother of the year from state winners, said the mixup was caused by volunteers who helped with the organization's mailing.

The volunteers were mailing letters to members whose names were contained on an alphabetical list of states. Apparently all the wrong letters were confined to Kansas.

"At least I hope it's only Kansas," exclaimed Mrs. Fogarty. She had rushed in to take some of the pressure off Mrs. Daniel A. Poling, national chairman of the committee, who had been deluged with queries resulting from the error.

"We'll lose our Kansas chairman unless she's a dear," Mrs. Fogarty lamented.

She seemed to be reading the mind of the Kansas chairman, Mrs. John Selfridge of Wichita, who announced she was going to be away from home to escape telephone calls.

The error became known after Mrs. Nellie Krueger of the little northern Kansas community of Washington announced receipt of a letter telling her she was the Kansas mother of the year. The town's weekly newspaper published the story Thursday, and a Topeka paper picked it up.

A much confused Kansas selection committee checked hastily with headquarters in New York and learned of the error—but not its magnitude.

Then Saturday night, a second Kansas woman, Mrs. Fred Gould of Arkansas City, announced receipt of an identical letter. That prompted another check with national headquarters and the whole story came out.

Latin Likes Miami--and He Repents

A year ago last May a Venezuelan student picked up a rock and threw it at the American Embassy.

"I want you to know before I leave that I have spent the most wonderful 15 days in my life in Miami.

"I didn't have any idea that Americans can be so wonderful and warm. The men and women on the streets, the hotel workers, policemen all helped me with a smile.

"I don't speak any English. (A friend is writing this for me in English).

"But always people tried to understand my words with patience and understanding. You can't imagine the wonderful impression of the American people I am taking back to my country.

"A year ago I didn't have any idea about you. I listened to what some people tried to make me believe.

"You can imagine now how sorry I am for throwing a rock at the U.S. Embassy."

It was signed, "A Venezuelan student."

10-1 for State, Hawaii Forecast

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Hawaiian Delegate John A. Burns predicted Sunday that the islands' 175,000 registered voters would vote 10 to 1 in favor of statehood.

Burns also said that Hawaii's present appointed governor, New York born William F. Quinn, told him last week he would schedule Hawaii's first national primary elections for the third week in June and final elections for the third week in July.

Hawaii will elect a new governor, a state cabinet, two national senators and one House member. The primary must be held within 90 days and the final elections within 130 days after the vote on statehood.

could be more important to individuals or nations than the resurrection of the Master," Benson, a church leader, said.

A crowd of 8,000 at Rindge, N. H., attended sunrise services at the Cathedral of the Pines but the worshipers wore ski clothing and wrapped themselves in blankets.

Weather also hampered services at the Wichita Mountains Easter Pageant near Lawton, Okla. A crowd of near 100,000 had been expected but only 20,000 showed up after a night of rain and an early morning fog.

"Old Ironsides," the USS Constitution, the Navy's oldest regularly commissioned ship, was the scene of still another Easter service at Charlestown, Mass.

And at Vandenberg Air Force base, Calif., 24 pacifists held their Easter services outside the field's main gate. They said they belonged to the "Fellowship of Reconciliation" and the Friends Church, and were praying for world peace.

7 Children Die in Fire

DANIELTOWN, Va. — (AP) — Seven small Negro children perished Sunday when fire destroyed their home while their parents were away for an Easter sunrise service.

They were children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lewis. Lewis, 34, had taken his wife to the sunrise service at Mount Zion Church about a mile away. Lynn Towers, a white man from Dundas, was passing about 5:40 a.m. and saw the small four-room frame cottage on fire. He attempted to kick in the back door but was unable to gain entrance because the interior was ablaze.

Towers said a large St. Bernard dog, owned by the family, was attempting to awaken the children but could not get inside and was unsuccessful by barking.

National Summary

A disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico during mid day resulted in occasional rain from the Eastern Gulf states and portions of the South Atlantic coast states into the Ohio valley with scattered sleet or snow in the mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina. Significant amounts of rain were observed in the Gulf states where Atlanta, Georgia reported .37 inches in six hours while Montgomery, Alabama measured .34 during the same period. The rain will spread across portions of the Virginias into Western Pennsylvania tonight beginning as snow or sleet in higher elevations and will prevail intermittently from the Carolinas into New York today.

Mostly sunny skies occurred from New England into Maryland accompanied by temperatures in the 20s and 40s with Boston reporting a reading of 40 while the nation's capital had a 42. Fair weather will continue in New England with increasing cloudiness today.

Sunshine prevailed in the north and south border states from the Rockies into the Mississippi Valley while cloudiness shaded the remainder of the mid section of the country. Temperatures in the 40s and 50s occurred over most of the middle portion of the nation except for the 30s in the Great Lakes region and the 60 near the gulf.

Pork Chop Grip Tightens

Reapportionment The Binding Tie

TALLAHASSEE—(UPI)—The majority bloc of the State Senate, welded together by North Florida and small county ties, currently is riding higher than it has in years.

The bloc will go into the 1959 Legislative session on April 7 in complete control of the Senate, both on the floor and in the important committees.

Dewey Johnson
. . . holds the reins

Charley Johns
. . . bloc stalwart

W. Turner Davis
. . . in power post

The group, sometimes called the "Pork Chop Gang," claims as members at least 21 of the 38 senators, and seems in position to count on support from one or two more in a pinch.

Johnson, who'll be 52 the day before the session opens, is a lawyer and farmer.

So far, he has handed all the political plums to the leaders of the majority bloc, and given short shrift to big county senators.

Apportionment is the cement which holds together the "Pork Choppers," and Johnson already has served notice on Gov. LeRoy Collins the majority bloc won't stand still for any reapportionment plan which would break its hold on the Senate.

Working with Johnson as a sort of advisory body are a half dozen other influential senators — Charley E. Johns of Starke, Wilson Carraway of Tallahassee, John Rawls of Marianna, Turner Davis of Madison, S. D. Clarke of Monticello, and Randolph Hodges of Cedar Key.

Johns is an insurance man and banker and served as acting governor of Florida in 1953 and 1954. He has a two-county district — Union and Bradford. He is 54.

Carraway, Tallahassee banker and soft drink bottler, also is 54. He has a one-county district, Leon, site of the state capital. Carraway is mentioned as possible Senate president in 1961.

Rawls, Marianna attorney, is youngest of the majority bloc's old-time leaders. He is 38, was born on New Year's Day in 1921.

Davis, chairman of the Rules Committee in 1957, will be chairman of this powerful body again this year. An attorney, Davis is 57, and considered one of the most astute men in the Senate, sometimes called the "old gray fox."

Clarke, oldest man in the Senate, is 78. He is a banker, and former president of the Senate. His views are respected, but he does not take the same active interest in running the majority bloc he once did.

Hodges, 45, is an ice manufacturer and dealer in marine supplies in his fishing-village hometown of Cedar Key. He'll head the Temperance Committee, and has appointments to other key committees. He'll also be Senate president pro tem.

Others in the bloc are Tom Adams, Orange Park real estate dealer; Philip Beall, Pensacola attorney; Harvie J. Belser, Bonifay attorney; Irlo Bronson, Kissimmee rancher, Newman C. Brackin, Crestview druggist, Drew Branch, Liberty County contractor.

James E. Connor, Brooksville real estate brokers; J. Emory Cross, Gainesville attorney, L. K. Edwards Jr., Marion County rancher; J. C. Getzen Jr., Bushnell attorney; H. H. Hair, Live Oak hospital administrator; Bart Knight, Blountstown attorney; G. T. Melton, Lake City oil distributor; B. C. Pearce, Palatka farmer, and Harry O. Stratton, Callahan business executive.

Capital Corner

Switch In Race Is Seen

By JOHN L. BOYLES
Capitol Bureau Chief

TALLAHASSE — State Sen. Verle Pope of St. Augustine will abandon the idea of running for governor in 1960 if his cousin, Doyle Carlton Jr., decides to make the race.

BOYLES

However-Pope, who is in the insurance and real estate business, may be a candidate for a Cabinet post — possibly State Treasurer — next year.

He indicated recently that friends had suggested he seek the office, if he doesn't try for the governorship.

Meanwhile State Treasurer and Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson is trying to beef up his position by pushing for strong legislative action on traffic safety measures in an effort to halt rising auto insurance rates through reduction of accidents.

Lobbies Grow

A RECORD number of lobbyists are expected to sweep down on the capital corridors when the Legislature convenes week after next.

Two years ago there were nearly 700 registered, representing varied interests and organizations. When the issues multiply, the legislative pitchmen increase. In 1955 only 436 were on hand.

Talk of stern economy measures, the continuing debate on the need for new segregation laws, central purchasing to tighten controls on government buying and reform procedures for purchasing printing, will spur lobbying activities.

Stamps Again

THE OLD HASSLE over retail trading stamps, one of the most lobbied issues ever to come before the Legislature, is expected to be revived.

And Gov. LeRoy Collins' proposal to abolish the practice of naturopathy will cause the nature doctors to call in their lobbying troops.

The catch in the proposal drafted by a group of printers at Orlando recently is that the industry would still largely control purchasing practices.

New Pattern?

THEY RECOMMENDED an advisory board of five members of the printing industry, appointed by the governor, to guide a central buying program for state printing.

This could result in all industries doing business with the state — asphalt contractors, concrete manufacturers, office equipment houses and others, asking for an advisory board in each field.

Shopping Center Work Will Start

FORT PIERCE — A permit for the Abood Shopping Center, at U.S. 1, and Sunrise Blvd., was issued Friday. Construction is due to start immediately, with W. W. Arnold Construction Company as the contractor. The permit was for $215,000.

The center will have 10 units, one a super market. Completion is set for Aug. 1.

Easter Egg

Groups of youngsters, all decked out in their best bibs and tuckers, could be seen on street corners throughout the nation Sunday. But these children in Jacksonville had a bit more Easter atmosphere than most, as they waited at the corner of Peter Rabbit Drive and Cottontail Lane.

Gang Leader in Kansas Jail

Phony Melbourne City Checks Used by Interstate Passers

by BILL BUNGE
Melbourne Bureau Chief

MELBOURNE—Armed with a supply of city of Melbourne blank checks, a typewriter and rubber stamps, an ex-convict from Texas launched a bogus check writing spree.

But the equipment used by William J. Olson, alias William J. Cox, of Abilene, Tex. couldn't turn out the same quality product as the municipal check writing machine, used for all pay roll checks.

He made another mistake when he failed to learn who signs the real Melbourne pay checks and how they are numbered.

Olson, who met his Waterloo in a Wichita, Kan., hotel, is believed the head of a bogus check operation covering at least four states. It's still a mystery how the blank checks were obtained.

While Olson sits, tight-lipped, in the Wichita jail, Melbourne's check system supplier and its bonding company are trying to figure out who will stand the loss. And the Federal Bureau of Investigation and law enforcement agencies in four states are hunting other members of the ring.

Melbourne City Clerk Mary Lou Knecht told the Herald Sunday the tip-off on the case came two weeks ago "When my office received Olson's first cancelled checks from the Bank of Melbourne and Trust Co.

"We immediately notified our bank, the Todd Co. of Birmingham, our check supplier, and the FBI," she said.

Miss Knecht explained Melbourne adopted this insured pay roll check system in 1957, and the worthless checks "will not cause the city any loss whatsoever."

About $1,000 worth of the bogus checks have been cashed, the last one two days ago.

The first, for $100, was cashed at a Memphis department store by a "Rev. Guy Layne," to whom it was made payable. It was signed by "F. C. Reece, city manager," and "Martin Timans, city clerk," both phony names, said Miss Knecht.

Since that one, the city clerk said, two others for $100 each went through the bank here, and a fourth for $50. They were passed in Macon, Atlanta and Birmingham.

The last shipment of checks received by Melbourne from the Todd firm were numbered 1,001 up. The phony checks started at one and ran to 1,000. Police believe they got all of ring's checks when they picked Olson up.

Melbourne Police Chief John D. Thomas said Wichita police told him Olson "won't talk." He is being held on a check forgery charge, pending issuance of a state warrant.

This case was kept secret, Thomas said, because of fear publicity might tip off the other participants. However, a Kansas relative of a Central Florida newsman sent him a Wichita newspaper clipping, telling of Olson's arrest.

This newsman re-wrote the Wichita story for his Sunday edition.

UF Prof Says

State's Reactors Ready for Work

GAINESVILLE—(UPI)—Florida has enough bricks in its nuclear research brickyard — "now it's time to start building something."

So spoke Dean Joseph Weil of the University of Florida engineering college who will see a dream come true next month when a 10-kilowatt critical reactor finally goes into operation.

This reactor can open unlimited horizons in the industrial field, Weil said. It will permit exhaustive study of ways to reduce the cost of nuclear power and to use it in the development of Florida's resources.

"With Florida's limited resources, we should take advantage of the great wealth of knowledge in nuclear research and see if we can't bring it into practicality," he said.

He noted state appropriations in nuclear research so far have totaled $5,300,000. But only $900,000 has actually gone into a project which can have a direct bearing on industrial development and expansion in the state. This was the money allotted for the critical reactor and related equipment, plus salaries for professors who will supervise its training use.

The remainder went toward basic research, such as involved in the sub-critical reactor in use at the University.

The power-producing reactor at the University, which Weil said would be in operation by late April, could be a boon to a proposed 50-thousand kilowatt reactor planned for Central Florida in the next three or four years.

The huge reactor would be financed jointly by the state, industry and federal government. General Nuclear Corp. has been hired to do the design work and studies are underway on the type of reactor to use.

The practical use of the University's reactor in this project are obvious, Weil said. Industry already has invested more than $200,000 in the atom splitter which can be employed in more ways imaginable, the educator explained.

4-Day Statewide Hunt Ends, Two Boys Found

By Herald Services

FORT PIERCE — A four-day hunt for two unauthorized youthful tourists, which had reached statewide proportions, ended Sunday in Fort Lauderdale, the St. Lucie County sheriff's office reported.

John Stewart and Francis Conrad, both of White City, near Fort Pierce, where picked up by police there Sunday. They had been missing from their homes since Thursday.

The only clue in the case was a postcard, mailed by Francis to Douglas Case, 14, of Fort Pierce. The card said "Having a fine time in Miami. Wish you was with me."

The parents of the lads, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Conrad, said a "warm welcome" awaited the pair.

Property Value Hearing Reset

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Comptroller Ray E. Green has rescheduled for April 13 a meeting with Seminole County Tax Assessor Mary Walker and the legislative delegation.

Green had set the conference for April 9. Objective is to iron out a dispute in which Mrs. Walker has refused to accept a reappraisal of Seminole County property the county commission hired a firm to make.

The commission complained to Green the county needs revenues higher real estate evaluations will bring.

Evinrudes Due At Beach Home

JENSEN BEACH—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Evinrude are slated to arrive by air today from Los Angeles, Calif. They are traveling in their private plane. They will spend some time at their home here.

Mrs. Evinrude is Frances Langford, motion picutre, radio, and TV star.

Long Swim Brings Aid To Vessel

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — A West Palm Beach man swam a half mile in choppy seas to summon help after his 21-foot cabin cruiser broke down three miles north of Jupiter Inlet. His swim started an all-night rescue operation.

Coast Guard personnel reported Sunday Dave Watson, a diver, and his companion, Harry Acker, 38, of Riviera Beach, were stranded on the boat in "very rough" surf with engine trouble.

Watson swam to Hobe Sound, and a Coast Guard craft started a rescue which was not complited until 9 a.m. Sunday, 12 hours later.

Huge swells made the rescue operation hazardous. Repeated attempts to secure the cabin cruiser to a tow line failed. Acker remained aboard the boat.

Watson had been diving for marine specimens when the boat developed engine trouble, the Coast Guard said.

Waterway Spoil Roadbed Urged

FORT PIERCE — A plan to use spoil from the deepening of the Intracoastal Waterway, as fill to extend State Rd. A1A south on Hutchinson island, has been endorsed by the Indian River Drive Association.

The association members at a recent meeting, heard the proposal of R. R. Tilton of Jenson Beach, who said use of the spoil would aid the construction of A1A, as well as prevent unsightly fill islands, or shoals.

Association members have studied the spoil problem for several weeks. Contracts for deepening the waterway to the Fort Pierce South Bridge have been let.

After Salerno Protest

Martin County Plans Action on Stray Dogs

STUART — As the result of a petition presented to the Martin County Commission, by Mrs. Mickey Johnson of Salerno, quick action will be taken to eliminate the dog menace in that area.

Mrs. Johnson said that three children had been attacked by dogs and were bitten, and that packs of dogs, obviously not owned by residents, roamed the streets and barked all night.

County Attorney William R. Scott advised the commission that immediate remedy could be had by bringing a suit against dog owners, a suit to abate a public nuisance.

Scott suggested that the same suit could be brought in other communities in the county which are unincorporated.

The commission gave unanimous approval and directed Scott to proceed with a suit.

Scott who is also state representative, also told the commission that he would introduce a bill, a "county-wide dog law," which would require all dogs to be licensed, and have rabies shots.

The local bill will be the only bill so far that will carry a referendum. The electors are to vote on the issue at the November general election.

Holiday Mishaps Kill 8

By The Associated Press

Florida's weekend has been marred by at least eight accidental deaths.

Daniel S. Hammond, 47, of Orlando, was killed by a train as he walked along a trestle in Jacksonville Friday night.

In another Friday night accident, Howard Travis Utley, 49, of Pensacola, died in a headon auto collision in West Pensacola. Three persons, including the driver of the other car, Edward Eugene Salter, 22, were injured. Authorities said Salter's car, going at high speed, skidded into the path of Utley's car.

Jimmy Don Holaway, 20, of McCoy Air Force Base at Orlando, was killed, also Friday night, when his motor scooter was struck from the rear by a car. Holaway was from Hartsell, Ala.

An 18-year-old Negro, Franklin Mitchell, died Friday night in an auto accident on a rural road near Quincy.

Donald Mays, 17-year-old Melbourne High School student, drowned in Indian River near the Melbourne causeway Saturday when he attempted to retrieve a cork, which came off a fishing line.

His aunt, Mrs. Dan Holmes, tried to rescue him, but got into trouble herself and was saved by Eldon E. Frye, off-duty Melbourne policeman who was fishing nearby.

Festus Alvah Tatum, a West Palm Beach policeman, was killed Saturday in a collision between his motorcycle and a scooter operated by a 15-year-old boy.

Tatum, 35, was escorting a funeral procession when the accident occurred. Police said Elmer Lutz Jr., cut through the line of mourners at an intersection. The boy suffered a broken leg, cuts and other injuries.

Carleton Crosby, 17, of Trenton was killed near Fernandina Beach Friday night when a car in which he was riding left the road and hit a tree.

John Henry Dinkins, 22, Fort Lauderdale Negro, was killed in a Sunday highway accident on State Rd. 84, near Fort Lauderdale.

Highway patrolmen reported the car driven by Dinkins skidded as it attempted to pass another and crashed into the second vehicle. A passenger in Dinkins' auto was injured.

Pay Pledge, Is Request

FORT PIERCE — Unredeemed hospital expansion fund pledges, totaling $20,000 stand in the way of financing a $500,000 addition, and "Keep Your Promise" week starts Monday, when an all-out effort will be made to collect the pledges.

While most pledges have been paid, there are still 300 outstanding. Working on the campaign are Hospital President Arthur Rubin and directors Charles P. Brown, Kenneth Peterson, E. W. Lins, W. L. Gray, and a special committee of women.

Dulles Due To Arrive In Florida

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will fly to Florida today in President Eisenhower's plane, Columbine III.

Dulles will leave Washington at 10:45 a.m. today for convalescence following cancer treatments at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Mrs. Dulles, a physician and two State Department aides will accompany the secretary. The physician is Capt. Edward J. Kamin II, of the Walter Reed staff, a specialist in internal medicine.

The Dulles plane is due to land at Palm Beach Air Force Base at 2:15 p.m. The group will motor to the residence of Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon at Hobe Sound, about 30 miles away.

State Department Press Officer Francis W. Tully Jr. said Dulles will be in Florida indefinitely "for a period of convalescence."

Psychologist To be Speaker

STUART — Dr. Melvin P. Reid, chief psychological consultant of the Bureau of Mental Health of the Board of Health, will speak on mental health programs for school at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Martin County High School Cafetorium.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Tom Curtis, program chairman of the school PTA.

Dr. Reid will outline procedure to help recognize mental disturbances in children.

Big Rocket Test Unit is Planned

CHINA LAKE, Calif. — (UPI) — The Navy plans to build a rocket engine test stand here to handle up to one-million pounds of thrust, "primarily for the evaluation and development of solid fuel rocket engines."

The project was announced by Naval officials. They said the facility is to be 35 feet long and 30 feet wide, and is expected to be operational late this year.

How Big Will U.S. Deficit Be?

...Government outgo to exceed income

...No new spiral in prices expected

...Ike's pleas called scare campaign

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

SYLVIA

The 1960 Federal budget will be unbalanced.

This has been a two-to-one bet since the instant in January when President Eisenhower sent his 77 billion dollar budget to Congress precariously balanced on paper to show a hairline surplus.

Now, it's about as certain as any forecast about government spending in this era can be.

The government's outgo in the year beginning this July will top its income by at least a couple of billion dollars, quite likely by more.

This has been the probability all along, for the President's budget totals have been based from the start on some embarrassingly flimsy premises — assumptions that Congress would juggle the figures so spending for next year would be "charged" to this year, that it would not vote a penny more than the President requested, that it would approve boosts in gas taxes, postal rates, etc.

Now, with Congress refusing to go along with the President's statistical hanky-panky, determined to hike spending in many areas and ignoring the proposals for gas tax and postal rate boosts, the question is not whether there'll be a deficit in the '60 budget. The question is only "how big?"

The foreseeable deficit in the next budget will not by itself spark a new round of inflationary price increases.

This also has been thoroughly understood by serious students of government finance, and objective observers have been sharply criticizing administration spokesmen for encouraging the impression that a budget balanced to the decimal point next year is imperative to avoid inflation.

Now, with hope for a balanced budget at just about zero, there is real danger in the "open mouth" budget policy the President is pursuing. And it's time this was put on the line in plain language.

There is no secret whatsoever about anything I've written here. It's not news to Wall Street or to informed businessmen the nation over, or to economic literates in Washington.

It's also no secret that the key aim of the administration's dire warnings about a deficit is to keep Congress from going overboard on voting extra spending. This is, in short, basically a scare campaign.

What's the danger, then? The danger is that a scare campaign of this sort can boomerang badly. The day of statistical reckoning will come this summer, when the budget estimates must be officially revised. The new estimates will show a deficit. And then, as the conservative trade daily, "The Journal of Commerce," recently put it in a message to its financial readers, "The Administration's response can only be one of two things:

"It can say, in effect, 'Shucks, Mr. Citizen, Mr. Investor, Mr. Businessman, we didn't really mean it. A deficit of this size isn't really going to hurt much.'

"Or it can say, 'Well, we warned you and now it has happened. Congress unbalanced the budget and prices are going to take off into the upper stratosphere'..."

Obviously, the second response would be intolerable; it would help create the very inflationary runaway so deeply feared. There are also inherent dangers in the first response. After all you've heard, you well might refuse to accept the assurances. Or if you did accept them, you might begin to doubt all warnings and at some future date when the inflation threat might be highest, you might just refuse to listen.

This is no casual, carping essay on the budget. In the hope of offsetting some of the exaggerations, here are a few hard points:

The 1960 budget will show a deficit, and the GOP will enter the next Presidential election with a record of six years of unbalanced budgets during the height of the Eisenhower administration;

A higher-than-estimated take from corporation taxes is likely to hold down the next deficit to a fairly moderate figure;

A gently rising price level would be the long-term outlook in this land with a balanced budget, as well as without it.

"housework cut in half...leaves more time to enjoy my children"

Mrs. Ruth Stutzman, 2035 N.W. 186th St., Opa Locka, says: "I have had both gas and electric kitchens and I find my housework cut in half because electric is so much cleaner. I am most happy, as it leaves me more time to enjoy my children and not be a slave to my kitchen; not to mention how much more economical."

For Less Work, More Fun...

It's Time to Change...To an Electric Range

Modern electric cooking pays off in many wonderful ways. Safest because it's flameless! No fumes, no danger from constant-burning pilot lights. Absolutely worry-free. Cook, roast without potwatching. Just set dial and enjoy push-button freedom.

Electric cooking is white-glove clean. Never any soot, or greasy film to smudge your walls and curtains. Pots and pans stay "brand-new" bright. You save household drudgery. You save yourself!

No wonder over 2 million Floridians now enjoy the safety and convenience of automatic electric cooking. And remember . . . it's cheaper to go all-electric in the kitchen-laundry than to use a combination of fuels.

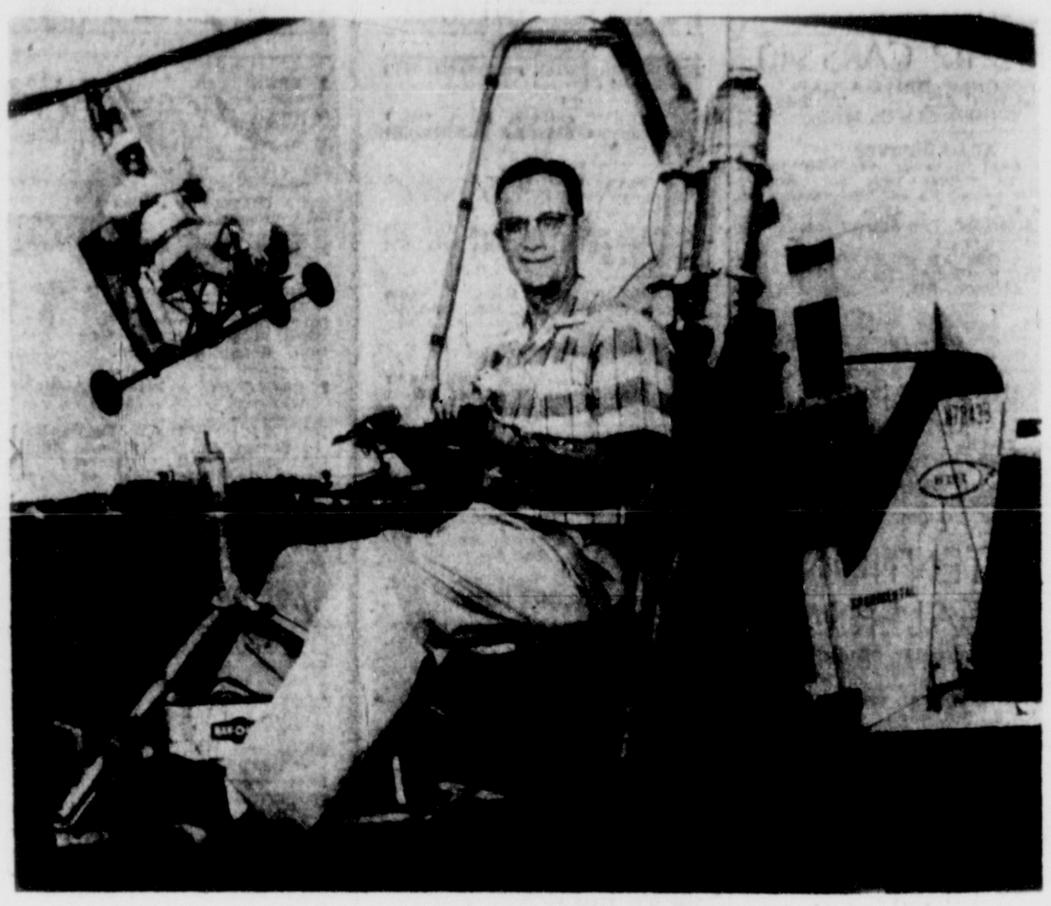
But Josephine's Grounded

His Rockin' Chair Takes Off

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer



Prop Behind Tom Smith Pushes
. . . and non-powered rotor lifts gyro copter

LAKE WORTH — Tom Smith frolics in a flying machine the likes of which you won't find anywhere else in the area.

His was the first in the state, and he's still the only proud owner of a gyro copter — a flying rocking chair — in Palm Beach County.

It really rocks — up and down, and from side to side. It has aileron, or rolling, control that's why.

Smith, 51, city manager of Lake Worth, can't take Josephine, or anyone, up, up, up in his flying machine. It's a one-seater. ("Two men can pick it up and carry it. It only weighs 185 pounds.") But he's been rocking and rolling in the blue yonder two years with it himself.

"It's a sport," he says.

Smith isn't new to flying and neither is the gyro copter. It made its comeback from the 20's only in those days — the same days Smith first took to the wing — they were called autogyros, and looked slightly different, not so much like a rocking chair.

The helicopter, now a more popular rotary-wing craft, is really a come-lately to the sky.

The difference? The helicopter and gyro copter both have windmill, or rotating, blades overhead. The gyro copter's windmill is turned — you guessed it — by the wind, and the helicopter's blades are powered.

The flying rocking chair ("it's been called everything, even a humming bird,") will soar to 12,000 feet ("I haven't taken it that high yet,") and has a top speed of 75 mph. It cruises at 40 to 60 mph.

Smith can frolic in the clouds for 40 miles before he has to refuel.

This open-air rocking chair is safer than most aircraft. If the motor conks out, you still have the windmill.

"In a free fall, it levels out at 17 feet per second, slower than a parachute. The 10-foot blade acts like an air brake."

Smith hauls his flying machine on a converted boat trailer to Lantana Airport, where he takes off. He could use it for short hops from Lake Worth to West Palm Beach, instead of fighting the road traffic. But the gyro copter needs a 200 to 300 foot take-off strip. Landing takes less space.

"It sits down like a bird," Smith said. "The blade goes back like a bird's wing. Its landing roll is only 10 to 20 feet."

The flying city manager also has a whirly water glider which is motorless. The rocking chair has a motor for forward thrust.

Equipped with three pontoons, the glider is towed by a boat until it is up and aloft on its own windmill blade.

Smith, an undertaker for 33 years before he became city manager in 1957, took up flying as a hobby in 1928.

He learned in a 90-horse power, open-cockpit, Waco 10 and has logged 2,000 flying hours. He holds a commercial pilot's license, but "I've never flown for money."

A member of the Elite Quiet Birdmen, Smith flew with the CAP as a ground search officer in World War II. He's been through two minor crashes and scores of close calls.

In the air for 31 years, Smith claims you're on safe ground if you fly within the limits of your craft and the weather.

"You're apt to be killed in any mode of transportation if you try to make it do what it won't do," he says.

He plans to keep right on flying for the fun of it.

Come, Josephine, want to try a flying machine?

Electric Strike Not Settled

PENSACOLA — (AP) — No progress was reported Sunday in efforts to settle a strike against Gulf Power Co., the utility which serves an area extending from Pensacola to Panama City.

Several separate and joint talks have been held by the company and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers since about 340 employes walked off their jobs last Monday in a contract dispute. But both sides agreed that very little headway has been made.

The company said the only point in dispute was a union demand to represent about 25 foremen and control center operators. The firm said it considered them supervisory personnel and representatives of management.

The union denied it has had anything to do with a series of power failures in northwest Florida, blamed by the company on vandalism.

Gas Pipeline Crews Working

VERO BEACH — Two crews, totalling about 250 men, are laying sections of the natural gas pipeline through Indian River County.

Tom Rashell, superintendent for Halbert Construction Co., one of the companies which has a contract on the property, has headquarters at the Vero Beach airbase.

During last week one crew has been working several miles south of Fellsmere Rd. and another several miles south of State Rd. 60.

The pipeline crews are expected to be here about a month, Raskell said.

DAR to Hold 57th Convention

ST. AUGUSTINE —(AP)— The Florida Daughters of the American Revolution will hold their 57th annual meeting here Tuesday through Thursday.

U.S. Rep. A. S. Herlong of Leesburg will speak Tuesday night and Albert C. Manucy of St. Augustine, president of the Florida Historical Society, will speak Wednesday night.

Florida has 68 chapters. The first was Jacksonville, organized in 1895; and the second St. Augustine organized in 1898. Youngest are Chipola, Pompano Beach and Lake Worth, organized last year.

Annexation Could Put Jax on Top

JACKSONVILLE—(AP)—Jacksonville could become the state's No. 1 city in 1960, from a population standpoint, if city limits are extended to include an estimated 147,000 persons in fringe areas.

Thomas W. McWhirter, regional supervisor for the Bureau of the Census, said the 1960 federal count is expected to show that Miami will have only 10,000 more than the 259,035 listed in a special 1955 census.

That would give Miami, now Florida's largest city, a population of roughly 270,000 persons. Miami's 1950 population was 249,276 on the basis of the federal census.

Jacksonville's population in 1950 was 204,517. The addition of 147,000 persons before the 1960 census would give Jacksonville more than 350,000 persons.

A proposed act to include 94 square miles and 147,000 persons in Jacksonville was submitted to the Duval County legislative delegation by the Downtown Council recently.

The four-man delegation, however, turned down the proposed measure.

There have been indications by several Duval legislators since that they would consider a bill providing for separate elections on annexation of smaller areas than that covered by the Downtown Council proposal.

Milk Controls Ruling Delayed

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI) — Leon Circuit Judge Hugh Taylor says it will be another week or 10 days before he rules in the controversy between the state Milk Commission and dairy farmers of this area.

The farmers petitioned the commission two months ago to free them from controls. The commission scheduled an investigation and the farmers got a temporary injunction prohibiting the commission from any regulation.

Hearings to dissolve the temporary injunction were taken under advisement last month.

Commission lawyers and representatives for the dairymen met with Judge Taylor last week to discuss plans for a settlement.

Mrs. Sara Kitchell, slain in a murder-suicide, will be buried at Memory Gardens.

The body of Walter Marsh, 40, who, police said, killed Mrs. Kitchell, then took his own life, will be sent to Waynesville, N.C. for services and burial.

Research Grant

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Florida State University chemist, J. W. Quagliano, has received a $12,361 grant from the Atomic Energy Commission for research in structure of metal coordination compounds.

No College Step-Children

New University to Move Ahead

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— Sen. John Rawls of Marianna forecast Sunday that any move to abandon or seriously cripple the new university being built at Tampa will be rejected by the legislature.

Rawls is chairman of the Senate appropriations subcommittee that will recommend the spending program for the university system. He said he has found no serious sentiment in the Senate for cutting off funds to build the Tampa university.

Most of that kind of talk is coming from the House, and only from a very small group there, he said.

He said it is a foregone conclusion the universities are not going to get all building money recommended by the Cabinet Budget Commission.

"But there will be no red-headed step-children," he said. "They'll all be treated alike."

"We must face the fact the Tampa university is a reality and we cannot abandon it now."

But, Rawls said, the state must make more use of junior colleges to take care of some of the anticipated record college enrollments during the first two years of study.

Harris on Horses

By Russ Harris
Herald Turf Writer

One Of Derby's 'Big Trio' Could Be 3-Year-Old King

TROILUS had a brief reign.

Bayard Sharp's strapping colt became king of the three-year-olds by trouncing First Landing in Hialeah's Flamingo Feb. 28.

Twenty-five days later, Spring Hill Farm's Easy Spur demolished Troilus just as convincingly as the latter had crushed First Landing.

Easy Spur's eight-length triumph in last Wednesday's Fountain of Youth Stakes threw the sophomore picture out of focus. But the clouds of confusion will be at least partially lifted in Saturday's $100,000 added Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park.

Mutual Admiration Society

EASY SPUR, TROILUS AND SWORD DANCER are the Big Three in Jimmy Donn's big one. A field of nine or 10 colts is expected. Which rival do the top entries fear the most?

Easy Spur—fears Sword Dancer.
Troilus—fears Easy Spur.
Sword Dancer—fears Troilus.

KELLEY

That should make it even-steven. However, as Paul Kelley, Spring Hill trainer, said, "We're all alike. We drop a loser like a hot potato and go with a winner. So I suppose my horse will be favored in the Florida Derby."

Why does Kelley fear Sword Dancer more than Troilus?

"Well, after Wednesday's race, I have to believe Easy Spur can beat Troilus. As you know, I thought my horse would have won the Flamingo with better racing luck. We'll have to watch Sword Dancer because he's a nice little colt and Brookmeade always bears watching."

Too Much Flesh

CHARLEY PEOPLES, TRAINER of Troilus, understandably regards Easy Spur as the horse to beat.

Said Peoples: "We knew our horse might be a little short last week. We didn't work him much after the Flamingo because we want to keep plenty of flesh on him for the long campaign ahead.

"However, we didn't expect to have so tough a race in the Fountain of Youth. Frankly, I don't believe any horse in the country could have handled Easy Spur that day. He sure does like this track. But Troilus will be ready for the Florida Derby."

Sticking With Troilus

ELLIOTT BURCH OF BROOKMEADE Stable was the only one of 12 trainers we polled before the Flamingo who picked Troilus to upset First Landing. He still sees Sharp's colt as the main threat Saturday.

Said Burch: "Easy Spur is in such good form and likes the Gulfstream track so well that he's bound to be hard to handle. But I have to rate Troilus as the big Horse.

"He demonstrated his class in the Flamingo and I have to throw out his last race. He was short and didn't have Chris Rogers, his regular rider. Troilus impressed me terrifically in the Flamingo."

Pacesetter Out

KELLEY IS NATURALLY SORRY that his good sprinter, Octopus, has been sidelined by injuries and won't be available to help Easy Spur by setting a rapid pace Saturday.

However, Easy Spur has managed to score four straight times at Gulfstream (twice as a two-year-old), and until we see him beaten, we'll have to believe he's the king at Hallandale.

At Gulfstream

Derby Starters Go Today

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Editor

This is Florida Derby Week at Gulfstream Park and that means there will be activity of all sorts before the six-day span of racing is completed with the running of the $100,000 three-year-old classic on Saturday.

The probable Derby field overshadows everything else at the moment and it appears that nine is the most likely figure for the mile and an eighth test.

Briardale Farm's Rico Tesio, Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer, John W. Kane's Revolutionist, Norwood Stable's Master Palynch, W. C. Partee's Sir Tom, Ada L. Rice's Rare Rice, Mrs. S. H. Sadacca's The Chosen One, Bayard Sharp's Troilus and Spring Hill Farm's Easy Spur.

Rico Tesio and Revolutionist are in the lineup in today's sixth event at a mile and 70 yards. They'll go in the Derby regardless of where they finish today, according to their connections. Three other Derby eligibles are in this eight-horse field. They are Sam Tufano's Wheatley Road, Puneves who is a stablemate of Rico Tesio and Lake Erie, owned by the estate of P. H. B. Frelinghuysen.

Tasby Hits Two As Orioles Win

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

Rookie Willie Tasby homered twice, doubled once and drove in four of Baltimore's six runs as the Orioles stayed atop the American League spring standings with a 6-5 victory over Pittsburgh at Miami Stadium Sunday afternoon.

Tasby, a rookie centerfielder up from Louisville, muscled the birds into a 6-5 lead in the seventh with his second homer, a screaming drive over the left center wall. It brought home Jim Finigan, who had doubled, and Pinch-Hitter Bobby Avila, who had singled.

Tasby struck his first homer in the third with a solo drive over almost the same spot.

Pittsburgh had shoved out to a 4-1 lead in the fifth as Roberto Clemente supplied the punch.

Dick Groat singled to open the inning. Hank Foiles grounded out and Pitcher Harvey Haddix got on base when mound foe Hoyt Wilhelm nicked him on the sleeve. Dick Schofield doubled Groat home. Clemente followed with a single that brought in Haddix and Schofield.

What Is It, Soccer Or Cattle Market? Dad Sounds 'Beef'

LONDON —(AP)— The father of the fabulous Charles Brothers thinks it is about time something was done to stop soccer's big bosses selling players "like a farmer sells his cattle."

The two sons of Ned Charles — John and Mel — have been transferred for a total of about 110,000 pounds ($308,000).

John, center half or center forward, went to Italy's Juventus team from Leeds United for a reported 65,000 pounds ($182,000). Mel, center half or inside forward, has joined Arsenal from Swansea Town for about 45,000 pounds ($126,000).

"Big transfers like these should be stopped," the father said. "The soccer bosses sell players as a farmer would at a cattle market — but the profits are bigger."

In Britain clubs agree on a transfer fee, but the player has the last word on whether he wants to move. The most a player can get from a transfer is 300 pounds ($840) no matter what the transfer fee. That is a new rule. Previously the most a player could collect was 10 pounds ($28).

C'mon, Coach, Show Us How It's Done
. . . Michigan swimmers dunk diving Coach Bruce Harlan

Michigan Swim Team 'Best Ever Assembled'

ITHACA, N.Y. —(AP)— "The greatest college swimming team ever put together."

The speaker was Yale's Bob Kiphuth and he was referring to Michigan's mighty aggregation that rolled up a record 136½ points in the NCAA Swimming Championships over the weekend.

"There never before has been any college squad with such tremendous depth," said Kiphuth, who is retiring as Yale's head man after 45 years at New Haven.

Michigan's huge point total dwarfed the previous high of 96½ amassed by Kiphuth's fine team in the 1953 championships.

The Wolverines racked up six of the 16 titles, scored in every event except the 440-yard freestyle, and had a big hand in the record-smashing three-day aquatic carnival at Cornell.

Six American, eight NCAA and ten meet records were erased in Teagle Hall's 25-yard pool. Two of the American records went by the poolside Saturday night. One of them was set by Dave Gillanders, Michigan's 19-year-old sophomore butterfly specialist.

Gillanders, a 5-11 blond from Royal Oak, Mich., copped the 100-yarder in 54.3 seconds. Friday he took the 200-yard butterfly in 2:02.5. Both were American, NCAA and meet records. To cap his superb performance, he made up distance and gave his team the winning edge in the closing 400-yard medley relay.

The other American record reeled off Saturday night was in the 200-yard breaststroke. Bill Mulliken, a 6-3 180-pound soph from Miami of Ohio, snared the event in 2:21.3.

One Of Derby's 'Big Trio' Could Be 3-Year-Old King

TROILUS had a brief reign.

Bayard Sharp's strapping colt became king of the three-year-olds by trouncing First Landing in Hialeah's Flamingo Feb. 28.

Twenty-five days later, Spring Hill Farm's Easy Spur demolished Troilus just as convincingly as the latter had crushed First Landing.

Easy Spur's eight-length triumph in last Wednesday's Fountain of Youth Stakes threw the sophomore picture out of focus. But the clouds of confusion will be at least partially lifted in Saturday's $100,000 added Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park.

Mutual Admiration Society

EASY SPUR, TROILUS AND SWORD DANCER are the Big Three in Jimmy Donn's big one. A field of nine or 10 colts is expected. Which rival do the top entries fear the most?

Easy Spur—fears Sword Dancer.
Troilus—fears Easy Spur.
Sword Dancer—fears Troilus.

KELLEY

That should make it even-steven. However, as Paul Kelley, Spring Hill trainer, said, "We're all alike. We drop a loser like a hot potato and go with a winner. So I suppose my horse will be favored in the Florida Derby."

Why does Kelley fear Sword Dancer more than Troilus?

"Well, after Wednesday's race, I have to believe Easy Spur can beat Troilus. As you know, I thought my horse would have won the Flamingo with better racing luck. We'll have to watch Sword Dancer because he's a nice little colt and Brookmeade always bears watching."

Too Much Flesh

CHARLEY PEOPLES, TRAINER of Troilus, understandably regards Easy Spur as the horse to beat.

Said Peoples: "We knew our horse might be a little short last week. We didn't work him much after the Flamingo because we want to keep plenty of flesh on him for the long campaign ahead.

"However, we didn't expect to have so tough a race in the Fountain of Youth. Frankly, I don't believe any horse in the country could have handled Easy Spur that day. He sure does like this track. But Troilus will be ready for the Florida Derby."

Sticking With Troilus

ELLIOTT BURCH OF BROOKMEADE Stable was the only one of 12 trainers we polled before the Flamingo who picked Troilus to upset First Landing. He still sees Sharp's colt as the main threat Saturday.

Said Burch: "Easy Spur is in such good form and likes the Gulfstream track so well that he's bound to be hard to handle. But I have to rate Troilus as the big Horse.

"He demonstrated his class in the Flamingo and I have to throw out his last race. He was short and didn't have Chris Rogers, his regular rider. Troilus impressed me terrifically in the Flamingo."

Pacesetter Out

KELLEY IS NATURALLY SORRY that his good sprinter, Octopus, has been sidelined by injuries and won't be available to help Easy Spur by setting a rapid pace Saturday.

However, Easy Spur has managed to score four straight times at Gulfstream (twice as a two-year-old), and until we see him beaten, we'll have to believe he's the king at Hallandale.

Derby Starters Go Today

By JOE McLAUGHLIN
Herald Turf Editor

This is Florida Derby Week at Gulfstream Park and that means there will be activity of all sorts before the six-day span of racing is completed with the running of the $100,000 three-year-old classic on Saturday.

The probable Derby field overshadows everything else at the moment and it appears that nine is the most likely figure for the mile and an eighth test.

Briardale Farm's Rico Tesio, Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer, John W. Kane's Revolutionist, Norwood Stable's Master Palynch, W. C. Partee's Sir Tom, Ada L. Rice's Rare Rice, Mrs. S. H. Sadacca's The Chosen One, Bayard Sharp's Troilus and Spring Hill Farm's Easy Spur.

Rico Tesio and Revolutionist are in the lineup in today's sixth event at a mile and 70 yards. They'll go in the Derby regardless of where they finish today, according to their connections. Three other Derby eligibles are in this eight-horse field. They are Sam Tufano's Wheatley Road, Puneves who is a stablemate of Rico Tesio and Lake Erie, owned by the estate of P. H. B. Frelinghuysen.

Rookie Bombs Bucs, 6-5

Tasby Hits Two As Orioles Win

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

Rookie Willie Tasby homered twice, doubled once and drove in four of Baltimore's six runs as the Orioles stayed atop the American League spring standings with a 6-5 victory over Pittsburgh at Miami Stadium Sunday afternoon.

Tasby, a rookie centerfielder up from Louisville, muscled the birds into a 6-5 lead in the seventh with his second homer, a screaming drive over the left center wall. It brought home Jim Finigan, who had doubled, and Pinch-Hitter Bobby Avila, who had singled.

Tasby struck his first homer in the third with a solo drive over almost the same spot.

Pittsburgh had shoved out to a 4-1 lead in the fifth as Roberto Clemente supplied the punch.

Dick Groat singled to open the inning. Hank Foiles grounded out and Pitcher Harvey Haddix got on base when mound foe Hoyt Wilhelm nicked him on the sleeve. Dick Schofield doubled Groat home. Clemente followed with a single that brought in Haddix and Schofield.

What Is It, Soccer Or Cattle Market? Dad Sounds 'Beef'

LONDON —(AP)— The father of the fabulous Charles Brothers thinks it is about time something was done to stop soccer's big bosses selling players "like a farmer sells his cattle."

The two sons of Ned Charles — John and Mel — have been transferred for a total of about 110,000 pounds ($308,000).

John, center half or center forward, went to Italy's Juventus team from Leeds United for a reported 65,000 pounds ($182,000). Mel, center half or inside forward, has joined Arsenal from Swansea Town for about 45,000 pounds ($126,000).

"Big transfers like these should be stopped," the father said. "The soccer bosses sell players as a farmer would at a cattle market — but the profits are bigger."

In Britain clubs agree on a transfer fee, but the player has the last word on whether he wants to move. The most a player can get from a transfer is 300 pounds ($840) no matter what the transfer fee. That is a new rule. Previously the most a player could collect was 10 pounds ($28).

Michigan Swim Team 'Best Ever Assembled'

ITHACA, N.Y. —(AP)— "The greatest college swimming team ever put together."

The speaker was Yale's Bob Kiphuth and he was referring to Michigan's mighty aggregation that rolled up a record 136½ points in the NCAA Swimming Championships over the weekend.

"There never before has been any college squad with such tremendous depth," said Kiphuth, who is retiring as Yale's head man after 45 years at New Haven.

Michigan's huge point total dwarfed the previous high of 96½ amassed by Kiphuth's fine team in the 1953 championships.

The Wolverines racked up six of the 16 titles, scored in every event except the 440-yard freestyle, and had a big hand in the record-smashing three-day aquatic carnival at Cornell.

Six American, eight NCAA and ten meet records were erased in Teagle Hall's 25-yard pool. Two of the American records went by the poolside Saturday night. One of them was set by Dave Gillanders, Michigan's 19-year-old sophomore butterfly specialist.

Gillanders, a 5-11 blond from Royal Oak, Mich., copped the 100-yarder in 54.3 seconds. Friday he took the 200-yard butterfly in 2:02.5. Both were American, NCAA and meet records. To cap his superb performance, he made up distance and gave his team the winning edge in the closing 400-yard medley relay.

The other American record reeled off Saturday night was in the 200-yard breaststroke. Bill Mulliken, a 6-3 180-pound soph from Miami of Ohio, snared the event in 2:21.3.

NEW YORK — Abe Saperstein of the Harlem Globetrotters calls Wilt (the Stilt) Chamberlain the best box-office draw his barnstorming basketball magicians ever had . . . So Abe now is sending his "first team" Trotters — with Wilt — over the same territory the Globie second team visited earlier this season . . . "They all want to see Chamberlain," he said.

As for next year, Saperstein still hasn't decided whether Chamberlain would be worth another $65,000 to stay with the Trotters . . . Wilt may take less to "prove himself" in the pro league with the Philadelphia Warriors . . . It's all a bit complicated . . . Abe owns a piece of the Warriors, too.

Horse Racing Offers Jobs For 50,000

NEW YORK —(AP)— Prior to 1930, thoroughbred horse racing on a major scale was limited to four states—Maryland, Illinois, Kentucky and New York. Today it is a billion dollar industry, with legalized pari mutuel wagering in 24 states. It provides jobs for some 50,000 persons, has an annual payroll of almost $250,000,000.

The Thoroughbred Racing Associations, Inc. (TRA), has provided a peek into the vast flat racing industry though a booklet entitled "Inside the TRA and TRPB." The TRPB is the Thoroughbred Racing Protective Bureau and the sport's FBI.

The TRA represents 42 major race tracks throughout the United States. It was organized in 1942. At the time, one of racing's trade publications described the sport as "a sprawling, unorganized, competitive melee, almost incapable of setting up goals or making progress in a predetermined direction." When organized, only 22 tracks were members of TRA.

On the economic side, racing provided $10,369,807 to the various state treasuries in taxes 20 years ago. In 1958, the national association of state racing commissioners (NASRC) reported taxes to the 24 racing states totaled $167,817,531. Attendance was 29,473,325, and pari mutuel turnover was $2,233,720,516.

The TRA booklet sums up racing's economic picture thusly:

"As a conservative estimate, a billion dollars are invested in real property in thoroughbred racing throughout the country — in 80-odd tracks, approximately 1,200 breeding farms in 46 states, more than 20,000 horses in training and 22,000 on breeding farms such as stallions, mares, yearlings and new foals, equipment, etc.

"Racing also has a bill of over $85,000,000 each year for the upkeep of horses in training — feed, medicine, travel and nomination fees to races — and pays more than $78,000,000 in purses.

"Breeding farms scattered over the country are valued at approximately $200,000,000. For the 430,000 acres devoted to raising thoroughbreds, land values range from $100 an acre in some sections to $2,000 or more in the heart of the blue grass country of Kentucky. Thoroughbred stock on these farms — stallions, mares and young racers — are valued at $100,000,000. On the basis of potential earnings and known sales averages each crop of 8,000 yearlings and 9,000 foals on the farms is valued at well over $50,000,000.

"Enterprises associated with racing, such as equipment suppliers, caterers, transportation companies, publications (exclusively racing), etc., make up an estimated investment of some $110,000,000. Feed companies present an annual bill of over $7,000,000 for hay alone; top grade hay brings $80 per ton and the average race horse in training eats about 30 pounds a day."

East Rips Western All-Stars

KANSAS CITY — (AP) — The East, with All-America Oscar Robertson scoring 22 points and handyman Mike Mendenhall providing the early fireworks, defeated the West, 102-71 in the Shriner's All-Star basketball game played before 8,000 Saturday night.

Robertson and Mendenhall, both Cincinnati University stars, set an early pace that had the East ahead by 20 points at one time in the first half.

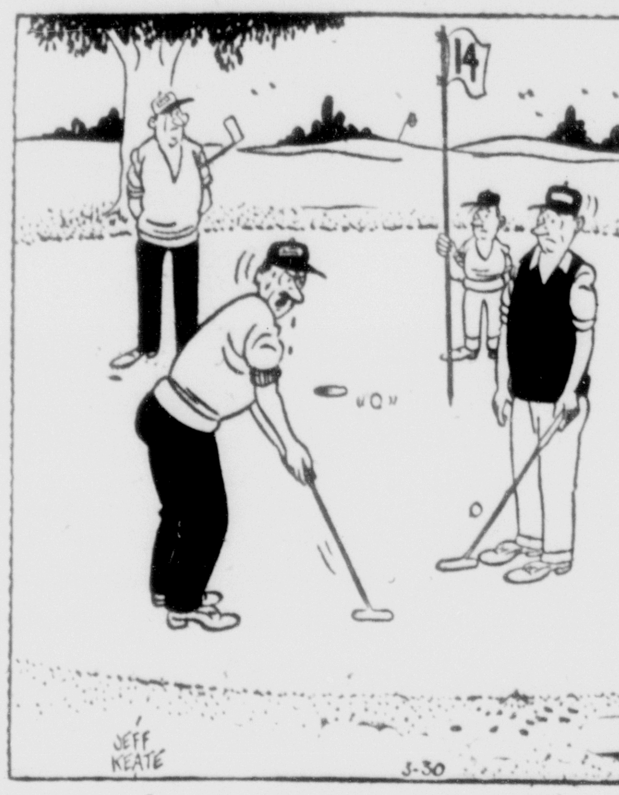
Mendenhall wound up with 21 points.

Bob Boozer, All-America from Kansas State, scored 15 points in the best effort for the West. It was the East's third victory in the eight games played for the benefit of Shriners' hospitals for crippled children.

Both Coach Adolph Rupp of Kentucky, mentor for the East, and Kansas' Dick Harp, for the West, alternated their lineups but it was apparent after the first few minutes that the All-America-loaded East squad had the better shooters. The East made 36 out of 74 shots for 48.6 per cent while the West got only 26 of its 77 for 33.8 per cent.

Robertson was named outstanding player of the game.

Don Hennon of Pittsburgh was effective for the East in the second half with six field goals in six shots.



"At least I've overcome noises bothering me . . . Notice I went right ahead and putted even though those noisy ants were thumping back and forth building that hill!"

Clint Courtney Tests Broken Leg in Drill

ORLANDO—(AP)—Washington Senators' Catcher Clint Courtney, whose leg was broken eight days ago in a home plate collision with Kansas City's Hal Smith, Sunday put on a uniform and took part in practice.

The Washington club doctor, George Resta, predicted Courtney would be ready for the American League season opener on April 9.

Resta said that Courtney's fracture, just below the knee on the outer part of the left leg, was so thin as to be negligible. The pain Courtney now feels, said the doctor, eminates from the muscle which surrounds the fracture area. The pain should subside in about a week, he said.

Scoring Star Hurts Back

Canadiens Lose Jean Beliveau For Playoffs

CHICAGO —(AP)— The Montreal Canadiens saw their hopes of winning an unprecedented fourth Stanley Cup dwindle Saturday night.

Not only did the defending champions drop a 4-2 decision to the Chicago Black Hawks, but they also lost their great scoring forward, Jean Beliveau

Believeau was slammed into the boards in the second period of the loss to Chicago and suffered a fracture of the transverse process of the spine.

Although the Canadiens hold a 2-1 lead in their best of seven semifinal series against the Hawks, they not only have to bounce back to beat out the Hawks but they'll have to carry on against the winner of the Boston-Toronto series to gain the championship.

Coach Toe Blake had little to say when he learned the truth about Beliveau's injury. Following the loss to the Hawks, Blake complained about the officiating and the fact that his top goal scorer was injured without a penalty being called against Glen Skov.

"They never even called a penalty on Skov when he hit Beliveau although Jean didn't have the puck," said Blake.

"Beliveau was watching the puck instead of me when I checked him," said Skov.

"This is a heck of a time to get injured," said Beliveau.

Meanwhile, the Black Hawks were gearing themselves for what they hope will be a second straight triumph over Montreal Tuesday night.

"I told the boys it's possible to beat the Canadiens," said Hawk Coach Rudy Pilous. "This game could be an inspiration for another victory Tuesday night."

Before the game, Pilous held a meeting with the Hawks and told them all they had to do was get ahead of the Canadiens and the home crowd would cheer them in.

They took a 2-0 first period lead and the crowd of 14,723 cheered the Hawks to their second triumph over Montreal all year.

Arizona, Iowa Nines Split Pair

TUCSON — (AP) — The University of Arizona split a doubleheader with Iowa Saturday to win a six-game baseball series. Arizona won the opener, 7-6, in 10 innings and the Hawkeyes the nightcap, 10-4, in a six-inning contest called because of darkness.

'The White Coats Are Coming'

'Goony Bird' Jim Piersall Learns to Take Jockeying

PHOENIX, Ariz. —(AP)— Jimmy Piersall, who recovered from mental illness and re-11½ picas 8 pt
sumed a major league baseball career, still gets a good riding from opposing players.

PIERSALL

But now there's a difference, Piersall told the Phoenix Press Club Forum — He can take it.

"They imitate sirens coming for me," said the Cleveland outfielder recently acquired from Boston, "call me the goony bird and keep telling me the white coats are coming.

"Just today (Thursday) we had a hassle and Bill Rigney (San Francisco manager) came out. 'Get back in your cage,' I told him. 'You've got a lot of guts,' he said."

Piersall said Yankee Catcher Yogi Berra once called for knockdown pitches against Jackie Jensen and Frank Malzone. Each grounded out on the next pitch.

"When I got up," Piersall said, "I told Yogi, 'I got a bat. If you call for a knockdown on me, I'll hit you right on the top of the head and plead temporary insanity.'

"Yogi said, 'Go ahead and take a good cut. We don't knock down lousy .200 hitters.' "

Someone asked Jimmy about Ted Williams, his Red Sox teammate for eight years.

"He likes fans," Piersall replied. "He just doesn't like sportswriters. He uses them to key himself up . . . I'm supposed to throw golf clubs or bats — Keep nothing bottled up inside me — But everyone knows about me. It costs Williams $500.'"

Detroit's Hurling Staff Needs Work

LAKELAND — (AP) — Weather worries plagued Detroit Tiger Manager Bill Norman following cancellation of Sunday's exhibition game with the Los Angeles Dodgers because of wet grounds.

With opening day less than two weeks away, only one Tiger pitcher, Pete Burnside, has gone a full nine innings under game conditions. The lanky lefty who was purchased from the San Francisco Giants system last December, turned the trick against the Cardinals Saturday.

Norman hopes to have all of his starters able to go the full route by the time the club leaves Florida April 8. The four days lost to rain a week ago plus current weather conditions has Norman wondering.

The Tigers have two games scheduled with the Dodgers at Vero Beach today.

Wants Ban on Aid to Aggressors

Soviet Asks Pact By East and West

Old Stuff, Say U.S. Officials

Proposal Comes One Eve of Meet

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Soviet Union proposed Sunday that the NATO and Warsaw Pact countries sign a nonaggression pact and revise their existing treaties to assure no aid be given an aggressor.

The proposal was contained in a 3,000-word statement carried by the official Soviet news agency Tass in advance of the NATO Council meeting in Washington opening on Tuesday.

It noted that NATO celebrates its 10th anniversary on April 4.

Moscow also asked the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council to endorse long-standing Communist proposals in Europe, including a disengagement of East-West military forces.

The Tass statement declared NATO had proved it was an aggressive pact and not defensive, and had failed of its avowed purpose.

"Not one member of NATO can say it now has more security than it had before the creation of this bloc," the statement said.

(In Washington, U.S. officials said they saw nothing new in the Moscow statement.

(State Department Press Officer Francis W. Tully Jr. said: "There is nothing new in it. They have said these things many times before."

(He declined further comment pending receipt of the text of a Soviet government statement distributed by Tass.)

The statement repeated the offer of the Soviet Union to discuss at a summit meeting arms limitation, an end to nuclear tests and withdrawal of military forces from contact areas in Central Europe.

It stressed the danger of nuclear arms concentrations by both East and West.

Also, it said the Soviet Union still believed its proposal to demilitarize West Berlin would be the best means of reducing tension in this area.

It said NATO had spent 500 billion dollars on armaments in the last 10 years, and that only increased East-West tension had resulted.

Moscow also affirmed its willingness to attend a foreign ministers meeting to consider a peace treaty with Germany and the East-West dispute over Berlin. The Western powers have suggested May 11 as the starting date.

The Soviet government statement said a summit meeting would be "most useful," but if the Western powers were not ready for it, a foreign ministers meeting could be convened.

The West is agreeable to a summit meeting if the foreign ministers lay the groundwork.

Cubans Look to Him for Better Life

Castro Has Made Blunders, But He Gives People Hope

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Foreign Affairs Writer

HAVANA — Fidel Castro, despite his blunders, has given the Cuban people hope for a better life.

The way things are worsening economically here, this hope may die. Nevertheless, the average Cuban is still optimistic and believes in the bearded revolutionary leader who overthrew Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Businessmen, the large landowners and the wealthy, however, are scared.

To them the communistic or socialistic tendencies of the Castro government can only mean trouble and financial losses.

Many merchants with whom this reporter talked admitted frankly they want to sell their businesses and get out.

Leaders in the big businesses fear the Castro government may nationalize their enterprises. Construction firms are reluctant to put money into any sizable projects.

Even many of the not-so-wealthy middle class are holding on to their cash, not investing, not paying bills. Just keeping the money handy.

I asked one of Castro's key government officials to enumerate the accomplishments and failures of the three-month-old Castro administration. Here is how he listed the former:

UNIFIED the nation which has been badly divided under the Batista dictatorship.

CORRECTED many of the inequities through social and economic reforms.

INSTITUTED honesty as an iron-clad policy and requisite in all branches of government, a quality unknown in Cuban governing circles.

GAVE HOPE to all Cubans, except those who played footsie with Batista, for a brighter future.

"That last one is the most important motivating force," the official said. "It results in all Cubans putting their faith in Castro."

The same frank official then listed what he thought were the failures and blunders of Castro. Here they are:

FRIGHTENED capital—property owners, potential investors, businessmen.

CREATED a racial issue by calling for complete social equality on "private" beaches, in private clubs and on every level.

MADE LABOR unions the "dictators," bowing to their every demand.

ORDERED the re-trial of 43 fliers who were acquitted by a revolutionary military court.

INSULTED former Costa Rican President Jose Figueres, a guest of Cuba, by criticizing him for urging that all countries of the Americas work together in the Cold War against Russian communism.

Figueres, a leader in Latin America, had said that he disagrees with U.S. policy toward Latin America, but to call the U.S. an enemy is "foolish."

Castro, following Figueres on the platform during a labor rally, charged that the Costa Rican was being "influenced" by international interests. Castro advocated neutralism for Cuba when he declared:

"Why say in the face of tragedy (the hydrogen bomb threat) that we must choose sides? . . . Why not proclaim our right to live our own lives even if they do kill us?"

Basically, what Castro seems to have in mind for Cuba is a one-class society, with everybody in the middle class. He announced his aim is to "elevate the poor and reduce the wealthy."

Here are some of the laws and programs advocated by Castro. Several have strong Socialist or Communist overtones.

AGRICULTURAL REFORM — Give each man the land he farms. Break up the large farms. Make government-owned tractors available to small farmers. Extensive land reclaiming program in the swamps and salt marshes of Southern Cuba.

URBAN REFORM — Designed to stimulate construction by threatening government confiscation of vacant properties. Castro says owners must build — or else. Plans low-cost housing projects.

RENT LAW — Arbitrarily cut in half all rents which did

Inside a Trouble Spot

Reporter John B. McDermott has focused on politics and foreign affairs throughout the world. His travels to Russia, Africa, Germany and the Near East have brought Herald readers inside reports from the globe's trouble spots.

In this, the second of a series, McDermott studies turbulent Cuba, and how it is faring under the rule of bearded revolutionist Fidel Castro.

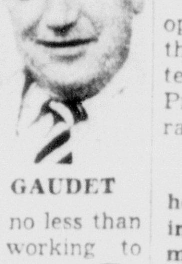
Old-Line Politicos Wait on Sidelines

By WILLIAM GAUDET
Special To The Herald

HAVANA—Did Fidel Castro and his men take over the government of Cuba without any real military victory?

Those here who closely watched the revolution develop and finally succeed say this is true. They say this cold military fact has much to do with the current political picture in the country.

Certainly there were the rebel raids from the Sierra Maestro range, and the besieging of Santiago by Castro's men.



GAUDET

But long-time observers here say the collapse of Fulgencio Batista's forces came from corruption, not from any military beating.

At the time of Batista's flight from Cuba Jan. 1, say these observers, there were no less than a dozen groups working to overthrow the government. The big difference was that Castro's men were the ones ready to move in and take over.

Once Castro was the man of the hour, his popularity soared. Now, nobody can beat him.

But there are still oppositionists, many of them trained politicians. They are careful not to make any outward moves — but they will talk privately and they will tell you they will not remain inactive forever.

They say that eventually it will be the old-line politicians—as opposed to Castro's young idealists—who will move in again to take over.

Two of the strongest of the opposition political parties are the Communists and the Autenticos, the party of former President Carlos Prio Socarras.

Manuel Antonio de Varona, head of the Autentico Party, in a recent television interview managed adroitly to praise the Castro regime while making a lot of qualifications.

His most significant statement was that the period of the revolution, and its accompanying business "retraction," will not be over "until the people vote their approval of revolutionary laws in an election."

Cuba's politicians may be sidelined. But they have not abandoned their goals.

Latin Diplomats Hope Nixon Can Dispel Castro's Coolness

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Several Latin American diplomats friendly to the U.S. voiced hope Sunday Vice President Richard M. Nixon will have a heart-to-heart chat with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro during his unofficial visit here April 17.

These diplomats, who did not want to be identified, are disturbed over Castro's growing hostility toward the U.S., especially his recent statement that Cuba would remain neutral in the event of war between the U.S. and Russia.

They believe that a forthright talk between Nixon and the Cuban leader might go a long way toward dispelling differences between the two countries.

Castro is due to come here at the invitation of the American Society of Newspaper Editors to address its annual meeting. The State Department has said publicly that Castro "will assuredly be welcome here."

But many U.S. officials are known to be cool toward the visit. They want Castro's appointments with high officials kept to a minimum.

The Latin American diplomats said it would be a grave mistake for the U.S. government to snub Castro, especially since the U.S. is still under fire for being too friendly with Latin American dictators.

Castro feels that the last two U.S. ambassadors to Cuba under the regime of Fulgencio Batista were overly friendly to the ousted president. He says this is the big obstacle to more friendly relations between the U.S. and Cuba.

According to the Latin American diplomats, this is where Nixon could be most useful.

Nixon was briefed on Castro's "26 of July" movement by Puerto Rican Gov. Luis Munoz Marin during Munoz' visit here last month. Their conversation was given little notice at the time.

Munoz urged greater understanding for the revolutionary spirit in Cuba, even though he was critical of the summary execution of war criminals.

In about these words, Munoz told the vice president: "We cannot allow the overwhelming moral achievement of a whole country rising against despotism to be marred by sporadic incidents resulting from the revolutionary fervor."

Easter's Hope Is 'Noble Life'

By United Press International

Christians around the world rejoiced, meditated and paraded Easter Sunday, amid different scenes and different climes but with the same hope; a nobler life for all mankind.

They came once again to those spring-bathed hills of Jerusalem to hail the resurrection of their Saviour almost 2,000 years ago—the most glorious chapter in history's most oft-told tale.

New York's famed Easter Parade was chilled a bit by temperatures in the 20s. The cold knocked out the traditional flower display at Rockefeller Center, killing the display of 750 lilies, 150 yellow tulips and 350 yellow chrysanthemums—the first time in 25 years the show hasn't gone on.

Cold and rain cut into attendance at outdoor services in the Southwest and East but 20,000 persons filled Hollywood Bowl in a clear Easter dawn.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower attended services at the Gettysburg Presbyterian Church near their farm. Mrs. Eisenhower, like millions of other ladies, sported new spring finery.

In Rome, Pope John XXIII said mass in St. Peter's Basilica and prayed international leaders would end their discord "in the superior interest of peace in the world."

The pontiff then went outside and gave an Easter blessing to more than 10,000 persons gathered in St. Peter's square.

At the Hollywood Bowl, Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson said the greatest events of history are those which affect the greatest number of persons for the longest periods of time.

Gray Sky Fails to Keep Nixon, 35,000 from Sunrise Services

By ADON TAFT

Easter in pictures, 1D

Florida's famed sun missed Miami's Easter sunrise services and so did many of the usual worshipers as showers marred the first observances of the holy day.

But Vice President Richard Nixon and his family and nearly 35,000 others took a chance on the weather to hear and see the time-honored message of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ preached and portrayed in pageant in God's magnificent chapel of the out-of-doors.

The Nixons were in a standing-room only crowd of 1,300 at the service in Crandon Park on Key Biscayne, where it sprinkled briefly just before activities began but was dry throughout the program.

A later victory by the sun promised faithfully by the weatherman, encouraged nearly 300,000 worshipers to crowd the churches of the area throughout the day.

The biggest crowd — 25,000 — was at the traditional pageant in the Orange Bowl. The rains of the night and the still threatening clouds at the starting time of 5:25 a.m. caused nearly 10,000 of those worshipers to waver in their decision to attend until they were late in arriving.

It never did rain on the bowl pageant, but a few drops fell just as they were taking Christ down from the cross in the drama and sent most of the viewers scurrying for cover under the overhang of the upper deck. The noise and confusion nearly ruined the effect of the resurrection scene climax.

Yet in many ways the eight-scene production sponsored by the Greater Miami Ministerial Association and the Greater Miami Council of Churches was the most effective in the long history of the event.

Beginning as it did nearly an hour before sunrise, the pageant was made more dramatic by the use of very skillfull lighting which helped keep the action moving and the crowd's attention on the scene in progress.

The stadium lights had just been blacked out to signal the start of the play when suddenly the top of the stage at the west end zone lit up, silhouetting three crosses — the center one red — against the dark sky.

"Above His head were written the words: Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews," came the voice of the Rev. Neil Wyrick, narrator, author and director of the pageant. "The blood ran red from the bite of the mocking crown of thorns. Their shadows silhouetted against the sky, the indifferent, the seekers of thrill, the soldiers with a job to do, Mary his mother with a broken heart, Mary Magdalene with a life now made clean — they all stood and watched the Son of God prepared to die.

"But before this crucifixion could become a reality, it was necessary that His teachings fall on deaf ears and hardened hearts. For three years now — before this infamous deed he had spoken to men and these were His words:

"'I am the living bread which cometh down from heaven, if any man eat of this bread he shall live forever; and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.'

"'I and the Father am one.

Kefauver Sounds Call:

'Consumers Unite, Fight Inflation'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.) said Sunday the "forgotten" American consumer must rise up in protest if the inflation plaguing the U.S. is ever to be halted.

KEFAUVER

He said a cabinet-level Department of Consumers which he proposed recently was the best way for "lonely" consumers to make their voices heard above the "strident clamor" of special interests.

Kefauver, chairman of the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee, said on a television program that the department would bring the voices of unorganized groups to bear on government activities that might tend to hurt the consumer's dollar.

Three California congressmen took differing views on inflation in a broadcast aired in their home state.

Rep. Edgar W. Heistand (R., Calif.), a member of the House Banking Committee, said the main cause of inflation was government spending, especially deficit spending.

Freshman Rep. Gordon A. Kasem (D., Calif.) said inflation was something to be concerned about but was "not anything that should be raised as a perpetual and constant bogey man to justify inactivity when there should be activity."

Rep. Charles M. Teague (R., Calif.) said if the country demanded "rather costly programs" then Congress should "have the courage to raise taxes to put ourselves on a pay as you go basis."

Plane Crash Kills 23

CALCUTTA—(AP)—A DC3 airliner crashed Sunday near Kailakandi in Assam state. The Indian Airlines Corp. said 19 passengers and four crew members were killed.

The plane left Calcutta Sunday morning for Kailakandi and crashed on a tea estate only a few minutes before it was due to reach its destination.

The airlines corporation, India's nationalized domestic air company, said the victims included five infants.

Dag Ends Trip To 10 Countries

NEW YORK — (UPI) — United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold returned Sunday from a one-month tour of nine Asian countries and the Soviet Union and described his talks with such leaders as Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru as "extremely useful."

But Hammarskjold declined to reveal anything specific about his meeting at a Black Sea resort with Khrushchev. "Private talks are private," he said.

Davie Site Donated For Health Center

By GREG TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Acquisition of a site for a proposed residential treatment center for emotionally disturbed children was announced here Sunday.

"We have accepted a five-acre tract in Davie," said Mrs. Alice Coe, executive secretary of the Broward Mental Health Association.

It will be held in trust until money is available to build the 16-bed center at a cost of from $75,000 to $100,000, she said. Hamilton H. Forman donated the land.

The Broward Children's Rehabilitative Services is sponsoring the center. It's vice chairman, Mrs. Laird Rickard said:

"We don't know what we'll do to raise the construction money. We'll probably join the United Fund for operating money. It will take about $100,000 a year for that."

An architect is drawing plans which should be ready in about a month, she said.

The center would have a part-time psychiatrist, a social worker, three qualified couples for dietetic and maintenance personnel. Staff salaries would total about $38,000 yearly.

Dalai Lama Hurt in Fall From Hill, Say Reports

—Associated Press Wirephoto

Dalai Lama, Left, and Panchen Lama on 1956 Visit to India
. . . now Dalai Lama has been replaced by rival, set up by Red China

No Details On Injury Available

NEW DELHI —(UPI)— The Dalai Lama, god-king of Tibet, was seriously injured in a fall from a hill while fleeing to refuge from the Chinese Communists, according to persistent private reports in New Delhi and the border areas Sunday.

The reports could not be confirmed here. The Reds have sealed off all normal communications between Tibet and the outside world since the anti-Communist revolt flared in the sacred city of Lhasa last week.

Except for Red China's statement that it had smashed the Lhasa revolt and set up a puppet government, all news on the Tibetan situation has been brought out by traders and refugees who made their way to the border.

According to the reports, the Dalai Lama was heading eastward from Lhasa with his guards for a place of safety when he fell and was injured.

There were no other details.

Meanwhile, reports in Gangtok, capital of Sikkim state, said the Tibetan rebels had captured one of the two largest airfields in Tibet.

The exact whereabouts of the Dalai Lama were not known. But diplomatic sources said the Reds had sealed off all possible escape routes leading south to the border and called in a special manhunting staff to track him down.

The Peiping regime Saturday said it had deposed the Dalai Lama and installed a new government of Tibet under the pro-Communist Panchen Lama.

A communique broadcast by Peiping said the Dalai Lama was "under duress by the rebels" — an indirect admission that he had escaped from his winter palace in Lhasa.

Despite the Reds' claim to have "completely smashed" the revolt, reports trickling across the border said the fight was continuing.

Tibetan exile leaders in India pledged a fight to the death to win freedom for the ancient Himalayan kingdom and save the Dalai Lama from Red oppression.

The pledges were made by spokesmen for Tibetans living in India who came here to appeal to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to take up their cause against the Communists.

Revolt to Succeed, Say Nationalists

TAIPEI, Formosa — (AP) — Nationalist Chinese claimed Sunday that the Tibetan rebellion was spreading and would eventually succeed.

It is taken for granted by the public here that the Nationalist government has been air-dropping limited supplies to the rebels and will expand this aid. This conviction has not been affected by official silence on the subject.

Nixons, 35,000 Brave Gray To Attend Sunrise Services

he that hath seen Me hath seen the Father.'

"'Before Abraham was made, I am'"

Those who heard these words included Christ's disciples, introduced next as they took their places around the familiar table of the Last Supper.

As they moved from the upper room to the Garden of Gethsemane, the singing of crickets from the sound track (used for the first time this year to accompany each scene) made it all seem authentic.

The Christus, portrayed by Robert Godbey with the voice of Noah Tyler on tape, then prayed His timeless prayer, "Oh, my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me; nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt."

Suddenly the quiet was interrupted by the appearance of Judas and the soldiers who seized Jesus, drug Him to Pontius Pilate for "trial," scourged Him, and took Him up Calvary's hill where they nailed Him to the cross.

Thunder and lightning, produced effectively by the technical skill of Bill Stone and Jim Hahn, accompanied the crucifixion. And then the body of the Lord was removed in quietness and placed in the tomb.

In the climaxing resurrection scene, the garment of the risen Christ glowed with a blue-white light. He stood above the tomb, arms outstretched, as the 100-voice choir directed by Miguel Quetglas sang the "Hallelujah Chorus."

And the closing words of the narrator were: "Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day: And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations."

It is the church's insistant demand that this statement is true which is the heart of the Christian gospel, the Rev. Lane G. Adams was explaining to the Nixons and the other worshipers over by the seaside.

The pastor of the Key Biscayne Presbyterian Church said that too often poeple don't really believe these facts because they are not honest about their doubts, never seriously examine the evidence and seek to escape the moral claims Christ would have on their lives if they really believed it.

"But if you don't believe in the bodily resurrection of Christ, take heart," he said. "The disciples were not prepared to believe at first, either."

Then the Rev. Mr. Adams listed the usual arguments against accepting the resurrection and then refuted them, finally outlining reasons for believing in the cornerstone event.

He declared that the change that came into the lives of the disciples, the testimony of the church down through the ages, and the experience of those who confront Christ today are proof enough.

He concluded by challenging the worshipers to live as if they believed that Christ has risen and offers real, abundant and eternal life to those who believe.

Typical of the messages preached at the other two dozen sunrise services were the ones delivered on the lawn of the Coral Gables city hall and at Oceanside Park in Miami Beach.

The Rev. W. Baxter Weant, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, told the 2,000 early-bird worshipers in Coral Gables that there are two phases to the Easter story and most folks get only through the first phase.

He said that first step is responding to the angel's invitation to come and see that the Savior has risen.

However, he pointed out, the tomb was not empty because it was filled with God's light, His word and the gospel of the resurrection.

Pastor Weant declared that the women who came to the tomb were given the opportunity for the most blessed service they ever rendered when they were asked to go tell the disciples that Christ had risen.

"At this point most of us fail Him," asserted the Rev. Mr. Weant. "We come, see, and hear, but fail to go tell."

Meanwhile, rain before and after the service somewhat dampened the usual enthusiasm at the area's oldest sunrise program on Miami Beach. But there was no rain during the service attended by 1,000 worshipers.

They heard the Rev. Joseph Crawley, of the St. John's-on-the-Lake Methodist Church, point out that the events of Easter promise that God will never be far off with joy and new life although there will be times of trial for those who love and follow Him.

Rebel Leader Reported Killed

ALGIERS —(AP)— The French army said Sunday a rebel Col. Amirouche has been killed near Bou Saada, 150 miles south of Algiers. He was described as one of the leading chiefs of the Nationalist rebellion.

An army announcement said Amirouche was killed Thursday when French units swooped down on a meeting place of military chiefs of the Nationalist Army of Liberation.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

COUNTY Manager O. W. Campbell thinks the best way to stop drownings is to teach all children to swim. It's the most sensible solution, for we can't eliminate rivers, canals, oceans and lakes — and every day we get more swimming pools.

BELL

The Bells have lived on a canal since our girls were born. We did teach them to be careful. But in addition they learned to swim when very small. I reckon every kid in Bay Point has fallen into the water at least once. But they all could swim. When we have summer camp we teach every non-swimmer to swim. The children at public and YMCA pools can get instruction. The teaching program can be extended to every child.

The danger now is inertia on the part of the commissioners. Mere talk won't start a swimming program.

Florida Derby

How good is Jim Norris' colt East Spur: How good is Troilus? Or is there another capable of beating both of them Saturday?

The Florida Derby at Gulfstream shapes up much better than did the Flamingo at Hialeah. This is because Easy Spur beat Troilus so easily last week.

Horace Wade, reminiscing as usual, tells of an English suffragette who threw herself under the King's horse during the running of one English Derby at Epsom Downs. Then there was the American Derby at Chicago in 1893 that had 25 false starts and went off 90 minutes late. Then there was the American Derby of 1926, won by one of Col. E. L. Bradley's horses. He got his $100,000 check in the winner's circle — and it bounced.

The Gulfstream check won't bounce. Jimmy Donn has too many begonias and calladiums for that.

Somebody Goofed

Oops! 39 Mothers Of Year Aren't

NEW YORK —(AP)— A red-faced and apologetic American Mothers Committee acknowledged bravely Sunday that 39 mothers had been mistakenly notified of their selection as Kansas mother of the year. A clerical error was blamed.

Two of those erroneously informed already have come forward. The committee uneasily awaited word from others.

The selection of the Kansas mother actually will be made today in Wichita.

Mrs. Aileen Fogarty, national director of the American Mothers Committee, which selects the national mother of the year from state winners, said the mixup was caused by volunteers who helped with the organization's mailing.

The volunteers were mailing letters to members whose names were contained on an alphabetical list of states. Apparently all the wrong letters were confined to Kansas.

"At least I hope it's only Kansas," exclaimed Mrs. Fogarty. She had rushed in to take some of the pressure off Mrs. Daniel A. Poling, national chairman of the committee, who had been deluged with queries resulting from the error.

"We'll lose our Kansas chairman unless she's a dear," Mrs. Fogarty lamented.

She seemed to be reading the mind of the Kansas chairman, Mrs. John Selfridge of Wichita, who announced she was going to be away from home to escape telephone calls.

The error became known after Mrs. Nellie Krueger of the little northern Kansas community of Washington announced receipt of a letter telling her she was the Kansas mother of the year. The town's weekly newspaper published the story Thursday, and a Topeka paper picked it up.

A much confused Kansas selection committee checked hastily with headquarters in New York and learned of the error—but not its magnitude.

Then Saturday night, a second Kansas woman, Mrs. Fred Gould of Arkansas City, announced receipt of an identical letter. That prompted another check with national headquarters and the whole story came out.

Latin Likes Miami--and He Repents

A year ago last May a Venezuelan student picked up a rock and threw it at the American Embassy.

Sunday a big, oversize postcard arrived at The Miami Herald. It was postmarked Miami.

"I want you to know before I leave that I have spent the most wonderful 15 days in my life in Miami.

"I didn't have any idea that Americans can be so wonderful and warm. The men and women on the streets, the hotel workers, policemen all helped me with a smile.

"I don't speak any English. (A friend is writing this for me in English).

"But always people tried to understand my words with patience and understanding. You can't imagine the wonderful impression of the American people I am taking back to my country.

"A year ago I didn't have any idea about you. I listened to what some people tried to make me believe.

"You can imagine now how sorry I am for throwing a rock at the U.S. Embassy."

It was signed, "A Venezuelan student."

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Hawaiian Delegate John A. Burns predicted Sunday that the islands' 175,000 registered voters would vote 10 to 1 in favor of statehood.

Burns also said that Hawaii's present appointed governor, New York born William F. Quinn, told him last week he would schedule Hawaii's first national primary elections for the third week in June and final elections for the third week in July.

Hawaii will elect a new governor, a state cabinet, two national senators and one House member. The primary must be held within 90 days and the final elections within 130 days after the vote on statehood.

could be more important to individuals or nations than the resurrection of the Master," Benson, a church leader, said.

A crowd of 8,000 at Rindge, N.H., attended sunrise services at the Cathedral of the Pines but the worshipers wore ski clothing and wrapped themselves in blankets.

Weather also hampered services at the Wichita Mountains Easter Pageant near Lawton, Okla. A crowd of near 100,000 had been expected but only 20,000 showed up after a night of rain and an early morning fog.

"Old Ironsides," the USS Constitution, the Navy's oldest regularly commissioned ship, was the scene of still another Easter service at Charlestown, Mass.

And at Vandenberg Air Force base, Calif., 24 pacifists held their Easter services outside the field's main gate. They said they belonged to the "Fellowship of Reconciliation" and the Friends Church, and were praying for world peace.

7 Children Die in Fire

DANIELTOWN, Va. — (AP) — Seven small Negro children perished Sunday when fire destroyed their home while their parents were away for an Easter sunrise service.

They were children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lewis. Lewis, 34, had taken his wife to the sunrise service at Mount Zion Church about a mile away. Lynn Towers, a white man from Dundas, was passing about 5:40 a.m. and saw the small four-room frame cottage on fire. He attempted to kick in the back door but was unable to gain entrance because the interior was ablaze.

Towers said a large St. Bernard dog, owned by the family, was attempting to awaken the children but could not get inside and was unsuccessful by barking.

National Summary

A disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico during mid day resulted in occasional rain from the Eastern Gulf states and portions of the South Atlantic coast states into the Ohio valley with scattered sleet or snow in the mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina. Significant amounts of rain were observed in the Gulf states where Atlanta, Georgia reported .37 inches in six hours while Montgomery, Alabama measured .34 during the same period. The rain will spread across portions of the Virginias into Western Pennsylvania tonight beginning as snow or sleet in higher elevations and will prevail intermittently from the Carolinas into New York today.

Mostly sunny skies occurred from New England into Maryland accompanied by temperatures in the 20s and 40s with Boston reporting a reading of 40 while the nation's capital had a 42. Fair weather will continue in New England with increasing cloudiness today.

Sunshine prevailed in the north and south border states from the Rockies into the Mississippi Valley while cloudiness shaded the remainder of the mid section of the country. Temperatures in the 40s and 50s occurred over most of the middle portion of the nation except for the 30s in the Great Lakes region and the 60 near the gulf.

Commissioners Are Willing

Hollywood's Beach Swap Due by Summer

By TOM VINCIGUERRA
Herald Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD — The giant swap of public and private lands that would open the wooded North Beach area for development appears imminent this summer.

Majority sentiment on the city commission favors the exchange with Hollywood Inc., landholding firm that wants to consolidate its vast North Beach holdings for big hotels.

Reports are that major hotel owners, including Conrad Hilton of the Hilton chain, are interested in investing millions in the area.

At least two city officials acknowledged the reports, but refused comment. The commissioners, however, said they are eager to go ahead with the land trade.

IT WOULD be one of the biggest exchanges of public and private land in the history of the state. The city would give up an aggregate of some 4,000 feet in east-west streets, surf road, broadwalk and sandy beach, for all but 25 per cent of the right of way for widening State Rd. A1A (Beach Road) to 100 feet north of Hollywood Blvd.

Hollywood Inc. says it also will give up title to the sandy beach fronting of 16 already-developed blocks to the south.

"We'll close the deal this summer," predicted Commissioner William Zinkil. "I'd like to see us get more, but it won't kill my vote."

"I'm very much in favor of the exchange," commented Commissioner B. L. David. "The development of North Beach will be tremendous boost for the City of Hollywood."

Commissioner Jerry Tardiff raised the question of giving Hollywood Inc. title to sandy beach included in the proposed trade, but added: "I think we'll go ahead and work it out. The city stands to gain quite a bit."

FIRST OFFICIAL report of land swap terms was submitted to the city commissioners last week by City Attorney August Paoli. Right-of-way agent Robert LaPorte, estimated it would cost the city a minimum $1.50 per square foot for the 61,000 feet of A1A right-of-way needed besides the land rights included in the trade.

Another wedge opening the way for development of North Beach is the city's right-of-way negotiations for widening Sheridan St. in connection with the proposed construction of the Sheridan St. bridge over the Intracoastal Waterway. The State Road Department already has the bridge money.

The city would gain an estimated $1,500,000 in annual real estate taxes with the full development of North Beach and the Hollywood central beach section west of A1A.

Hoffa's Pitch Has an Echo

IT'S BELIEVED in local union circles that the AFL-CIO will not stand idly by and permit the Teamsters to penetrate the ranks of Fort Lauderdale's municipal workers. National headquarters is expected to send reinforcements here, if necessary, to strengthen the AFL-CIO hold.

It would seem to be very difficult for the Teamsters to make any headway in the light of what the McClellan Committee investigation in the Senate has uncovered. A city worker approached by a Teamster organizer could not help but wonder if, by joining Jimmy Hoffa's band, he would be delivering himself, his fellow employes and his community into indefinite labor troubles.

A Place for the Money

TO MEMBERS of the Old Newsboys Club: Frank Brass, present treasurer of the club fund raised several years ago, thinks it would be a good move now to turn the money over to the YMCA building fund. How about it?

Some time back the question was raised in this column as to what disposition was made of the money, collected by a band of leading businessmen who sold newspapers on local street corners one Sunday morning. The object was to finance some worthy youth project, but the project was never decided upon. The YMCA sure could make good use of the money.

We'd Feel Better

FELLOW LUNCHING in a Las Olas Blvd. restaurant Friday noticed that when three college students paid their bills at the cashier's counter, every one of them dropped coins in the March of Dimes container sitting there. It occurred to him that if every student put in a quarter, the price of one beer, the fund would be increased by several thousand dollars and the whole community probably would feel better about the collegians.

That benefit barbecue for the Fraternal Order of Police Associates and the Mental Health Association at the Broward Hotel, will be Thursday night. It was canceled a week or so ago because of rain . . . fifty thousand small circulars plugging the Mrs. America pageant have been printed by the city and are available to any businesses which want to stuff them in their out-of-town mail. Get them at Publicity Director Forrest Crane's office. It's a new promotion plan which will be used several times a year . . .

Earlier Spanish On Tap

Plan Emphasis In 8th Grade

By GREG TAYLOR
Herald Staff Writer
(Second of three articles)

FORT LAUDERDALE — "Como esta usted?" (How are you?)

This first phrase of Spanish, often a joke among those who took the language but have forgotten it, may be heard in Broward County next year.

Dr. Thord Marshall, assistant superintendent in instruction, said a committee studying curriculum changes for the county will recommend that some students take Spanish in the eighth grade.

The proposal is part of an attempt to get more students to take four years of one language. Educator James P. Conant, author of "The American High School Today," makes this recommendation:

"The school board should be ready to offer a third and fourth year of a foreign language, no matter how few students enroll."

"We feel it's better for a student to learn one language well, than to learn two not so well," Marshall said.

"At present there are only 88 students in all the high schools taking a third year of any language. There are four students taking a fourth year of Latin."

Marshall said the recommendation to start students in Spanish in the eighth grade has this reasoning behind it:

"They are eager to take it at that age. And Spanish is the most popular language here.

"At present they start in the ninth grade. Under the new plan they could have three years by the end of the 10th grade.

"Colleges give credit for language only in ninth and tenth grades. So those who start in the eighth grade are pretty sure to take three years so they'll get credit. And those who do well will take a fourth year."

The recommendation does not propose earlier classes for Latin, French and German. Four years of these languages are offered, but the problem is getting enough students interested to justify holding the classes.

"Foreign language is important in our world," Dr. Marshall said. "A lot of people are saying, 'Learn Russian.'

"In South Florida, however, there is a great interest in Spanish, but not in Russian.

"It's an established fact that a thorough knowledge of one language makes it easier to learn another language.

"If we give the students a facility in one language, they will be prepared to go into the foreign service or similar careers and learn whatever language they need quickly.

"This was proved by the OSS during World War II. Persons who knew one or more languages were taught a new one in two or three weeks of intensive study."

Conant, strong for the teaching of language, lists several reasons for the importance of its mastery.

In the first place, writes Conant, if a person does not approach mastery he'll never know what it means to "know" another language.

Also by reading the literature of another culture, one understands something of that culture.

"A small fraction of youth have a special talent for rapid progress in study of foreign language. Unless such youth have the opportunity to find out they are indeed highly gifted in this respect, their talents will never be developed."

It's too late when they reach college, he says.

"There's no question that children learn foreign languages more readily when they are young."

Fort Lauderdale's 'Race' May Spurt After Primary

By PAT MANGAN
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — With a little more than two weeks to go before the City Commission primary election, the contest so far has generated less heat than a penguin skidding on an ice cap.

The field of 17 candidates will be cut down to 10 in the primary April 14. Five winners will be chosen in the runoff April 28.

The situation may perk up a little after the primary.

An inter-club Better Government Committee, composed of representatives of civic organizations, has been formed to hold a rally at War Memorial Auditorium April 24 when the 10 remaining candidates will have an opportunity to answer a list of prepared questions.

Each person attending will have a list of questions and be able to score the candidates on the way they answer, said A. V. Moninger, temporary chairman.

THE CAMPAIGN to date has been noteworthy for one thing: the introduction of "dirty pool" to city politics.

An anonymous postcard containing scurrilous gossip about one of the Candidates was mailed to a number of voters. The anonymous attack may backfire. Its nature enraged a number of people who promptly offered their support to the candidate.

Otherwise there are few issues which are likely to stir up the emotions of voters.

Traffic relief will be discussed by most of the candidates, but the issue is far from a new one. Beach improvements and construction of the SE Third Ave. and 12th St. bridges and the Federal Hwy. tunnel leave fewer areas to quibble about.

Unionism among city employes and the firm stand the present commission has taken on it are bound to come up. Some candidates already have appeared at union meetings to say they believe the employes should get more money.

At issue will be whether other union workers will stand behind any candidates city union members may favor.

The city employes themselves probably cannot furnish enough votes to elect or defeat a candidate. There are some 1,100 employes. Not all of them are union members and not all of them live in the city.

Skid-Plunge Kills Driver

FORT LAUDERDALE — A 25-year-old Negro was killed Easter Sunday morning when his car skidded, collided with another, and plunged over an embankment on State Road 84.

State highway patrolmen listed the victim as John Henry Dinkins, 2312 NW 15th Ct. A companion, Ned Bryant, 1710 NW Seventh St., received internal chest and back injuries from the collision and was reported in fair condition Sunday. Patrolman M. R. DuPont said Dinkins apparently passed another car, driven by Andrew McIntyre 33, of 1603 NW Sixth Ct., but skidded after he got around McIntyre's car. The McIntyre vehicle then crashed into Dinkins' car and both went over the embankment, DuPont said. McIntyre was uninjured.

84th Ave. City Limit Is Fixed

By FRAN LASLIE
Herald Staff Writer

WEST HOLLYWOOD — The Broward County legislative delegation Sunday named 84th Ave. as the western limit for a proposed city — ruling out West Hollywood Chamber of Commerce hopes for a "compromise boundary."

The new limit is about eight miles east of U.S. 27, which earlier was recommended as the west boundary by the chamber-sponsored City Charter committee.

Doulgas Rd. or Snake Creek, both about mid-way between 84th Ave., and U.S. 27, had been suggested as alternates.

"The land west of 84th Ave., at the present time, is vastly unimproved," said Rep. A. J. Ryan. The legislators said property owners in that area objected to inclusion in the proposed city.

Disappointed chamber officials labeled the boundary edict "a mistake." They said undeveloped land is needed for an industrial park and to facilitate long range zoning programs.

"We will go along, however, with whatever the legislators feel is proper," said Bob Fegers, member of a committee to investigate western boundaries.

But he added that the committee will meet this week to discuss polling landowners to see "if a majority might sign petitions favoring the proposed city."

Member Jack O'Brien said "I am afraid the delegation's action means that more small municipalities will spring up in the undeveloped property."

The legislators suggested that the proposed West Hollywood charter include a provision for annexing land to the west "when it is ready for development."

The 84th Ave. bounds jog to the east at three points — to exclude Miramar, Pembroke Pines, and a large dairy tract owned by Wiley Waldrep.

Waldrep is listed as one of the landowners objecting to inclusion in the proposed city limits.

Chamber recommended boundaries at the north, south and east, were approved by the delegation.

They are Dade County line north to Sterling Rd., and Dania Indian Reservation, with the eastern limit generally along 56th Ave.

Picketed Eatery Gets Help

By ERWIN POTTS
Herald Staff Writer

FORT LAUDERDALE — Striking employes of Pier 66 Restaurant and Lounge continued picketing for the second day Sunday, but management stood firm on its decision not to negotiate for a union contract.

However union organizer Paul Mahoney predicted that management will give in today and sit down for talks with his Hotel and Restaurant Employe and Bartenders Union (AFL-CIO affiliate).

"Their business is down to about half what it normally is," said Mahoney. "The picketing is hurting them."

But John Allen, manager of the plush resort establishment at 17th St. Causeway and Intercoastal Waterway, said the hotel is "doing nicely" with about 25 or 30 employes donated by local hotel and restaurant associations.

The strike began after a 4 p.m. meeting Saturday at which Mahoney said 60 of 90 workers attended and voted for a strike.

Allen contends that the union agreed to leave negotiation of a contract to the National Labor Relations Board, and is now attempting to violate that agreement.

Mahoney complained that the NLRB negotiations will take "about 60 days. By then the season will be over and they won't need the workers."

Mahoney said there have been six picketers on duty since the strike begun.

He estimated there are about 70 bartenders, waiters, and waitresses on strike. Allen guessed the figure to be nearer 40.

Broward Deaths

Douglas S. McQuarrie; Political Writer, 47

FORT LAUDERDALE — Douglas S. McQuarrie, 47-year-old veteran Fort Lauderdale newspaperman, died early Sunday in Fort Lauderdale Beach Hospital.

McQuarrie, a native of Montreal, Canada, had been a political writer for the Fort Lauderdale News for eight years. Before that he spent 18 years on newspapers in Windsor and Toronto, Ontario.

He wrote a weekly column, "The State of Affairs."

McQuarrie had been suffering recently from a liver ailment.

Funeral arrangements had not been announced Sunday. Survivors include his wife, Terry; a daughter by a previous marriage, Mrs. Kenneth Doyle, Toronto; and a grandson, Douglas Patrick.

Services will be at 2 p.m. Wednesday at the Fairchild Chapel, with Rev. Fred Benson of the First Lutheran Church officiating. Entombment will be in Lauderdale Memorial Gardens.

How Big Will U.S. Deficit Be?

By SYLVIA PORTER
Financial Analyst

. . . Government outgo to exceed income

. . . No new spiral in prices expected

. . . Ike's pleas called scare campaign

SYLVIA

The 1960 Federal budget will be unbalanced.

This has been a two-to-one bet since the instant in January when President Eisenhower sent his 77 billion dollar budget to Congress precariously balanced on paper to show a hairline surplus.

Now, it's about as certain as any forecast about government spending in this era can be.

The government's outgo in the year beginning this July will top its income by at least a couple of billion dollars, quite likely by more.

This has been the probability all along, for the President's budget totals have been based from the start on some embarrassingly flimsy premises — assumptions that Congress would juggle the figures so spending for next year would be "charged" to this year, that it would not vote a penny more than the President requested, that it would approve boosts in gas taxes, postal rates, etc.

Now, with Congress refusing to go along with the President's statistical hanky-panky, determined to hike spending in many areas and ignoring the proposals for gas tax and postal rate boosts, the question is not whether there'll be a deficit in the '60 budget. The question is only "how big?"

The foreseeable deficit in the next budget will not by itself spark a new round of inflationary price increases.

This also has been thoroughly understood by serious students of government finance, and objective observers have been sharply criticizing administration spokesmen for encouraging the impression that a budget balanced to the decimal point next year is imperative to avoid inflation.

Now, with hope for a balanced budget at just about zero, there is real danger in the "open mouth" budget policy the President is pursuing. And it's time this was put on the line in plain language.

There is no secret whatsoever about anything I've written here. It's not news to Wall Street or to informed businessmen the nation over, or to economic literates in Washington.

It's also no secret that the key aim of the administration's dire warnings about a deficit is to keep Congress from going overboard on voting extra spending. This is, in short, basically a scare campaign.

What's the danger, then? The danger is that a scare campaign of this sort can boomerang badly. The day of statistical reckoning will come this summer, when the budget estimates must be officially revised. The new estimates will show a deficit. And then, as the conservative trade daily, "The Journal of Commerce," recently put it in a message to its financial readers, "The Administration's response can only be one of two things:

"It can say, in effect, 'Shucks, Mr. Citizen, Mr. Investor, Mr. Businessman, we didn't really mean it. A deficit of this size isn't really going to hurt much.'

"Or it can say, 'Well, we warned you and now it has happened. Congress unbalanced the budget and prices are going to take off into the upper stratosphere'. . ."

Obviously, the second response would be intolerable; it would help create the very inflationary runaway so deeply feared. There are also inherent dangers in the first response. After all you've heard, you well might refuse to accept the assurances. Or if you did accept them, you might begin to doubt all warnings and at some future date when the inflation threat might be highest, you might just refuse to listen.

This is no casual, carping essay on the budget. In the hope of offsetting some of the exaggerations, here are a few hard points:

The 1960 budget will show a deficit, and the GOP will enter the next Presidential election with a record of six years of unbalanced budgets during the height of the Eisenhower administration;

A higher-than-estimated take from corporation taxes is likely to hold down the next deficit to a fairly moderate figure;

A gently rising price level would be the long-term outlook in this land with a balanced budget, as well as without it.

Jim Pyburn, onetime $48,000 Baltimore Orioles' bonus prospect now assigned outright to the Miami Marlins, said Sunday he is quitting baseball.

Nobody seemed particularly disturbed by the announcement.

"If he has decided he wants to quit, we won't try to urge him to play," said Lee MacPhail, Baltimore general manager. "When you have to urge a man to play, there's not much hope he'll be outstanding."

"We'd like to have him this year, of course," said Joe Ryan, Marlin GM. "But even if he doesn't show up, we still figure the outfield will be our strong point."

Pyburn, first of over $1,000,000 worth of bonus athletes signed under Manager Paul Richards' rebuilding program, indicated from his Birmingham, Ala., home he plans to embark on a high school coaching career there.

But he gave the same apparent lack of interest which greeted his announcement as the reason behind the move. Specifically, he said he was disappointed at not being invited to the Orioles' spring camp here this year after hitting .287 last year for Triple-A Louisville.

"I thought I had a pretty good year at Louisville," Pyburn told Lou Hatter of the Baltimore Sun. "But no interest was shown in me. Frankly, I was a little disappointed. I know there were some boys invited who couldn't hit .287 in Double-A ball."

"Pyburn has been invited to spring training in years gone by," retorted MacPhail. "As a matter of fact, he even spent two seasons with the varsity club under the old bonus rule.

"Certainly we're interested in him. We think he could help Miami, but we aren't going to try to talk him into it. He's got to make the move, not us."

Pyburn, 26, former Auburn All-America football end and baseball star, told Hatter he "thought about quitting for some time, and I guess I'm pretty well on my way. I don't think I'll change my mind.

"The prospect of lingering in minor league baseball for the rest of my life I do not regard as a wholesome situation."

One Of Derby's 'Big Trio' Could Be 3-Year-Old King

TROILUS had a brief reign.

Bayard Sharp's strapping colt became king of the three-year-olds by trouncing First Landing in Hialeah's Flamingo Feb. 28.

Twenty-five days later, Spring Hill Farm's Easy Spur demolished Troilus just as convincingly as the latter had crushed First Landing.

Easy Spur's eight-length triumph in last Wednesday's Fountain of Youth Stakes threw the sophomore picture out of focus. But the clouds of confusion will be at least partially lifted in Saturday's $100,000 added Florida Derby at Gulfstream Park.

Mutual Admiration Society

EASY SPUR, TROILUS AND SWORD DANCER are the Big Three in Jimmy Donn's big one. A field of nine or 10 colts is expected. Which rival do the top entries fear the most?

KELLEY

Easy Spur—fears Sword Dancer.
Troilus—fears Easy Spur.
Sword Dancer—fears Troilus.

That should make it even-steven. However, as Paul Kelley, Spring Hill trainer, said, "We're all alike. We drop a loser like a hot potato and go with a winner. So I suppose my horse will be favored in the Florida Derby."

Why does Kelley fear Sword Dancer more than Troilus?

"Well, after Wednesday's race, I have to believe Easy Spur can beat Troilus. As you know, I thought my horse would have won the Flamingo with better racing luck. We'll have to watch Sword Dancer because he's a nice little colt and Brookmeade always bears watching."

* * *

PEOPLES

Too Much Flesh

CHARLEY PEOPLES, TRAINER of Troilus, understandably regards Easy Spur as the horse to beat.

Said Peoples: "We knew our horse might be a little short last week. We didn't work him much after the Flamingo because we want to keep plenty of flesh on him for the long campaign ahead.

BURCH

"However, we didn't expect to have so tough a race in the Fountain of Youth. Frankly, I don't believe any horse in the country could have handled Easy Spur that day. He sure does like this track. But Troilus will be ready for the Florida Derby."

* * *

Sticking With Troilus

ELLIOTT BURCH OF BROOKMEADE Stable was the only one of 12 trainers we polled before the Flamingo who picked Troilus to upset First Landing. He still sees Sharp's colt as the main threat Saturday.

Said Burch: "Easy Spur is in such good form and likes the Gulfstream track so well that he's bound to be hard to handle. But I have to rate Troilus as the big Horse.

"He demonstrated his class in the Flamingo and I have to throw out his last race. He was short and didn't have Chris Rogers, his regular rider. Troilus impressed me terrifically in the Flamingo."

Pacesetter Out

KELLEY IS NATURALLY SORRY that his good sprinter, Octopus, has been sidelined by injuries and won't be available to help Easy Spur by setting a rapid pace Saturday.

However, Easy Spur has managed to score four straight times at Gulfstream (twice as a two-year-old), and until we see him beaten, we'll have to believe he's the king at Hallandale.

At Palm Beach

Gonzales Subdues Hoad

By DEL STUART
Herald Correspondent

PALM BEACH — Clay may be a good omen for Pancho Gonzales on the current pro tour, for the defending world champion won under these conditions for the second straight time Sunday, defeating Australia's Lew Hoad, 6-2, 1-6, 6-3, in the wrap-up of a two-day stand at the Everglades Club.

It was Gonzales' fourth victory over Hoad in 11 attempts on the tour, and matched the win he scored over the Aussie last Sunday on the clay courts in Houston.

The big slammer from Los Angeles played exceptionally well in the brisk 20-25 mph breeze and the splattering of rain which stopped the match for 15 minutes in the third set.

Hoad was able to hold his serve only twice in the opening set. Gonzales took advantage of the blond shotmaker's wildness to break through on the third and fifth games.

The Californian lost his touch briefly in the next go-around and, after Hoad had cracked his service in the second game, dropped a 6-1 decision.

But after the delay for rain, Gonzales came through strong with his powerful serve, and cross court placements to break Hoad's serve in the fourth game. He was forced to go to match-point three times before forcing Hoad to error to the net.

In the prelim, Mal Anderson was forced to default after dropping the frist to Ashley Cooper, 6-0. Anderson, who has been hampered by nose bleeds, compalined of dizziness and a headache. He retired to his hotel on doctor's orders but he is expected to be ready to play Monday in Jacksonville.

Bruce Thomas, a Palm Beach pro, was recruited to fill the Aussie's place in the doubles and teamed with Gonzales for an 8-5 loss to Cooper and Hoad.

Gonzales jumped his winnings for a 14-7 overall record on the tour to $9,250, but still trails Hoad in money and record, for the Aussie stands at $10,350, for his 16-5 mark. Cooper, now 7-13, has won $6,400, and Anderson (4-16), $5,700.

Belair Stud Races Again

NEW YORK—(AP)—The white and red polka dots silks made famous by the Belair Stud during the last 40 years on the nation's racetracks will be seen today for the first time since late in 1955.

Sunny Jim Fitzsimmons, who trained the Belair horses for the late William Woodward Sr., and later William Jr., has entered the 2-year-old colt, Quadreme, in the sixth race at Jamaica.

Orioles Win, 6-5

Tasby Homers Scuttle Bucs

By MEL DERRICK
Herald Sports Writer

Fleet Willie Tasby, a Baltimore rookie hammering toward the Orioles' regular center field job, exploded two home runs and a double to almost personally overpower the Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-5, at Miami Stadium Sunday afternoon.

He did the job with major league dramatics, whiplashing the Birds back from a 5-3 deficit to the winning margin with a three-run rifle shot over the left center field wall in the seventh.

"Right along," smiled Bird boss Paul Richards after the thin win, "we've hoped Tasby could step into center field for us. You never know . . . one game doesn't make a regular . . . but he didn't hurt himself today."

Tasby worked over Harvey Haddix, Pirate starter and loser, pretty badly, though.

The powerful 26-year-old parked a Haddix curve over the left field wall for Baltimore's first run in the second inning, lashed out a double in the two-run sixth, and then lost a Haddix fast ball for the winning edge.

"The wind out there today (which flared the Stadium flag straight toward left center field) may have helped," grinned Tasby.

"I know my first homer did not feel too good. But that last one did — both when I connected and when I turned third to head for those handshakes."

The Pirates, a solid ball club, gave Haddix a 1-0 lead in the top of the third, and a 4-1 margin in the fifth. Both times, Roberto Clemente packed the punch.

Clemente singled home Hank Foiles, who had singled, in the third, then slashed a screecher to left to score Haddix and Dick Schofield in the fifth.

Baltimore Hoyt Wilhelm survived the rocky innings, but yielded to a pinch-hitter in the bottom of the seventh as the Orioles paved the way for Tasby's homer.

With one out, Jim Finigan doubled and Pinch-Hitter Bobby Avila, batting for Fred Green, singled. Jim Caldwell struck out for Wilhelm, but that brought up Tasby.

Red Sox, Indians, A's Triumph

Spahn Routed as Reds Bounce Braves, 7-3

BRADENTON — (AP) — The floundering Milwaukee Braves Sunday went down to their 13th exhibition loss in 18 games as the Cincinnati Redlegs clobbered them with five home runs for a 7-3 victory. It was the fifth straight triumph for the Reds.

Southpaw Warren Spahn gave up four home runs, three in one inning, in the five innings he worked. Joey Jay took over and permitted four hits and served a fifth homer.

Frank Robinson led the way for Cincinnati with his fifth and sixth home runs of the spring, plus a double and a single. Pete Whisenant, Dutch Dotterer and Johnny Temple also homered.

Malzone Homers Stymie Giants

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — Frank Malzone's two-run homer in the ninth inning gave the Boston Red Sox a 9-7 exhibition victory over the San Francisco Giants Sunday.

It was the second homer of the game for the American League All-Star third baseman, who hit his first in the fifth inning. Rookie Pumpsie Green hit another homer for the Sox as a sixth-inning pinch hitter.

The game was highlighted by the return of Willie Mays to the Giants lineup and Jackie Jensen to the Boston outfield.

Bolgers Smash Nips Cubs in 10

TUCSON, Ariz. — (AP) — Jim Bolger's home run with a man on base in the 10th inning gave the Cleveland Indians a 4-2 victory over the Chicago Cubs before 2,466 Sunday.

Bolger connected against Dick Drott after Carroll Hardy had led off with a walk. The Indians' winning pitcher was Don Ferrarese, who entered in the sixth and hurled five scoreless innings allowing the Cubs only four hits.

Rain 'Ties Up' Yanks, Chisox

ST. PETERSBURG — (AP) — A heavy rain stopped Sunday's game between the Chicago White Sox and New York Yankees in the eighth inning, the teams settling for a 3-3 tie.

The Yankees had scored the tieing run in the bottom of the eighth and had two men on. Early Wynn blanked the Bombers until the seventh.

Lakers Upend Hawks, 106-104, For West Title

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — (AP) The amazing Minneapolis Lakers dethroned the National Basketball Association Champion St. Louis Hawks Sunday with a 106-104 victory that locked up the Western Division playoff title for Minneapolis.

The Lakers took the series, four games to two, and now face the Eastern Division champion in the NBA's championship series. Boston and Syracuse, tied at three games apiece, meet Wednesday night for the Eastern title.

Another tremendous performance by the Lakers' Rookie of the Year, Elgin Baylor, returned the onetime NBA kingpins to the Western Division title for the first time in five years.

Baylor collected 33 points. Two clutch free throws with a minute to play were the margin of victory.

The desperate Hawks, trailing by 12 points with five minutes to play, cut the Laker margin to 104-102 with 1:17 left. But Baylor then was fouled by Lovellette, and cashed both free throws on a bonus situation.

Nats Pop Celts, Square Playoffs

SYRACUSE, N.Y. — (AP) — The Syracuse Nationals held off a late Boston Celtics surge for a 133-121 triumph Sunday and squared their National Basketball Association Eastern playoffs at three games each. The deciding game will be played in Boston Wednesday.

The Nats, leading by as many as 19 points in the third period, almost blew the game. Boston crept to within four points midway in the wild final period before the Nats pulled away.

Dolph Schayes paced the Syracuse attack with 39 points.

Art Wall Ups Lead In Azalea

WILMINGTON, N.C. — (AP) — Lanky Art Wall Jr. continued to master the field and the elements Sunday, shooting a one-under-par 71 to lengthen his Azalea Open golf tournament lead to five strokes after 54 holes.

The 35-year-old professional carries a 209 total into today's final 18 holes in the $15,000 tournament.

Mike Souchak had the best score of the cold, windy day, a 70, to take second place with a 214 total. Don Whitt fell off to 73 but his 215 total was good enough for third place.

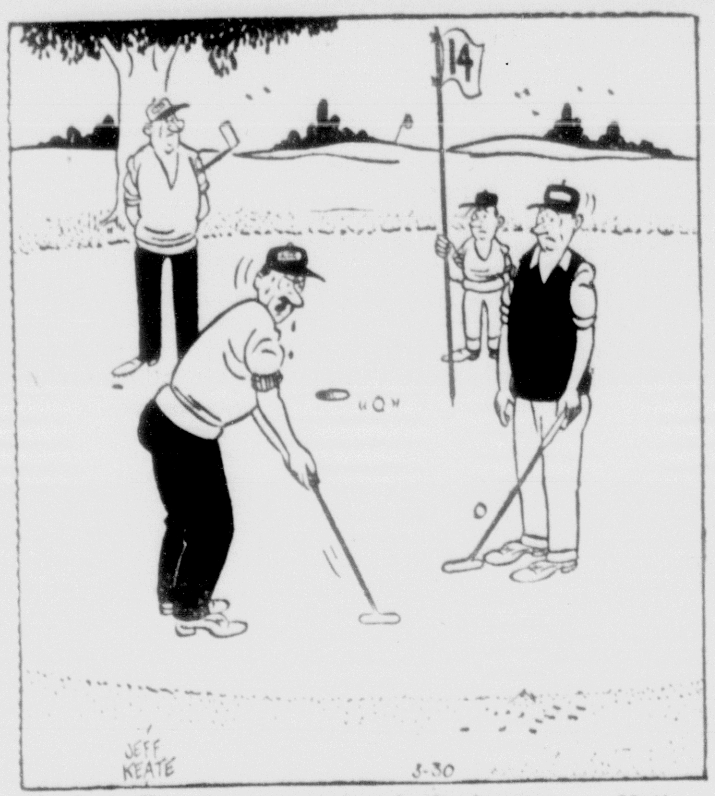
Matheson 78 Wins

Charles Matheson won the weekend blind bogey at Miami Shores Country Club Sunday with a 78. Second place went to Chris Hoyer. Match play in the men's club championship starts today, with pairings in the pro shop.



"At least I've overcome noises bothering me . . . Notice I went right ahead and putted even though those noisy ants were thumping back and forth building that hill!"

Driver Veith Injured In Daytona Wreck

A wet track caused officials to call off the second day of qualifying runs for the 100-mile race April 4, but the asphalt surface dried sufficiently in the afternoon for practice drives around the 2½-mile Daytona International Speedway.

Veith said a wind caught him and sent him sideways. He estimated he was going 150 miles per hour when the skid started.

The racing car skidded about 300 yards, hit the guard rail, rode it and came off upside down, went another 200 yards before plunging into the infield and flipping upright.

"The roll bar really saved me," Veith said. "I thought it would never stop sliding upside down."

Veith was taken to a hospital for observation overnight.

Derby Starters Battle Today At Gulfstream

This is Florida Derby Week at Gulfstream Park and that means there will be activity of all sorts before the six-day span of racing is completed with the running of the $100,000 three-year-old classic on Saturday.

The probable Derby field overshadows everything else at the moment and it appears that nine is the most likely figure for the mile and an eighth test.

Briardale Farm's Rico Tesio, Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer, John W. Kane's Revolutionist, Norwood Stable's Master Palynch, W. C. Partee's Sir Tom, Ada L. Rice's Rare Rice, Mrs. S. H. Sadacca's The Chosen One, Bayard Sharp's Troilus and Spring Hill Farm's Easy Spur.

Rico Tesio and Revolutionist are in the lineup in today's sixth event at a mile and 70 yards. They'll go in the Derby regardless of where they finish today, according to their connections. Three other Derby eligibles are in this eight-horse field. They are Sam Tufano's Wheatley Road, Puneves who is a stablemate of Rico Tesio and Lake Erie, owned by the estate of P. H. B. Frelinghuysen.

While the Derby is the piece de resistance of the week's program, two other stakes are on the agenda. Two-year-olds owned by Floridians will clash in the Dinner Stakes on Tuesday, with a dinner in the clubhouse that night at which time trophies will go to the successful owner, trainer and jockey.

The midweek attraction on Wednesday will be the Suwannee River Handicap for fillies and mares.

Derby Week will be marked by an influx of sports writers from all sections of the country to cover the three-year-old feature. On Derby Day there will be music by three bands for the entertainment of the fans, plus a special water ski show on the infield lake.

Graham, Bennett Win

Gunner Bennett and W. J. Graham won in straight sets over Ted Gary and Steve Lynch Jr., 6-0, 6-4, Sunday for the doubles championship in the Indian Creek Country Club tennis tournament.

In girl's competition today, Libby Foote plays Margie Knight and Martha Foote meets Pat Vonniff in singles; Martha and Libby Foote play Lynn Jackson and Pat Vonniff in doubles, the winners to meet Margie Knight and Linda Lynch for the title.

'The White Coats Are Coming'

'Goony Bird' Jim Piersall Learns to Take Jockeying

PHOENIX, Ariz. — (AP) — Jimmy Piersall, who recovered from mental illness and resumed a major league baseball career, still gets a good riding from opposing players.

PIERSALL

But now there's a difference, Piersall told the Phoenix Press Club Forum — He can take it.

"They imitate sirens coming for me," said the Cleveland outfielder recently acquired from Boston, "call me the goony bird and keep telling me the white coats are coming.

"Just today (Thursday) we had a hassle and Bill Rigney (San Francisco manager) came out. 'Get back in your cage,' I told him. 'You've got a lot of guts,' he said."

Piersall said Yankee Catcher Yogi Berra once called for knockdown pitches against Jackie Jensen and Frank Malzone. Each grounded out on the next pitch.

"When I got up," Piersall said, "I told Yogi, 'I got a bat. If you call for a knockdown on me, I'll hit you right on the top of the head and plead temporary insanity.'

"Yogi said, 'Go ahead and take a good cut. We don't knock down lousy .200 hitters.' "

Someone asked Jimmy about Ted Williams, his Red Sox teammate for eight years.

"He likes fans," Piersall replied. "He just doesn't like sportswriters. He uses them to key himself up . . . I'm supposed to throw golf clubs or bats — Keep nothing bottled up inside me — But everyone knows about me. It costs Williams $500."

Father's 'Beef' Involved

International Soccer Kin to Cattle Market?

LONDON — (AP) — The father of the fabulous Charles Brothers thinks it is about time something was done to stop soccer's big bosses selling players "like a farmer sells his cattle."

The two sons of Ned Charles — John and Mel — have been transferred for a total of about 110,000 pounds ($308,000).

John, center half or center forward, went to Italy's Juventus team from Leeds United for a reported 65,000 pounds ($182,000). Mel, center half or inside forward, has joined Arsenal from Swansea Town for about 45,000 pounds ($126,000).

"Big transfers like these should be stopped," the father said. "The soccer bosses sell players as a farmer would at a cattle market — but the profits are bigger."

In Britain clubs agree on a transfer fee, but the player has the last word on whether he wants to move. The most a player can get from a transfer is 300 pounds ($840) no matter what the transfer fee. That is a new rule. Previously the most a player could collect was 10 pounds ($28).

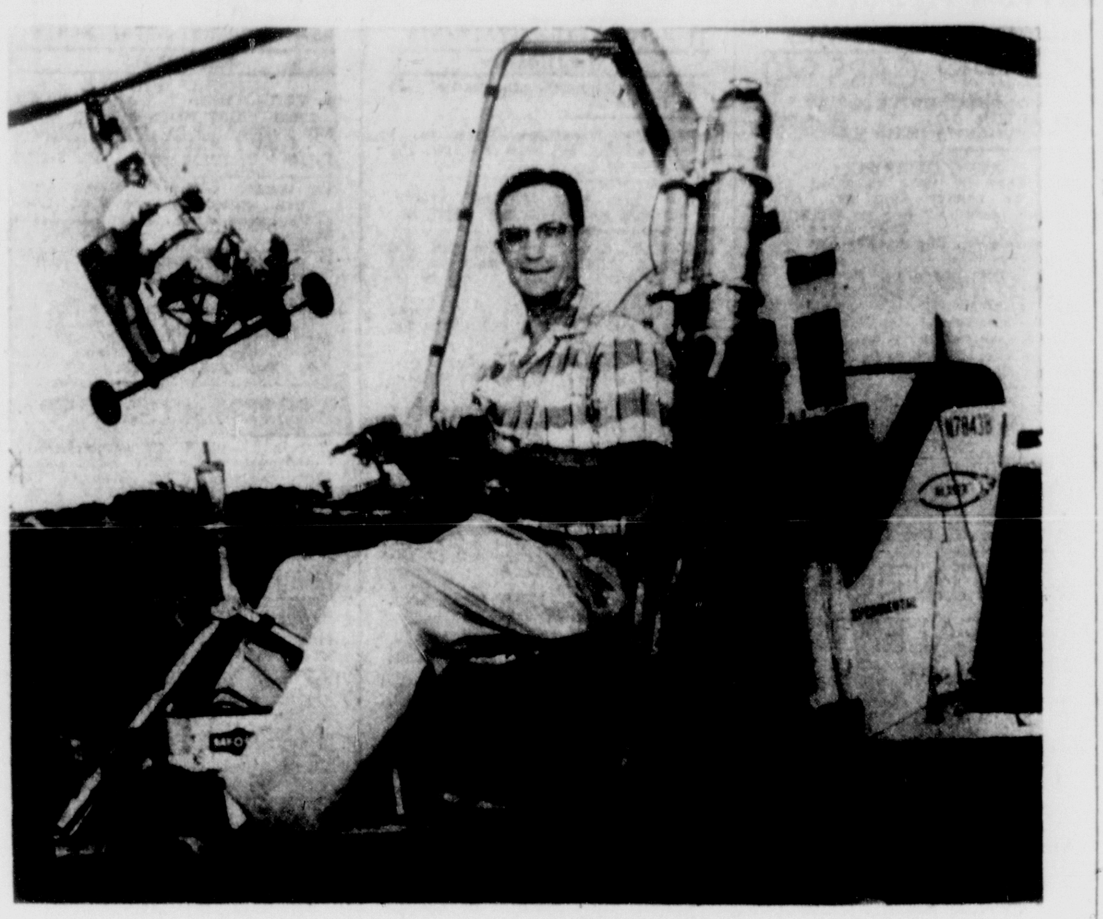
But Josephine's Grounded

His Rockin' Chair Takes Off

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer



Prop Behind Tom Smith Pushes
. . . and non-powered rotor lifts gyro copter

LAKE WORTH — Tom Smith frolics in a flying machine the likes of which you won't find anywhere else in the area.

His was the first in the state, and he's still the only proud owner of a gyro copter — a flying rocking chair — in Palm Beach County.

It really rocks — up and down, and from side to side. It has aileron, or rolling, control that's why.

Smith, 51, city manager of Lake Worth, can't take Josephine, or anyone, up, up, up in his flying machine. It's a one-seater. ("Two men can pick it up and carry it. It only weighs 185 pounds.") But he's been rocking and rolling in the blue yonder two years with it himself.

"It's a sport," he says.

Smith isn't new to flying and neither is the gyro copter. It made its comeback from the 20's only in those days — the same days Smith first took to the wing — they were called autogyros, and looked slightly different, not so much like a rocking chair.

The helicopter, now a more popular rotary-wing craft, is really a come-lately to the sky.

The difference? The helicopter and gyro copter both have windmill, or rotating, blades overhead. The gyro copter's windmill is turned — you guessed it — by the wind, and the helicopter's blades are powered.

The flying rocking chair ("it's been called everything, even a humming bird,") will soar to 12,000 feet ("I haven't taken it that high yet,") and has a top speed of 75 mph. It cruises at 40 to 60 mph.

Smith can frolic in the clouds for 40 miles before he has to refuel.

This open-air rocking chair is safer than most aircraft. If the motor conks out, you still have the windmill.

"In a free fall, it levels out at 17 feet per second, slower than a parachute. The 10-foot blade acts like an air brake."

Smith hauls his flying machine on a converted boat trailer to Lantana Airport, where he takes off. He could use it for short hops from Lake Worth to West Palm Beach, instead of fighting the road traffic. But the gyro copter needs a 200 to 300 foot take-off strip. Landing takes less space.

"It sits down like a bird," Smith said. "The blade goes back like a bird's wing. Its landing roll is only 10 to 20 feet."

The flying city manager also has a whirly water glider which is motorless. The rocking chair has a motor for forward thrust.

Equipped with three pontoons, the glider is towed by a boat until it is up and aloft on its own windmill blade.

"It's more fun than water skiing," Smith avers, with an enthusiastic grin.

Smith, an undertaker for 33 years before he became city manager in 1957, took up flying as a hobby in 1928.

He learned in a 90-horse power, open-cockpit, Waco 10 and has logged 2,000 flying hours. He holds a commercial pilot's license, but "I've never flown for money."

A member of the Elite Quiet Birdmen, Smith flew with the CAP as a ground search officer in World War II. He's been through two minor crashes and scores of close calls.

In the air for 31 years, Smith claims you're on safe ground if you fly within the limits of your craft and the weather.

"You're apt to be killed in any mode of transportation if you try to make it do what it won't do," he says.

He plans to keep right on flying for the fun of it.

Come, Josephine, want to try a flying machine?

Electric Strike Not Settled

PENSACOLA — (AP) — No progress was reported Sunday in efforts to settle a strike against Gulf Power Co., the utility which serves an area extending from Pensacola to Panama City.

Several separate and joint talks have been held by the company and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers since about 340 employes walked off their jobs last Monday in a contract dispute. But both sides agreed that very little headway has been made.

The company said the only point in dispute was a union demand to represent about 25 foremen and control center operators. The firm said it considered them supervisory personnel and representatives of management.

The union denied it has had anything to do with a series of power failures in northwest Florida, blamed by the company on vandalism.

Gas Pipeline Crews Working

VERO BEACH — Two crews, totalling about 250 men, are laying sections of the natural gas pipeline through Indian River County.

Tom Rashell, superintendent for Halbert Construction Co., one of the companies which has a contract on the property, has headquarters at the Vero Beach airbase.

During last week one crew has been working several miles south of Fellsmere Rd. and another several miles south of State Rd. 60.

The pipeline crews are expected to be here about a month, Raskell said.

DAR to Hold 57th Convention

ST. AUGUSTINE —(AP)— The Florida Daughters of the American Revolution will hold their 57th annual meeting here Tuesday through Thursday.

U.S. Rep. A. S. Herlong of Leesburg will speak Tuesday night and Albert C. Manucy of St. Augustine, president of the Florida Historical Society, will speak Wednesday night.

Florida has 68 chapters. The first was Jacksonville, organized in 1895; and the second St. Augustine organized in 1898. Youngest are Chipola, Pompano Beach and Lake Worth, organized last year.

Annexation Could Put Jax on Top

JACKSONVILLE—(AP)—Jacksonville could become the state's No. 1 city in 1960, from a population standpoint, if city limits are extended to include an estimated 147,000 persons in fringe areas.

Thomas W. McWhirter, regional supervisor for the Bureau of the Census, said the 1960 federal count is expected to show that Miami will have only 10,000 more than the 259,035 listed in a special 1955 census.

That would give Miami, now Florida's largest city, a population of roughly 270,000 persons. Miami's 1950 population was 249,276 on the basis of the federal census.

Jacksonville's population in 1950 was 204,517. The addition of 147,000 persons before the 1960 census would give Jacksonville more than 350,000 persons.

A proposed act to include 94 square miles and 147,000 persons in Jacksonville was submitted to the Duval County legislative delegation by the Downtown Council recently.

The four-man delegation, however, turned down the proposed measure.

There have been indications by several Duval legislators since that they would consider a bill providing for separate elections on annexation of smaller areas than that covered by the Downtown Council proposal.

Milk Controls Ruling Delayed

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— Leon Circuit Judge Hugh Taylor says it will be another week or 10 days before he rules in the controversy between the state Milk Commission and dairy farmers of this area.

The farmers petitioned the commission two months ago to free them from controls. The commission scheduled an investigation and the farmers got a temporary injunction prohibiting the commission from any regulation.

Hearings to dissolve the temporary injunction were taken under advisement last month.

Commission lawyers and representatives for the dairymen met with Judge Taylor last week to discuss plans for a settlement.

No College Step-Children

New University to Move Ahead

TALLAHASSEE —(UPI)— Sen. John Rawls of Marianna forecast Sunday that any move to abandon or seriously cripple the new university being built at Tampa will be rejected by the legislature.

Rawls is chairman of the Senate appropriations subcommittee that will recommend the spending program for the university system. He said he has found no serious sentiment in the Senate for cutting off funds to build the Tampa university.

Most of that kind of talk is coming from the House, and only from a very small group there, he said.

He said it is a foregone conclusion the universities are not going to get all building money recommended by the Cabinet Budget Commission.

"But there will be no red-headed step-children," he said. "They'll all be treated alike."

"We must face the fact the Tampa university is a reality and we cannot abandon it now."

But, Rawls said, the state must make more use of junior colleges to take care of some of the anticipated record college enrollments during the first two years of study.

Wants Ban on Aid to Aggressors

Soviet Asks Pact By East and West

Old Stuff, Say U.S. Officials

Proposal Comes One Eve of Meet

MOSCOW — (AP) — The Soviet Union proposed Sunday that the NATO and Warsaw Pact countries sign a nonaggression pact and revise their existing treaties to assure no aid be given an aggressor.

The proposal was contained in a 3,000-word statement carried by the official Soviet news agency Tass in advance of the NATO Council meeting in Washington opening on Tuesday.

It noted that NATO celebrates its 10th anniversary on April 4.

Moscow also asked the North Atlantic Treaty Organization Council to endorse long-standing Communist proposals in Europe, including a disengagement of East-West military forces.

The Tass statement declared NATO had proved it was an aggressive pact and not defensive, and had failed of its avowed purpose.

"Not one member of NATO can say it now has more security than it had before the creation of this bloc," the statement said.

(In Washington, U.S. officials said they saw nothing new in the Moscow statement.

(State Department Press Officer Francis W. Tully Jr. said: "There is nothing new in it. They have said these things many times before."

(He declined further comment pending receipt of the text of a Soviet government statement distributed by Tass.)

The statement repeated the offer of the Soviet Union to discuss at a summit meeting arms limitation, an end to nuclear tests and withdrawal of military forces from contact areas in Central Europe.

It stressed the danger of nuclear arms concentrations by both East and West.

Also, it said the Soviet Union still believed its proposal to demilitarize West Berlin would be the best means of reducing tension in this area.

It said NATO had spent 500 billion dollars on armaments in the last 10 years, and that only increased East-West tension had resulted.

Moscow also affirmed its willingness to attend a foreign ministers meeting to consider a peace treaty with Germany and the East-West dispute over Berlin. The Western powers have suggested May 11 as the starting date.

The Soviet government statement said a summit meeting would be "most useful," but if the Western powers were not ready for it, a foreign ministers meeting could be convened.

The West is agreeable to a summit meeting if the foreign ministers lay the groundwork.

Cubans Look to Him for Better Life

Castro Has Made Blunders, But He Gives People Hope

By JOHN B. McDERMOTT
Herald Foreign Affairs Writer

HAVANA — Fidel Castro, despite his blunders, has given the Cuban people hope for a better life.

The way things are worsening economically here, this hope may die. Nevertheless, the average Cuban is still optimistic and believes in the bearded revolutionary leader who overthrew Dictator Fulgencio Batista.

Businessmen, the large landowners and the wealthy, however, are scared.

To them the communistic or socialistic tendencies of the Castro government can only mean trouble and financial losses.

Many merchants with whom this reporter talked admitted frankly they want to sell their businesses and get out.

Leaders in the big businesses fear the Castro government may nationalize their enterprises. Construction firms are reluctant to put money into any sizable projects.

Even many of the not-so-wealthy middle class are holding on to their cash, not investing, not paying bills. Just keeping the money handy.

I asked one of Castro's key government officials to enumerate the accomplishments and failures of the three-month-old Castro administration. Here is how he listed the former:

UNIFIED the nation which has been badly divided under the Batista dictatorship.

CORRECTED many of the inequities through social and economic reforms.

INSTITUTED honesty as an iron-clad policy and requisite in all branches of government, a quality unknown in Cuban governing circles.

GAVE HOPE to all Cubans, except those who played footsie with Batista, for a brighter future.

"That last one is the most important motivating force," the official said. "It results in all Cubans putting their faith in Castro."

The same frank official then listed what he thought were the failures and blunders of Castro. Here they are:

FRIGHTENED capital—property owners, potential investors, businessmen.

CREATED a racial issue by calling for complete social equality on "private" beaches, in private clubs and on every level.

MADE LABOR unions the "dictators," bowing to their every demand.

ORDERED the re-trial of 43 fliers who were acquitted by a revolutionary military court.

INSULTED former Costa Rican President Jose Figueres, a guest of Cuba, by criticizing him for urging that all countries of the Americas work together in the Cold War against Russian communism.

Figueres, a leader in Latin America, had said that he disagrees with U.S. policy toward Latin America, but to call the U.S. an enemy is "foolish."

Castro, following Figueres on the platform during a labor rally, charged that the Costa Rican was being "influenced" by international interests. Castro advocated neutralism for Cuba when he declared:

"Why say in the face of tragedy (the hydrogen bomb threat) that we must choose sides? . . . Why not proclaim our right to live our own lives even if they do kill us?"

Basically, what Castro seems to have in mind for Cuba is a one-class society, with everybody in the middle class. He announced his aim is to "elevate the poor and reduce the wealthy."

Here are some of the laws and programs advocated by Castro. Several have strong Socialist or Communist overtones.

AGRICULTURAL REFORM — Give each man the land he farms. Break up the large farms. Make government-owned tractors available to small farmers. Extensive land reclaiming program in the swamps and salt marshes of Southern Cuba.

URBAN REFORM — Designed to stimulate construction by threatening government confiscation of vacant properties. Castro says owners must build — or else. Plans low-cost housing projects.

RENT LAW — Arbitrarily cut in half all rents which did

Inside a Trouble Spot

Reporter John B. McDermott has focused on politics and foreign affairs throughout the world. His travels to Russia, Africa, Germany and the Near East have brought Herald readers inside reports from the globe's trouble spots.

In this, the second of a series, McDermott studies turbulent Cuba, and how it is faring under the rule of bearded revolutionist Fidel Castro.

Old-Line Politicos Wait on Sidelines

HAVANA—Did Fidel Castro and his men take over the government of Cuba without any real military victory?

Those here who closely watched the revolution develop and finally succeed say this is true. They say this cold military fact has much to do with the current political picture in the country.

Certainly there were the rebel raids from the Sierra Maestro range, and the besieging of Santiago by Castro's men.

GAUDET

But long-time observers here say the collapse of Fulgencio Batista's forces came from corruption, not from any military beating.

At the time of Batista's flight from Cuba Jan. 1, say these observers, there were no less than a dozen groups working to overthrow the government. The big difference was that Castro's men were the ones ready to move in and take over.

Once Castro was the man of the hour, his popularity soared. Now, nobody can beat him.

But there are still oppositionists, many of them trained politicians. They are careful not to make any outward moves — but they will talk privately and they will tell you they will not remain inactive forever.

They say that eventually it will be the old-line politicians—as opposed to Castro's young idealists—who will move in again to take over.

Two of the strongest of the opposition political parties are the Communists and the Autenticos, the party of former President Carlos Prio Socarras.

Manuel Antonio de Varona, head of the Autentico Party, in a recent television interview managed adroitly to praise the Castro regime while making a lot of qualifications.

His most significant statement was that the period of the revolution, and its accompanying business "retraction," will not be over "until the people vote their approval of revolutionary laws in an election."

Cuba's politicians may be sidelined. But they have not abandoned their goals.

Latin Diplomats Hope Nixon Can Dispel Castro's Coolness

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Several Latin American diplomats friendly to the U.S. voiced hope Sunday Vice President Richard M. Nixon will have a heart-to-heart chat with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro during his unofficial visit here April 17.

These diplomats, who did not want to be identified, are disturbed over Castro's growing hostility toward the U.S., especially his recent statement that Cuba would remain neutral in the event of war between the U.S. and Russia.

They believe that a forthright talk between Nixon and the Cuban leader might go a long way toward dispelling differences between the two countries.

Castro is due to come here at the invitation of the American Society of Newspaper Editors to address its annual meeting. The State Department has said publicly that Castro "will assuredly be welcome here."

But many U.S. officials are known to be cool toward the visit. They want Castro's appointments with high officials kept to a minimum.

The Latin American diplomats said it would be a grave mistake for the U.S. government to snub Castro, especially since the U.S. is still under fire for being too friendly with Latin American dictators.

Castro feels that the last two U.S. ambassadors to Cuba under the regime of Fulgencio Batista were overly friendly to the ousted president. He says this is the big obstacle to more friendly relations between the U.S. and Cuba.

According to the Latin American diplomats, this is where Nixon could be most useful.

Nixon was briefed on Castro's "26 of July" movement by Puerto Rican Gov. Luis Munoz Marin during Munoz' visit here last month. Their conversation was given little notice at the time.

Munoz urged greater understanding for the revolutionary spirit in Cuba, even though he was critical of the summary execution of war criminals.

In about these words, Munoz told the vice president: "We cannot allow the overwhelming moral achievement of a whole country rising against despotism to be marred by sporadic incidents resulting from the revolutionary fervor."

Easter's Hope Is 'Noble Life'

By United Press International

Christians around the world rejoiced, meditated and paraded Easter Sunday, amid different scenes and different climes but with the same hope; a nobler life for all mankind.

They came once again to those spring-bathed hills of Jerusalem to hail the resurrection of their Saviour almost 2,000 years ago—the most glorious chapter in history's most oft-told tale.

New York's famed Easter Parade was chilled a bit by temperatures in the 20s. The cold knocked out the traditional flower display at Rockefeller Center, killing the display of 750 lilies, 150 yellow tulips and 350 yellow chrysanthemums—the first time in 25 years the show hasn't gone on.

Cold and rain cut into attendance at outdoor services in the Southwest and East but 20,000 persons filled Hollywood Bowl in a clear Easter dawn.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower attended services at the Gettysburg Presbyterian Church near their farm. Mrs. Eisenhower, like millions of other ladies, sported new spring finery.

In Rome, Pope John XXIII said mass in St. Peter's Basilica and prayed international leaders would end their discord "in the superior interest of peace in the world."

The pontiff then went outside and gave an Easter blessing to more than 10,000 persons gathered in St. Peter's square.

At the Hollywood Bowl, Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson said the greatest events of history are those which affect the greatest number of persons for the longest periods of time.

"By this standard, no event

Gray Sky Fails to Keep Nixon, 35,000 from Sunrise Services

By ADON TAFT
Herald Religion Editor

Easter in pictures, 1D

Florida's famed sun missed Miami's Easter sunrise services and so did many of the usual worshipers as showers marred the first observances of the holy day.

But Vice President Richard Nixon and his family and nearly 35,000 others took a chance on the weather to hear and see the time-honored message of the resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ preached and portrayed in pageant in God's magnificent chapel of the out-of-doors.

The Nixons were in a standing-room only crowd of 1,300 at the service in Crandon Park on Key Biscayne, where it sprinkled briefly just before activities began but was dry throughout the program.

A later victory by the sun, promised faithfully by the weatherman, encouraged nearly 300,000 worshipers to crowd the churches of the area throughout the day.

The biggest crowd — 25,000 — was at the traditional pageant in the Orange Bowl. The rains of the night and the still threatening clouds at the starting time of 5:25 a.m. caused nearly 10,000 of those worshipers to waver in their decision to attend until they were late in arriving.

It never did rain on the bowl pageant, but a few drops fell just as they were taking Christ down from the cross in the drama and sent most of the viewers scurrying for cover under the overhang of the upper deck. The noise and confusion nearly ruined the effect of the resurrection scene climax.

Yet in many ways the eight-scene production sponsored by the Greater Miami Ministerial Association and the Greater Miami Council of Churches was the most effective in the long history of the event.

Beginning as it did nearly an hour before sunrise, the pageant was made more dramatic by the use of very skillfull lighting which helped keep the action moving and the crowd's attention on the scene in progress.

The stadium lights had just been blacked out to signal the start of the play when suddenly the top of the stage at the west end zone lit up, silhouetting three crosses — the center one red — against the dark sky.

"Above His head were written the words: Jesus of Nazareth, King of the Jews," came the voice of the Rev. Neil Wyrick, narrator, author and director of the pageant. "The blood ran red from the bite of the mocking crown of thorns. Their shadows silhouetted against the sky, the indifferent, the seekers of thrill, the soldiers with a job to do, Mary his mother with a broken heart, Mary Magdalene with a life now made clean — they all stood and watched the Son of God prepared to die.

"But before this crucifixion could become a reality, it was necessary that His teachings fall on deaf ears and hardened hearts. For three years now — before this infamous deed he had spoken to men and these were His words:

" 'I am the living bread which cometh down from heaven, if any man eat of this bread he shall live forever; and the bread that I will give is my flesh, which I will give for the life of the world.'

" 'I and the Father am one,

Kefauver Sounds Call:

'Consumers Unite, Fight Inflation'

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.) said Sunday the "forgotten" American consumer must rise up in protest if the inflation plaguing the U.S. is ever to be halted.

KEFAUVER

He said a cabinet-level Department of Consumers which he proposed recently was the best way for "lonely" consumers to make their voices heard above the "strident clamor" of special interests.

Kefauver, chairman of the Senate anti-monopoly subcommittee, said on a television program that the department would bring the voices of unorganized groups to bear on government activities that might tend to hurt the consumer's dollar.

Three California congressmen took differing views on inflation in a broadcast aired in their home state.

Rep. Edgar W. Heistand (R., Calif.), a member of the House Banking Committee, said the main cause of inflation was government spending, especially deficit spending.

Freshman Rep. Gordon A. Kasem (D., Calif.) said inflation was something to be concerned about but was "not anything that should be raised as a perpetual and constant bogey man to justify inactivity when there should be activity."

Rep. Charles M. Teague (R., Calif.) said if the country demanded "rather costly programs" then Congress should "have the courage to raise taxes to put ourselves on a pay as you go basis."

Strongest Metal Yet: 'Iron Whiskers'

Then try to imagine that a tiny whisker of iron one-tenth the diameter of that hair can be the strongest thing in the world.

"It's true," says Dr. Donald S. Clark, "but we can't 'grow' anything bigger than whiskers — and we don't know why."

Whiskers of iron up to half an inch in length have been grown in laboratories, Dr. Clark says, by vaporizing the metal with 2,500 degrees of heat, then letting it condense.

As it cools down, the iron forms into tiny strands that somehow fail to have the imperfections that weaken metal produced by conventional methods.

"If we could produce a bar of iron one inch square with the same basic strength as these iron whiskers, such a bar would withstand the weight of about 900 tons and would be about six times as strong as the best steel," Dr. Clark said in an interview prior to his appearance on California Institute of Technology's "Next 100 Years" television program. Clark is professor of mechanical engineering at the school.

Plane Crash Kills 23

CALCUTTA—(AP)—A DC3 airliner crashed Sunday near Kailakandi in Assam state. The Indian Airlines Corp. said 19 passengers and four crew members were killed.

The plane left Calcutta Sunday morning for Kailakandi and crashed on a tea estate only a few minutes before it was due to reach its destination.

The airlines corporation, India's nationalized domestic air company, said the victims included five infants.

NEW YORK — (UPI) — United Nations Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold returned Sunday from a one-month tour of nine Asian countries and the Soviet Union and described his talks with such leaders as Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev and Indian Premier Jawaharlal Nehru as "extremely useful."

But Hammarskjold declined to reveal anything specific about his meeting at a Black Sea resort with Khrushchev. "Private talks are private," he said.

Dalai Lama Hurt in Fall From Hill, Say Reports

Dalai Lama, Left, and Panchen Lama on 1956 Visit to India

. . . now Dalai Lama has been replaced by rival, set up by Red China

No Details On Injury Available

NEW DELHI —(UPI)— The Dalai Lama, god-king of Tibet, was seriously injured in a fall from a hill while fleeing to refuge from the Chinese Communists, according to persistent private reports in New Delhi and the border areas Sunday.

The reports could not be confirmed here. The Reds have sealed off all normal communications between Tibet and the outside world since the anti-Communist revolt flared in the sacred city of Lhasa last week.

Except for Red China's statement that it had smashed the Lhasa revolt and set up a puppet government, all news on the Tibetan situation has been brought out by traders and refugees who made their way to the border.

According to the reports, the Dalai Lama was heading eastward from Lhasa with his guards for a place of safety when he fell and was injured.

There were no other details.

Meanwhile, reports in Gangtok, capital of Sikkim state, said the Tibetan rebels had captured one of the two largest airfields in Tibet.

The exact whereabouts of the Dalai Lama were not known. But diplomatic sources said the Reds had sealed off all possible escape routes leading south to the border and called in a special manhunting staff to track him down.

The Peiping regime Saturday said it had deposed the Dalai Lama and installed a new government of Tibet under the pro-Communist Panchen Lama.

A communique broadcast by Peiping said the Dalai Lama was "under duress by the rebels" — an indirect admission that he had escaped from his winter palace in Lhasa.

Despite the Reds' claim to have "completely smashed" the revolt, reports trickling across the border said the fight was continuing.

Tibetan exile leaders in India pledged a fight to the death to win freedom for the ancient Himalayan kingdom and save the Dalai Lama from Red oppression.

The pledges were made by spokesmen for Tibetans living in India who came here to appeal to Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru to take up their cause against the Communists.

Revolt to Succeed, Say Nationalists

TAIPEI, Formosa —(AP)— Nationalist Chinese claimed Sunday that the Tibetan rebellion was spreading and would eventually succeed.

It is taken for granted by the public here that the Nationalist government has been air-dropping limited supplies to the rebels and will expand this aid. This conviction has not been affected by official silence on the subject.

Nixons, 35,000 Brave Gray To Attend Sunrise Services

he that hath seen Me hath seen the Father.'

"'Before Abraham was made, I am'"

Those who heard these words included Christ's disciples, introduced next as they took their places around the familiar table of the Last Supper.

As they moved from the upper room to the Garden of Gethsemane, the singing of crickets from the sound track (used for the first time this year to accompany each scene) made it all seem authentic.

The Christus, portrayed by Robert Godbey with the voice of Noah Tyler on tape, then prayed His timeless prayer. "Oh, my Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me; nevertheless not as I will, but as thou wilt."

Suddenly the quiet was interrupted by the appearance of Judas and the soldiers who seized Jesus, drug Him to Pontius Pilate for "trial," scourged Him, and took Him up Calvary's hill where they nailed Him to the cross.

Thunder and lightning, produced effectively by the technical skill of Bill Stone and Jim Hahn, accompanied the crucifixion. And then the body of the Lord was removed in quietness and placed in the tomb.

In the climaxing resurrection scene, the garment of the risen Christ glowed with a blue-white light. He stood above the tomb, arms outstretched, as the 100-voice choir directed by Miguel Quetglas sang the "Hallelujah Chorus."

And the closing words of the narrator were: "Thus it is written, and thus it behoved Christ to suffer, and to rise from the dead the third day: And that repentance and remission of sins should be preached in his name among all nations."

It is the church's insistant demand that this statement is true which is the heart of the Christian gospel, the Rev. Lane G. Adams was explaining to the Nixons and the other worshipers over by the seaside.

The pastor of the Key Biscayne Presbyterian Church said that too often poeple don't really believe these facts because they are not honest about their doubts, never seriously examine the evidence and seek to escape the moral claims Christ would have on their lives if they really believed it.

"But if you don't believe in the bodily resurrection of Christ, take heart," he said. "The disciples were not prepared to believe at first, either."

Then the Rev. Mr. Adams listed the usual arguments against accepting the resurrection and then refuted them, finally outlining reasons for believing in the cornerstone event.

He declared that the change that came into the lives of the disciples, the testimony of the church down through the ages, and the experience of those who confront Christ today are proof enough.

He concluded by challenging the worshipers to live as if they believed that Christ has risen and offers real, abundant and eternal life to those who believe.

Typical of the messages preached at the other two dozen sunrise services were the ones delivered on the lawn of the Coral Gables city hall and at Oceanside Park in Miami Beach.

The Rev. W. Baxter Weant, pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church, told the 2,000 early-bird worshipers in Coral Gables that there are two phases to the Easter story and most folks get only through the first phase.

He said that first step is responding to the angel's invitation to come and see that the Savior has risen.

However, he pointed out, the tomb was not empty because it was filled with God's light, His word and the gospel of the resurrection.

Pastor Weant declared that the women who came to the tomb were given the opportunity for the most blessed service they ever rendered when they were asked to go tell the disciples that Christ had risen.

"At this point most of us fail Him," asserted the Rev. Mr. Weant. "We come, see, and hear, but fail to go tell."

Meanwhile, rain before and after the service somewhat dampened the usual enthusiasm at the area's oldest sunrise program on Miami Beach. But there was no rain during the service attended by 1,000 worshipers.

They heard the Rev. Joseph Crawley, of the St. John's-on-the-Lake Methodist Church, point out that the events of Easter promise that God will never be far off with joy and new life although there will be times of trial for those who love and follow Him.

Rebel Leader Reported Killed

ALGIERS —(AP)— The French army said Sunday a rebel Col. Amirouche has been killed near Bou Saada, 150 miles south of Algiers. He was described as one of the leading chiefs of the Nationalist rebellion.

An army announcement said Amirouche was killed Thursday when French units swooped down on a meeting place of military chiefs of the Nationalist Army of Liberation.

The Town Crier

BY Jack Bell

BELL

COUNTY Manager O. W. Campbell thinks the best way to stop drownings is to teach all children to swim. It's the most sensible solution, for we can't eliminate rivers, canals, oceans and lakes — and every day we get more swimming pools.

The Bells have lived on a canal since our girls were born. We did teach them to be careful. But in addition they learned to swim when very small. I reckon every kid in Bay Point has fallen into the water at least once. But they all could swim. When we have summer camp we teach every nonswimmer to swim. The children at public and YMCA pools can get instruction. The teaching program can be extended to every child.

The danger now is inertia on the part of the commissioners. Mere talk won't start a swimming program.

Florida Derby

How good is Jim Norris' colt East Spur: How good is Troilus? Or is there another capable of beating both of them Saturday?

The Florida Derby at Gulfstream shapes up much better than did the Flamingo at Hialeah. This is because Easy Spur beat Troilus so easily last week.

Horace Wade, reminiscing as usual, tells of an English suffragette who threw herself under the King's horse during the running of one English Derby at Epsom Downs. Then there was the American Derby at Chicago in 1893 that had 25 false starts and went off 90 minutes late. Then there was the American Derby of 1926, won by one of Col. E. L. Bradley's horses. He got his $100,000 check in the winner's circle — and it bounced.

The Gulfstream check won't bounce. Jimmy Donn has too many begonias and calladiums for that.

Oops! 39 Mothers Of Year Aren't

NEW YORK —(AP)— A red-faced and apologetic American Mothers Committee acknowledged bravely Sunday that 39 mothers had been mistakenly notified of their selection as Kansas mother of the year. A clerical error was blamed.

Two of those erroneously informed already have come forward. The committee uneasily awaited word from others.

The selection of the Kansas mother actually will be made today in Wichita.

Mrs. Aileen Fogarty, national director of the American Mothers Committee, which selects the national mother of the year from state winners, said the mixup was caused by volunteers who helped with the organization's mailing.

The volunteers were mailing letters to members whose names were contained on an alphabetical list of states. Apparently all the wrong letters were confined to Kansas.

"At least I hope it's only Kansas," exclaimed Mrs. Fogarty. She had rushed in to take some of the pressure off Mrs. Daniel A. Poling, national chairman of the committee, who had been deluged with queries resulting from the error.

"We'll lose our Kansas chairman unless she's a dear," Mrs. Fogarty lamented.

She seemed to be reading the mind of the Kansas chairman, Mrs. John Selfridge of Wichita, who announced she was going to be away from home to escape telephone calls.

The error became known after Mrs. Nellie Krueger of the little northern Kansas community of Washington announced receipt of a letter telling her she was the Kansas mother of the year. The town's weekly newspaper published the story Thursday, and a Topeka paper picked it up.

A much confused Kansas selection committee checked hastily with headquarters in New York and learned of the error—but not its magnitude.

Then Saturday night, a second Kansas woman, Mrs. Fred Gould of Arkansas City, announced receipt of an identical letter. That prompted another check with national headquarters and the whole story came out.

Latin Likes Miami--and He Repents

A year ago last May a Venezuelan student picked up a rock and threw it at the American Embassy.

Sunday a big, oversize postcard arrived at The Miami Herald. It was postmarked Miami.

"I want you to know before I leave that I have spent the most wonderful 15 days in my life in Miami.

"I didn't have any idea that Americans can be so wonderful and warm. The men and women on the streets, the hotel workers, policemen all helped me with a smile.

"I don't speak any English (A friend is writing this for me in English).

"But always people tried to understand my words with patience and understanding. You can't imagine the wonderful impression of the American people I am taking back to my country.

"A year ago I didn't have any idea about you. I listened to what some people tried to make me believe.

"You can imagine now how sorry I am for throwing a rock at the U.S. Embassy."

It was signed, "A Venezuelan student."

10-1 for State, Hawaii Forecast

WASHINGTON — (UPI) — Hawaiian Delegate John A. Burns predicted Sunday that the islands' 175,000 registered voters would vote 10 to 1 in favor of statehood.

Burns also said that Hawaii's present appointed governor, New York born William F. Quinn, told him last week he would schedule Hawaii's first national primary elections for the third week in June and final elections for the third week in July.

Hawaii will elect a new governor, a state cabinet, two national senators and one House member. The primary must be held within 90 days and the final elections within 130 days after the vote on statehood.

CURRENCY CONTROL — All passengers arriving from outside Cuba are searched at airport. Castro is determined not to let Batista money get back in.

CONFISCATION LAW — Designed to strip all the old Batista henchmen, and Batista, of Cuban holdings.

CIVIL SERVICE REFORM — Virtually eliminated the old Cuban civil service and installed Castro supporters, most of whom have no government or administrative experience.

NARCOTICS AND BOLITA — Castro is advocating the death penalty for violators. Bolita is nonexistent as a result.

NEWSPAPERS — Censorship has been removed, although many Havana newspapers now operating under a policy of self-censorship from fear. The Communist organ, Hoy, is back in full swing, and the rebel government's newspaper, Revolucion, is far left. All government payoffs to newspapers have been eliminated.

World's Easter Hope: 'Noble Life'

could be more important to individuals or nations than the resurrection of the Master," Benson, a church leader, said.

A crowd of 8,000 at Rindge, N.H., attended sunrise services at the Cathedral of the Pines but the worshipers wore ski clothing and wrapped themselves in blankets.

Weather also hampered services at the Wichita Mountains Easter Pageant near Lawton, Okla. A crowd of near 100,000 had been expected but only 20,000 showed up after a night of rain and an early morning fog.

"Old Ironsides," the USS Constitution, the Navy's oldest regularly commissioned ship, was the scene of still another Easter service at Charlestown, Mass.

And at Vandenberg Air Force base, Calif., 24 pacifists held their Easter services outside the field's main gate. They said they belonged to the "Fellowship of Reconciliation" and the Friends Church, and were praying for world peace.

7 Children Die in Fire

DANIELTOWN, Va. —(AP)— Seven small Negro children perished Sunday when fire destroyed their home while their parents were away for an Easter sunrise service.

They were children of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lewis. Lewis, 34, had taken his wife to the sunrise service at Mount Zion Church about a mile away. Lynn Towers, a white man from Dundas, was passing about 5:40 a.m. and saw the small four-room frame cottage on fire. He attempted to kick in the back door but was unable to gain entrance because the interior was ablaze.

Towers said a large St. Bernard dog, owned by the family, was attempting to awaken the children but could not get inside and was unsuccessful by barking.

National Summary

A disturbance in the Gulf of Mexico during mid day resulted in occasional rain from the Eastern Gulf states and portions of the South Atlantic coast states into the Ohio valley with scattered sleet or snow in the mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina. Significant amounts of rain were observed in the Gulf states where Atlanta, Georgia reported 37 inches in six hours while Montgomery, Alabama measured 34 during the same period. The rain will spread across portions of the Virginias into Western Pennsylvania tonight beginning as snow or sleet in higher elevations and will prevail intermittently from the Carolina into New York today.

Mostly sunny skies occurred from New England into Maryland accompanied by temperatures in the 20s and 40s with Boston reporting a reading of 40 while the nation's capital had a 42. Fair weather will continue in New England with increasing cloudiness today.

Sunshine prevailed in the north and south border states from the Rockies into the Mississippi Valley while cloudiness shaded the remainder of the mid section of the country. Temperatures in the 40s and 50s occurred over most of the middle portion of the nation except for the 30s in the Great Lakes region and the 60 near the gulf.

Bloc Rides High in State Senate

Pork Chop Grip Tightens

Reapportionment The Binding Tie

TALLAHASSEE—(UPI)—The majority bloc of the State Senate, welded together by North Florida and small county ties, currently is riding higher than it has in years.

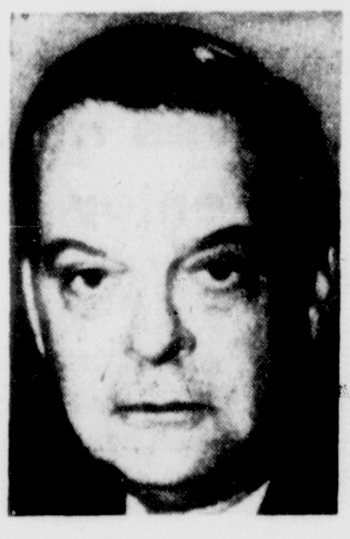
The bloc will go into the 1959 Legislative session on April 7 in complete control of the Senate, both on the floor and in the important committees.

Dewey Johnson

. . . holds the reins

Charley Johns

. . . bloc stalwart



W. Turner Davis

. . . in power post

The group, sometimes called the "Pork Chop Gang," claims as members at least 21 of the 38 senators, and seems in position to count on support from one or two more in a pinch.

Leading the close-knit group in this session will be Dewey Johnson of Quincy, president designate of the Senate.

Johnson, who'll be 52 the day before the session opens, is a lawyer and farmer.

So far, he has handed all the political plums to the leaders of the majority bloc, and given short shrift to big county senators.

Apportionment is the cement which holds together the "Pork Choppers," and Johnson already has served notice on Gov. LeRoy Collins the majority bloc won't stand still for any reapportionment plan which would break its hold on the Senate.

Working with Johnson as a sort of advisory body are a half dozen other influential senators — Charley E. Johns of Starke, Wilson Carraway of Tallahassee, John Rawls of Marianna, Turner Davis of Madison, S. D. Clarke of Monticello, and Randolph Hodges of Cedar Key.

Johns is an insurance man and banker and served as acting governor of Florida in 1953 and 1954. He has a two-county district — Union and Bradford. He is 54.

Carraway, Tallahassee banker and soft drink bottler, also is 54. He has a one-county district, Leon, site of the state capital. Carraway is mentioned as possible Senate president in 1961.

Rawls, Marianna attorney, is youngest of the majority bloc's old-time leaders. He is 38, was born on New Year's Day in 1921.

Davis, chairman of the Rules Committee in 1957, will be chairman of this powerful body again this year. An attorney, Davis is 57, and considered one of the most astute men in the Senate, sometimes called the "old gray fox."

Clarke, oldest man in the Senate, is 78. He is a banker, and former president of the Senate. His views are respected, but he does not take the same active interest in running the majority bloc he once did.

Hodges, 45, is an ice manufacturer and dealer in marine supplies in his fishing-village hometown of Cedar Key. He'll head the Temperance Committee, and has appointments to other key committees. He'll also be Senate president pro tem.

Others in the bloc are Tom Adams, Orange Park real estate dealer; Philip Beall, Pensacola attorney; Harvie J. Belser, Bonifay attorney; Irlo Bronson, Kissimmee rancher, Newman C. Brackin, Crestview druggist; Drew Branch, Liberty County contractor.

James E. Connor, Brooksville real estate brokers; J. Emory Cross, Gainesville attorney, L. K. Edwards Jr., Marion County rancher; J. C. Getzen Jr., Bushnell attorney; H. H. Hair, Live Oak hospital administrator; Bart Knight, Blountstown attorney; G. T. Melton, Lake City oil distributor; B. C. Pearce, Palatka farmer, and Harry O. Stratton, Callahan business executive.

Capital Corner

Switch In Race Is Seen

By JOHN L. BOYLES

Capitol Bureau Chief

BOYLES

TALLAHASSE – State Sen. Verle Pope of St. Augustine will abandon the idea of running for governor in 1960 if his cousin, Doyle Carlton Jr., decides to make the race.

However- Pope, who is in the insurance and real estate business, may be a candidate for a Cabinet post - possibly State Treasurer — next year.

He indicated recently that friends had suggested he seek the office, if he doesn't try for the governorship.

Meanwhile State Treasurer and Insurance Commissioner J. Edwin Larson is trying to beef up his position by pushing for strong legislative action on traffic safety measures in an effort to halt rising auto insurance rates through reduction of accidents.

* * *

Lobbies Grow

A RECORD number of lobbyists are expected to sweep down on the capital corridors when the Legislature convenes week after next.

Two years ago there were nearly 700 registered, representing varied interests and organizations. When the issues multiply, the legislative pitchmen increase. In 1955 only 436 were on hand.

Talk of stern economy measures, the continuing debate on the need for new segregation laws, central purchasing to tighten controls on government buying and reform procedures for purchasing printing, will spur lobbying activities.

* * *

Stamps Again

THE OLD HASSLE over retail trading stamps, one of the most lobbied issues ever to come before the Legislature, is expected to be revived.

And Gov. LeRoy Collins' proposal to abolish the practice of naturopathy will cause the nature doctors to call in their lobbying troops.

The catch in the proposal drafted by a group of printers at Orlando recently is that the industry would still largely control purchasing practices.

* * *

New Pattern?

THEY RECOMMENDED an advisory board of five members of the printing industry, appointed by the governor, to guide a central buying program for state printing.

This could result in all industries doing business with the state — asphalt contractors, concrete manufacturers, office equipment houses and others, asking for an advisory board in each field.

Holiday Mishaps Kill 8

By The Associated Press

Florida's weekend has been marred by at least eight accidental deaths.

Daniel S. Hammond, 47, of Orlando, was killed by a train as he walked along a trestle in Jacksonville Friday night.

In another Friday night accident, Howard Travis Utley, 49, of Pensacola, died in a headon auto collision in West Pensacola. Three persons, including the driver of the other car, Edward Eugene Salter, 22, were injured. Authorities said Salter's car, going at high speed, skidded into the path of Utley's car.

Jimmy Don Holaway, 20, of McCoy Air Force Base at Orlando, was killed, also Friday night, when his motor scooter was struck from the rear by a car. Holaway was from Hartsell, Ala.

An 18-year-old Negro, Franklin Mitchell, died Friday night in an auto accident on a rural road near Quincy.

Donald Mays, 17-year-old Melbourne High School student, drowned in Indian River near the Melbourne causeway Saturday when he attempted to retrieve a cork, which came off a fishing line.

His aunt, Mrs. Dan Holmes, tried to rescue him, but got into trouble herself and was saved by Eldon E. Frye, off-duty Melbourne policeman who was fishing nearby.

Festus Alvah Tatum, a West Palm Beach policeman, was killed Saturday in a collision between his motorcycle and a scooter operated by a 15-year-old boy.

Tatum, 35, was escorting a funeral procession when the accident occurred. Police said Elmer Lutz Jr., cut through the line of mourners at an intersection. The boy suffered a broken leg, cuts and other injuries.

Carleton Crosby, 17, of Trenton was killed near Fernandina Beach Friday night when a car in which he was riding left the road and hit a tree.

John Henry Dinkins, 22, Fort Lauderdale Negro, was killed in a Sunday highway accident on State Rd. 84, near Fort Lauderdale.

Highway patrolmen reported the car driven by Dinkins skidded as it attempted to pass another and crashed into the second vehicle. A passenger in Dinkins' auto was injured.

Gang Leader in Kansas Jail

Phony Melbourne City Checks Used by Interstate Passers

by BILL BUNGE

Melbourne Bureau Chief

MELBOURNE—Armed with a supply of city of Melbourne blank checks, a typewriter and rubber stamps, an ex-convict from Texas launched a bogus check writing spree.

But the equipment used by William J. Olson, alias William J. Cox, of Abilene, Tex. couldn't turn out the same quality product as the municipal check writing machine used for all pay roll checks.

He made another mistake when he failed to learn who signs the real Melbourne pay checks and how they are numbered.

Olson, who met his Waterloo in a Wichita, Kan., hotel, is believed the head of a bogus check operation covering at least four states. It's still a mystery how the blank checks were obtained.

While Olson sits, tight-lipped, in the Wichita jail, Melbourne's check system supplier and its bonding company are trying to figure out who will stand the loss. And the Federal Bureau of Investigation and law enforcement agencies in four states are hunting other members of the ring.

Melbourne City Clerk Mary Lou Knecht told the Herald Sunday the tip-off on the case came two weeks ago "When my office received Olson's first cancelled checks from the Bank of Melbourne and Trust Co.

"We immediately notified our bank, the Todd Co. of Birmingham, our check supplier, and the FBI," she said.

Miss Knecht explained Melbourne adopted this insured pay roll check system in 1957, and the worthless checks "will not cause the city any loss whatsoever."

About $1,000 worth of the bogus checks have been cashed, the last one two days ago.

The first, for $100, was cashed at a Memphis department store by a "Rev. Guy Layne," to whom it was made payable. It was signed by "F. C. Reece, city manager," and "Martin Timans, city clerk," both phony names, said Miss Knecht.

Since that one, the city clerk said, two others for $100 each went through the bank here, and a fourth for $50. They were passed in Macon, Atlanta and Birmingham.

The last shipment of checks received by Melbourne from the Todd firm were numbered 1,001 up. The phony checks started at one and ran to 1,000. Police believe they got all of ring's checks when they picked Olson up.

Melbourne Police Chief John D. Thomas said Wichita police told him Olson "won't talk." He is being held on a check forgery charge, pending issuance of a state warrant.

This case was kept secret, Thomas said, because of fear publicity might tip off the other participants. However, a Kansas relative of a Central Florida newsman sent him a Wichita newspaper clipping, telling of Olson's arrest.

This newsman re-wrote the Wichita story for his Sunday edition.

UF Prof Says

State's Reactors Ready for Work

GAINESVILLE—(UPI)—Florida-has enough bricks in its nuclear research brickyard — "now it's time to start building something."

So spoke Dean Joseph Weil of the University of Florida engineering college who will see a dream come true next month when a 10-kilowatt critical reactor finally goes into operation.

This reactor can open unlimited horizons in the industrial field, Weil said. It will permit exhaustive study of ways to reduce the cost of nuclear power and to use it in the development of Florida's resources.

"With Florida's limited resources, we should take advantage of the great wealth of knowledge in nuclear research and see if we can't bring it into practicality," he said.

He noted state appropriations in nuclear research so far have totaled $5,300,000. But only $900,000 has actually gone into a project which can have a direct bearing on industrial development and expansion in the state. This was the money allotted for the critical reactor and related equipment, plus salaries for professors who will supervise its training use.

The remainder went toward basic research, such as involved in the sub-critical reactor in use at the University.

The power-producing reactor at the University, which Weil said would be in operation by late April, could be a boon to a proposed 50-thousand kilowatt reactor planned for Central Florida in the next three or four years.

The huge reactor would be financed jointly by the state, industry and federal government. General Nuclear Corp. has been hired to do the design work and studies are underway on the type of reactor to use.

The practical use of the University's reactor in this project are obvious, Weil said. Industry already has invested more than $200,000 in the atom splitter which can be employed in more ways imaginable, the educator explained.

Property Value Hearing Reset

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Comptroller Ray E. Green has rescheduled for April 13 a meeting with Seminole County Tax Assessor Mary Walker and the legislative delegation.

Green had set the conference for April 9. Objective is to iron out a dispute in which Mrs. Walker has refused to accept a reappraisal of Seminole County property the county commission hired a firm to make.

The commission complained to Green the county needs revenues higher real estate evaluations will bring.

Long Swim Brings Aid To Vessel

Herald Bureau

WEST PALM BEACH — A West Palm Beach man swam a half mile in choppy seas to summon help after his 21-foot cabin cruiser broke down three miles north of Jupiter Inlet. His swim started an all-night rescue operation.

Coast Guard personnel reported Sunday Dave Watson, a diver, and his companion, Harry Acker, 38, of Riviera Beach, were stranded on the boat in "very rough" surf with engine trouble.

Watson swam to Hobe Sound, and a Coast Guard craft started a rescue which was not complted until 9 a.m. Sunday, 12 hours later.

Huge swells made the rescue operation hazardous. Repeated attempts to secure the cabin cruiser to a tow line failed. Acker remained aboard the boat.

Watson had been diving for marine specimens when the boat developed engine trouble, the Coast Guard said.

Waterway Spoil Roadbed Urged

FORT PIERCE — A plan to use spoil from the deepening of the Intracoastal Waterway, as fill to extend State Rd. A1A south on Hutchinson island, has been endorsed by the Indian River Drive Association.

The association members at a recent meeting, heard the proposal of R. R. Tilton of Jenson Beach, who said use of the spoil would aid the construction of A1A, as well as prevent unsightly fill islands, or shoals.

Association members have studied the spoil problem for several weeks. Contracts for deepening the waterway to the Fort Pierce South Bridge have been let.

Pay Pledge, Is Request

FORT PIERCE — Unredeemed hospital expansion fund pledges, totaling $20,000 stand in the way of financing a $500,000 addition, and "Keep Your Promise" week starts Monday, when an all-out effort will be made to collect the pledges.

While most pledges have been paid, there are still 300 outstanding. Working on the campaign are Hospital President Arthur Rubin and directors Charles P. Brown, Kenneth Peterson, E. W. Lins, W. L. Gray, and a special committee of women.

After Salerno Protest

Martin County Plans Action on Stray Dogs

STUART — As the result of a petition presented to the Martin County Commission, by Mrs. Mickey Johnson of Salerno, quick action will be taken to eliminate the dog menace in that area.

Mrs. Johnson said that three children had been attacked by dogs and were bitten, and that packs of dogs, obviously not owned by residents, roamed the streets and barked all night.

County Attorney William R. Scott advised the commission that immediate remedy could be had by bringing a suit against dog owners, a suit to abate a public nuisance.

Scott suggested that the same suit could be brought in other communities in the county which are unincorporated.

The commission gave unanimous approval and directed Scott to proceed with a suit.

Scott who is also state representative, also told the commission that he would introduce a bill, a "county-wide dog law," which would require all dogs to be licensed, and have rabies shots.

The local bill will be the only bill so far that will carry a referendum. The electors are to vote on the issue at the November general election.

Evinrudes Due At Beach Home

JENSEN BEACH—Mr. and Mrs. Ralph E. Evinrude are slated to arrive by air today from Los Angeles, Calif. They are traveling in their private plane. They will spend some time at their home here.

Mrs. Evinrude is Frances Langford, motion picutre, radio, and TV star.

Dulles Due To Arrive In Florida

WASHINGTON —(P)— Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will fly to Florida today in President Eisenhower's plane, Columbine III.

Dulles will leave Washington at 10:45 a.m. today for convalescence following cancer treatments at Walter Reed Army Hospital.

Mrs. Dulles, a physician and two State Department aides will accompany the secretary. The physician is Capt. Edward J. Kamin II, of the Walter Reed staff, a specialist in internal medicine.

The Dulles plane is due to land at Palm Beach Air Force Base at 2:15 p.m. The group will motor to the residence of Undersecretary of State C. Douglas Dillon at Hobe Sound, about 30 miles away.

State Department Press Officer Francis W. Tully Jr. said Dulles will be in Florida indefinitely "for a period of convalescence."

Psychologist To be Speaker

STUART — Dr. Melvin P. Reid, chief psychological consultant of the Bureau of Mental Health of the Board of Health, will speak on mental health programs for school at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Martin County High School Cafetorium.

The program was arranged by Mrs. Tom Curtis, program chairman of the school PTA.

Dr. Reid will outline procedure to help recognize mental disturbances in children.

Big Rocket Test Unit is Planned

CHINA LAKE, Calif. — (UPI) — The Navy plans to build a rocket engine test stand here to handle up to one-million pounds of thrust, "primarily for the evaluation and development of solid fuel rocket engines."

The project was announced by Naval officials. They said the facility is to be 35 feet long and 30 feet wide, ~~and is~~ expected to be operational late this year.

4-Day Statewide Hunt Ends, Two Boys Found

By Herald Services

FORT PIERCE — A four-day hunt for two unauthorized youthful tourists, which had reached statewide proportions, ended Sunday in Fort Lauderdale, the St. Lucie County sheriff's office reported.

John Stewart and Francis Conrad, both of White City, near Fort Pierce, where picked up by police there Sunday. They had been missing from their homes since Thursday.

The only clue in the case was a postcard, mailed by Francis, to Douglas Case, 14, of Fort Pierce. The card said "Having a fine time in Miami. Wish you was with me."

The parents of the lads, Mr. and Mrs. John D. Stewart and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Conrad, said a "warm welcome" awaited the pair.

The 1960 Federal budget will be unbalanced.

This has been a two-to-one bet since the instant in January when President Eisenhower sent his 77 billion dollar budget to Congress precariously balanced on paper to show a hairline surplus.

Now, it's about as certain as any forecast about government spending in this era can be.

The government's outgo in the year beginning this July will top its income by at least a couple of billion dollars, quite likely by more.

This has been the probability all along, for the President's budget totals have been based from the start on some embarrassingly flimsy premises — assumptions that Congress would juggle the figures so spending for next year would be "charged" to this year, that it would not vote a penny more than the President requested, that it would approve boosts in gas taxes, postal rates, etc.

Now, with Congress refusing to go along with the President's statistical hanky-panky, determined to hike spending in many areas and ignoring the proposals for gas tax and postal rate boosts, the question is not whether there'll be a deficit in the '60 budget. The question is only "how big?"

The foreseeable deficit in the next budget will not by itself spark a new round of inflationary price increases.

This also has been thoroughly understood by serious students of government finance, and objective observers have been sharply criticizing administration spokesmen for encouraging the impression that a budget balanced to the decimal point next year is imperative to avoid inflation.

Now, with hope for a balanced budget at just about zero, there is real danger in the "open mouth" budget policy the President is pursuing. And it's time this was put on the line in plain language.

There is no secret whatsoever about anything I've written here. It's not news to Wall Street or to informed businessmen the nation over, or to economic literates in Washington.

It's also no secret that the key aim of the administration's dire warnings about a deficit is to keep Congress from going overboard on voting extra spending. This is, in short, basically a scare campaign.

What's the danger, then? The danger is that a scare campaign of this sort can boomerang badly. The day of statistical reckoning will come this summer, when the budget estimates must be officially revised. The new estimates will show a deficit. And then, as the conservative trade daily, "The Journal of Commerce," recently put it in a message to its financial readers, "The Administration's response can only be one of two things:

"It can say, in effect, 'Shucks, Mr. Citizen, Mr. Investor, Mr. Businessman, we didn't really mean it. A deficit of this size isn't really going to hurt much.'

"Or it can say, 'Well, we warned you and now it has happened. Congress unbalanced the budget and prices are going to take off into the upper stratosphere'. . ."

Obviously, the second response would be intolerable; it would help create the very inflationary runaway so deeply feared. There are also inherent dangers in the first response. After all you've heard, you well might refuse to accept the assurances. Or if you did accept them, you might begin to doubt all warnings and at some future date when the inflation threat might be highest, you might just refuse to listen.

This is no casual, carping essay on the budget. In the hope of offsetting some of the exaggerations, here are a few hard points:

The 1960 budget will show a deficit, and the GOP will enter the next Presidential election with a record of six years of unbalanced budgets during the height of the Eisenhower administration;

A higher-than-estimated take from corporation taxes is likely to hold down the next deficit to a fairly moderate figure;

A gently rising price level would be the long-term outlook in this land with a balanced budget, as well as without it.

SAND SPRINGS, Okla. — (AP) — A candidate for mayor, Hugh Bryant, has a novel way of campaigning. He watches for cars parked at meters that have run out of time and drops in a few pennies. Then he explains in a printed note what he did, also getting in a plug for himself in the message.

"housework cut in half...leaves more time to enjoy my children"

Mrs. Ruth Stutzman, 2035 N.W. 186th St., Opa Locka, says: "I have had both gas and electric kitchens and I find my housework cut in half because electric is so much cleaner. I am most happy, as it leaves me more time to enjoy my children and not be a slave to my kitchen; not to mention how much more economical."

For Less Work, More Fun...

It's Time to Change...To an Electric Range

Modern electric cooking pays off in many wonderful ways. Safest because it's flameless! No fumes, no danger from constant-burning pilot lights. Absolutely worry-free. Cook, roast without potwatching. Just set dial and enjoy push-button freedom.

Electric cooking is white-glove clean. Never any soot, or greasy film to smudge your walls and curtains. Pots and pans stay "brand-new" bright. You save household drudgery. You save yourself!

No wonder over 2 million Floridians now enjoy the safety and convenience of automatic electric cooking. And remember . . . it's cheaper to go all-electric in the kitchen-laundry than to use a combination of fuels.

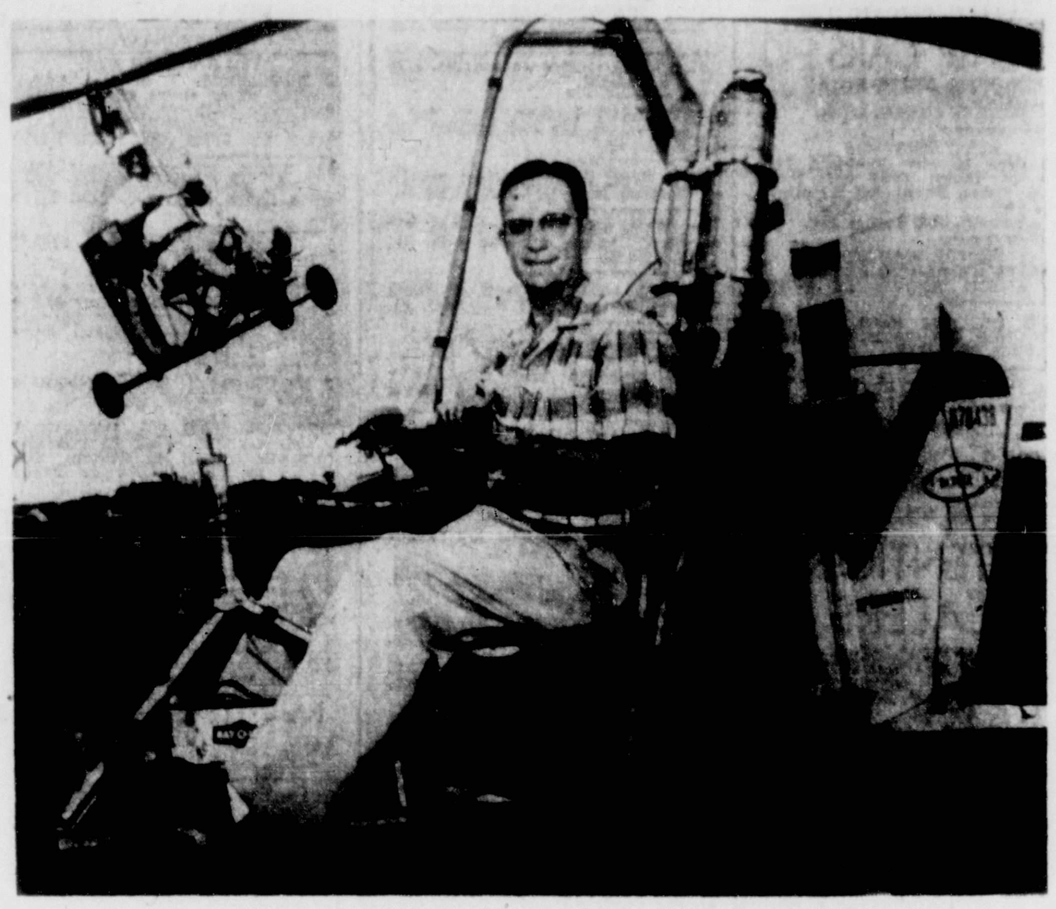
His Rockin' Chair Takes Off

By ROSE ALLEGATO
Herald Staff Writer



Prop Behind Tom Smith Pushes
. . . and non-powered rotor lifts gyro copter

LAKE WORTH — Tom Smith frolics in a flying machine the likes of which you won't find anywhere else in the area.

His was the first in the state, and he's still the only proud owner of a gyro copter — a flying rocking chair — in Palm Beach County.

It really rocks — up and down, and from side to side. It has aileron, or rolling, control that's why.

Smith, 51, city manager of Lake Worth, can't take Josephine, or anyone, up, up, up in his flying machine. It's a one-seater. ("Two men can pick it up and carry it. It only weighs 185 pounds.") But he's been rocking and rolling in the blue yonder two years with it himself.

"It's a sport," he says.

Smith isn't new to flying and neither is the gyro copter. It made its comeback from the 20's only in those days — the same days Smith first took to the wing — they were called autogyros, and looked slightly different, not so much like a rocking chair.

The helicopter, now a more popular rotary-wing craft, is really a come-lately to the sky.

The difference? The helicopter and gyro copter both have windmill, or rotating, blades overhead. The gyro copter's windmill is turned — you guessed it — by the wind, and the helicopter's blades are powered.

The flying rocking chair ("it's been called everything, even a humming bird,") will soar to 12,000 feet ("I haven't taken it that high yet,") and has a top speed of 75 mph. It cruises at 40 to 60 mph.

Smith can frolic in the clouds for 40 miles before he has to refuel.

This open-air rocking chair is safer than most aircraft. If the motor conks out, you still have the windmill.

"In a free fall, it levels out at 17 feet per second, slower than a parachute. The 10-foot blade acts like an air brake."

Smith hauls his flying machine on a converted boat trailer to Lantana Airport, where he takes off. He could use it for short hops from Lake Worth to West Palm Beach, instead of fighting the road traffic. But the gyro copter needs a 200 to 300 foot take-off strip. Landing takes less space.

"It sits down like a bird," Smith said. "The blade goes back like a bird's wing. Its landing roll is only 10 to 20 feet."

The flying city manager also has a whirly water glider which is motorless. The rocking chair has a motor for forward thrust.

Equipped with three pontoons, the glider is towed by a boat until it is up and aloft on its own windmill blade.

"It's more fun than water skiing," Smith avers, with an enthusiastic grin.

Smith, an undertaker for 33 years before he became city manager in 1957, took up flying as a hobby in 1928.

He learned in a 90-horse power, open-cockpit, Waco 10 and has logged 2,000 flying hours. He holds a commercial pilot's license, but "I've never flown for money."

A member of the Elite Quiet Birdmen, Smith flew with the CAP as a ground search officer in World War II. He's been through two minor crashes and scores of close calls.

In the air for 31 years, Smith claims you're on safe ground if you fly within the limits of your craft and the weather.

"You're apt to be killed in any mode of transportation if you try to make it do what it won't do," he says.

He plans to keep right on flying for the fun of it.

Come, Josephine, want to try a flying machine?

Electric Strike Not Settled

PENSACOLA — (AP) — No progress was reported Sunday in efforts to settle a strike against Gulf Power Co., the utility which serves an area extending from Pensacola to Panama City.

Several separate and joint talks have been held by the company and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers since about 340 employes walked off their jobs last Monday in a contract dispute. But both sides agreed that very little headway has been made.

The company said the only point in dispute was a union demand to represent about 25 foremen and control center operators. The firm said it considered them supervisory personnel and representatives of management.

The union denied it has had anything to do with a series of power failures in northwest Florida, blamed by the company on vandalism.

Gas Pipeline Crews Working

VERO BEACH — Two crews, totalling about 250 men, are laying sections of the natural gas pipeline through Indian River County.

Tom Rashell, superintendent for Halbert Construction Co., one of the companies which has a contract on the property, has headquarters at the Vero Beach airbase.

During last week one crew has been working several miles south of Fellsmere Rd. and another several miles south of State Rd. 60.

The pipeline crews are expected to be here about a month, Raskell said.

DAR to Hold 57th Convention

ST. AUGUSTINE — (AP) — The Florida Daughters of the American Revolution will hold their 57th annual meeting here Tuesday through Thursday.

U.S. Rep. A. S. Herlong of Leesburg will speak Tuesday night and Albert C. Manucy of St. Augustine, president of the Florida Historical Society, will speak Wednesday night.

Florida has 68 chapters. The first was Jacksonville, organized in 1895; and the second St. Augustine organized in 1898. Youngest are Chipola, Pompano Beach and Lake Worth, organized last year.

Annexation Could Put Jax on Top

JACKSONVILLE — (AP) — Jacksonville could become the state's No. 1 city in 1960, from a population standpoint, if city limits are extended to include an estimated 147,000 persons in fringe areas.

Thomas W. McWhirter, regional supervisor for the Bureau of the Census, said the 1960 federal count is expected to show that Miami will have only 10,000 more than the 259,035 listed in a special 1955 census.

That would give Miami, now Florida's largest city, a population of roughly 270,000 persons. Miami's 1950 population was 249,276 on the basis of the federal census.

Jacksonville's population in 1950 was 204,517. The addition of 147,000 persons before the 1960 census would give Jacksonville more than 350,000 persons.

A proposed act to include 94 square miles and 147,000 persons in Jacksonville was submitted to the Duval County legislative delegation by the Downtown Council recently.

The four-man delegation, however, turned down the proposed measure.

There have been indications by several Duval legislators since that they would consider a bill providing for separate elections on annexation of smaller areas than that covered by the Downtown Council proposal.

Milk Controls Ruling Delayed

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Leon Circuit Judge Hugh Taylor says it will be another week or 10 days before he rules in the controversy between the state Milk Commission and dairy farmers of this area.

The farmers petitioned the commission two months ago to free them from controls. The commission scheduled an investigation and the farmers got a temporary injunction prohibiting the commission from any regulation.

Hearings to dissolve the temporary injunction were taken under advisement last month.

Commission lawyers and representatives for the dairymen met with Judge Taylor last week to discuss plans for a settlement.

No College Step-Children

New University to Move Ahead

TALLAHASSEE — (UPI) — Sen. John Rawls of Marianna forecast Sunday that any move to abandon or seriously cripple the new university being built at Tampa will be rejected by the legislature.

Rawls is chairman of the Senate appropriations subcommittee that will recommend the spending program for the university system. He said he has found no serious sentiment in the Senate for cutting off funds to build the Tampa university.

Most of that kind of talk is coming from the House, and only from a very small group there, he said.

He said it is a foregone conclusion the universities are not going to get all building money recommended by the Cabinet Budget Commission.

"But there will be no redheaded step-children," he said. "They'll all be treated alike."

"We must face the fact the Tampa university is a reality and we cannot abandon it now."

But, Rawls said, the state must make more use of junior colleges to take care of some of the anticipated record college enrollments during the first two years of study.
